The WEEKLY REVIEW

Viking Midgets Win League Opener

The local midgets started out the new season successfully, with an opening win over the visiting Provost Border Midgets.

The game started out with Provost carrying the play in the home town team, but when the midgets scored the first goal, the Viking boys had a few chances, but they failed to capitalize on them, and the first period ended scoreless.

In the second period, Provost scored an early goal, but the local boys came back up a minute later when Ian Erickson scored an unassisted goal. The play was carried back and forth with Viking scoring when Murray Jamieson put the puck in the net. Ian Erickson and Hansen drew penalties.

Midway through the period, Provost scored to even the count at 2-2. This is the way the second period ended.

The third period saw the Viking boys play more aggressively, hitting off their checks, thus keeping the Provost team off balance.

This play resulted in Viking scoring the go ahead goal, and kept bringing the play to Viking, but with the clear checking and some more goal saves by the Viking goalkeeper, the boys held Provost off the scoreboard, and when the final whistle sounded, the Viking boys defeated Provost 4 to 2.

The boys would like to thank the officials, and all those who helped. They would also like to thank the fans who turned out for the game, and we hope that this report, and more continue.

"Canadian Awareness Test" Set For 1981

A test of Alberta school students' general knowledge of Canadian history, geography and citizenship will take place early in 1981 and will be completed by the end of February.

Originally scheduled for September 1980, the Canadian Awareness Test has been delayed to enable test developers to build test each item with students and to validate the content of the test items as currently available.

Most of the test items were drafted by Alberta teachers and reviewed by the 10-member Minister's Advisory Committee for this project.

The test will be administered to a sample of students from grades 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12, and will assess their knowledge and understanding with respect to:

The historical development of Canada, including (specifically) Alberta.

Elements of Canadian history, physical and political geography, including the influence of geographic factors on historical developments in Canada.

The historical and geographical influences shaping Alberta's provincial development and the province's relationships nationally and internationally.

The functioning of political systems, including the structures of government, within Canada.

The rights, privileges, duties and skills of responsible citizenship.

The test is to determine what students know and not where they get their knowledge," said Mr. King. "It is not intended to be an evaluation of the social studies curriculum, but the results might have an impact on future decisions regarding the program."

Miss Karen Otto of Viking, received a $350 C.L.C. Scholarship Foundation Fund Scholarship which was presented by Mr. Alan Fitching, a member of the Camrose Lutheran College Community Scholarship Committee. Karen is a first year Education student.

Miss Betty Thomson of Viking received the $225 Lutheran Life Society of Canada Scholarship when 116 scholarship awards were presented at the Camrose Lutheran College Scholarship Banquet held on November 4, 1980. Mr. Arnold Johnson presented the award on behalf of the Lutheran Life Society to Betty who is enrolled in a Science Program.

CHRISTMAS FRUITCAKES

Prudettes are one Christmas item that should be made well before Christmas, to ensure adequate seasoning time.

When baking the cake be sure to line the pans with double layers of heavily greased brown paper. Cut paper to exact size, avoiding glued or printed areas on paper. Check cakes one half hour before suggested baking time. Use a serial oven for testing doneness. Tester may be sticky from fruit but not gummy from butter.

Allow cakes to cool in pans completely for at least one hour. After opening paper you may brush cakes with:

sherry, brandy, rum or vanilla. Wrap each cake in a single thickness of paper towelling, then in a double wrap. Store in a tightly closed container in a cool place. Fresh cakes should be checked every week, for mold growth. If cakes have not maintained in 3 weeks, apply more sherry or fruit juice.

If cakes are too moist, remove wrappings and allow cakes to cool in temperature for 24 hours. Re-wrap in fresh towelling and plastic wrap and freeze. Dried cakes usually take 4-6 weeks and light cakes 3-4 weeks to season.

Betty Grudinski, Home Economist in Camrose, passes on her recipe for candied fruit peel. It's a bit messy but tastes terrific, and costs little.

CANDIED FRUIT PEEL
3 large oranges
3 large lemons
1 grapefruit
(lemons could also be used)

3 c. sugar
1/8 tsp. salt
1 T. oil
1/2 cup water

Quarter fruits and remove peel in sections. Scrape out most of white membrane from peel. Cut sections into 1/4 inch wide strips.

Place in heavy large saucepan and cover with water. Bring to boil. Simmer for 15 minutes. Drain and repeat 2 more times.

APPENDIX "A"SCHOOL & SCHOOL BUS OPERATIONS DURING STORMS

1. Schools in the County of Beaver will operate on all regular school days. Should school buses be cancelled due to hazardous road conditions, all pupils will be excused from attendance. Teachers will be expected to attend and will be utilizing this time for preparation purposes.

2. Should an overnight storm cause blocked roads or the serious danger of blocked roads, school bus runs will be cancelled. Radio station CFCW (Camrose) will broadcast messages, starting at 6:30 a.m., informing parents of the cancellation.

3. Should it be necessary to send pupils home by school bus at some time during the school day because of stormy conditions, these procedures will be followed:

1) The Principal of the school has authority to send school buses home at any time during the school day.

2) Radio station CFCW will broadcast messages that rural pupils are enroute home.

3) Parents, school bus drivers and others who are informed on road conditions are asked to telephone the Principal, the County Councillor or the County Office at Ryley should they suspect that stormy conditions will block roads.

4. Road and weather conditions vary considerably throughout the County. For this reason, each school will operate independently under this procedure. It is possible that morning runs may be cancelled at some schools and not at others. Similarly, buses may be routed home during the school day at some schools and not at others.

5. Parents are reminded that it is their right to decide whether or not their children will get on the bus in the morning should conditions be stormy or hazardous.

6. Please be certain that all pupils are dressed adequately warm each day. A school bus can become stranded on any given day due to road conditions or mechanical breakdown.

History Book Buffs Plan For Busy Winter

Well you may have thought that the History Book Buffs had fallen asleep at History Hall, but that just isn't so. Granted everyone has been very busy with wedding, harvest, etc., but we are ready to get down to business now. All you historians have been coming in at a very good rate. Is yours in? There is still time so get that pen busy. Don't forget to update your own personal family histories. Certainly we want all of the "old news", but also for future reading it is interesting to have up to date news as well. Remember, what happened yesterday is history.

A few more humorous notes from the "Remember Yesterday" of January, 1981 to their advertisement column: Building for sale, will eat anything, very fond of children. Apply E. Chappell. Wanted, dry party coats and party belted coats. Apply 888, Main St., Irwin.

Widow is comfortable circumstances viable to marry two sons, Box 788, Jarvis.

Animal Sale now on, don't go elsewhere to be cheated, come in here. Co-op Store Irwin.

Wanted a respectable girl her passage to New York willing to take care of two children and a good mother. Apply Box 58, Oriskany.

And for our Irish reporter in the Irwin News, a Irish joke from 1918 as follows: "Oh Pa! arrived in New York his Yankee friend bragged to boast of the best and best of the best. He burst the wings of the plane. Pat replied 'That's nothing to the best in Ireland, why they have to feed the huns for cream to keep them from loving boiled eggs."

There is also a delightful "Love Court" potential but will have to wait for another time. Will Class with this note.

Also standing were Harold and Barbara Denton and Dylan of Pooka and Kevin from Edmonton, Roger and Joan Denton and family from Edmonton and Norma and Don Lakusta and family from Spruce Grove.

An interesting side note that Donna Newton, Barbara Denton and Norma Lenta (Linda's auntie) all attended school in the same school together and had not seen each other since school days, nor were they aware of where each other were till the wedding.

Starting A New Retail Business

There are a number of advantages to starting a new retail business, as opposed to purchasing an existing one.

First and foremost is the opportunity for the owner to decide what to sell, how to sell it, and where and when. The owner can set up a business in his or her own style without any of the restrictions in facilities, image and policies that an existing business might have.

Another advantage is the chance for the owner to develop the business at his or her own pace, without the factor of capital in limited and a step-by-step approach must be taken.

An example of this would be carrying a smaller line of goods that would be expanded as capital was built up. An existing business on the other hand, might have an established large line of products that could not be expanded due to demand on capital, resulting in certain items being dropped.

This could present the image of a business in trouble.

Starting from scratch means that almost everything existing one - consultation with a qualified accountant and a business lawyer - all ways is advisable. The business lawyer can check many things to see that the business is set up in a legal manner.

Irma Seniors Visit Wainwright

In response to an invitation from the Wainwright Senior Citizens Club, approximately forty members of the Irma New Horizons Club drove to Wainwright and enjoyed a delicious pot luck dinner at 12 o'clock noon.

When everyone had ate to repletion, each member was provided with a copy of our official National Anthem, which was sung twice. We then had a sing-along, which was led by May Carter (a former Irmaite). This was followed by ten games of bingo, and a blanket. Several Irma Seniors were bingo prizes, amongst them, Lily Summerman and Minnie Jackson.

There was a full house all afternoon, some playing cards, others playing board and crib, while others just enjoyed socializing.

Lunch was served at 2:00 p.m. and by four o'clock most of the Irma Seniors were on their way home after enjoying a very delightful afternoon, and very appreciative of the hospitality of the Wainwright Senior Citizens.

Irma Cub Pack Starts New Year

The Irma Cub Pack started a new year, Monday, November 3, 1980 with sixteen cub Scouts of these are new members.

The leaders remain the same as last year, Margaret Archibald and Brenda Gault.

The parents group committee held their meeting on November 18, with seven mothers present.

The Christmas party was planned for December 8. We will be selling Christmas trees at Irma's Christmas Bazaar, December 18. The cubs are collecting old batteries. They can be dropped off at Sunny Archibald.

The executive of the Group Committee are: President - Marion Belliveau; Secretary - Maria Loren; Treasurer - Carol Orway.

Construction of the new curling rink in Irma is progressing quite well. Last week volunteers began shingling the new structure, which may be ready for operation near the end of the curling season.

Kinsella Seniors Hold Last Card Party For 1980

The Kinsella Rose Seniors held their last card party for 1980 on November 18th with six tables of card players.

The committee consisting of Jean McKie and Aaron Cross had organized it and for a change we played for tables of card players.

Court Whist, which caused a lot of laughter as a few last spots for speaking during the hour lunch where everyone was to be silent.

Joan and Aaron served a delicious lunch at the close of the evening.

The winners for the even money were: Ladies high - Jean McKie; Ladies second - Jean McKie; Ivy Miller (ladies high); Men's high - Minnie Jackson; Men's second - Jim Murray.

The Kinsella Seniors are very busy with various projects including a shuffle board tournament, so every Wednesday evening a large number of members can be found at the Ontario Curling Club.

There will be no card party in December. Instead the Kinsella Rose members are having a Pot Luck Christmas Party on December 17th at 6:30. Food is to be there at 8 o'clock.

Each lady is to bring a lady's gift, and each man is to bring a man's gift to the value of $5.00. Gifts are to be wrapped and labelled "lady" or "man".

Members don't forget our business meeting on December 10th. Also our regular Wednesday evening activities. Opportunity bags to be turned in on the 10th.

Council Moves To Purchase Roddick Land

The Viking Town Council is moving to acquire the Roddick subdivision for commercial development.

The decision by Council came at the December 9th meeting following the tabling of a letter from Mr. Lowell M. Starke, Mr. Starke is the lawyer who represented the "group" which was interested in developing the Roddick land in conjunction with the Town.

Mr. Starke's letter said that Council's reasons were at variance with the proposal of the "group". He said that the clients were no longer prepared to pursue the development, and thanked the Council for their efforts.

The Council then decided to contact the Alberta Housing Corporation and direct them to initiate procedures to acquire the land for the Town of Viking. This will be done on the same land-handling scheme as is presently being used to purchase the Longfellow Estate land.

Council was informed that the Roddick land totals 80.86 acres suitable mainly for highway commercial use and secondary commercial use. A.R.C. would purchase the land and there would be no debt load to the Town for 15 years. Development would be done as a phase basis, and the Town must pick up the difference in development costs, if any occur.

Upon the purchase by A.R.C., three development options are available to the Council. They are: to use the land for a shopping centre, to use the land for a shopping centre, to use the land for a shopping centre.

Following the passing of the motion, Council 10-0, this suggested that the additional letter should be sent to the old Recreation Board members. He said that the letter that was sent did not have enough explanation in it, or enough recognition of the old members. He also took exception to the

The Viking Child Development Society made a presentation to the Council in regards to funding for a permanent Child Development Centre.

At the regular December meeting of the Viking Town Council held on Monday evening, the Council approved the purchase of the Roddick land.

The Council opened for a short discussion on the Rec Board meeting. He said that he felt that once Council had reached a decision that the Council should take it, and yet he felt that they may have acted in haste. Mr. Ritchie suggested that the Council maybe didn't consider the feelings of the people on the old Rec Board.

He said that he had been getting a lot of feedback on the old Rec Board. Council had not heard the end of it.

Mr. Ritchie said that damage had been done to tourism in Viking. He suggested that the newspaper article was poor in that it did not mention the accomplishments of the Board.

He said that the Board had not met a lot of obstacles, but that they had accomplished some things. He also took exception to the Seated behind the projector with P.R.S. Director, Deborah Taylor (right) are two inmates of the Drumheller Penitentiary. The men were in Viking on December 3 and 4, talking to school students and the general public regarding prison life.

Penitentiary "Contact Group" Well Received

Two male inmates of Drumheller Penitentiary, accompanied by Father David Andrews, were in Viking on December 3 and 4.

The men, who were brought into Viking by the P.R.S. office, gave a presentation which covered a number of topics such as the institution itself, a history of the men, and a question period.

Some of the information given was very interesting. The men pointed out that there are 10,000 men and women in prison today, and 90 per cent of them will be coming back into society.

Statistics show a 70 per cent success rate of returning to jail once you've been released.

Citizens "on the street" can play a very important role in keeping former inmates out of prison by offering friendship and understanding rather than ostracizing and ignoring them.

If they are not able to make new friends, the inmates say they'll go back to old ones, get involved in the old gang, and end up back in prison.

The men explained that Prison is a total loss of freedom. You're told when to get up, when to eat, when to work, when to sleep, etc.

A question about how to get the feeling of what prison is like was to take everything out of the building room except a blanket, pillow and magazines, put the inmates in there for a day, and give the key to someone else, so they could control when you did anything.

Another freedom lost was privacy. A guard has the right, at any time, to search your room down to the bottom, even if he just

Are You Guilty?

Winter is definitely upon us, and it looks more and more like it may be one of those miserable ones. Hopefully this cold spell will break and we will get to enjoy some pleasant winter weather. Yet perhaps the fury with which winter came upon us this year can be viewed in a positive manner.

Recently the Viking School sent a letter home informing parents of a number of upcoming events, and reminding parents of their responsibility in ensuring that their youngsters are properly dressed for the winter weather. Yet every year we see youngsters arrive at school without proper winter clothing. Many leave home in "sneakers" and a light coat when it is very cold out. These people carry a change of footwear for use in the school. Many spend the early part of the day either walking around in wet shoes or shuffling around in their stocking feet.

And some of these poorly clothed youngsters arrive at the school on the buses. Our bus drivers assume a tremendous responsibility when they take on the job of chauffeurage your youth to our schools. Winter driving conditions are not always good, and numerous problems can arise. As well, they have to maintain discipline on the buses to ensure that no one gets hurt, or causes a distraction to the driver such that an accident may occur. With problems such as these constantly on the minds of our drivers, why should they also be faced with the task of having to ensure that all students are properly dressed for their ride on the school bus?

It is totally unnecessary for our bus drivers to be put in this situation. It is the responsibility of all parents to ensure that their children are adequately dressed for any or all possible situations which may occur while they are travelling to and from the schools. It is unfair to put the drivers in the position of having to refuse a student the right to ride on the bus because the parents failed to ensure that the child was properly attired. They have enough problems to face on their journeys. Let's not be guilty of causing them more.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:
 As a member of the recreation board recently "fired", I feel I must describe the situation as I see it. To the first place "fired" suggests you were "laid off" for this job. All our efforts were strictly on a volunteer basis. We were paid a gratuity of $5.00 for each regular meeting but donated much time toward extra meetings, supervisory tasks and program planning.

No one even bothered to mention the most important gain made by the recreation board during the last three years. We were effective in convincing council of the necessity of reserving a sizeable parcel of land for total recreation development.

The planning is the most important thing to this and we worked with Mr. Prank to prepare a major site plan for recreation development for the next 10 years. We received a copy of this plan just last September, 1980. The recreation board was approved it and it was passed on to the former town council. UNTIL THIS YEAR WAS DESIGNATED THERE WAS NO PLACE AVAILABLE TO BUILD A MAJOR FACILITY.

The preliminary facility plan was drawn up November 1, 1979. It was not a "blueprint", just a working copy. We were at the point of inviting citizen input to develop a facility tailored to fit the needs of the people. We have no funds or jurisdiction to do anything but advise. We were in no position to authorize preparation of a blueprint or to seek tenders.

This is a very expensive project which is not to be taken lightly. It must have the approval of the people the fact of which council is well aware.

Finally, I'd like to emphasize that to my knowledge, we were never invited to meet with the new council to devise a logical plan of action. They apparently weren't interested enough in our advice.

When I look back to the point at which we started, as an ineffective member of a regional system, to the present, on the verge of major recreational facility development, I feel all the frustrations and disappointments of dealing with bureaucratic obstacles that can only be overcome by determination and time.

I feel that through our thoughtful planning we have established a good foundation on which to construct a much needed recreation facility in Viking.

I am very interested in seeing things happen in recreation in Viking and the experience has been extremely valuable. I am saddened by Council's lack of appreciation for our volunteer service. Good luck to the new board.

Phyllis Lefebvre
 Dear Editor:
 It is not a familiar ring to the name of the Town Council in "Bringing the outdoor Recreation Board" because one or two of us did not bring their job. Lack of communication has got to be the loudest excuse I have ever heard.

Perhaps "Unfamiliar" is becoming a new feel. If Ottawa can do it, so can the Viking Council.

Irene Toward

Dear Sir:
 Upon arriving at my family home in Viking last Friday, I routinely proceeded to read the latest edition of the Review. Even while attending the U. of A. in Edmonton, I am still interested and concerned about the people and community in which I grew up. Therefore, I look forward to reading our local informative newspaper.

Naturally since I was employed under the guidance of the Local Recreation Board this past summer, as Summer Recreation Programmer, the headline in the December 8 issue of your immediate attention. In respect to the report of the Recreation Board "fired", I was shocked and wondered as to what brought about this action.

After reading the entire article, many questions arose in my mind as to the validity of most of the article and the committee's decision. It was reported that the entire 9 member board was fired and a total new one was chosen, consisting of only 7 members.

We Canadians have suffered from a dictatorship type of Government at the Federal and Provincial levels. We don't expect to have the same with our local politics at the town level.

The firing of our local recreation board by our fledgling Council was an erroneous move on their part with regard shown for the hard working volunteers of our community. The local recreation board has only had one year of operation since the demise of the former Recreation Board. The frustrations of the changeover over the past year have not been involved in the firing of our local board.

Agreed that some members of the board were not as productive as others was not a reason for the mass dismissal without a hearing. As for lack of communication with the public, this is always a problem as the public in general would rather find fault in the Coffee Shop than appear at a board meeting and state their views. The shocks from this erratic act will be felt by all organizations that depend on Volunteers to make them function.

The Community must show their distaste of this shoddy act of Council by making their views known and showing support for the volunteers of Viking and District who are so important to the welfare of our Community. "STAND UP AND BE COUNTED".

W.S. Taylor

Perhaps Council should have gone further in changing the Recreation Board by-law in this regard. While I am not personally involved in the matter, I would like to see the board quickly selected board, I question how council itself could be so hasty in its decision to fire the board.

It seems only logical that since the Recreation Board reported the community that the people in the community themselves have a demand and concern about the people and community in which I grew up. Therefore, I look forward to reading our local informative newspaper.

One final comment that I would like to make, is the lack of female representation on this new board. Was this noted as urgency to the Council or was it just a male chauvinistic decision?

Clay J. Stephenson

Dear Sir:
 I was shocked by the firing of the Viking Recreation Board "fired". After reading the article and the committee's decision, I must confess with my analysis of the situation.

We Canadians have suffered from a dictatorship type of Government at the Federal and Provincial levels. We don't expect to have the same with our local politics at the town level.

Roddick Land

Recently in a 6 month temporary lease for the Centre Roddick land, Mrs. Carrington said that after this time, the Centre would either have to have a new home, or be shut down. The noted that the Roddick property has $21,000 to be used towards a new facility. The Society presented cost estimates of $70,000 to $80,000 to build a new facility. The Town had the new facility in a total of $60,000. The fact that the remaining $14,000 could be raised through other channels.

Mayor Roddick noted that the 7th grade students which were claimed to the Society must be designated for use by the end of the month. The application also noted that they did not receive written notice of the original signed change which was given to the present, the Altona Planning Act.

Council has decided to initiate a by-law to remove the land, hold a hearing, then make a final decision after all parties have been heard.

Byrd Overbush of Municipal Development of the City of Winnipeg, who was in charge of the discussion on the major area of development in and around Viking. The area structure plan for the Industrial Park was discussed at length. Plans are to develop the northwest portion of the area first as there is better access to sewer and water lines.

Purchase of the Longhills land is nearly complete, with only minor government and insurance holding up final.

ings to replace present facility for the Centre Roddick land, Mrs. Carrington said that after this time, the Centre would either have to have a new home, or be shut down. The noted that the Roddick property has $21,000 to be used towards a new facility. The Society presented cost estimates of $70,000 to $80,000 to build a new facility. The Town had the new facility in a total of $60,000. The fact that the remaining $14,000 could be raised through other channels.

The application also noted that the 7th grade students which were claimed to the Society must be designated for use by the end of the month. The application also noted that they did not receive written notice of the original signed change which was given to the present, the Altona Planning Act.

Council has decided to initiate a by-law to remove the land, hold a hearing, then make a final decision after all parties have been heard.

The Council reported that Council approved a Municipal Planning Commission to hear any development applications for land in Viking. He said that

A Development Appeal Board should also be updated to hear appeals from M.P.C. decisions. He said that Council should not sit as both bodies as they were in conflict. If an appeal was made concerning one of their decisions, the possibility of selecting two 5 member boards was discussed by the Council.

crime was committed. They stress keeping away from any activity that can lead to trouble with the law, because prison is a "dead-end street"; and they don't want to see others end up incarcerated.

The men pointed out that the biggest cause of criminal activity is the use of alcohol and drugs. Both were levelled with alcohol, and say that well over 90 per cent of crimes in prison were for these reasons. They said that anyone who gets drunk while they drink can't control their alcohol, and therefore has an alcohol problem.

They stressed too, the responsibility of parents, to know where their kids are, warn them of dangerous situations, and be present when they are out. If you don't want your child to drink, don't drink! These programs have the side benefit of helping the men involved, as well as the community.

The Viking R.C.M.P. Detachment report a relatively quiet period since the beginning of December. A single charge of impaired driving and a charge of illegal possession of alcohol were issued under the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Act. In addition, two drivers had their licenses suspended for a period of 90 days. A complaint of theft involving merchandise valued at over $300 has been received and is currently under investigation. Two separate complaints of disturbances were received by the Detachment - one at the Kinross Hotel and the second on the train as it was passing through Viking. In both cases the train was stopped and the charges were laid in child or nuisance. APPENDIX "A" SCHOOL & SCHOOL BUS OPERATIONS DURING STORMS

1. Schools in the County of Beaver will operate on all regular school days. Should school buses be cancelled due to hazardous road conditions, all pupils will be excused from attendance. Teachers will be expected to attend and will be utilizing this time for preparation purposes.
2. Should an overnight storm cause blocked roads or the serious danger of blocked roads, school bus runs will be cancelled. Radio station CFCW (Camrose) will broadcast messages, starting at 6:30 a.m., informing parents of the cancellation.
3. Should it be necessary to send pupils home by school bus at some time during the school day because of stormy conditions, these procedures will be followed:
 - 1) The Principal of the school has authority to send school buses home at any time during the school day.
 - 2) Radio station CFCW will broadcast messages that rural pupils are enroute home.
 - 3) Parents, school bus drivers and others who are informed on road conditions are asked to telephone the Principal, the County Councillor or the County Office at Ryley should they suspect that stormy conditions will block roads.
4. Road and weather conditions vary considerably throughout the County. For this reason, each school will operate independently under this procedure. It is possible that morning runs may be cancelled at some schools and not at others. Similarly, buses may be routed home during the school day at some schools and not at others.
5. Parents are reminded that it is their right to decide whether or not their children will get on the bus in the morning should conditions be stormy or hazardous.
6. Please be certain that all pupils are dressed adequately warm each day. A school bus can become stranded on any given day due to road conditions or mechanical breakdown.

4-H Horse Club Meets

The December 4th meeting of the Light Horse Club was held at order by President Betty Hayland. A Canada was then sung. Following that was the pledge which was led by Sara Nearing. The roll call, which was the age of your horse, was then presented. The secretary's minutes were then read and adopted, with Richard Valtner seconding. The Treasurer's report was then read. Record books, personal forms, program schedules and 4-H calendars were then handed out for this year. For Old Business, the pennies were collected, which added up to $22.00, and the $60.00 we donated was then delivered to the Battle Lake Community Centre. New Business was then discussed. We decided we needed a fund raising project. Betty Hayland moved that we have another bottle drive this year. The date we set is January 8, 1991, from 10:00 to 1:00, ending with a potluck lunch. Richard Valtner seconded that motion. We decided we needed to make posters for the bottle drive. Marcy Newby and Janet Valtner donated their services for that. Our Christmas Party was also discussed. Marcy Newby moved that we have a

842-6131Local Midgets Have Successful Week

The Viking Midgets played three games the past week and all three ended in victories.

The first game was held Tuesday night when the locals hosted Scarborough. The first period ended in a 1-1 tie with Ian Erickson scoring.

Richard Leford and Murray Josephson combined on the opening goal. The second period found the locals over power the visitors, outscoring them 6 goals to 1.

Murray Josephson and Eugene Milne were the scorers. On Friday, the boys travelled to Irma for their second league game.

The first period had Viking outscore Irma 4-1. Ian Erickson had a pair with singles to Richard Leford and Murray Josephson. Assistants went to Richard Leford with two while Joseph Win-cura, Graham Wilkie, Murray Josephson and Ian Erickson each got a single.

In the second period Irma held the boys in closer check but still Viking managed to score three times to Irma's single.

Murray Josephson scored a pair with Ian Erickson and Eugene Milne getting single. Assistants went to Ian Erickson and Murray Josephson with two each while Richard Leford and Bill Hanson each got one. When the final buzzer sounded the Viking boys had defeated Irma by a score of 11-3.

Sunday afternoon saw the local boys host Wainwright for their third league game. The Viking team dominated play for most of the first period and only some good saves by the Wainwright goalie kept the local boys from scoring only three times.

Kenny Chahak, Murray Josephson and Eugene Milne were the scorers. Assistants went to Ian Erickson, Richard Leford, Curtis Quattak and Dan Ayrich with one each. Graham Wilkie had a single assist.

In the third period Viking again outscored the visitors. This time Ian Erickson scored twice with singles coming off the stick of Murray Josephson and Eugene Milne. Assistants went to Richard Leford, Joseph Win-cura and Eugene Milne.

While scoring four goals, the local boys held Wainwright off the scoreboard and when the final buzzer sounded, Viking had defeated the visitors 11-2.

have scored. Assistants went to Ian Erickson, Richard Leford, Curtis Quattak and Dan Ayrich with one each.

In the second period, the boys again outscored Wainwright scoring four unanswered goals. Ian Erickson got a pair with Richard Leford and Dan Ayrich. Murray Josephson picked up 9 assists while Richard Leford got two.

Ian Erickson and Bill Hanson each got one assist. The third period saw the boys let off and in turn Wainwright carried more of the play to Viking, still Viking managed to score 3 times to Wainwright's two.

Ian Erickson, Randy Graham and Richard Leford each tallied for Viking. Murray Josephson, Kenny Chahak and Ian Erickson also drew assists respectively. With the sound of the final buzzer, Viking defeated Wainwright 10-3 for their fourth consecutive win.

Again the boys and team management would like to thank all game officials and also the fans for their help and support. They hope this support continues for the upcoming games.

Irma News And Views

Grate Dead from Lovey, Alberta, and a couple Mrs. Mrs. Brown from Wainwright, Victoria, Australia, visited with Mike and Jim on Tuesday, December 2. Mrs. Brown, who is a distant cousin of the school, is on her way out to Australia after a month holiday in Europe, where she toured Germany, France, Italy, Switzerland, and finally five weeks in Ireland, where of which were spent in and around Roscrea, County Tipperary, which is Jim Jackson and Bob Demsey's home town. Edna and her husband were in hospital. Alan attended the Alberta Junior League convention which was held in Calgary. They stood over with Volcan at Red Deer last night and on returning.

Mike Jackson left for Edmonton on the bus on Thursday, December 4, for a short visit with Beverly and Albert. December 8th is her birthday, which is also the birthday of some of her grandchildren, with whom she plans to celebrate. She also plans to do some shopping, and visit some old friends before returning.

Congratulations and best wishes to Mel and Laurie Anne Erickson on the birth of their son on December 7 in the Materlini Hospital. On the evening of December 19th we should all turn down our televisions, open our doors and windows a wee crack to watch and listen for the strains of Christmas Carols by the Irma United Church Carolers, when a Family Hayride will be held, commencing at 7:00 p.m.

People in all sizes, shapes and ages may don their ski-doo clothes and layers of winter clothing to get into the real spirit of Christmas with a good old fashioned caroling. Children are to be accompanied by an adult. Bring some lunch, and hot chocolate will be provided in the church basement following the caroling. Meet at the United Church at 6:30 to get organized.

At the Alberta Quarter Horse Association awards night held in Red Deer recently Ralph Mark of Irma was presented with an honor blanket after his horse "Two Eyed Bear Up" was the top reining mare for Alberta during 1980.

Weight Over The Winter Months Without Affecting Their Calves
Healthy beef cows, five years and older can lose 100 to 150 pounds - 10 per cent of their fall body weight, during the winter without affecting the weaning weight of their calves.
This is the conclusion reached by P.G. Riley and J. Rodge of the University of British Columbia department of animal sciences after three years of investigations involving eight commercial cow-calf ranches in the cow-calf range in the southern half of B.C.
However, the data they collected indicate that it could be advantageous to preferentially feed young cows during the winter.
The cows in all but one of the eight herds lost weight consistently less weight each winter and regained it the following summer. The research results showed no valid reason for reducing winter weight losses even in one herd where the average weight loss was 300 pounds per cow.
The weaning weight of calves from this herd averaged 480 pounds at 180 days of age. On the ranch where the cows gained weight over the winter, the weaning weight of the calves at 180 days of age was only 460 pounds.
The research findings showed that in general, cows were only six pounds heavier than the herd average at weaning time on each additional 100 pounds of weight.

For example, the crossbred cows of exotic breeds in one herd were not heavier than the straight breeds of the British breeds in the same herd, and the average cow weight (1,080 pounds) in one purebred Hereford herd was similar to that of the crossbred herd studied.
Even though the larger beef cows did lose slightly less weight, as mentioned above, the researchers felt that it was not worth extra feeding or breeding heavier cows to increase weaning weights. Their reasoning is that good cows feed their calves well; and that cows that are well fed during the summer produce heavier calves without becoming heavy themselves.
The study also showed that two, three and four year old cows weaned 9, 5 and 4 per cent lighter calves respectively than the herd average, and that five to 10 year old cows weaned calves that were remarkably similar in weight (average 500 pounds). The latter fact shows that cows would not be relied on the basis of age alone.
In one herd it was found that the two year old beef cows weaned calves that were heavier than the three and four year olds gained more weight than the heifers over the summer, the researchers concluded that it could be advantageous to preferentially feed young cows during the winter following their first and second calving to prevent them from losing weight.

Irma New Horizons Hold Christmas Party
The Irma New Horizons annual Christmas party was held in the Drop-In Centre on Wednesday evening, December 5.
Members and friends began arriving at 5 p.m. The president, Georgia Greig, welcomed everyone and presented the meeting to order and welcomed those present. She then presented two bills for payment, and a notice that they be paid or carried quickly. Georgia then led in singing songs.
People started filling their plates at 5:30 p.m. The party was delicious with turkey with all the trimmings, vegetables and home made pies of every variety. A La mode if you wished, and tea and coffee galore. A capacity crowd was in attendance to enjoy the meal.
When tables were cleared and put away, a program of music and entertainment got us on with Donald Gunn singing as M.C.
The first item was Carol singing with Betty Nissen as the piano. Ernie Bass on piano, Murray Brown on violin accordion, and Lorna Jackson on the harp. All at this point the M.C. announced the fact that next Wednesday, Jean and Ernie Bas will celebrate their 50th Wedding Anniversary. Jean and Ernie came forward and sang "If You're A Lady God Bless Her". A skit conducted by Edith Gunn went over quite well and was applauded, as did a dance by Lyle Jack and Lily Thompson.

Phyllis gave a long humorous reading, "The Farmers Wife At Harvest Time", which was well received. A piano duet by Lillian Copeland and Marge Fischer came next, followed by a reading by Jan Jackson, which caused much laughter.
The Senior Choir entertained with a number of songs.
Mr. Gunn presented a vote of thanks to all who contributed to this delicious banquet and delightful evening, which was carried in the usual manner. Georgia also presented a thank you to all.
The evening closed with the singing of God Save The Queen.

This concluded the best Christmas Party since the inception of the club, and much credit is due the members of the lunch committee, the entertainment committee, and all who contributed in any way to the success of the evening.

Irma U.C.W. Meet
The regular meeting of the Irma U.C.W. was held in the United Church on Thursday, November 29 at 8:00 p.m.
Our president, Mrs. Georgia Greig welcomed everyone to this meeting.
We opened our meeting by repeating the Prayer Person in unison.
Devotions were given by Mrs. Marjorie Fischer; reading was from Luke, Chapter 2, verses 9 - 14, the creed with prayer, and we sang hymn No. 58, verses 1-3.
The program was given by Mrs. Dorcas Gellie, who read an article from "Radio Talk" - "Whatever You Want".
The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, December 10 at 8 p.m. Devotions will be given by Rev. Anne Gorman, the program will be annual reports, and the women will be ladies with varnishes beginning with J. S.

The piano reading was read by Mrs. Lorna Fischer. It was discussed and dealt with.
Roll call was answered by 8 members.
Mrs. Lorna Fischer moved on to hold our annual meeting on Tuesday, December 10 at 8 p.m. Devotions - J.S. There were 30 cards sent, 30 visits and 17 readings during November.
Mrs. Mary Dempsey moved on to adjourn. We closed with the Theme prayer. Lunch was served by Mrs. Georgia Greig.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, December 10 at 8 p.m. Devotions will be given by Rev. Anne Gorman, the program will be annual reports, and the women will be ladies with varnishes beginning with J. S.

Profile: Will Rushton

WILL RUSHTON

On October 15, 1980, the citizens of Viking chose a new mayor for the first time in many years.

The man chosen to sit in the mayor's chair for the next three years was Will Rushton.

Will was born in Oxford, Nova Scotia. He grew up in Oxford and went to school there with his brother and sister.

When he finished school, Will moved to Halifax, where he worked for the Bank of Nova Scotia for one year.

After leaving Halifax, he worked in an aircraft factory in Amherst, Nova Scotia.

He spent four months in Amherst, before joining the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

In 1964, Will came to Alberta as a member of the R.C.M.P. Over the next few years he was posted in several communities throughout Alberta.

In 1968, Will was transferred to Newfoundland. He stayed there for three months before deciding to leave the force.

He then moved to Edmonton, where he worked for an insurance company until 1974.

In 1974, Will bought Gaila Motors, and the Rushtons family moved to Viking.

Will is a very busy man. He is a member of the Viking Chamber of Commerce, and recently resigned as president of the Viking Chamber of Commerce. Although he enjoys his association with the Chamber, Will felt his new position as mayor would require the majority of his time, and would make it difficult to perform his duties as president of the Chamber properly.

Will finds that running his business, Willmark Motors, and his new position as mayor, keep him very busy these days. No matter how busy he is, though, Will keeps his family at the top of the list, and spends as much time as possible with them.

Will is also a member of the Knights of Columbus, and recently resigned as president of the Viking Chamber of Commerce. Although he enjoys his association with the Chamber, Will felt his new position as mayor would require the majority of his time, and would make it difficult to perform his duties as president of the Chamber properly.

Will's optimistic outlook, and his desire to get things done, should be a great asset to him in the next three years.

their detailed presentation and a short discussion period the Board received a petition, signed by parents whose children also travel the bus route driven by Donna Blumens.

Gay Birchmore, mother of the child in question, and Joe Makar attended the meeting in support of retaining Donna Blumens to drive the bus route. Although a lack of consensus was evident at the onset of this situation the problem has been resolved between the parents and the driver. After considering both presentations, the Board moved that Mrs. Donna Blumens be retained as regular driver immediately. However as Mrs. Blumens had requested and been granted one month leave of absence on the recommendation of her doctor, she will resume driving when health permits.

The Board passed a motion that all school bus drivers receive a reminder regarding the guidelines governing discipline during loading of students.

A report concerning the condition of the recreation centre and recently completed at the Hidden School was discussed. The pool was poured in two separate sections. The north half which was poured during November and below were winter may have caused the pool to freeze rather than set. As some deterioration such as peeling and cracking are evident now and more expected later, a motion was passed to hold back a portion of payment to the contractor firm until such time as the structure can be brought up to the expected standards.

Following the public meeting which was held in the school on Monday, Dec. 6th, with the Tuleid Home and School Association to discuss the differences, the chairman of the Board of Education advised that the meeting was not a great deal of support for the educational system and the school administration at Tuleid School was evident.

Previous problems were somewhat unfounded, resolved or seen in a new light and now not supported.

that they should be given public recognition in order to meet some of the hard feelings. Mrs. Bird also said that the headline was very ill chosen, as since the Don members had been hired, they couldn't be fired.

Mrs. Bird suggested that the letter be printed in the paper. However, Mayor Binkley said that the Council should not answer back to newspaper stories. He said that there was no one in the Town to answer such newspaper articles.

Council then passed a motion to write the old Board members on a more personal basis. Councillor Binkley was designated to draft the new letter.

Cattlemen Take Action To Protect Their Land Base

Cattle producers, as the largest users of land in Alberta, must take whatever steps are necessary to protect their use from both vandals and oil companies. Says Stan Wilson, Chairman of the Alberta Cattle Commission.

Wilson reported to the Annual Meeting of the Commission that the organization had been active over the past year in both these areas of concern.

As far as vandalism and poaching were concerned, the Commission presented the Range Patrol idea across the Province whereby citizens could join together to keep a close check on their property.

Fifty two Range Patrol groups had been formed, covering 80 per cent of the cattle producing areas in the province.

Already it is apparent that the Range Patrols are effective in not only in preventing vandalism and poaching but also in cutting down on all forms of criminal activity and was hoped that during 1981.

The idea would spread to most parts of Alberta.

In the area of giving greater protection to Landowners from Oil and Pipeline and Power Companies, Wilson reported that the Commission had developed a comprehensive package of amendments to the Land Use legislation to bring a better balance between small landowners and large energy companies.

He said that for too long the legislation had favoured those who were developing our energy over those who were growing food.

At last the Government seemed to be recognizing this imbalance and was prepared to make some changes. The Commission was specifically recommending measures that would make it more difficult for energy and pipeline companies to obtain Right of Entry orders without proper negotiations with land users.

The Alberta Cattle Commission was also requesting legislation of annual reviews of all forms of land use agreements on pipeline and powerline easements.

Shykora Resigns From Holden Council

Nick Shykora, former Councillor for the Village of Holden was elected Mayor at the December 16th regular meeting of the Village Council.

The election of a new mayor was considered by the resignation of Mayor Nick Shykora. Mr. Shykora served the Village of Holden in the capacity of Councillor and was currently serving his third term as Mayor.

Immediately prior to the regular December Council meeting, Mr. Shykora presented his written resignation to the Village Administration. Mr. Shykora was elected Mayor of Holden at the December 16th Council meeting. Mr. Shykora's resignation was accepted with regret.

In speaking with Mr. Shykora he stated that his resignation was the result of his being elected Mayor. Mr. Shykora was elected Mayor of Holden at the December 16th Council meeting. Mr. Shykora's resignation was accepted with regret.

County Council Holds Regular Meeting

A delegation representing the County of Beaver attended the completion of the 75th Anniversary celebration within the County. Council decided to use the remaining funds for parks within the county, and for a flagpole for the county office in Ryky.

County Fire Chief, Les Weatherill, attended the meeting to present council with a report from the Village Fire Department.

Mr. Weatherill told council that each fire department in the county was given $1200.00 to be used for practice. The Village Fire Department was given a request for permission to use the money for equipment rather than practice.

After a period of discussion on the matter, council felt there should be no problem in using the funds for equipment, as long as the fire department still held practice.

Trucks, shovels and lawns were shown on respect as a thoughtful driver toured Village during the late hours of Saturday, December 13th or early hours of Sunday morning December 14th.

Contracts Awarded For School Upgrading Projects

The County of Beaver Board of Education have made purchases or commitments to purchase a total of six new school buses over the next few months.

Previously the Board reviewed the overall bus situation and proposed to purchase a total of five school buses in 1981. However it was determined that a sixth bus was needed. Originally these purchases were slated for the 1981 budget but with an immediate shortage resulting from the breakdown of a couple of older model buses, purchases negotiated.

The buses were undertaken for one 60 passenger, two 34 passenger and three 48 passenger buses.

In view of price increases and weight effect on the budget, the board decided to purchase three buses in 1980 at the 1980 price and the remaining three on next year's budget. By purchasing 1980 models now the Board cut the total expenditure by approximately six thousand dollars.

Mr. Mike Yashin in presenting the School Bus Department's report, stated that he was concerned over the increase in the number of days on which regular bus drivers were absent. His major concern centered around those drivers who are constantly not available without having made prior arrangements. He noted that this factor had not resulted in any major difficulties as yet but that the time the company pays should cover the cost of replacing road damage by rig moving.

The county pointed out that much of the damage is a result of moving rigs over wet roads. When this happens, the roads often require grading, which results in a higher assessment.

The county also pointed out that many truck moving rigs use roads other than those they have been given a permit to use.

After further discussion on the matter, the county council agreed to keep in touch with Voyager, and thus hopefully alleviate any further problems.

PEP Program Receives Approval

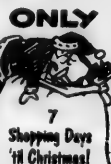

Over the past number of years, PEP (Priority Employment Program) has been run from January through April in communities that received approval.

These projects are developed on a local level, often by P.E.S. with specific needs in mind, and are administered locally, although employees are provincial government employees, and are the projects are supervised through Edmonton.

P.E.S. is in Village submitting applications for three positions, and was fortunate in receiving funding for all three — one person to work with youth, one person to assist with developing specific services and programs for seniors, and one person to coordinate a playgroup program (Job descriptions follow elsewhere in the paper).

These positions will be filled by the end of the period, January through April, and the employees will be directly responsible to the p.e.s. director.

Deadline for applications is Monday, December 29, 1980, with interviews being held the morning of December 31. Work will commence January 5, 1981.

The KKK

During the past six months or so, efforts have been made by one of the many organizations of the Ku Klux Klan to establish itself in Alberta. This group, which had its beginnings in the United States in the late 1800's, sees itself as the protector and defender of white America. There are many other overtones to its various philosophies, but its ultra right-wing attitude towards various religious and racial groups are well known.

The attempts by the KKK to organize in Alberta have met with a number of obstacles by Alberta residents allowing them to establish here. Some people want the Province to ban them from soliciting members or forming groups in Alberta communities. And yet, the Province cannot move in this direction, and most probably won't. A group such as the Ku Klux Klan has legal, stated objectives and a constitution. And so do many other groups in our society. Of course, the intent and purposes may be radically different from these other groups, but we must maintain the right of the KKK to exist in Alberta.

As long as an organization does not do anything illegal, or attempt to overthrow our system of government, we must allow it to exist. It is one of the basic principles upon which our system is founded. We do not have to agree with the ideals or purposes of any organization, but we must maintain its right to exist and operate. If we deny the right of the KKK to function in Alberta, we can then deny the right of any other organization to function. Once this type of mentality gains total hold in a society, it is often very hard to stop it. We could penultimately end up with only one political party or one religion or one fraternal organization.

However, because our society allows organizations such as the Ku Klux Klan to operate, organizations which are ultimately racist and religiously bigotted, we all must accept the responsibility of keeping an eye on such organizations. This responsibility does not only relate to organizations. It is the general responsibility which all of us have to ensure that our society is safe. If organizations such as the KKK do so-called legal, we must be prepared, if we have knowledge of such an act, to come forward and be heard. We must accept our roles as members of a free society. Jean Jacques Rousseau, a French philosopher of the 1700's, said that man realized true freedom when he became a member of a civilized society. He suggested that no one was truly free if we did not have laws to protect our person and property. We ultimately would fall victim to the strongest, thus not allowing us to be free at all. Only by accepting our responsibilities as members of a free, democratic society can we attain true freedom.

The "person" who tore across a number of lawns in Viking during the past week is an example of the type of person who necessitates our joining into civil societies. This person obviously has very little regard for the possession or property of other people. This person obviously cannot accept the responsibilities inherent in his/her being a member of this society. Thus this person should be apprehended and punished by the law. If one cannot live within the laws of a civil society, then one should be removed from that society. The removal of this person is dependent upon the evidence which will prove their guilt. This evidence will only come through co-operation of the society. In this area, and through good police work, hopefully both will occur, and the "irresponsible" person and/or persons will be properly dealt with by the courts. Responsible citizenry and good police are the only ways to ensure that illegal acts such as this one, or the types of acts credited to the KKK, will not occur or will be limited in our society.

Dear Sir:

I have a few comments about some of the information included in your article regarding the re-creation board as disreputable.

It seems that none of the charges for disreputable were really valid. It has been brought to my attention that one of the former Town Council representatives only attended two meetings the last year.

Could promises to verify about communication but they aren't responsible as ough to discipline their own members.

There was some concern that the group wasn't represented. Are these groups interested in recreation? Who better to sit on the board than active involved people.

The old bunch were busy with curling, hockey, skating, tennis, dance, minor baseball and participation in winter programs because they were interested.

Did council not realize that it's those same people or members of their family who are also volunteering their time and effort to Miss Hockey, Curling Club, etc. Hockey, Curling Club, etc. Hockey, Curling Club, etc. Hockey, Curling Club, etc.

The community would really suffer if those willing to help in their heads and hands and feet.

Why did council choose to smother the community's hand of volunteers when there were so many other ways to deal with the situation?

A Disenchanted Volunteer

After a one year stay in Canada the Marquardt family will be returning to Australia. They came to Viking as part of a teacher exchange when Mr. Marquardt and Fred Nordstrom were in the area. The Marquardt children (left to right) Nicole, Michelle and Toni have been attending Viking School.

Christmas Seal Campaign Needs Support

As the Alberta Lung Association heads into the second month of their annual Christmas Seal campaign, Christmas Seal donations continue to lag behind last year's pace and Alberta Lung Association officials are worried that this year's objective may not be met.

At of December 4th, $98,150 or 45 per cent of last year's total of $219,000 has been donated compared to $425,000 of 71 per cent last year at this time.

President of the Alberta Lung Association, Peter Blomquist said, "If we are to continue to provide or expand our existing services to the people of Alberta, we need your donation to Christmas Seal campaign."

The Alberta Lung Association to fund a variety of projects that have been developed by the Association to fund preventative lung health programs, respiratory research projects and personnel, scholarships for nursing and medical students in Alberta Universities and the distribution of lung health pamphlets, films and other educational materials.

It is also estimated that hospital cost for the treatment of respiratory disease in Canada is in excess of $400 million dollars annually.

Irma Home And School News

The staff of the Irma School wish all their students and their parents a very Merry Christmas holiday. We hope that next year will be as pleasurable and profitable as the last year has been.

Safety Awareness
 The Bus Safety Awareness program given by Mr. Norm Everett of Alberta Transport, proved to be most successful. Students were interested in the active part which they play in ongoing safety procedures and what is expected in cases of emergency.

Mr. Everett will be returning in the spring with another series of lectures.

Christmas Concert
 The students of the Irma School will be giving a Christmas concert on Thursday evening, December 18th. Please come and support the students in their efforts. The concert will be in the gymnasium. To ensure everyone can enjoy the concert, we have a special feature. A big thank you to Mrs. I. Hall (two students) and Mr. and Mrs. E. Jankowski. A big thank you to them.

Please note that this student exchange, through the International Fellowship in New York, is not just a way street. Students from the Irma School are not to be considered for an exchange elsewhere in north or south America. It does help if you understand the language!

Profile - Norman Greenwood

As in most small Canadian towns, the coming of winter in Virking means a change in lifestyle to many people.

If you ask some what comes to mind when you say the word "winter", they'll probably say cold and snow. Many others though, will answer with one simple word - hockey.

We in Virking, have been very fortunate over the years. We have excellent hockey facilities, many enthusiastic and talented players, and maybe most important of all, we have a great number of dedicated fans and supporters.

Over the past few years, one of the more familiar faces around the Caroma, and probably one of Virking's most dedicated hockey supporters has been Norman Greenwood.

Norman was born in Virking, but grew up and spent most of his life in Kinsella. He attended school in Kinsella, and after finishing school worked on a number of pipelines and construction jobs.

Norman moved to Virking approximately 18 years ago. Over the past few years Norman's involvement in hockey, especially with the Virking Gas Kings, has played a major role in making hockey such a success in Virking.

He has contributed to the Gas King organization in almost every way possible. At the beginning of the season, you can be sure to find him selling season tickets, and on game day, he'll be making the rounds with pool tickets.

His contribution to the Gas Kings goes far beyond that though. In fact you could almost call him a part-time manager, coach and adviser. When things don't go right with the team, he usually has the answers.

The time he has donated to the Gas Kings over the years has not only helped our senior team. It has brightened the whole hockey picture in Virking. Norman has made dedicated hockey fans out of a number of people, and has helped keep the sport alive in our town.

In addition to his work with senior hockey, Norman has also served as Caroma caretaker, and for a number of years coached the Virking Girls Hockey team.

Although his involvement in hockey is his number one hobby, Norman also enjoys playing a game of pool.

NORMAN GREENWOOD

We in Virking should consider ourselves very fortunate to have volunteered the Norman Greenwood. His love for hockey, and the time and dedication he has put into it, have kept the sport alive in Virking. For that, he deserves a tip of the hat.

Gas Kings Undefeated After Four Starts

In league action, Virking's senior team have a four game undefeated streak behind them.

Highlanders met defeat by a score of 7 to 3 in the opening game which was held at the Caroma on December 6th. Statistics are not available for the game.

On December 10th, the Gas Kings travelled to Fawcett and down the Flyers by a score of 4 to 2.

The Flyers scored the opening five minutes into the first period and netted a second at the halfway mark.

Berry Field, on an assist from Kevin Maxwell, put Virking on the board with four minutes left on the clock to end the second period with the score 2 to 1 in favor of the Flyers.

Viking reversed the pattern in the second period, scoring twice while the Flyers netted a single.

Kenny Leford, assisted by Barry Field, and an unassisted goal by Barry Field accounted for the Virking goals.

Alan Evans, on a pass from Kirk McInnes, scored the lone third period goal to end the game 4 to 3.

The Gas Kings also took the upper hand in the penalty department, playing short handed for 16 minutes in the opening period. They received one 5 minute penalty in the second, and another in the third. Highlanders' two 5 minute penalties were served in the third period.

Thursday, December 18, found the Gas Kings at Irma, where they proceeded to end the game 4 to 3. The Gas Kings also took the upper hand in the penalty department, playing short handed for 16 minutes in the opening period. They received one 5 minute penalty in the second, and another in the third. Highlanders' two 5 minute penalties were served in the third period.

This rather high scoring game was laced with penalties.

Officials charged 35 minutes against the Gas Kings and 44 minutes against the host team.

Kevin McInnes put Virking on the board early in the first game with the assist going to Barry Field. In quickly responded.

Viking scored twice in the second half of the opening period. Low Laskosky scored assisted by Kirk McInnes, followed by a goal off the stick of Barry Rattry with Low Laskosky assisting.

Going into the second period with a 2 to 1 lead, the Gas Kings faltered slightly, allowing Irma on the board twice to tie the game at 2 to 2.

Finally at the 37 second mark, Ray Rattry, assisted by Jim Laskosky and Blair Quinton, moved the Gas Kings ahead to end the second period with the score 4 to 3 in favor of Viking.

Viking scored their goal in the final while leading Irma at two, and winning the game by a 7 to 5 score.

Scoring in the third period was handled by Ray Rattry with 2 goals, and Low Laskosky a single. Assists were attributed to Blair Quinton - 3, Martin Laskosky - 1, and Ray Rattry - 1.

On Monday, December 15, the Virking hosted the Dayland North Stars in their fourth game of the regular season. The two teams were very evenly matched, and at the end of three periods the score was tied at a score of 3 to 3. No statistics are available at this time.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Hollar - Thompson

Thompson chose a polyester tulle gown with lace sleeves and also wore a corsage of orange mums which the bride had also made.

A reception was held in the Sedgewick Community hall which was attractively decorated for about 100 guests. A three tier wedding cake was baked and decorated by the bride's mother and added to the occasion.

Margaret Thompson, sister of the groom, was in charge of the guest book.

Mr. Lora Thompson, uncle of the groom was master of ceremonies. Mrs. Alma Kent friend of the bride acted the blessing.

The bride's uncle, Mr. Robert Jackson proposed the toast to the bride.

The Strumalongs supplied the music for the dance.

For her going away outfit the bride chose a 3 piece green floral velvet suit with beige accessories and orange corsage.

Out of town guests were from Sandro, Calgary, Edmonton, Brant and Lettbridge. For their honeymoon the newlyweds travelled by air to Memphis and Nashville, Tennessee. The couple reside in K.S. Jan.

DO SOMETHING

If you are aware of a child who is the victim of abuse or neglect, please help.

A call to Alberta's Child Abuse Hotline can prevent a damaging situation from becoming worse. Social workers at the Hotline understand that those who abuse their children may try to be good parents yet they cannot help taking their frustrations on the helpless child. With treatment, these parents can change. But hundreds of children in the province this year will continue to suffer unless someone speaks up.

If you are seeing or hearing any signs of child abuse or neglect, call now. Your concern will be appreciated.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

4-H On The Move

By Ed Masson, Regional 4-H Specialist

Provincial 4-H Leader
Training: Hoonahlin

Recognition for the amount of time and energy volunteer leaders give to 4-H. Without volunteer leaders, there would be no 4-H program. Most volunteers are rewarded by the accomplishments their 4-H members achieve. But sometimes have direct benefits to leaders as well.

These programs offer leaders the opportunity to enhance their skills by meeting with other 4-H leaders, sharing and receiving new ideas, hearing new skills, and having the opportunity to see and visit interesting places. All programs are sponsored by various agencies to cover expenses for travel, food, lodging and registration fees.

The following programs are available:
Montana 4-H Congress, Bozeman, Montana - early July 1981 - sponsored by Calgary Power Ltd., Alberta Power Ltd., six to ten leaders make an automobile trip through scenic Yellowstone National Park. The Congress is montana's 4-H round-up consisting of their multi 4-H competitions, club week, public speaking, demonstrations, address reviews and workshops, all rolled into one.

of the agricultural industries of northern Alberta and make new contacts with people in the N.W.T.
Manitoba 4-H Council Annual Conference - February 1981 - co-sponsored by Alberta Agriculture and Manitoba 4-H. This is an interesting and informative annual conference.
Western Regional 4-H Leaders Forum - March 6-7, 1981 at Portland, Oregon, sponsored by Alberta Agriculture. This is an opportunity to meet and share ideas with 4-H Leaders from the western United States. The Oregon 4-H leaders are planning a program to further growth of 4-H Volunteer leaders.

National 4-H Leader's Conference - November 11-14, 1981 at Toronto, Ontario. This is sponsored by Canadian 4-H Council and participants will be involved in intensive leadership training and learn about 4-H in other provinces.

Agriculture - late November 1981 sponsored by Alberta Agriculture. A leader accompanies the Alberta judging team to Regina for the Agriculture.

Healthcare Leaders Development Program - late November 1981. A two day conference where leaders attend discussion sessions, workshops and keynote addresses which will further aid their leadership skills.

Saskatchewan Advisory Council Meeting - March 1981. This program allows 4-H leaders to meet with the Saskatchewan Advisory Council and share ideas with them.

Leadership Development Program - September, D.C. Leaders attend an integrated leadership development program. Small group sessions, workshops, panel discussions and guest speakers are all a part of an extensive program in leadership development.

Annual 4-H Dairy Conference - October 1981, Madison, Wisconsin. This is an outstanding educational experience for 4-H leaders who are interested in dairy cattle and the dairy industry.

These programs are open to leaders, assistant leaders and project leaders. Application forms are available from your club leader or district home economist. Deadline for application is December 31, 1980. See your 4-H volunteer.

Viking Chamber Christmas Party

Dec. 20th

The Viking Chamber of Commerce invites you to take part in Viking 1980 Christmas countdown.

Enter your name for one of the many, many free drawings. Each 90 purchase entitles you to enter. Grand Prize is a trip for 2 to Las Vegas. All draws will be made at the Viking Casino commencing at 6:15 Saturday, Dec. 20th.

Plan to spend Saturday, December 20th in Viking.

Santa arrives by sleigh at 1:00 p.m. Get those special gifts while the youngsters enjoy a hockey game at the Casino. Viking Misses host Supper at the Casino at 1:30.

Following the game there is a free show at Brock Theatre complete with free popcorn and soft drinks. Youngsters are invited to enter their names at Brock Theatre on Saturday for the free children's draws which will be made at the Casino in the evening.

Santa will lead the way back to the sleigh right after the show and invites everyone to join him for a family skating party. Free hotdogs and hot chocolate, courtesy of N.A.D.P. will curb the appetite until the three draws are completed.

Santa has a special treat for each of you so make sure you're in Viking on Saturday, December 20th.

While in Viking you are reminded that the Elks are holding their annual turkey bingo at the community hall, commencing at 8:00 p.m.

Over the weekend a great deal of needless damage occurred when a number of trees and lawns were up rooted throughout the Town of Viking.

Weekly Police Report

Viking R.C.M.P. report last week being relatively quiet.

Police handed out four 84 hour driving suspensions, and laid two other liquor offence charges.

One charge of impaired driving was laid in the past week. The individual involved was driving a ski-doo at the time, and police would like to remind people that impaired driving charges can be laid against individuals driving ski-does, as well as motor vehicles.

Four motor vehicle accidents were investigated in the last week. No injuries were reported in the accidents. Police believe slippery streets and roads contributed to the accidents, and urge motorists to adjust their driving habits to compensate for the icy conditions.

Police are currently investigating several complaints of vandalism which occurred either late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

Several lawns were ripped up as a result of someone driving over them. The party responsible also uprooted a number of trees, and caused extensive damage to several yards.

Anyone having any information which would help police in their investigation is asked to please anonymously contact Constable Rick Nyssens at the Viking R.C.M.P. Detachment at 336-3454.

At their last regular meeting, Holden Village Council appointed the following people to the Recreation Board: Gordon Komarskiy, Faye Kraus, A. Van Der Torre, Bobbi Schweitzer, Mary Lee, and Anna Shervach, co-ordinator for Recreation and Facilities. The new appointments follow the resignation of the following people from the board: Christine Mackay, Carol Klenk, Lyle Anderson, and Marvin Tomschewsky.

Merchant Grain Beetles

Merchant grain beetles often infest foodstuffs in the home, and consumers can take measures to keep them from becoming a problem.

Agriculture Canada entomologist Amelia Puck says that beetles can come into the home in packaged foods, such as processed cereals and flour.

If insects are discovered, the infested food should be discarded and cupboards vacuumed.

CHRISTMAS FUN
We planned to spend Christmas at home in Edmonton. The year was 1917. As we were preparing for the occasion, my husband gave me a bill. Twenty Dollars. My first Christmas gift from Howard my husband, as I was a bride of a few months. We drove the car to Vegreville and it began to snow. We parked the car in the Ford shop garage, and boarded the five o'clock train for Edmonton.

When we arrived at home there was much excitement and chattering. I showed the family my Christmas gift, the twenty dollar bill. The next day was spent in shopping. I bought a china sugar and cream set for Howard's

That evening the younger children were busy with last minute trimmings and decorations. They placed their gifts in and under the tree, then off to bed early, to wake early.

Mother was busy in the kitchen mixing the pudding and preparing the "stuffing" for the turkey. Evelyn and I sat at the dining table wrapping gifts. Father sat at the other end writing cards. "To Dad From Mother", "To Dad From Amy", and down the list of daughters. He handed the cards to us and retired to bed. We used the cards, and had his Christmas card.

Mother was helping Evelyn and me place our gifts in the tree, when we heard movement in the hall. We looked up and there was Dad in his long grey flannel nightshirt, watching us as we whispered and worked silently to keep from disturbing the sleepers. He wasn't going to be left out of the fun.

Next morning, I heard the pitter-patter of bare feet descending the stairs as three pajama clad girls rushed through the parlor to the tree. Father had lit the kitchen stove, while mother put the pudding on to boil, and stitched up the turkey, and placed it in the oven. Now father was ready to hand out the gifts from the tree. Our arms were full. I gave my husband a long razor and strap to keep the razor sharp.

The tree had divulged it's gifts on the happy family. It stood in its garlands of tinsel, when father drew our attention to an envelope at the very top. Father's six feet there, and long his long arms reached up and handed me the envelope with the name "Amy" written on it. I opened the envelope, and pulled out a twenty dollar bill. Howard and father looked at each other with funny grins. I was so excited, almost choking from joy.

The things I could buy for my new home rushed through my mind. Forty dollars would buy many things in 1917. I rushed up stairs to place it beside the other bill. Low and behold it was the same bill. Father and Howard had played a joke on me. They had their fun, and I could laugh too.

The next few days were happy days. We had dinner one evening at my uncle's home, meeting the family who had come home for the holiday. We attended the theatre one night and saw a real live play. The acting was wonderful when compared to our little school skits.

Now it was time for our homeward journey. Evidently packed our suitcases and came along. We boarded the morning train to Vegreville to pick up the car. It had snowed and the wind had blown the narrow sleigh track flat.

The little Ford plunged through the snow. It stalled in a drift, but Howard shoveled and we made our other half mile. It stalled again, and this time Evelyn drove. I pushed and Howard shoveled. We were within two miles of Laver when the little Ford stopped in a huge drift. We went to a farm home and phoned the garage, and told them to come and get the car and store it until spring. We walked, carrying our suitcases, to Laver and the heavy man drove us home.

The house was warm, so our kind brother had kept "the home fire burning". The weather man had his fun, and maybe some of the neighbors. Ned and I served after New Years with the cutter.

Miss M. Heston left for Vancouver where she will spend Christmas. This has been a busy and enjoyable weekend at Vialta Lodge.

Saturday the Annual Christmas Dinner was held for residents and staff. After the delicious meal and carol singing led by Edna Reddish with Edna Martin at the piano, gift baskets were given out. After this, Mrs. Redwell presented a gift to the staff from residents of the lodge. I doubt if anyone counted calories - all enjoyed the festive meal.

On Sunday afternoon, Open-House Tea was held from 2-4 with many friends and families enjoying the goodies and visiting. On behalf of Vialta Lodge Board, Florida Armitage presented Mr. Selmer Hafe with a plaque, congratulating and thanking him for his 30 years of service as chairman of the Board of Management for Vialta Lodge.

Everyone enjoyed the afternoon. These happy times spent together are what make the holiday season so special.

Council Funding Out For Day Care

The Viking Town Council has decided against a major financial contribution to the Viking Child Development Society for a new Child Development Centre.

At the December 17th meeting, Council decided against the $40,000 requested by the Society. Counciler Birch said that the Town should be putting the taxpayers' money into the project. He said that providing a site is about as far as the Town can go in helping taxpayers to support this type of thing.

Counciler Evans said that the Society has shown that there is a need for this type of facility, but agreed that Counciler Birch. He said that the Town has given land and $10,000 from the 7th Anniversary money, and felt that the taxpayers wouldn't go further. Counciler Evans questioned the possibility of financing the centre through the Town, and then paid him.

Double Performance At Holden Arts Centre

Over 90 people enjoyed the performance of the McNamee Family Band on Friday evening. The McNamees certainly pleased the audience with their feature of Christmas carols, old time and blue grass songs.

Shannon McNamee only ten years old, charmed the old and the young audience by singing and playing the fiddle. Shannon stated after the show that she is never nervous while performing on stage as she has been performing since she was three years old.

Mr. McNamee also charmed the audience with his distinct sounds and versions of several songs. The biggest response from the crowd came following the polka music and their version of the song "Round Dye" this demanded and encore especially from the 10 to 12 year old audience.

However while the 90 old folks in the 2nd seat theatre enjoyed the live production, a very real drama was taking place at the entrance. The cash box was empty, mostly $200 was stolen.

Manager Barry Walker and his team of volunteers workers were horrified when they realised the cash box may have been stolen. Tollard R.C.M.P. were called to investigate. After a quick and thorough search the Tollard R.C.M.P. recovered the cash box.

The Directors agreed to a further period of time to finish the job. The Devonian Directors expressed a strong desire to close the project out by the end of July 1981. Mr. Patterson expressed a desire to have the project finished by the end of June.

The Viking Stage Band played a variety of selections during the musical program, "Wonderland of Music", at the Viking Community Hall on Wednesday, December 17.

Letter Goes To Old Rec Board

At the December 17th meeting of the Viking Town Council, approval was given to a letter which was being sent to all members of the old Viking Recreation Board.

Councillors Ritchie and Birch prepared a draft of the letter which was to be a follow-up to the original letter which was sent to all members. The decision for the second letter was made at the last Council meeting.

Following the reading of the letter, discussion took place on changes to the draft. Following a minor change in wording, Council passed some time discussing the use of the word "last" with regards to the decision which was taken.

Councillors Ritchie and Birch expressed a strong belief in the idea that the original Council decision of November 25th was hasty. Mr. Ritchie said that they had tried to include women, the youth, and senior citizens on the Board. He also was not sure that the new Board members fully understood the paper.

In order that the management, staff and correspondence of The Weekly Review will be closed from the afternoon of December 24 until Friday morning, January 2.

News items over the holiday season can be dropped off at the news boxes in your community or left with our correspondents for inclusion in the January 7 edition of the paper.

That Good Feeling

As most of our readers have realized by now, this week's edition of The Weekly Review went to print a day early due to the Christmas season which is upon us. As we were busy at our task of putting this larger-than-usual edition together, we enjoyed an experience which reminded us what Christmas is all about.

Towards late afternoon, the young lady who works at our office as a work experience student came through the door with a broad smile on her face clutching a handful of envelopes. She busied herself with finding the recipients of each envelope, each of which carried the name of one of the staff here at The Weekly Review.

As we received our envelopes, Sonya greeted us with a cheery "Merry Christmas". Upon opening them, we found a beautiful Christmas card and a gift for each of us. But what we were most fortunate to receive was the tremendously warm feeling which accompanied each gift.

It truly felt that this is what Christmas giving is all about. This gesture on her part was totally unexpected by each and everyone of us at the office. It was not at all "necessary" for her to do this. And yet she did. That Christmas spirit of joy which can be felt when giving and receiving was very evident in our office. The unexpected, the unnecessary, the spontaneous, the remembered-for-a-long-time gift is what Christmas is truly about. This is the benefit which we gained from a young lady's thoughtfulness on December 22nd. It will long be remembered and cherished.

And at this time of year we would like to publicly give thanks to the many, many people who have helped us in our efforts with The Weekly Review. The business people in the area, along with many national advertisers, have enabled us to provide our subscribers with a newspaper. Without them, we would not exist. Because of this, we encourage you to shop at the places that do advertise in this newspaper, for it is these businesses which provide us with the medium.

We would also like to express a great deal of gratitude to our regular correspondents who have faithfully contributed news from their communities and groups over the past year. Local news is what a weekly newspaper is all about, and these people have provided us with that. We would also like to encourage every organization and/or group in the area to submit their news for publication. The people in the area do want to know what's happening.

And we would like to especially thank our subscribers. We have endeavoured to provide you with the news of the area, and hope that you will continue to support us through your ideas and suggestions on how we can serve you better. We consider this paper to be your paper, and encourage you to use it if at all possible, and to provide us with news in our area.

On behalf of all of us at The Weekly Review (Lane, Diann, Maryann, Sam, Brent, Sonya and Dick), we extend to you the very best wishes at this Christmas, and hope that 1981 will be a year of health and happiness.

Mr. Ruskon said that there is a need to establish the Centre, and that Council had to decide either to let them go alone or help them. He said that the Society is in the last resort stage.

The Mayor also noted that the group has received some funding from various external organizations and that the town will have 50% senior citizens and rising, funding the project is not a course to take. He also said that she had done a telephone survey of 6 mothers in the community and found that only 3 of them would use the facility occasionally.

Council discussed the various possible ways of providing the $40,000. Council was uncertain if the Society wanted the money as an outright grant or if loans or work value were also possibilities. Mayor Ruskon noted that the Society could try to gain private financing, but that they require title to the land for borrowing purposes.

Stephenson wondered if they would go ahead if they had the land.

Council decided to ask the Society to attend the February meeting of Council to discuss the matter further. They decided to inform the Society that direct financial support was not available from the Town at this time, but that they would like to discuss other possible Town involvement in the project. They also requested the Society to request the Society to bring further information on possible financing if the Town provided them with the land.

Councilor Ritchie felt that the facility would be an asset to the community, but that he didn't know how the Town could get involved financially. He noted that the Society assumes they are getting Town land as previously designated by the preceding Town Council. Mr. Stephenson also put in a request for a second dump truck to facilitate snow removal in the winter, and general hauling in the summer. Council decided to utilize the old sweeper truck for this.

Jackson-Czar Exchange Vows

August 23, 1980, the Greek Orthodox Church north of Vegreville was the setting for the marriage of Charlie, son of Eddie and Lorna Jackson of Irma, and Olga Czar of Vegreville. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Kabin and Rev. Pak.

Ushering guests to their seats were Doreen Czar, brother, and Lorne Smith, groom's cousin. The bride was elegantly dressed in a chiffon over satin dress consisting of an empire waist, keyhole neckline shoulder, three length silk dress of navy blue with baby blue and white mesh. Featuring a slit to the knee on the right side finishing with a Grecian rope tie at the waist. Their bouquet of light blue silk daisies with mistletoe, forget-me-nots, statice and dark blue roses were set on a white lace Spanish lace.

The groomsmen: Neil Jackson, cousin to the bride, Howard Jackson, nephew to the bride, Dale Tomlinson and Marvin Hall, friends of the groom, were dressed in Blue Wellington tuxedos. The navy trim of velvet accented the blue in the bridesmaids dresses. Their modern wig-topped white shirts were completed with a matching baby blue bow tie. Bridesmaids consisted of a white caucasion with a twisted blue pease net.

Mrs. Czar wore a floor length rust gown with a peach chiffon overlay covering the front and back of the skirt. Featuring a high neck with split umbrella sleeves and a gathered waist line, the gown was accented by an orchid corsage with white accessories. Her dress was complimented by her husband's and pearl drop necklace. A beautiful setting of cascading red roses in her bouquet complimented the groom's arrangement.

The groom was dressed in his Regimental Scarlet Berge with Congress boots and breeches. The bride and groom were ushered into the church with their respective parents.

The betrothal was performed after the bride joined the groom at the altar. The exchange of the rings signified that in married life the weaknesses of one partner will be compensated by the strength of the other. The candles symbolized the willingness of the couple to receive God who will bless them through their sacrament of marriage.

Joining of the right hands is done while the priest reads the prayer that beseeches God to unite them in one mind and flesh to symbolize oneness of the couple. The crowns are signs of glory and honour for the bride and groom to be king and queen of their own kingdom which they will rule with wisdom, justice, and integrity. The common cup in which the couple take a drink of wine unites the spiritual sharing of joy and sorrow in their life.

The ceremonial walk to the husband and wife first steps as a married couple. As the couple departed the church they walked through the traditional RCMP Honour Guard consisting of fellow troop mates Glen Beaudin, Steve Shamber, Daniel Magnieux, Murray Dophe and Ted Birt. The bride's attendants were Myrtle Jackson, sister to the groom, Brenda Harville, a friend, and her husband's friends of the bride. They were dressed in a one-three-piece suit with light blue cord. The bridesmaids present were Mrs. Eva Czar of Wainwright and Mr. and Mrs. Margaret of Edmonton. Fraternal grandmothers attending were Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson and Mrs. Archibald, all of Irma.

The reception took place at the Kingston Hall where a 400 person, partied in a Christmas dinner and dance. In a traditional dinner and dance to the groom, Dale Tomlinson and Marvin Hall, friends of the groom, were dressed in Blue Wellington tuxedos. The navy trim of velvet accented the blue in the bridesmaids dresses. Their modern wig-topped white shirts were completed with a matching baby blue bow tie. Bridesmaids consisted of a white caucasion with a twisted blue pease net.

Master of Ceremonies was Lloyd Katsch, publisher of the bride. He and Howard Jackson gave the toast to the bride and groom and the groom replied. Neil Jackson, cousin to the bride, and Myrtle Jackson, sister to the groom, were the bridesmaids. Charlie and Caroline gave the toast to their parents and the father replied.

Rev. Kabin gave a heart warming speech and closed with everyone singing the Ukrainian and English version of "For They Are Only Good Followers".

The cake consisted of three round layers with the top layer set on pillars. The cake top featured an RCMP groom and his bride standing in front of a heart decorated with lace and roses. Beneath the cake was a garden fountain surrounded by forget-me-nots. Flowers and cake arrangements were done at Lipsett's. At the presentation

SUPPLES

Why not surprise your family or guests with a meal of crunch, crunch or drywall? Souffles make a perfect meal course or an easy dessert. Serve it either way, they will taste every-one's appetite.

Souffles are especially nutritious, as they may include eggs, cheese, milk, vegetables and other nutritious foods as ingredients into a single dish. They serve as a excellent source of protein and B-vitamins and when served with a salad and wine can complete a well-balanced meal.

Souffles have always been deemed as difficult to make but anyone with that north attitude with a little help knowledge they're as easy as baking a cake. Any failure can be recovered by serving as a crumbly omelette.

There are two main types of souffles. There are those that are served cold, which are baked in the oven and cold souffles which are not baked but have a gelatin base to give them structure. Why not try a souffle with your leftover Christmas turkey.

For more information on how to make a soufflé, soufflé and other "Seasonal" recipes, call or write to my office, it is free for this time. Phone 690-5888.

Profile: Santa Claus

The person who is often quoted as "man of the year" took time out from his busy schedule to visit Viking on Saturday, December 20th.

Santa Claus, also Saint Nick, Kris Kringle, reported that all is going exceptionally well at the North Pole this year. All his Elves have been working hard and putting in many long hours stamping to complete all the "Christmas Wish" lists before the evening of December 24th.

When asked how old he was, Santa, like many of us who have gotten older, replied that he does not remember.

Although Santa Claus does not remember when he was born or exactly where, he believes that it must have been close to the North Pole because that is the only home he has ever known.

From the beginning of the New Year until December 24th Santa and his family of Elves are busy making, building and wrapping gifts for the next Christmas. He did advise that he takes a short holiday just after Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Claus have no children of their own, however they feel the Elves are their real family.

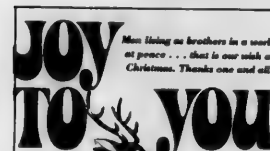

Santa Claus is such a happy and jolly person that he looks forward to this special time of year. A special time of celebration where friendship and good will abound in the hearts of all. A time when we share gifts with those we love and the one and only time of the year when the magic of "Santa" touches the little people throughout the world on Christmas Eve.

Ever thankful for your enduring faith and trust, we extend thanks to our cherished patrons. May the radiance of his birth illuminate your holiday.

Viking Chamber X-mas Party Successful

The third annual Viking Chamber of Commerce Christmas Days concluded on Saturday, December 20.

The Chamber promotion was in effect for a three week period. In previous years the promotion covered a longer period of time. However, due to the late fall and fine weather conditions the promotion was late in getting off the ground.

This year's Christmas promotion directed more attention towards the children and featured more entertainment and activities for both the children and the family.

Saturday's activities included a hockey game against Sedgewick at the Carina commencing shortly after noon.

Santa with a bag of goodies made a surprise visit to the caravans, much to the delight of the youngsters.

Leaving the caravans, Santa made his way up town and paid a visit to each of the businesses on main street, stopping to hand out candy to many along the way.

The free show at Brook theatre was enjoyed by many children as a near capacity crowd filled the seats.

Following the show Santa led the way back to the caravans for the family skating party. Free hot dogs and chocolate milk were on hand for everyone. Many youngsters had the opportunity to skate hand-in-hand with Santa, and others had mom or dad in tow. Almost everyone took time out to fill their names in for the free children's draws which got underway shortly after 6 p.m.

Lucky winners were: Shannon Jamieson, Joanne Vitek, Cory Clouston, Shaileen McEath, Jody Carrington, Miss Givney, Sarah Watson, Kevin Zaraki, Todd Ritchie, Carmen Baldwin, Louise Bird and Doug Harvey.

Following the children's draws a total of 16 draws were made from the drums which had been filled at the businesses participating in the promotion. Following is

Grand prize winner of a trip for two to Las Vegas was Paul Wip of Viking, who received his ticket voucher on Monday, December 22.

Anyone who has been listed as a lucky winner and has not received their prize may stop at the office of The Weekly Review to pick it up.

The Viking Chamber would like to express a hearty thank you to all the individuals who shopped in Viking and thus participated in the third annual Chamber promotion.

A special thanks to all the businesses who supplied prizes for the many draws.

An extra thank you is extended to the N.A.D.P. for donating the chocolate milk, Ottomex cabinets for a corner cabinet, Bank of Montreal for the pens, and Jim's Antibody for the Gift Certificate. In addition, the special discounts offered by the numerous businesses was certainly appreciated.

Peace in your heart and in your home... this greatest gift of all we wish for you.

Better Use Of Biology

New biological techniques could help Canadians improve food production, says W. A. Keller, a plant geneticist at Agriculture Canada's Ottawa Research Station.

The use of these biological techniques, called biotechnology, can serve a wide variety of purposes, including improved plant-breeding programs and better cheese-making methods.

Dr. Keller says other countries already have multi-billion dollar industries based on biotechnology.

Rapeseed Growers Report

Ken, Eugene Whelan, Rapeseed Growers' Association, invited representatives from the rapeseed growers and crushers of western Canada to attend a joint meeting in Ottawa on Dec. 15, 1980 with the aim of discussing the rapeseed growers and crushers.

Representing the rapeseed industry were Gerry McCrea, Man.; Bill Cooper, Sask.; and Elmer Lovvath, Alta.; and from the crushers, P. J. P. of the Crushers Assoc. The boys been Growers of Ontario reported that the freight assistance was up to 34 cents a pound; however, the statistics of Agri. Canada stated that it amounted to only 36 cents per pound. Also a third of the soy beans crushed are imported from the U.S.A. duty free.

Rural Badminton Program Available

The Alberta Badminton Association recently received a $12,000 grant from the Alberta Government to be applied exclusively to its Rural Development Program.

The program focuses intensely on reaching as many teachers, coaches, and players in the Province as possible. The Association through its Technical Director, Mr. Dave Folzabee, sponsors four different types of clinics.

The community club clinics are a 'Learn to play' or introduction to the sport of badminton.

The teacher's clinics are designed to help junior and senior high school teachers instruct the game for school situations.

Weekend training camps are open to any group and it involves intensive practice of strokes and footwork.

The Level 1 coaching certification course introduces the potential coach to the tactics, stroke production, footwork, conditioning, and coaching philosophy of badminton.

The clinics are usually held both in facilities and on dates most convenient to the participants. Further information can be obtained from the rapeseed industry's submission included a slide presentation by Dr. Keith Downey, Bank comparing the two industries. A written document dealt with the growth of the rapeseed industry from 6,000 acres in 1969 to 9,900 acres in 1979, and extensive information developed for a highly acceptable model for our livestock industry and cattle at which meets and surpasses all national and health standards for our consumers the world over.

Rapeseed Growers Report

Hon. Eugene Whelan, Federal Minister of Agriculture, invited representatives from the rapeseed growers and crushers of western Canada to attend a joint meeting in Ottawa on Dec. 15, 1980 with the soybean growers and crushers.

Representing the rapeseed industry were Gary McEwen, Man., Bill Cooper, Sask., and Elmer Lovvick, Alta.; and Bob Brown, Pres. of the Crushers Assoc. The soybean growers of Ontario have been pressing the Fed. gov't. for some time to have the freight subsidies paid to the western crushers for the movement of rapeseed oil be discontinued. The meeting in Ottawa was set up to hear submissions by both the rapeseed and soybean industries.

The soybean Growers of Ontario reported that the freight assistance was undercutting any oil by 8-4 cents a pound; however, the statistics of Agri. Canada stated that it amounted to only 25 cents per pound. Also a third of the soybeans crushed are imported from the U.S.A. duty free.

The rapeseed industry's submission included a slide presentation by Dr. Keith Downey, Sask., comparing the two industries. A written document dealt with the growth of the rapeseed industry from 6,000 acres in 1959 to 8,000,000 acres in 1979, and extensive information on the new varieties developed for a highly acceptable meal for our livestock industry and canola oil which meets and surpasses all nutritional and health standards for our consumers the world over.

Hon. Min. Whelan concluded the meeting by stating that the freight subsidy would remain until such time as the statutory freight issue was resolved. He had much praise for the rapeseed industry in western Canada and announced that he plans to travel to Mexico in early January to trade rapeseed to offset the balance of trade in the federal recent purchase of Mexican oil.

Don't Let Dirt Ruffle Your Feathers

Dirty feathers on your dazzling dress? A smudge of ketchup on your child's teddy bear? Specialty items such as feathers and stuffed animals are among numerous objects with odd shapes, colors or fabrics that pose bothersome cleaning problems for their owners.

Fortunately, most professional drycleaners have the equipment and skills to solve most of these problems, according to fabric care experts at PPG Industries, a leading manufacturer of perchlorethylene, the most widely used drycleaning solvent.

Feathers which adorn many elegant gowns are as susceptible to spots as the garment itself, but not as easy to clean. Drycleaners know which feathers can safely be cleaned and which cleaning agents can be used to retain the finish. Many drycleaners offer a hat cleaning service and also perform repairs as well. Elaborate feather or fabric hats can be cleaned at the same time. Trying to clean a hat at home can cause permanent staining—expensive mistake since the average cowboy hat costs about $50.

A good necktie is one more piece of clothing that requires special cleaning—especially silk ones. Neckties are often the targets for food and beverage stains. Professional drycleaners can clean ties to the life of neckties with delicate cleaning and special pressing forms that retain the lines and shapes.

PPG's fabric care specialists also note that many household objects, difficult to clean at home, can often be renewed by local drycleaners.

For example, what gets more abuse from mud, leaves and picnic meals than sleeping bags? The drycleaner determines the type of outer fabric, its finish and the filling material before cleaning. The type of stitching is also a factor in how it is cleaned. Plan to leave sleeping bags for a few days since they must be deodorized thoroughly for a proper cleaning job, advise the PPG experts. Through professional fabric knowledge and cleaning techniques, wedding gowns, delicate lingerie, shoes, purses, rug and tapestries are among the numerous household and wardrobe items to which drycleaning can add life.

Stuffed toys are another cleaning job for the drycleaner. From the smallest slush to the biggest teddy bear, such toys are constantly exposed to baby food, candy bars and liquids of all types. Drycleaners take note of the stuffing material and determine the best cleaning method. Since stuffed animals often remain as keepsakes for years, an occasional cleaning can keep them fresh and cuddly.

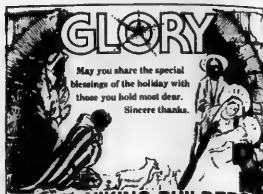

Another "hard-to-clean" item, which has rapidly gained new popularity, is the cowboy hat. "Real" cowboy hats are typically made of leather, suede or felt. The hats must be cleaned by hand on special forms to retain shape, and special brushes are used to retain the finish. Many drycleaners offer a hat cleaning service and also perform repairs as well.

Dirty feathers on your dazzling dress? A smudge of fudge on your child's teddy bear? Specialty items such as feathers and stuffed animals are among numerous objects with odd shapes, colors or fabrics that pose bothersome cleaning problems for their owners.

Fortunately, most professional drycleaners have the equipment and skills to solve most of these problems. According to fabric care experts at PPG Industries, a leading manufacturer of perchloroethylene, the most widely used drycleaning solvent.

Feathers which adorn many elegant gowns are as susceptible to spots as the garment itself, but not as easy to clean. Drycleaners know which feathers can safely be cleaned and which cleaning agents can be used on the delicate feathers and their various dyas. Owners should find out at the time of purchase exactly what type of feathers are used and whether they are glued or stitched to the gown. Duck, mallard and coo are the feathers most commonly used.

Tasteful Gifts From The Heart

Anyone who has partaken in the holiday pursuit of the perfect present knows how quickly the spirit of the season can sour. After hours of crowd dodging, even the most benevolent shoppers can turn up before their gift lists have been ticked.

One simple "shop at home" solution is to make your own gifts. What a wonderful way to give!

A festive way to wrap up your mouth-watering efforts is to create a gift within a gift. Save Planters reasonable cuts. Decorate with unusual paper, paint or decoupage them for a lasting, loving impression. Voilà! The perfect gift—filled with love, certain to be savored and bringing joy to the giver as well as the recipient. What a heartwarming way to keep the spirit of the season sweet.

Combine cereals and margarine. Top of double boiler; cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until melted. Stir in Planters® Taven Nut; drop by tablespoonfuls onto greased baking sheets.

TAVERN NUT CRUNCH

- Makes approx. 9 cups
- 3 cups Planters Tavern Nut
 - 2 cups bite-size rice squares
 - 2 cups bite-size wheat squares
 - 2 cups bite-size bran squares
 - 1 cup dark seedless raisins
 - 1/8 cup margarine
 - 1/4 cup honey
 - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon

Toes together Planters Tavern Nut, rice squares, wheat squares, bran squares, and raisins in a large bowl. Melt margarine in a saucepan; stir in honey, vanilla extract, and cinnamon until well blended. Pour syrup over nut-cereal mixture and toss to coat all pieces well.

Spread mixture on a large, ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 350°F. for 10 minutes. Remove and cool. Store in an airtight container.

TAVERN TURTLES

- Makes 35 turtles
- 1 bag (14 oz.) coffee cereals
 - 3 tablespoons margarine
 - 1 1/2 cups Planters Tavern Nut
 - 1 cup semi-sweet real chocolate morsels, melted

Our fond thoughts of you will sparkle from one end of Christmas to the other. Warm thanks.

Perfect Holiday Gifts

Besides the toys, games, and trinkets, give your family and friends these gifts this Christmas.

Give the gift of acceptance. Show those around you that they are loved for what they are, not for what they do, or even how much they please you. Give this gift with a kiss.

Give the gift of self-confidence by helping them understand and accept that no one can be approved of all the time and that he must trust himself, not the opinions of others. Give this gift with a hug.

Give your family the gift of possibilities. Don't let them be labelled as intellectual, athletic, old or artistic. Give them the gift of freedom to be anything, rather than limiting themselves in any way by labels and rules. Even parents like to take on new roles and should be free to do so. Give this gift with a smile.

Give the gift of life without fear, by not being a warrior yourself. Show them that you will tackle problems, not just sit around and fret about them. Give this gift with a laugh.

Give them the gift of being a person who has a spark and an appreciation for all of life.

Encourage them to be fully alive in every way. Allow others to have adventures, a chance for laughter, fun, creativity.

Give them the supreme gift of being able to find happiness in virtually all circumstances. Give these gifts freely and often. For all these gifts will last forever. Have a Merry Christmas.

Relaxed Attitude Towards Cold Weather Concerns Red Cross

Northern loss of lives and serious injuries occur each winter because many people aren't aware of the hazards of our climate, says the Canadian Red Cross Society in Alberta.

"Warm houses and heated vehicles have killed Albertans into a false sense of security," says Judy Hancock, Program Co-ordinator of Red Cross Youth, Alberta.

"In response to this relaxed attitude towards cold weather safety and to expressed concerns for volunteers that Albertans were inadequately dressed for winter, the idea for a cold weather guide was initiated.

Many organizations volunteered their expertise in such areas as hypothermia, weather forecasting and frostbite. Although the information gathered was very technical, Red Cross Youth edited this vast amount of material into a simply worded, concise manual. Four years of work produced a complete pocket-sized cold weather survival manual entitled "When Temperatures Drop".

"When Temperatures Drop" is a comprehensive reference guide to help Albertans cope with cold weather safely and comfortably, whether they are active outdoors or they are simply avoid stepping out of their homes," Hancock said.

Although people who work outdoors may know the dangers of winter weather, weekend athletes—such as cross-country skiers—are particularly susceptible to cold weather hazards.

Also, Red Cross Youth was particularly worried about the safety of urban dwellers who may dress for fashion rather than for warmth.

Making Family Life More Fun

Mothers who "brown bag" their families find themselves steering a fluctuating course between the needs of nutrition and the menace of monotony. Here are some tips to help you add spice—and life—to the lunch box.

Instead of packing candywiches every day, vary the form of the food frequently. Send the small fry off on day with a salad, a thermos of milk-based soup and a slice of fruit bread, for instance.

Rather than packing candy or another non-nutritional snack as dessert, include some beef sticks or a few pieces of beef jerky. Lowrey's Beef Snacks, which are ready to eat right from the package, are available in five different flavors and actually have more protein per gram than do eggs, milk or cheese.

When school is out for the summer, you might give your younger set a change once in a while by packing a picnic lunch they can eat in the backyard or a nearby park.

Give the lunch some gourmet glimmer. Cover it with colorful, self-adhesive paper. Or make a collage and varnish well. Or else paint an original—and sign it!

A birthday party, a graduation, a baby's first words or a youngster's first bike—the events that really move you—can make great home movies for the family. Family can enjoy for years to come.

Making first-rate sound movies is easier than ever using the ultra-ways-to-use sound movie camera and extra sensitive film that all but eliminates the need for unsteady and unnatural movie lights. The cartridge-loading convenience of Super8 film can help make your efforts practically goof-proof.

Direct viewing through the camera's lens means what you see is what you'll get; a built-in meter and auto-exposure control adjust the camera's lighting from the tropical sun at high noon to the romantic glow of candlelight; you can zoom in on your subject—the way the professionals do—by simply touching the power zoom control; and you can take dramatic frame-filling shots of subjects as small as wild flowers with a built-in macro-focusing lens.

It seems to be a great way to preserve and relive all the fun and beauty of the people, places and occasions that we will always want to remember.

A Word Of Caution

Decorating with holiday greenery and bright red berries is an old and lovely tradition. However, these bright plants are naturally filled with potent chemicals and can be dangerous.

Ancient people, living closer to the earth and more familiar with plants than most of us, knew about the good and bad in leaves, cones and buds.

Romantic mistletoe is for kissing under and decoration, but the pale, green leaves and waxy white berries contain natural poisons and are dangerous.

The yew berry, pinkish red and translucent is also poisonous when eaten. Oddly enough yew berries have no harmful effect when eaten by birds. Our feathered friends have enzyme systems that render the poison found in yew berries, harmless.

Holly berries, shiny and sparkly red are far less dangerous, but can also upset the stomach.

It is important to discourage infants and children from tasting the tempting looking berries of holly and yew and Jerusalem cherries, whose attractive fruit is potentially dangerous. Its chemicals are capable of inducing vomiting, paralysis and could be fatal in sufficient quantities.

So remember...a word to the wise...and most important, to the little ones.

Since the dawn of Christmas traditions, children and the giving of gifts have been the focus of holiday festivities, both religious and secular.

Our Santa Claus is, in part, an outgrowth of the legend of St. Nicholas, patron saint both to children and the giver of gifts—and one of the few serious to anticipate.

A well-stuffed stocking can hold gifts that go to your head.

Figures in religious history associated with humor and a sense of fun.

"Making a list and checking it twice," is an annual activity at the North Pole. And for a youngster, learning to make a gift list can be both good training and good practice. The list is made, an awareness of available funds establishes guidelines.

Take the child to a variety of stores to window shop and shop around. The young can soon quickly, however, keep the pace up, and hold out a small reward—perhaps lunch out—to anticipate.

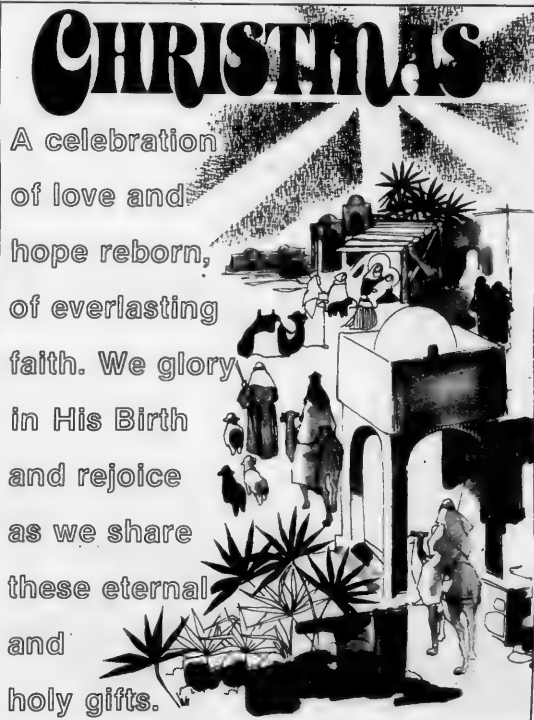

Notion unusual gift ideas. Fragrances for example make a great gift for special women—and men—on the child's list. Candles, Jontes and intimate soaps are available in a variety of gift like these are wrapped, ribboned and ready to go under the tree.

Another suggestion for young shoppers is a elegant nail-care kit that contains a variety of Revlon's lifetime precision implements, professional nail-care treatments and nail enamels in fashion shades.

We're grateful for the bright, steady flame of your friendship

The Robin - A Symbol Of The Spirit Of Giving

The robin, long familiar as a harbinger of spring is also a certain symbol of Christmas. One of the earliest English Christmas cards shows a robin in a manner, and one is tempted to ask what the cheery bird has to do with the holiday. Legend has it that the robin played a vital part in the first Christmas, so it is not unusual to find him portrayed on Yuletide cards and decorations.

The Holy Family was not alone when they took refuge in the stable at Bethlehem. According to legend, a small brown robin, perched on a raft, watched the three Magi present their gifts to the newly born Christ Child. The bird seemed to sense that something unusual and wonderful was taking place and, after the departure of the Three Kings, he lit the stable fire with his wings. Only a few coins, as the Holy Family lay sleeping.

The small bird swooped down to see the embers in a brave attempt to revive the dying fire. Flapping his wings valiantly, the small robin flamed the embers back to life and as the flames burned brighter, they staged his breast, scorched his brown feathers a brilliant red. The robin continued fanning the fire through the night keeping the Christ Child warm. Since then, the robin has worn a red breast... a symbol of his gift.

May the magic and mystery of Christmas burn brightly in your hearts. Let our sincere thanks trim your holiday.

Christmas Day Busy For AGT

Canadians will make a record 8 million long distance telephone calls this Christmas Day, according to officials of the TransCanada Telephone System, which controls the country's long distance network.

The Christmas season is traditionally the busiest calling period for telephone companies in Canada, particularly the two Sundays before Christmas, Christmas Eve, Christmas Day and New Year's Day, with the peak reached on Christmas Day.

In 1979 Albertans made 296,000 long distance calls on Christmas Day. That figure refers only to calls which actually resulted in a conversation taking place and 60 per cent of those were direct.

In addition, thousands of calls requiring operator assistance were placed but not completed because of overloaded circuits, busy signals or no answer at the called number. This year it's expected AGT's 800 operators on duty Christmas Day will handle 288,000 such calls.

Though the national telephone network is built to handle a large volume of calls, some planning was made before telephone calls another.

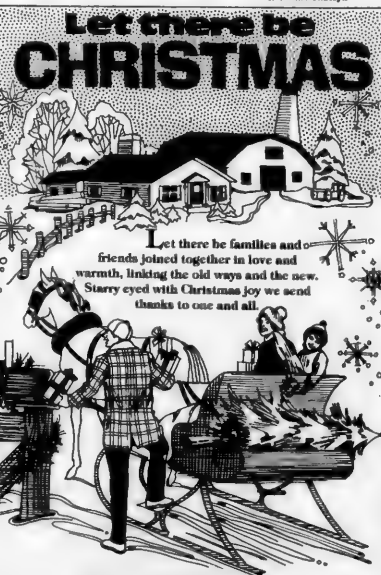

Your call could be easier and more of a surprise if placed another day during Christmas Week. Verify long distance and overseas numbers in advance when operators are less busy.

Take time now to account when placing your calls. To save time and money, dial your own long distance calls.

Giving A Pet For Christmas

If you've been crying a cuddly bundle of fur frolicking in the window of your store, you just might have a thought towards the happy surprise it can bring to someone this Christmas. There are some important questions you'll want to ask yourself, and answer, before taking a pet home.

There are more considerations involved than just "size" at first sight, close puppyhood brings up a very short order, so it is important to choose one that fits into the home or she will be part of.

Will he or she be living in an apartment, or a house, will small children be involved, what is your income bracket? Some breeds can't tolerate the roughhousing of little children, some purely bred animals are more tame and independent than others.

Although male dogs are more popular than females and usually cost more, females will usually adjust to petting more readily. And a female can be spayed to spare the problems of mating and a litter. Look for a clean, glossy coat, white teeth with firm pink gums, eyes that are alert and not runny. Avoid a puppy who is a pet, but it could be a sign of nervousness, and one with the sniffles or who seems itchy.

A stop at the local shop for long and collar, dishes, toys and grooming equipment, and then it's home for many happy hours of love, devotion and fun.

CAR CARE

Helpful Tips To Save You Money

CLICK, CLICK, CLICK? TRY THIS TRICK

When you turn the key to start your engine and your car just clicks, the problem may be a discharged battery. Or it could be something as simple as corrosion resistance on the battery cables.

According to Car Care Council, the latter is a common automotive ailment and, like most troubles, it's easily prevented.

The accumulation of corrosion causes high resistance to prevent the flow of current to and from the battery. A telltale remedy, which may get you started, is to gently twist the cable terminal clamps. Make sure all accessories are off before attempting this. A spark could cause an explosion.

Be careful not to twist the post loose from the battery! Twisting the cable terminals may help make contact between the cable and the battery terminal. Should you make contact, enabling you to start your engine, the problem should be corrected as soon as possible by a good cleaning of the battery terminals with cable clamps. Your repairman can do the job properly in a matter of a few minutes. If you are a do-it-yourselfer, the Council suggests this procedure:

1. Pick up the following items from your supply store to make the job easier and safer: a cable puller and pliers; a terminal and clamp cleaning tool and, most important, safety goggles, if you don't already have them in your tool kit. Wear your goggles and wear old clothes. Also, read the warning battery manufacturers put on the battery. It usually is as follows:

2. Remove the battery hold down bracket (note the position of the terminals) and remove the battery from the vehicle.
3. Next, remove the positive (+) cable from the battery terminal.
4. Remove the battery hold down bracket (note the position of the terminals) and remove the battery from the vehicle.
5. Place the battery on the floor near a drain and wash

DANGER!! BATTERIES PRODUCE EXPLOSIVE GASES. KEEP SPARKS, FLAME, CIGARETTES AWAY AND VENTILATE WHEN CHARGING OR USING IN ENCLOSED SPACE. THIS BATTERY CONTAINS SULFURIC ACID WHICH CAUSES SEVERE BURNS. IF ACID CONTACTS EYES, SKIN OR CLOTHING, FLUSH WELL WITH WATER. FOR CONTACT WITH EYES GET IMMEDIATE MEDICAL ATTENTION. KEEP AWAY FROM CHILDREN.

2. Remove the battery hold down bracket (note the position of the terminals) and remove the battery from the vehicle.

3. Next, remove the positive (+) cable from the battery terminal.

4. Remove the battery hold down bracket (note the position of the terminals) and remove the battery from the vehicle.

From all of us at the extension office, we would like to wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. I'm going to use an article from "Agri-News" which talks about different Christmas's around the world. It sometimes has us all good to get our thoughts off farming.

The Christmas traditions and customs we celebrate in Canada come from a wide variety of ethnic backgrounds. We have adopted the decorated tree from the Germans, Santa Claus from the Dutch, and the presents in the room and the children are not allowed to see the tree and the presents until Christmas Eve.

In Germany, Christmas Eve is a family time filled with mystery and excitement. It starts with an informal supper, a cold buffet or a meal of soup, after which many attend church. Upon returning home, everyone eagerly awaits the ringing of a bell. After the bell is rung three times, the doors to the closed rooms are flung open and the children get their first glimpse of the decorated Christmas tree and the presents.

The approach of Christmas in Germany is marked with an advent wreath. The wreath, made of evergreen branches, contains four candles, for the four weeks of Advent. One candle is lit on each of the four Saturdays before Christmas. After the lighting of the Advent candles, coffee and goodies—such as cookies, the German Christmas fruit bread, are served.

The decorated Christmas tree also plays an important role in German Christmas. Usually the mother of the family decorates the tree in a closed room. The Christmas presents are placed in the room and the children are not allowed to see the tree and the presents until Christmas Eve.

In Germany, Christmas Eve is a family time filled with mystery and excitement. It starts with an informal supper, a cold buffet or a meal of soup, after which many attend church. Upon returning home, everyone eagerly awaits the ringing of a bell. After the bell is rung three times, the doors to the closed rooms are flung open and the children get their first glimpse of the decorated Christmas tree and the presents.

Everyone gathers around the tree for the reading of the Christmas story and the singing of traditional carols. Finally, the Christmas presents are opened, after which coffee and goodies are usually served.

Christmas Day in Germany is a day for visiting friends. The traditional Christmas dinner is generally served at noon and the menu includes: roast goose, dumplings, red cabbage and an elaborate dessert. Homemade sausage is often served. Ukrainian Christmas Ukrainian Christmas is celebrated on January 6 in accordance with the Julian calendar. The most important custom of the Ukrainian Christmas is the Feast of the Twelve Apostles. In preparation for the Christmas Eve feast, a handful of hay symbolic of Christ's birth (in the manger) is spread under the table cloth. A braided ring shaped bread called khalch is placed in the center of the table. The ring represents health and prosperity and the red shape symbolizes eternity. The bread has three loaves, representing the Holy Trinity. A sheaf of grain is placed somewhere in the room. It is lightly bound and symbolizes unity and the many grains of wheat represent the ancestors.

The menu itself consists of twelve dishes symbolic of the twelve apostles. No milk or meat products may be used in the preparation of the meal. The main dish is the first dish to be served in which coffee and goodies are usually served.

The Swedish often serve ham or pork and the Norwegians prefer lutefisk (dried cod soaked in a lye solution) made from dried cod and the haddock, or pork as the main dish. Almost no pudding cooked with cinnamon and butter is a popular dessert in all three countries.

In Denmark, the cook puts one whole almond in the pudding. The person finding the almond gets a small gift as the pudding is decorated with great excitement.

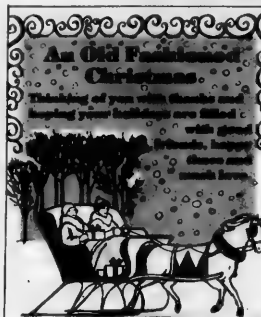

Following dinner, everyone comes into the living room to join hands and walk around the tree singing Christmas songs. The presents are then handed out and opened. Once the excitement is over, coffee and small cakes or cookies are served along with a glass of punch. The very last hot apple wine.

Christmas Day in Scandinavia is a day for visiting friends. A mid-winter solstice is often served at noon offering delicacies: a variety of breads, cheese, sliced meats, meatballs, pickled herring, smoked eel, pickled herring, shrimp, cucumber salad and a marinated salmon called gravlax.

The Scandinavians are popular for the small cakes and cookies they make at Christmas time. As many as ten different cookies and five different cakes may be served at one time.

Home favorites are kidney-brown-knotted dumplings, and tartlets—fragile tarts eaten without filling, krumkake—a crisp cookie made with a special iron and for the Icelanders, vinnur—a prune filled layer cake with cardamom flavoring.

Cattle Commission Decide Directions For 1981

Cattle producers from across Alberta are now meeting in Calgary at the Annual General Meeting of the Alberta Cattle Commission.

Delegates to the meeting will be forming decisions to determine the direction of the Cattle Commission in the coming year. One important decision will be that concerning A.C.C. membership in Uniform. A.C.C. members have strong views for and against retaining membership in the General Farm Organization.

The debate centres around Uniform transportation policy, and the advantages and disadvantages of having an umbrella organization to represent all commodity groups.

A.C.C.'s decision on this matter will reflect a judgement on the merits of an affiliation of agriculture organizations in Alberta. At the meeting the Cattle Commission will present a transportation policy which proposes their solution to the "grow rate problem".

Another area of active discussion within the beef industry has been in the field of Promotion. While some cattlemen feel that the A.C.C. should be advertising beef, in a similar manner to the "Beef a Mouthwater" program, sponsored by the dairy producers, many others doubt the merits of such a program for beef.

A decision will be made at the A.G.M. on the direction the Cattle Commission will be taking in this area, based on research that has been carried out by the Promotion Committee.

The Annual General Meeting provides cattle producers in Alberta with an opportunity to discuss and get action on matters of importance to their industry.

A New Year's Resolution

Every year at this time, we hear people discuss their personal New Year's resolution. Some of the favorites these days are to stop smoking, to cut down on buying needless items, or to lose weight. The making of a New Year's resolution is the easiest part of the series of acts necessary to realize this resolve as a success. The actual carrying out of the resolution is of course the part of the endeavour which requires the "resolve". Most often, these resolutions fall by the wayside as we find it too difficult to follow them through.

And yet there seems that there is one New Year's resolution which all Canadians should attempt to carry out. Presently, our province has been spared the direct effects of the current recession which is plaguing the rest of the country, thanks to our wealth of oil reserves. However, as part of the Canadian economy, we do play a significant part in the everyday workings of the business of this nation. Each Albertan, as can every other Canadian, plays a part directly in the success or failure of the Canadian economy. For each one of us is a part of the economy.

One feature of the Canadian economy which became evident during the 1970's was the declining productivity of the Canadian worker. And this decline in productivity reflects on each and every one of us. No perhaps you haven't slowed down any in your job. Yes, perhaps you are producing just as much, if not even more, than you did a few years ago. But somewhere, some people in the Canadian economy are not producing as they used to. And yes, perhaps it, in a small way, is each of us.

We have developed into a society of people with continuously rising expectations. We constantly hear about the youth of today wanting something for nothing. And yet, perhaps they learned this lesson from watching their elders. How much time in the traditional eight hour day is actually spent in productive activity? Studies of certain federal civil servants found that their productivity stood at about 60 percent. We all know the stories about civil servants. But are we also guilty of the decline in our own productivity? How much time is spent in idle chatter over a cup of coffee? How much time is spent taking "smoke" breaks? How much time is spent gossiping, or in some other form of non-productive activity?

The productivity of each and everyone of us determines the productivity of the nation. As the productivity of each of us declines, it costs more to produce something. This hurts us all. This year let's resolve to increase our productivity, rather than expect bigger and better things. It will help us all.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

As the former chairman of the Viking Recreation Board, I would like to express a few thoughts on what has taken place.

At first, I was hurt, angry and frustrated at the way the Board was dissolved without any good reason. And, so far, I have not been given a real good reason but all that is behind us now.

As we go into the year 1981, I desire great things for the Town of Viking, but I don't believe we can achieve them by sitting back and saying "I'll think what Council wants. I guess that's the way it will be."

I believe we must now work harder than ever for the good of our Town and community. So, if you have time and or ideas volunteer help is needed in many areas such as recreation, P.S.S., Ag. Society, etc.

I would like to thank the former Recreation Board who worked extremely hard on many and varied projects. I believe that we did achieve many of the goals we set for ourselves, particularly in the area of future planning. There have been some projects started and I hope the new Recreation Board one that they are completed, such as the Lake Thomas project for swimming, boating, camping, etc. The tennis courts still need to be lined and fenced as well as the completion of the recreation site at the east side of town which has been planned for future use.

If in all that has taken place, there has been a lesson learned...that decisions should not be made without a good deal of thought and discussion; many things will work out. I hope the new Board will find time for the many little things that must be done but are very time consuming, such as summer programs for children, planning of courses for adults and students.

Also, I would like to see the minutes of the new Recreation Board meetings.

is up to all of us to get busy and make things what we printed in the newspaper, as did the old board, so the public will be kept informed. So, citizens of Viking...

Dear Sir:

In a recent copy of The Weekly Review there were pictures of wheel tracks on lawns in Viking which had been driven over by vandals. Well, evidently there are some copy cats in Irma for the pictures could have been duplicated in Irma.

On Christmas Eve some lawns in our Village were driven over and in some instances at least, some essential items were ruined. On that same evening some want our Town to be like. Most of our contributions must be volunteered so let's get working together in 1981. I wish everyone a successful New Year. Vera Hahn person or persons drove down to the picnic grounds at Reddick's Lake and evidently using a four wheel drive truck succeeded in wrecking the men's dressing room. The shack was not very valuable money wise, but it has served the purpose for many years and it will be costly to replace.

It is regrettable that such acts of vandalism should be committed, but especially during the time of "Peace and Goodwill". J. Jackson

If you are aware of a child who is the victim of abuse or neglect, please help. A call to Alberta's Child Abuse Hotline can prevent a damaging situation from becoming worse. Social workers at the Hotline understand that those who abuse their children may try to be good parents yet they cannot help taking their frustrations out on the helpless child. With treatment, these parents can change. But, hundreds of children in the province this year will continue to suffer unless someone speaks up. If you are seeing or hearing any signs of child abuse or neglect, call now. Your concern will be appreciated.

Irma Aces Hockey Report

The Aces are doing well as the season nears its half mark. So far they have won 6, lost 1 and tied 1.

There was a lot of excitement in town when the Kilian Indians visited on December 29 and were narrowly defeated 7-5. The Aces jumped to a 5-0 lead in the first and second periods with goals by Len Parsons, Ray Tomlinson, Ken Ford and 2 by Brian Burr. Amelia was the goalie for the Aces while Ray Tomlinson, Ken Gubra, Jim Owen and Mary Mackay each picked up one.

However, Kilian thundered back in the third frame with five goals but never managed to get ahead as Brian Burr scored his third goal of the night and Len Parsons notched his second into an open net with five seconds left in the game.

The Aces had a fairly clean game with Irma picking up seven minors and one major. McGraw counted for six minors and one major.

The following weekend, the team journeyed to Red Deer and beat them 7-4. Len Parsons picked up a hat trick, Mary Mackay, Jim Owen, Wayne Leskow and Joe Holt added singles. Amelia went to Ken Mackay, Ken Gubra, and Brian Burr with two while Mary Mackay, Ken Ford, Ray Tomlinson, and Jim Owen helped on one each.

The exuberant Rockliffe found the Aces looking a bit shaky with the Aces taking 15 minors and 1 major while their team took 10 minors and 1 major. Ivan Bacon had an outstanding game in the net.

The next game found the team in Foxburg where they defeated the Flyers 6-3. Down 3-0 late in the second period, the Aces finally got on the scoreboard when Jim Owen blanked the light, assisted by Mary Mackay and Ray Tomlinson.

In the third period the team finally got rotating. Len Parsons got another hat trick while Ray Tomlinson and Brian Burr dug in for singles. Marvin Holt, Ray Tomlinson, Brian Burr, Mary Mackay, Al Penion and Wayne Leskow all picked up an assist.

The game was marred with penalty minutes and constantly brought to a halt by officials who use a rule often to clean up the ice.

During the course of the game Irma was handed 17 minor penalties and 1 major. Foxburg received 10 minors and 1 major.

On New Year's Eve, the team put on a very successful dance and supper at the Albert Community Centre. Then, the next day they took part in the annual New Year's Day tournament in Kilian.

The team handed Kilian a 7-2 defeat in the first game then came out on top of a close 6-5 battle with Ilardity to win the trophy and prize money. It was a good week financially for the team.

The following Saturday found the Aces in Hughenden where they fought to a 3-3 tie with the Jets. Joe Holt, Len Parsons, and Wayne Leskow handled the scoring with Garry Mackay, Jim Owen, Wayne Leskow and Mary Mackay rooming. Amelia had 6 minor penalties to Hughenden's 4. Shamus Hilder guarded the net.

The team is drawing bigger crowds as the season moves along, providing good aggressive hockey and usually giving the fans quite a bit to yell about. One Kilian fan has got so excited that he

Action at the Viking Caravan on Saturday, January 3, found the Viking Mites outscored Dayland 10 to 7. Dayland offered an exciting third period with most of their scoring coming late in the game.

Viking Gas Kings Win Two

The first game in the new year found the Viking Gas Kings at Killam on Saturday, January 3, for a game against the Indians.

A somewhat close scoring game resulted in a 7-4 victory for the local team. This game also found the Gas Kings in the penalty box for a total of 64 minutes. The host team was assessed 31 penalty minutes.

As at most hockey game decisions made by the officials are subject to question in the opinion of some fans or players. However at this particular game the competence and conduct of the two referees was questioned by most. Farrel and Louis James of Forestburg were game officials. The opinions which surfaced at this game would appear to be the general feeling throughout the league. At present there is a position being contested to all teams participating in the Battle River Hockey League which will attempt to have the James brothers barred from officiating in this league.

To date, six of the nine teams in the Battle River Hockey League have already signed the petition and the remaining three teams have agreed verbally to sign when the petition is brought in them. One of the three remaining teams waiting to sign is Viking.

As a result of the petition a special meeting of the executive of the Battle River Hockey League and all team representatives will be called to discuss the matter and make a final decision.

Scoring in the first period for Viking were Kevin McGintie, Daryl Wincosa and Barry Field. Assists were handled by Gord Ratnay with a pair, and Lee and Jim Leskney with singles. Killam also netted three.

Viking and Killam both scored twice in the second with Field and McGintie putting Viking on the Board. Handling the assists were Wincosa and Leskney.

Killam scored first in the third with Gord Bodnar netting an unassisted goal to tie the game. David Dvorak shot one past Killam's goalie to end the game at 7-6.

A home game on Monday January 5 found the Gas Kings freely an easy victory from the Forestburg Flyers.

This rather lopsided game found Viking ahead by 11 goals at the end of the first period.

In the second, both teams scored singles to leave the tie with a 12-1 score in Viking's favor.

The third period saw much the same with Forestburg netting their second goal of the game and Viking with a single brought the score to 19-2.

Following is an up to date point evaluation for the six leading scorers for the Wilm Cup.

Local Midgets Increase Undefeated String

After league action this past weekend the Viking club increased their undefeated record to 15 games. Their first victory came Friday night when they travelled to Dayland.

The Viking boys opened the scoring quickly when Graham Wible scored on a nice passing play from Murray Josephson and Ian Erickson. Murray Josephson made it 2-0 when he scored an unassisted goal.

Dayland replied with one a minute later, but then Richard Lefrud scored to increase the lead again. Murray Josephson and Ian Erickson drew assists. Dayland scored just before the period ended to narrow the count to one goal.

The second period had Viking score two quick goals. The first by Ian Erickson with Murray Josephson and Richard Lefrud assisting. Danny Artychuk scored the second goal on a set-up from Kenzy Chahak.

Dayland replied with one goal, giving the Viking club a 5-3 lead.

The third period was a clear checking period and neither team could really get untroubled. Viking did manage the only goal of the period when Ian Erickson scored. Richard Lefrud and Murray Josephson assisted. When the final buzzer sounded, Viking defeated the Dayland club 8-3.

Sunday morning saw the local club travel to Wainwright for what would be their tenth league game. Again the visiting boys opened the period with two quick goals. Eugene Miskew scored when he was an extra attacker, while Wainwright was being penalized. Ian Erickson and Murray Josephson drew assists.

Just one minute later, Ian Erickson scored an unassisted goal for a 2-0 lead. Wainwright had some scoring chances, but scratched out landing by Darren Josephson kept them off the scoreboard. Graham Wible made the lead 3-0 when he scored from the point.

Eugene Miskew drew the assist on this goal. The second period saw Wainwright finally put the puck past Darren, but Viking quickly replied with a goal. Curtis Gustaf's shot from the point deflected off a Wainwright player into the net. Murray Josephson drew an assist on the goal.

In the third period Wainwright's goal tender made some key saves, keeping the team in the game. This inspired the Wainwright club and they scored two quick goals.

The Viking boys managed to put the puck past Wainwright's goalie only once. This came off the stick of Richard Lefrud, Ian Erickson and Graham Wible.

draw assists. With less than four minutes left in the game, Wainwright scored again to narrow the gap to 5-4.

Wainwright pulled their goalie after Viking received a penalty, but some good penalty killing prevented Wainwright from scoring and when the final buzzer sounded, the Viking boys had won 5-4.

This victory gives the Viking club a total of 20 points out of a possible 30 which should solidify put them in first place.

After travelling for two away games the boys return for a home game on Sunday afternoon when they host the Hardisty Midgets. The players and team management would like to thank the fans for their support and they hope it will continue.

Explosion Destroys Compressor Station

Shortly after 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, January 6, 1981 an explosion and fire caused extensive damage to a Natural Gas Compressor Station owned by Amax Petroleum.

The plant is located approximately 8 kilometers south of the hamlet of Bruce. The Bruce Fire Department had the fire under control within ten minutes after arriving on the scene. Investigation as to the cause of the fire revealed that there was an accidental leak of Natural Gas into the building which was ignited by an internal electric engine. It is suspected that a small line running to the sales meter ruptured, causing the leak. The line operator under approximately 1,000 pounds of pressure and feeds the sales meter which measures the total flow of gas through the plant.

Although total damage is estimated at over $100,000 there were no injuries.

The building has since been removed and the motor and compressor unit taken in for rebuilding. A replacement unit will be set up and a new building erected over it.

The Amax Petroleum Natural Gas Compressor Station located 8½ miles south of Bruce was destroyed last Tuesday morning when a leaking line caused an explosion.

Ogonoski In By Acclamation

Mr. Peter Ogonoski was elected by acclamation to the Council of the Village of Holden on Wednesday, January 7, 1981.

Nominations for the vacant council seat were sought following Nick Shilinski's election to the mayor's seat when Mr. Shykora announced his resignation in December.

A long time resident of Holden and district, Peter has enjoyed a variety of work experience. Peter and his wife Katherine settled south of Holden where they farmed and raised their family. One son John lives in Holden and is a County employee, the other son is employed in Edmonton.

The Ogonoski family took up residence within the Village 27 years ago. Since that time Peter spent a number of years employed by the County of Beaver as road maintenance equipment operator on January 8th, 1981. Harry Christian read the minutes of the November and December meetings.

The new executive for the 1981 term is as follows: Don McKenzie - President, Matt Heinrich - 1st Vice-Pres., Wayne Hamblin - 2nd Vice-Pres. and Harry Christian is the Secretary-Treasurer. At this meeting the past president, Kevin Stambaugh and secretary-treasurer were complimented for a job

Viking Council Approves Site Plan

The regular January meeting of the Viking Town Council was mainly spent discussing future development within the Town.

Municipal Planner Boyd Oberholzer was present for the hearing on the East Industrial Park Area Structure plan. Mr. Oberholzer discussed the plan with the Council, and as no presentations were received on the by-law, Council gave third and final reading accepting the plan for Viking, with some discussion on the highway and railroad crossings.

Discussion on the East Industrial Park resulted in Council signifying a desire for a drainage plan to be drawn up for the area. The possibility of hauling fill from the new water reservoir site was discussed as well. As the Town owns the property, the lagoon could be dug deeper than planned, and the excess fill hauled to the Industrial Park, with the only major cost being the hauling.

Clon also presented estimates for the development of the Roddick Industrial Subdivision. The proposed development would provide approximately 21.2 acres of available land to the Town.

Supporting Our Roots

In a few weeks, Minor Hockey Week will be recognized in Alberta. This is an annual event, and is held to recognize the efforts and hard work of all those people who are involved in hockey at the minor level in Alberta. Throughout the year, other such weeks are held for many other sports and activities which provide recreation and competition for Albertans and youth. There is tremendous importance in holding such "weeks" because of the dedication of the people who provide these activities. It is also important that we all take note of these "weeks" because the majority of Albertans who play sports today at a recreational or senior level came through these minor systems. These systems gave each and every one of us the start which allows us to enjoy our activity today.

As it was then, it is today. A number of dedicated people are providing the time and effort in an attempt to help our youngsters. In many cases, it is fathers coaching sons or daughters, or the team on which their child plays. Often, these people are the only ones who can be coaxed into undertaking this often thankless activity. As well, there is a contingent of other community minded people who spend time and effort trying to organize and operate our minor sports associations. Many decisions have to be made, and much work has to be done to the association is to provide the youth with the opportunities which they desire. And at one time or another, most of us had reason to recognize such people as they, in their time, worked so that we could enjoy our sporting activity. But often we were too young to fully appreciate the efforts of these people.

Our opportunity comes when we finally reach a level of maturity to fully understand that we do owe a great deal to a large number of people. These people did not help us with payment in mind. This is of little consequence. Out of basic human integrity and decency we "owe" these people a debt of gratitude. We owe the entire concept of minor sports a debt of gratitude. For the vast majority of athletes would not be where they are today in their sport without their minor sport association.

What does happen though is that often when people leave the minor sporting ranks, they forget the work that has gone into the providing of the opportunities for them. We hear athletes on senior hockey teams say that they should do nothing to help minor hockey. We see senior baseball players who will provide little time to coach a team or umpire a game. And this occurs right here in our communities. These "ingrates" show little sign of any type of appreciation whatsoever towards anyone or anything. We can even hear senior athletes say that our small towns owe them a debt of gratitude for them playing their sport here in our communities. Some of these people have attitudes that make the old Viking sewage lagoon smell like a bed of roses. It is this type of attitude which we should all recognize, and then deal with it in the appropriate manner.

Our senior associations and our minor associations in our communities should provide the opportunities for people to play at the best possible level. They should attempt to attract players, coaches, managers, et cetera, that will attempt to display a positive community attitude. It is the community that supports these associations and teams, and these associations and teams should recognize this fact. They should endeavour to return more to the community than they have taken out. Most of the associations and people involved in them do just that. We have senior athletes going out to help our youngsters either through coaching, managing, umpiring or refereeing. This is highly commendable for these people often have the knowledge of the sport which is invaluable. It is this type of individual which we should all appreciate. It is this person who attempts to give back some of what he or she has received.

It is the person who sits back and expects to be treated as something special that we can do without. If these people were really "that" good, they wouldn't be playing in our communities. It is time they recognized this, and tried to give something back to the community. This is the attitude which we need fostered amongst our senior athletes.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Readers: Under "Letters to the Editor" last week, an error in page make-up resulted in a rather confusing state of sentence structure. The final paragraph should have read as follows:

Also, I would like to see the minutes of the new Recreation Board meetings printed in the newspaper, as did the old board, so that the public will be kept informed. So, citizens of Viking...it is up to all of us to get busy and make known what we want our Town to be like. Most of our contributions must be volunteered so let's get working together in 1981. I wish everyone a successful New Year. Very Res.

Viking Lions To Host "Search For Talent Show"

Each year the A.C.T. (Alberta Commercial Travellers) hold a number of Search For Talent Shows throughout Alberta. Their objective is to raise money for the handicapped of Alberta.

A.C.T. is co-operation with the sponsoring group.

The Viking Lions Club will be holding a "Search For Talent" show in Viking on Saturday, March 21, 1981 commencing at 7:00 p.m. in The Viking Community Hall.

Anyone interested in participating in the upcoming Search For Talent Program is asked to contact Mrs. Ruth Hanson at the Viking Credit Union office or by phone at 336-4944.

Any contestants for the show in our area, are advised that if they will need an accompanist on the keyboard, they are requested to provide a copy of the sheet music for their act, during their audition on the afternoon of the show.

Previous to the talent show of March 21, members of the Viking Lions Club will be selling "Play What You Feel" raffia tickets with the tickets all eligible for the grand prize draw of a trip for two to Hawaii. In addition each ticket sold by local members of the Lions club will be eligible for a special draw to be held during the local show. All proceeds from the above raffia will go towards the helping of the handicapped by way of such projects as Camp Ho Ho and many others.

for the complete development of water, sewer, curb and gutter, pavement, power and other such items. The estimate here is for $1,260,000.

Alternative "B" calls for development except for the installation of curb and gutter and pavement. This estimate is $651,000. These figures are estimates only provided so that the Town Council will be able to better make a decision as to the Town's purchase and development of the Roddick land.

The by-law calling for the re-zoning of two lots in the Roddick subdivision from multi-family lots to single family lots was again tabled. Council felt that they should have more information on future Town developments before they make a decision on this matter.

Final allocation of the 75th Anniversary grant monies was also determined at last Wednesday's meeting. A total of $802.26 remains of the grant. Council decided to purchase plaques for each of the major projects undertaken, signifying them as 75th Anniversary projects. The remainder of the money will be given to the Camp Gary project, located on Lake Thomas.

Dance Club Membership Increases

In the later part of November, it was decided by the club members that we hold three open nights for new dancers to join the club for the remainder of the season. The response was very pleasing with fourteen new dancers. They are coming along well and enjoying it.

Our Christmas dance was held on December 18, with Art Acorn of Lloydminster calling. It was a lovely evening, weather wise and we had guests from Two Hills, Edmonton, Wetaskin, Camrose, Hilly Hill, St. Paul, Therin, Chandonald and Willington.

There was an enthusiastic crowd of approximately 80 people and we had a marvelous time. It is so good that we have plenty of space to accommodate that many dancers. At 11:00 p.m. a group of Bruce ladies served a full course turkey supper which was delicious. Thank you ladies.

The large crowd enjoyed socializing and meeting new friends during the supper hour and extended best wishes for the new year. January 6th was our first dance night in 1981 and quite a good crowd was on hand. The Ray Peterson's brought relatives from Vancouver who were visiting. They joined right in with the friendly crowd and enjoyed the evening. We are looking forward to the rest of the season and proving "square Dancing is Fun".

Viking Multi-Club Report

The Viking 4-H Multi-Club held a Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brooks. Everyone enjoyed a happyride. Following this, the members exchanged gifts and we had a delicious pot-luck supper.

A business meeting of the club was held on January 8th. Arlene Majeski led the pledge. The roll call for this month was to bring a penny for every year of your age. This money goes to the Bethlehams 4-H Camp.

Arlene Majeski gave the treasurer's report. The club will attend the Ice Capades on January 17.

Discussion regarding Public Speaking was held. Every member is to participate in this program. Arlene Majeski made a motion that the club attend Public Speaking with the Best and Light Horse 4-H club. The meeting was adjourned at 8:45 p.m.

Profile: John Pullen

John Pullen

John was born in Ottawa, Ontario. His father, Jack, was a pharmacist in the Armed Forces and the Pullen family lived in Ottawa for a number of years before moving to Newfoundland and later to Edmonton.

In 1955, Jack and Berle and their three sons, John, Bob and Ken moved to Viking.

John went to school in Viking and graduated from Viking High School.

Following graduation, John attended the University of Alberta where he received his Bachelor's degree in Education. Upon graduation from university John taught school in a number of communities, including Tofield, Viking and Chatham.

In 1972 John married Lynn Barber of Viking. Lynn and John moved to Calgary where Lynn attended the University of Calgary and John taught school. After leaving Calgary, they moved to Victoria. While Lynn attended university in Victoria, John worked as a life underwriter for Mutual Life of Canada.

After spending a year in Victoria, John and Lynn moved back to the Viking area.

John bought an insurance agency with offices in Holden and Tofield. He later opened an office in Viking and gave his agency the name "The Agency".

In 1977, John was joined by his brother Ken, who took over operations in the Tofield office.

Having earlier acquired a Century 23 franchise for Holden, Tofield and Viking offices, John took out an option for a Century 23 franchise in Wainwright. In August of 1979, John opened a Century 21 office in Wainwright. John and Lynn, along with their two children, Jack and Sara, and their dog, Chesapeake Cynilla, now call Wainwright home.

Although the real estate business keeps him very busy, his family plays an important role in his life. He is especially proud of his parents and tries to spend as much time as possible with them.

In his spare time, John enjoys most sports, especially golfing. John also enjoys the Massena, Lions and is involved in the United Church.

During the time John taught in Viking, he coached the Junior High basketball team and is proud to report that his team won the league trophy and/or the league tournament every year that he was coach. John also sits on the Viking Town Council for one year.

Although John now makes his home in Wainwright, he is very proud to have been raised in Viking and still feels very close to the town.

Shady Cove W.I. Holds Annual Meeting

They were Mildred Bridgman who kept our lunch lists orderly and incorporated the Christmas parties and Parkland visits in this. Vice President Laura Swift who filled in whenever needed and President Rita Haino, serving seven years and going far beyond the call of duty to keep the ship running smoothly and whose presidency saw the addition of eleven wonderful new members...certainly a testimony in itself.

Convenor and Sunshine Lady, Ida Dordward who has given of self, time and material support for twenty-seven years as Sunshine convenor since Shady Cove began. What a quantity of good-will messages that must cover. Also Kay prepared publicity items for the past ten years and finally continuing to be the captain of treasurer for several years, our thanks to Selma Williams in whose hands Shady Cove funds are well advised.

The meeting closed with a motto by Myra Francis, "Charity is the best of all virtues."

But merit wins the soul" (Alexander Pope) and the singing of the Queen. Rita and Dora served a lovely lunch.

The next meeting will be the 3rd, Monday, January 19, at 2:00 p.m., at Sybil Brower's with Gladys and Jennie on lunch and a donation to the office fund as well as a Christmas festival and the 1980's for Shady Cove with a party in December. The singing of Christmas carols initiated the December spirit. Bingo was played for further amusement. Mildred Bridgman and Ida Dordward had attended to preparations in advance. An excellent and colorful potluck supper was served to the interest of members, husbands and guests and as exchange of gifts wrapped up the evening.

1980 SEED DRILL SURVEY

Alberta Agriculture's 1980 Seed Drill Survey Report shows that farmers using seed purchased from seed companies was in the predicted class, which means that the use of pedigreed seed is increasing.

Regarding seed cleaning the survey shows that less on-farm cleaning is being done; that grain cleaning is now by elevator companies.

The report indicated the increase of the present Canada Seed Grade Standards and the low quality of the seed samples were graded to by a chart that converted the number of seeds allowed in a bushel of barley under the grade Canada No. 1 Seed.

The chart illustrated the following maximum number of seeds per bushel allowed: primary nucleus, all primary and secondary nucleus, 46, total seed weight, 780; other crop seeds, 4,600; ergot, 46, with a germination of 98 per cent.

The survey also shows that seed farmers use their own grain for seed, but that seed companies are increasing their share of this market as the expense of the purchase of neighbors. However, 98 per cent of the seed purchased from seed companies was in the predicted class, which means that the use of pedigreed seed is increasing.

Futurist Coming To Central Alberta

A noted Canadian futurist, Ruben Nelson, will be leading a seminar in Stirling, from Sunday evening until Tuesday, January 25 to 27, 1981. Entitled "Explore The Future...Which Way Ahead?", the seminar is sponsored by Preventive Social Services programs in several communities and is open to anyone interested. Beginning with a banquet and speech which is open to the public on the Sunday evening, Ruben Nelson will lead participants through a combination of lectures, discussions and small group experiences to help them better understand some of the social, economic and technological changes now taking place in Canada and the world, and some of the issues we must face if we are to shape rather than be shaped by our future.

"Participants may not come away from the seminar with clearer new answers, but perhaps will have a clearer understanding of what the questions are, says one of the organizers of the seminar".

Ruben Nelson is president of Square One Management Ltd., a future-oriented consulting firm. Clients have included federal and provincial Ministries of the Crown, senior executives in the governments of Canada, Alberta and Ontario; business corporations; universities; colleges; hospitals, churches and voluntary organizations.

Mr. Nelson's deepest concern is to help, generate and develop ideas, understanding, institutional forms and personal practices which contribute to rather than threaten a future which is fit for both persons and the planet.

"If we are to consciously shape our future, we must be able to choose wisely and act responsibly in the present," he says.

More information about the seminar is available from the Preventive Social Services office, call Deborah Taylor at 336-4024.

DO SOMETHING

If you are aware of a child who is the victim of abuse or neglect, please help.

A call to Alberta's Child Abuse Hotline can prevent a damaging situation from becoming worse. Social workers at the Hotline understand that those who abuse their children may try to be good parents yet they cannot help taking their frustrations out on the helpless child. With treatment, these parents can change. But, hundreds of children in the province this year will continue to suffer unless someone speaks up.

If you are seeing or hearing any signs of child abuse or neglect, call the Hotline. Your concern will be appreciated.

Sedgewick Rink Wins Farmers 'Spiel

The Viking Curling Club was kept busy this past weekend with the hosting of their 1981 Farmers' Boneyard.

A total of 57 rinks were entered in the spiel which ran from Wednesday evening, January 7 through to Sunday, January 11.

Teams enjoyed excellent weather for travelling to and from the spiel as well as very good ice conditions thanks to caretaker Bob Stevens.

Winner of the first event was the Don MacKinnon rink of Sedgewick who defeated the Vern Haseo rink of Viking in a close game which ended with a final score of 8-5.

The Henry Haseo rink of Viking defeated the J.I. Case rink of St. Paul which was shipped by Murray Cumming. This was also a very close game.

In the third event the K. Bowtell rink from Wainwright and the G. Maxwell rink of Viking were to have played off in the finals but due to the late time of the draw and several players who had to return to Edmonton and elsewhere, an agreement was reached putting the Bowtell rink in first place.

Following are the top four rinks in each event:

- First Event
 1. Don MacKinnon
 2. Vern Haseo
 3. K. Brown
 4. K. Davis

- Second Event
 1. Henry Haseo
 2. J.I. Case
 3. Irvin Arndt
 4. D. Stewart

Third Event

1. K. Bowtell
 2. G. Maxwell
 3. H. Shyba
 4. C.R. McLean

The Viking Curling Club would like to thank everyone who participated in the boneyard and also to the ladies who brought food and donated their time in the snack bar.

A very special thank you to all the businesses in Viking who donated prizes or money toward the operation of the spiel.

Cable President Says Land Problems Causing Delay

Cable television for Viking is at a standstill. Ed Polansky, President of Q.C.T.V. Ltd. of Edmonton, informed The Weekly Review that the problems acquiring suitable land for a receiver tower have led to the delay.

Mr. Polansky said that Q.C.T.V. has completed the installation of cable lines in the Town, but that the Company needed 8 to 10 acres on which to construct a tower for receiving the T.V. signals. He said that the Company was annoyed with landowners around Viking for a lack of co-operation.

Mr. Polansky indicated that Q.C.T.V. is willing to buy or lease land for the tower site. He said that power line interference cuts out some locations in the area. However, he said that the landowners in the immediate vicinity of Viking who have suitable land either want "an arm and a leg" or won't talk to the Company. He stated, "If the truth be known, one person Horally knows us off their land, and another one wants an arm and a leg for their land."

The President noted that in purchasing agricultural land, a Local Authorities Board hearing was necessary to erect the substation. He said that Q.C.T.V. had requested an exemption from the government in this regard, but it had been denied. According to Mr. Polansky, Q.C.T.V. would be willing to lease land for the tower, provided a long-term arrangement, approximately 30 years, could be agreed upon.

The Company has two men in the area looking for suitable land, according to the President, and the closer the Company is to the Town the better. Mr. Polansky said that it costs $20,000 per mile for cable from the tower to the Town, and greater distances will simply increase the cost of the service to subscribers.

A.G.T. Microwave, Mr. Polansky said that the Company has learned that A.G.T. is working on a microwave link from Edmonton to Wainwright in Northern Saskatchewan. He said that Q.C.T.V. is looking at the possibility of using this system for supplying Viking. The microwave to Wainwright was being installed, with completion set for the Fall of 1981. As of January 1981, no request from Q.C.T.V. had been received by A.G.T. to utilize the service which A.G.T. is installing to Wainwright.

The Wainwright, Mr. Polansky said that the Company had been advised that the landowners within a mile radius of the building site would be leased.

Mr. Polansky stated that in July, Mr. Kuchenko returned, indicating that Q.C.T.V. now requires the use of the Canadian Radio and Telecommunications Commission (C.R.T.C.) and that the Company needed more land for their equipment. Mr. Polansky said that the Company had been advised that the landowners within a mile radius of the building site would be leased.

Mr. Polansky said that the Company had been advised that the landowners within a mile radius of the building site would be leased.

Wainwright will provide that area with the American T.V. channels. Mr. Polansky said that Q.C.T.V. had wished to complete cable T.V. to Viking last fall. He said that the Company felt they had difficulties in negotiating for land prevented this. He said that the Company felt they had difficulties in negotiating for land prevented this.

However, the Q.C.T.V. President would not indicate with whom he had been dealing or the amounts of money involved. He noted that the Company's interest in this matter should not be questioned.

When contacted, the Public Relations Department of A.G.T. said that a microwave system to serve Wainwright was being installed, with completion set for the Fall of 1981. of Viking, it was learned that three had been contacted by Q.C.T.V. Gerard Wadley, who owns land about 1/2 mile south of Viking, said that he dealt with Q.C.T.V. at length. Mr. Wadley said that he was approached by Wally Kuchenko of Q.C.T.V. last May to lease a small piece of land, about 40 sq. ft., on which to erect a pole and a stack for receiving T.V. signals. Mr. Wadley said they agreed to a site against a fence line at the south end of Mr. Wadley's building site. A rental fee of $750 per year plus free cable T.V. hook-up and service for the Wadley farm was discussed, with the lease running for 20 years, being renegotiable every 5 years.

Mr. Kuchenko returned, indicating that Q.C.T.V. now requires the use of the Canadian Radio and Telecommunications Commission (C.R.T.C.) and that the Company needed more land for their equipment. The Laughlin Land Shortly after this, Mr. Wadley and Ralph Child, owners of C & W Farms, were contacted by Mrs. Dorothy Purvis who leases land to C & W Farms. Mrs. Purvis informed the two men that Q.C.T.V. wanted to buy some land just south of Viking to be used for a tower site, and she wanted to discuss this matter with Mr. Kuchenko.

Mr. Child stated that the parties then met on the Laughlin land to determine a suitable site for the tower. Dorothy Purvis co-owns the Laughlin land, said that two 5 acre parcels were eventually offered for purchase by her and her brother, Mrs. Purvis said that the Yesterday, January 20th, the Americans who were held in Iran for the past 14½ months were finally released. These people spend 444 days as captives of both a student revolutionary group in Tehran, and the new Iranian government under the leadership of Ayatollah Khomeini. During the next months and years, North Americans will hear in the greatest detail what this ordeal meant to the 52 Americans who were held as hostages. They will be heralded as heroes by many of their countrymen, and other people of the world for having endured. They will be paraded before the television cameras on numerous talk shows, and many of their stories will be printed in magazines and books. People want to know what life was like for these people who have been the subject of the attention of the overall most powerful nation on the earth.

And now we will all hear the numerous analysts evaluate the situation as it unfolded over the past 14½ months. The second-guessers will espouse their taboos of wisdom as to where either the Iranians or the Americans went wrong in this saga. And hopefully the most important part of the drama to the hostages will be fully recognized. And that is the fact that they all returned alive.

The volatility of the situation in Iran put these 52 people in a most precarious position. The failure of the American attempt to free them last June must have placed tremendous pressure on the student militants to display a show of strength to the Americans, and potentially eliminate some of the hostages. When people who have lived under a ruthless dictator finally rid themselves of their bonds, they often do inhuman things to others, even though this type of behavior is just what they are trying to rid their country of.

That the U.S. supported the regime of the late Shah, and that it carried out numerous acts of inhumane torture against Iranian citizens are well known today. That the U.S. has had second thoughts about supporting such leaders is also evident in the world. Or should we say is evident.

The new administration of Ronald Reagan has expressed the opinion that the U.S. must support some governments whose policies and tactics are in opposition to the U.S. as long as this government is anti-Communist. This is a change from the Carter Administration which sought to evaluate a system on the basis of how it was attempting to treat its citizens. If a regime was ruthless like that of Somoza of Nicaragua or the Shah in Iran, the U.S. either curtailed support or withdrew it.

However, the policies of governments are naturally tempered by the times in which these governments find themselves, and in a democracy, are greatly influenced by the voters, as it should be. Presently in the U.S. there is a swing towards the so-called "right". This "right" is often associated with neo-conservatism and the assertion of the U.S. presence in the world, either economically or militarily. This movement was associated with Ronald Reagan during the election campaign.

With the ability of the world to obliterate itself with nuclear weapons, great caution must be taken when dealing with volatile international situations. Patience is definitely a virtue. The fact that the 52 American hostages were freed from captivity in Iran is an example that patience can pay off in international affairs. Hopefully this type of attitude will be continued by the players on the international stage, especially those with the greatest amount of destructive power.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

The Canadian Red Cross Society has been involved in the blood donor system for the last 34 years and is at the point where this system is now recognized as one of the leaders in the world. This system is now in danger of being destroyed.

The provincial Ministers of Health recently agreed to authorize three plants to fractionate blood products in Canada which would operate under the auspices of the Red Cross with Red Cross supplying the plasma derived from volunteer donors. Fractionation outside of the Red Cross will undoubtedly lead to the implementation of a paid donor system to support the operation of the three designated plants.

Connaught Laboratory of Toronto, one of those chosen to do so, has set up a subsidiary in Halifax where blood donors are paid from $10 to $20.00 for a unit of blood.

Connaught's president A.L. Davies, is outspoken in recommending the need for a paid donor system in Canada.

The Canadian Red Cross has shown the ministers how it can finance its own fractionation plant at no additional cost to the Canadian public and within ten years provide all blood products at a cost significantly below any other known facility.

Red Cross has the expertise to accomplish this job without paying donors while ensuring the best possible risk to the recipient of the blood products produced.

The Red Cross deplores the decision taken by the Ministers of Health because it will destroy one of the most valuable and respected blood systems in the world founded on a volunteer base. Cost to the recipient under a paid system will substantially increase and the risk of transmission of disease will also increase dramatically.

While the Red Cross is attempting to reverse the decision made by the Ministers, we most urgently request you and all your friends to continue donating your blood freely as you have in the past.

If you agree with the plea of the Red Cross Society for the continuance of the volunteer system, contact the

a cable company wanted to purchase a 5 acre parcel that included part of the Laughlin building site, but that this was out of the question for purchase. She said that she would be willing to discuss the leasing of the land, but that long-term considerations made purchase of the building site impossible.

Mrs. Purvis said that one 5 acre parcel offered was at the intersection of Highway 36 and the Laughlin road, while the other was on her south fence line along Highway 38 where her land meets Mr. Wadley's land. She said that she has not heard back from Q.C.T.V. on her offer to sell this property, even though the offers are still open.

Back to Mr. Wadley
From the Laughlin land, the party moved to Mr. Wadley's land where the 3 acre site was studied and agreed upon. Following this meeting, Mr. Wadley telephoned the C.R.T.C. in Ottawa to determine if he could purchase the land. Mr. Wadley says that he was informed that the Company is free to lease or buy, and that the C.R.T.C. had not indicated that Q.C.T.V. had to buy the land.

Mr. Wadley then informed Mr. Kupchenko of his phone call to the C.R.T.C. as Mr. Wadley would have preferred to lease the land for the time being. Mr. Wadley said that Mr. Kupchenko seemed upset that Mr. Wadley had phoned the C.R.T.C., but indicated that the Company preferred to buy rather than lease.

Following this, an agreement to purchase Mr. Wadley's land was drawn up. The agreement was to buy 3 acres of land at $5,000 per acre. This land was then leased for suitability and surveyed by Q.C.T.V.

In mid August, modifications were made to the original agreement including a restrictive covenant on the use of the land by the Company, a lease-back clause, a damage restoration clause, a right-of-first-refusal clause in the event of the sale of the land by the Company, and provisions for Q.C.T.V. to look-up to Mr. Wadley's farm.

In mid September, Mr. Wadley's lawyer, John Hunter, was informed by the Q.C.T.V. lawyer that the agreement was being reviewed.

When contacted about the progress of cable T.V. in Viking, Wally Kupchenko did not answer any questions and directed The Weekly Review to contact Mr. Polansky if any information was desired. Mr. Polansky had been contacted prior to taking with Mr. Kupchenko.

The Viking Gazette

Volume 1 NUMBER 1

VIKING, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1910

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Looking back... with this issue of The Weekly Review we will take you back to the publishing of Viking's first newspaper "The Viking Gazette" April 28, 1910. In future issues we will reprint a sequel of excerpts from that first paper.

Although many readers may not be aware of this early publication, it served Viking and District for nearly two years. F.L. Phillips was Editor and Publisher of "The Viking Gazette". Unfortunately the equipment and building which housed this publication were destroyed by fire in January of 1912. It wasn't until May 16, 1913 that J.W. Johansen from Fort Saskatchewan published the first issue of The Viking News.

The basic purpose and services established with publishing of that first issue compare favorably with the aims of modern newspapers.

At a time when we find it necessary to increase the cost of local subscriptions from $5.00 to $8.00, it is interesting to note that the original price for a year's subscription was set at $1.50 and that was over 70 years ago.

F. L. PHILLIPS,
Editor and Publisher.

VIKING, APRIL 28, 1910

THE VIKING GAZETTE.

We are presenting, this week, the first issue of the Viking Gazette and we wish to say that owing to the fact that we have had considerable trouble in getting our machinery set up, this issue is not up to the standard that we would like it to be and it is not the best we can or will produce when we get everything into shape. Therefore we trust that our readers will bear with us fully realizing the difficulties that we have had to contend with.

The district surrounding Viking being one of the best along the U. T. P., in fact the best in the west, the town itself without a doubt will grow and gradually become one of great importance. Fully realizing the possibilities, we have brought into town, the best and most up-to-date newspaper plant a long the line and we intend to print a paper that will be instructive, new and entertaining and one that will attract attention wherever it circulates.

We wish to state that the columns of this sheet will be open to the public for any suggestions that you wish to make regarding improvements, both in the town and country, and further, we want you to realize that this is your paper, at your service and for your benefit. The closer we can come in touch with your needs, the closer we shall be giving you an ideal publication.

We require correspondents in every town and district and we will furnish anyone who will act with free stamps and station besides pay them generously for their trouble.

It is to be essentially a local paper and we will bend our energies towards the advancement of Viking and surrounding district.

We appeal to the merchants to be loyal to their paper and to give it a fair share of advertising, for without which no paper can succeed.

Echo Rodino News

Teresa Greenwood spent the week in Edmonton visiting with her sister Rita. Clarence Hunter and Kelly Hoggie of Edmonton were visiting at the Williams home for a few days.

Treedy McMillan and daughter Tanya of Lloydminster are visiting the Tim Greenwood residence.

The Rodino Country Club held their annual meeting at the Williams home. Last year's slate of officers were re-elected for another year. Officers are as follows: President - Wes Bauer, Vice President - Bob Williams, Secretary - Claudia Williams and Treasurer - Yvonne Greenwood.

Sunday night the neighborhood gathered at Rodino Hall for a Pot Luck Supper held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Jackson whose marriage took place on Boring Day. After a lovely supper the gifts were opened and good wishes were passed on to the couple. The evening wound up after we all enjoyed the music and songs provided by Bob Williams.

Victor Carter took a few days off and travelled to Medicine Hat for a few days.

WITH A CREDIT UNION LINE OF CREDIT (AND A PEN) - - - -

Line of credit is a convenient, ongoing loan that you can draw on at any time simply by writing a cheque.

It allows you to make purchases, pay bills, take advantage of sales, and make any number of transactions that ordinarily would leave you short of cash. Plus - when you use it, no one knows you are drawing on credit except you and your credit union.

The amount of credit available to you is arranged ahead of time and noted on your chequing account. Any cheques you write in excess of your chequing balance will automatically be covered up to that preapproved limit. That means you get instant access to funds without having to take the time and trouble to apply for separate loans as you require them. You can also save on credit charges, because the rate of interest you pay on your credit union line of credit is lower than what is generally charged by department store and other retail credit companies.

When you don't use your line of credit, it costs you absolutely nothing.

If you sometimes need more money than you have on deposit - or if you want to insure yourself against the embarrassment of accidentally overdrawing your account - you'll find a line of credit very useful.

Ask for an application form or talk to a loan officer next time you drop by your credit union.

Woodside Organize Old Fashioned Fun Day

On December 28th, approximately 50 people joined in the fun of an old fashioned "Cutter Drive" which was organized by the Woodside Roping Club. A dozen horse-drawn rigs of various description were used to transport the participants on their journey.

The Woodside Roping Club have revived old fashioned ideas and found that it is definitely the way to have a great deal of fun. Simply get together 50 to 60 people, a dozen horse-drawn rigs of various descriptions and size and get for a "Cutter Drive".

Gathering at Wayne Lusk's on December 28th, which proved a perfect day for such an event, the group made a circle through pastures and across say meadows, stopping occasionally to visit the horses and do some visiting.

On the homeward swing we came upon... and behold, a timber chub complete with poles and roof. This unusual dwelling in this day and age, he begged to some other than the very versatile Dean Jeffrey. Dean, in true western style, invited the entire crew to his coffee.

Bruce Busy Bees

The Bruce Busy Bees held their regular monthly meeting on December 3rd. Roll call was drawing names. The exchange Christmas gifts.

On December 18th, the Bruce Busy Bees met in the Bruce School to do the cooking projects. Project made the grilled cheese sandwiches and cooked cereal with a demonstration on how to decorate them.

Statistics supplied by the Alberta Transportation Safety Branch indicate that from January 1st to December 10, 1980, 804 traffic deaths have occurred on Alberta roads.

Of the 804 fatalities, 365 related to pedestrians, motorcycles, bicyclists for which seat belts were not relevant.

The waste of these human lives is needless and pointless when the means of survival is so readily available according to Mr. Allen. "Some way must be found to protect these individuals, even from their own mistakes, and one of the most obvious methods is the implementation of mandatory seat belt use."

Rosegarland W.I. Notes

After the Christmas party which replaced the regular meeting in December, it was back to business for Rosegarland W.I. They met at the home of Margaret Hill on Tuesday afternoon, January 19, 1981.

A welcome was extended to Betty Parsons of Irma, when we find out who our secret friend is whom we honor at birthday and Christmas. Jean Brooker was in charge of this.

Each member of Women's Institutes all across Canada are asked to donate $1.00 for each of the years, 1981, 1982 and 1983 to help take care of costs of hosting the International Convention to be held in Vancouver in 1983, thus eliminating the need to ask for a government grant, and independent lot, those W.I.'s. The dollars for 1981 from Rosegarland are already on their way.

A gift will be sent to the usual gift stall that is part of the National Convention where the articles are sold to offset some of the expenses of this convention.

Margaret Hill and Vera Ellison were named as delegates to the District Conference to be held at the Grey Nuns' Centre in Edmonton on January 19 and 20.

Christine Kiste commented to be an alternate. A highlight of this conference will be the discussion of the rights and status of women in the amending formula of the controversial Canadian Constitution.

Also, Miss Corneille Wood, a past M.I.A. of the Alberta Legislature and long time member of Women's Institutes will be honored for the valuable service she has rendered to the Institute and the people of Alberta.

Betty Parsons, who is no stranger to most of us, was introduced and her talk took the form of a quiz to test how up to date we were on our knowledge of W.I. from the International level, to provincial. Some of us were caught flat-footed, so be warned, all you other groups. Get your home work done.

Betty also reported working on plans for the upcoming Constituency Conference in April. No date as yet has been set.

Verna then gave a well researched and well written resume on Social Services in Canada. How this service came into being and progressed since 1974 when the pauper homeless children were picked up off the streets of London and brought to Canada to be placed in private homes for so called proper upbringing. Because many of them were mistreated and practically made slaves, the Canadian Government set up a Social Services Agency to improve and help the lot of the underprivileged. From this, over the next one hundred years many different departments have been created, including health care, welfare, education, sanitation, day care, to name just a few.

It was Adelaide Hoodless' concern when she founded Women's Institutes that there be education for rural women for good homemaking.

Margaret Hill and Vera Ellison were named as delegates to the District Conference to be held at the Grey Nuns' Centre in Edmonton on January 19 and 20.

Christine Kiste commented to be an alternate. A highlight of this conference will be the discussion of the rights and status of women in the amending formula of the controversial Canadian Constitution.

Also, Miss Corneille Wood, a past M.I.A. of the Alberta Legislature and long time member of Women's Institutes will be honored for the valuable service she has rendered to the Institute and the people of Alberta.

Betty Parsons, who is no stranger to most of us, was introduced and her talk took the form of a quiz to test how up to date we were on our knowledge of W.I. from the International level, to provincial. Some of us were caught flat-footed, so be warned, all you other groups. Get your home work done.

Betty also reported working on plans for the upcoming Constituency Conference in April. No date as yet has been set.

Business continued following her presentation. Vera Ellison commented to a Handi-resource person if a Handi-workshop is arranged in the Wainwright Community Centre.

Verna then gave a well researched and well written resume on Social Services in Canada. Irma Seniors Enjoy Ice Capades

On Sunday morning, January 19th, Bill Bouchard's Ice Capades from Wainwright stopped at the Irma New Horizons Drop-In Centre at 10:30 a.m. and was soon loaded almost to capacity with senior citizens. Special guests also attending were three young ladies, students from Mexico and their guardians Lorna Jackson and Doreen Bell.

The weather was ideal, bright sun shined and clear blue sky. For the trip to Northland Coliseum was indeed a pleasant one.

Arriving at 12:00, everyone piled out and Phyllis Craig who had reserved the tickets picked them up and passed them around.

After having coffee, security programs etc., seats were located and they proceeded to the best in the collection.

The performance was magnificent and judging by the applause was enjoyed by the full.

At approximately 4:30 the performance concluded and everyone again piled into the bus. We headed east on 118th Avenue to the Beverly Crest Motel where

Midgets Split Victory Over Past Week

The local Midget club came out of a two game week with a win and a loss. They won the game on Tuesday when they hosted the Ryley club. The first period proved successful for the boys as they scored four unanswered goals.

In Erickson had a pair with Murray Josephson and Randy Graham collected shagles. Richard Leford led with three assists, with six goals going to Ian Erickson, Eugene Minkow and Joseph Wawanesa.

Second period play saw the Viking club dominate the play again and in turn outscoring Ryley 3 goals to 1. Richard Leford, Eugene Minkow and Ian Erickson scored for Viking. Murray Josephson picked up two assists. Randy Graham, Ian Erickson and Graham Wilkie led shagles.

The third period was a repeat of the second with the local boys again outscoring Ryley 3 - 1. Joseph Wawanesa, Murray Josephson and Ian Erickson with his fourth goal of the game, scored for the local club. Assists went to Richard Leford, Murray Josephson and Ian Erickson with one each. When the final buzzer sounded, the Viking club had soundly defeated Ryley by a score of 10 to 5.

Friday night saw the Viking boys host the Cedar Midgets in what was their first contest of the season. The final goal hit the Viking team. Last minute recruits Brad Majek, Rocky Hanson and Shamus Clouston filled the gaps. Viking came out fired up and the game was only 9 seconds under way when Ian Erickson scored.

Joseph Wawanesa and Graham Wilkie drew assists. Rocky Hanson from the Ryley team scored Viking's second goal. Randy Graham assisted on it.

Cedar replied with one goal to narrow the gap when the first period ended. The second period proved very disastrous for the Viking boys. Possibly the lack of the style of skating and checking could be contributing to the loss. Either way, so it the bug or just a case. Cedar totally dominated the second period, outscoring Viking 4 to 1.

Ian Erickson collected Viking's only goal of the period. Murray Josephson and Joseph Wawanesa assisted on the goal.

The third period saw the Viking team continue their play from the previous period with the exception of a few good scoring chances. These few chances were so small as by then the Cedar tender turned hot and just couldn't be beat.

Cedar meanwhile scored more times and when the final whistle sounded, they handed the Viking boys their third defeat by a score of 6 to 5. Hopefully the boys will overcome the loss and regular their team spirit and hustle for the upcoming weekend games against Dayland and Redgwick.

With these two games completed, the club and management would like to thank the fans and game officials for their support and help.

From The Ground Up

District Agriculturalists
Bill Brass & Jerome Manchur

Intention appears to be expanding, and it would be of value to producers to know whether or not the pest is in their region.

The monitoring program will be established and supervised by the staff of the Alberta Environmental Centre, although routine checks, although routine checks, are being made at the rate of a trap per acre. A complete set of instructions, including a list of identifying features of the moth, when to start and when to finish checking, number of checks per week, etc., will accompany the traps.

Since we wish to evaluate and improve upon existing methods for this insect, a second sheet will be included with the traps. Growers will be requested to keep it up to date by recording when traps were checked, number of bertha armyworm moths, control actions etc.

District Agriculturalists will be aware of the progress and will help by making traps available to rapessed producers in their localities. This year the traps will be distributed to growers at no charge.

HOW TO RAISE YOUR PARENTS

1. Do not be afraid to speak their language. Try to use strange sounding phrases like "I'll help you with the dishes," and "fay".

2. Try to understand their music. Play Andy Williams' "Moon River" on the stereo until you are accustomed to the sound.

3. Be patient with the underachiever. When you catch your dining mom making salted peanuts, do not show your disapproval. Tell her you love fat mothers.

4. Encourage your parents to talk about their problems. Try to keep in mind that to them things like earning a living and paying off the mortgage seem important.

6. Most important of all, if they do something you consider wrong, let them know it's their behavior you dislike, not themselves.

Viking Chamber Elects New Executive

The annual meeting of the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce was called to order at 7:40 p.m. on Thursday, January 29, at the Civic Centre.

Red Krize assumed the responsibilities of president at the time of Will Huxton's resignation and presented a summary of activities and accomplishments carried out by the Chamber during the past year. In summary those included the establishing of new meeting times, the hosting of a community forum, representation on the 75th Anniversary Committee, participation in the Canada Unity Day picnic, the operation of a tourist information booth, street beautification through the Devonian project, the purchase of a new Town of Viking sign, the Chamber presentation, Christmas Light-Up contest, and a businessman's welcome for the first baby of 1981.

The president concluded his report by stating that although the Chamber has not recently been instrumental in promoting business and industry, progress can now be made due to an increased water supply and the availability of land.

Jenny Bird, Deputy Mayor, addressed the meeting and stated that the membership of the Chamber should include rural representation as well as representation from the business community. She emphasized the fact that the Chamber could and should be a useful tool in government both locally and provincially. She encouraged the new executive to move in the right direction and not to hesitate in approaching Council with their ideas or proposals.

Newly installed President Lane Carrington upon accepting the responsibilities of the position stated that he hoped to keep the Chamber operating as a viable instrument and expansion of the business community.

The Deputy Mayor also conducted installation ceremonies for the remaining officers and chairmen. The new slate of officers is as follows: 1st Vice-President - Les Ottemo, 2nd Vice-President - Dick Morris, Treasurer - Jim Jones, Secretary - Diana Clouston, Chairman - George Fairbairn, Retail - Carol Maxwell, Tourism - Les Ottemo and Membership - Pat Anderson. Agriculture and Town and Industry Chairmen have yet to be convinced.

Mr. Jack Roddick, Chairman of the Hospital Board was in attendance and advised that the move to the new hospital should not be postponed much longer and invited Chamber representation at the official opening.

Memberships for the current year have been decreased to $10.00 per business and $5.00 per individual member as established at the last general meeting and accepted at the annual meeting.

The Hire-A-Student program is a student management program sponsored by local community groups, Alberta Chamber of Commerce, and the provincial and federal governments. These groups work together to meet one main objective - to find employment for students seeking summer jobs and to help employers find suitable employees.

To get Hire-A-Student Programs in our community, we must find a group of adults interested in being on the Hire-A-Student Committee. We cannot apply for this until we have a "Committee" formed. Contact the P.S.S. office if you are interested in helping out.

We're Getting In Bad Shape

This past week, the Conference Board of Canada predicted that Alberta would experience no real economic growth during 1981. This basically means that the Alberta economy will experience no expansion during this year, that few new jobs should be created within the Alberta economy. This is the situation which most of the rest of Canada experienced last year. But it seemed somehow impossible for this predicament to occur in Alberta due to the tremendous wealth attached to our number one natural resources - oil and natural gas.

However, it seems as though the economic stagnation which has plagued the rest of Canada will catch up to Alberta this year. And this is mainly due to the tremendous uncertainty which surrounds the whole question of oil pricing in this country. For months now, the federal and provincial governments have been at odds over the revenue which should be paid to Alberta for this most valuable commodity, and how this revenue is to be split among all parties who believe they have a right to a "piece of the action". This major problem has produced a number of major projects to a halt across Canada, particularly in Alberta. This is perhaps the major cause of the gloomy economic forecast for 1981.

Also tied in with the oil pricing problem is the constitutional issue which has been so predominant during the last year. One of the major issues in the constitution debate is that of ownership and control of natural resources. The division of powers in this issue is critical if meaningful negotiations are to take place over the pricing of natural resources. And yet, those people who have been given the responsibility to solve these issues, our politicians at both the federal and provincial levels, must not wait for the conclusion of the constitution debate before settling the oil pricing issue. The determination of a long-range oil pricing policy will benefit all of Canada in the long run, not just Alberta or Saskatchewan. The economic run-off from the type of projects, such as pipelines and refineries, which will result from increased oil prices in Canada will be tremendous. A vast number of jobs will be created, both permanently and temporarily. Also, over the revenue which should be paid to Alberta for this most valuable commodity, and how this revenue is to be split among all parties who believe they have a right to a "piece of the action". This major problem has produced a number of major projects to a halt across Canada, particularly in Alberta. This is perhaps the major cause of the gloomy economic forecast for 1981.

We are slowly sinking into the economic wasteland in Alberta due to the problems between our federal and provincial politicians. It is time that they seriously and responsibly sat down together and arrived at a solution in the very near future. Its time they put our country before their attempts at petty politicking.

How Independents are Squeezed

The major multinational oil companies (sometimes known as the seven sisters) are squeezing the independents out of the oil business. They are spending millions of dollars on advertising and public relations to keep the public in the dark about their true intentions. They are also using their political connections to keep the government from taking any action against them.

At a time when the big oil firms are spending millions of dollars on advertising and public relations to keep the public in the dark about their true intentions, the independent oil companies are being squeezed out of the business.

White profit margins of 15% or more have been the norm for the last few years. Evidence of this is seen in the fact that the major oil companies have been systematically squeezing independent oil producers out of the business. The evidence is in the fact that the major oil companies have been systematically squeezing independent oil producers out of the business.

The apparent reason the independents have proven to be at least as efficient as the multinationals, creating unwanted price competition for oil company operated or franchised outlets in many markets. The independents control their supplies the big oil companies that run the refineries have have when they become too successful. Supplies may be cut, whole sale prices raised, or a combination of both. The result is that the independents are being squeezed out of the business.

For example, had plenty of gasoline to sell, but only on a basis that would effectively allow the multinationals to set prices. New Brunswick's Irving Oil (40% owned by multinational Standard Oil of California), on the other hand, said it refused to sell gasoline to an independent dealer. At the same time, the company was exporting gasoline to the United States. The evidence indicated that this results in the independents being forced to sell out to the major firms.

Changing Grain Trade Patterns

The growth in world grain trade, particularly wheat, has been spectacular in the last 40 years has been spectacular. There has also been a decided shift in grain exporting and importing countries in the last 40 years.

Prior to 1940, world wheat trade averaged less than 17 million tonnes per year. Resulting speaking, this figure doubled between 1940 and 1980, and doubled again since 1960. Projected world wheat and flour trade this year is 80 million tonnes.

It is interesting to note that all of these very large increases in grain trade have occurred in the last 40 years. The rate of increase in world coarse grain trade has been more dramatic. In 1940, approximately 16 million tonnes of coarse grain were traded yearly. In 1980, estimated world coarse grain trade is 140 million tonnes - nearly seven times the 1940 level and over three times the 1960 level.

For coarse grain, the same trend is observable. Prior to 1940, 60 per cent of all coarse grain was consumed in the U.S. and 20 per cent from developed nations. The balance of the world was importing 80 per cent of all coarse grain. In 1980, estimated world coarse grain trade is 140 million tonnes - nearly seven times the 1940 level and over three times the 1960 level.

In the last four decades, grain imports have decreased in developed countries and increased in developing and centrally planned economies. Rising world population can be cited as the major reason for both increasing world grain trade and centrally planned economies.

For many reasons, including a falling climate and overuse of this Thuringia resources, it is unlikely that developing or centrally planned countries can produce sufficient grain to satisfy their internal needs on a year to year basis. Further increases in grain trade will be required to meet the demands of an increasing world population.

The world ability to produce and distribute grain at volumes sufficient to feed a rapidly expanding population will be tested in the next decade. Whether we want it or not will depend not only on technological advances in agriculture, but also on the political will of the nations leaders.

To the Canadians of Alberta walk that extra mile!

If you believe we should give Canada a chance - if you believe Canadians in the east haven't heard Alberta's side of the story - if you feel we need fair play and justice and that we can only get it if our position is fully understood - then you can help! Here's how:

The Alberta Citizens' Coalition is a non-political, non-separatist, POSITIVE movement with one simple objective: To tell the Alberta story to eastern Canada, by newspaper, radio and television. We believe the housewife, the store clerk, the bus driver, the factory worker, in short, thousands of our fellow Canadians, haven't any idea why we're so frustrated and upset here in the west.

They don't know about a century of freight rate injustice, agricultural biases, tariff charges that penalized the west, rules that changed whenever it suited eastern fancy or profit. In short, they don't know why we've finally reached a point of anger that demands action.

We need your help to reach these goals:

1. The first and minimum objective is to tell the Alberta story intensively and forcefully in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto. We want to do this with paid television, newspaper, and radio messages so that our words reach Canadians exactly as we say them.
2. If enough money is raised, we'll extend the campaign to all the population centres of Ontario and Quebec.
3. If further amounts are raised, we'll carry slightly different messages to the Maritimes as well.

Only by the voluntary, direct voice of the people of Alberta can our story be told. Governments can't do it. Political groups can't do it. We need to talk person to person, Canadian to Canadian.

We believe with understanding can come change. We believe, as Albertans, we have a responsibility to "walk this extra mile".

If you believe as we do, send your money to: Box 11,000 Edmonton T5J 2P4

A dollar will help. A hundred dollars will help that much more. And a thousand dollars will help a godsend! Send what you can. You'll get a receipt, and a copy of print advertising prepared. A complete, audited financial statement will be published in Alberta daily newspapers when the campaign is over.

Do it now. Time is running out for Alberta and Canada!

Paid for by the voluntary contributions of Canadian citizens who live in Alberta, through the non-political Alberta Citizens' Coalition.

Bells Celebrate 60 Years

Many Irma people drove to Hardisty on Sunday, February 1st to join with Tillie and Jimmie Bell who celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in the C.E. Hall. A capacity crowd of friends and relatives were on hand for the occasion.

Eddie Jackson acted as M.C. He welcomed those present and congratulated Tillie and Jimmie who both looked happy and healthy. The couple were presented with a beautiful Bible from the Wainwright merchants.

Bruce Willerton, Councillor for the area, presented them with a beautiful inscribed wall plaque on behalf of the Council of Wainwright Municipal District #61.

Friends were present from many distant points. Three attractive ladies from Mexico City were introduced and applauded. Alfred Walker from Australia was also introduced. A bountiful lunch and much socializing concluded the evening.

Kinsella W.I. Report

The January meeting of the members of the Kinsella W.I. opened with the singing of O'Canada and the reading of the creed.

The flea market which was held in November proved to be a real success. The W.I. had a lovely Christmas party-pot-luck supper. After which all played cards and bingo.

Our W.I. was saddened to learn of the loss of Rosalie, the youngest son of Allan and Olga Barker.

Correspondence received was then read by Muriel. The A.W.I. Conference will be held at the Grey Nuns' Centre in Edmonton.

Marie Plaster asked for gifts to help pay for the 1980 Conference.

Betty Parsons will visit us at our February meeting. We donated $25.00 to the office fund. We are also going to make a Red Cross quilt.

Also, a decision was made regarding the purchase of new decorations for showers, anniversaries and such.

We decided to cater to the Pioneer Club. It was also decided to meet two members to the Conference and Workshop. Jean moved the meeting be adjourned. A delicious lunch was served by Jackie and Virginia.

Contemplating A New Business?

The idea behind most retail businesses is built around a particular product or line of goods. Anyone attempting a new retail venture obviously must give considerable thought to what is to be sold and why.

The entrepreneur of a new retail business must be honest with himself or herself as to retail experience, both in a general way and in terms of the particular product involved. Many people have found to their dismay, and too late to change it, that there is a good deal more to selling than just attaching a price tag and placing something on a counter.

If the would-be owner of a new retail business does not have experience in the particular line to be sold, consideration can be given to working for a few months in a shop similar to the one planned.

The financial aspect of a product or product line also must be considered. If it is an expensive item, customers may hesitate before buying. If it is a cheap item, a great many may have to be sold before a profit is realized. In that case, purchases from a supplier in bulk would be desirable and must be certain.

Seasonability or the possible passing popularity of the product also must be considered. In either case, thought must be given to goods that can be sold at other times.

Similarly, if the product is a novelty or a gimmick item, consideration must be given to what can be sold after advantage has been taken of the novelty aspect has worn off.

Finally, there is one last question to be answered: Why was the product or product line chosen by the new retailer?

Echo Rodino

Victor Carter travelled to Medicine Hat to attend a funeral of a friend.

Yvonne Greenwood accompanied her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston of Kinsella to Edmonton.

Wendy and Karen Bauer are proud of their prize, won curling in Minburn. They played on Clark Rowland's team and won second place in the second event of the Fun Spiel held in Minburn over the weekend.

Visitors to the Pioneer Club.

Quinte W.I. News

The January meeting of the Quinte W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Lois O'Leary on the 22nd.

We had ten members and four visitors in attendance. We had our new members, Mrs. Lois O'Leary and Mrs. Arne Anderson.

Our last activity was the catering of the Wainwright wedding.

The visiting committee visited at the hospital in the past month. One of our members, Doris Fay is presently confined to the hospital and we wish her a speedy recovery.

A.W.I. Conference is to be held at the Grey Nuns' Centre on February 18 and 19 and Mrs. Lillian and Lillian Evans are to go as delegates.

New card tables and cards have been purchased to be used at our card parties held at the youth centre.

New program booklets for 1981 were passed out at the meeting.

Lois O'Leary gave a handicraft paper on The Dyeing which was followed by a demonstration of artificial flower arrangements by Lillian Evans.

By Wednesday evening, January 28, all that remained of the Alberta Wheat Pool Elevator No. 3 was a pile of rubble. A large crane was brought in to tear the building down. The elevator was built in 1909 by the Home Grain company, and was owned by several different companies before it was bought by Alberta Wheat Pool in 1972.

Up Date On Front Wheel Drive Operation

The number of front-wheel drive vehicles on our roads is increasing and will continue to do so, as more and more auto manufacturers offer smaller, more fuel efficient cars.

Conflicting advice abounds on how to handle a front-wheel drive car. A lot of the techniques that have been published...such as how to apply brakes and accelerate at the same time to shift through a curve...apply only to the professional race car driver.

The Traffic Safety Committee of the Alberta Safety Council advise that vehicles having front drive handle much like rear-drive vehicles. They were designed that way so that drivers wouldn't get into trouble when making the transition.

"We tune the car for family driving," says Fred Franas, Executive engineer of Front-wheel Drive Development at Ford. In fact it takes an observant driver to feel the difference in ordinary driving circumstances. However, in unusual conditions...particularly on wet or icy roads, front drive does have advantages.

As the entire weight of the transverse-mounted engine and transmission rests squarely on the front wheels, approximately 60 per cent of the weight of a front-drive car rests on its driving wheels compared to about 40 per cent of the typical rear-drive car.

The result of this extra weight on the driving wheels is much better traction. In fact, the advantage of this extra traction is that we are not as likely to get stuck in snow.

A word of caution, though from the Traffic Safety Committee. Although the front-drive may have better traction and an accelerator faster on a slippery surface, it won't brake any better than the rear-drive type of vehicle.

Should you lose traction, no matter what kind of car you are driving, follow this rule of thumb. Stop doing whatever it is you've been doing. If pumping the accelerator, take your foot off.

If you foot is clamped on the brake, take it off and then begin pumping the brakes. You must try to regain directional stability by turning the steering wheel in the direction of the skid.

Some front-drive owners have found that they can pull their car out of a skid by giving it some gas. This works because the front wheels actually pull the car forward and the rear of the car simply falls in line.

Note: this tactic can be used if the front wheels have lost traction, because stomping on the gas will only make matters worse. Furthermore, it takes a lot of skill...and certainly some guts...to punch the gas pedal when your car is already skidding.

The best advice for driving a front-wheel drive car on slippery roads is the same

Inspecting Canada's Meat Industry

Canada's meat industry has a well-deserved reputation for producing high-quality meats, thanks in part to the federal meat inspection team at work in slaughtering and processing plants across the country.

Agriculture Canada employs about 300 veterinarians and 1,800 primary product inspectors to ensure the clean, safe, wholesome quality of Canadian meat.

These federal inspectors examine 90 per cent of the beef, pork and poultry Canada eats.

Midgets Lose Over Weekend

The local midget club travelled to Sturgeon on Friday night to take on the Car Midgets.

The first period was by far the poorest hockey played by the Vikings by far this season. Usually, one or two players will have a bid shift, but this was not the case. The whole team had a lapse which lasted the whole period. Within the first two minutes, Car scored two goals. By the end of the period, they had added five more.

The Viking team just couldn't get any type of control during the period and as a result, Car went off the ice with a 7-0 lead.

During the intermission the boys regrouped, they sat down and realized the task before them. The second period saw them come out skating and checking. This style of play resulted in the boys scoring twice while the Car team was held to only one goal.

Ian Erickson and Murray Josephson scored for Viking. Murray Josephson, Ian Erickson and Graham White drew assists.

In the third period, the boys continued to earn the play scoring three times, but by this time it was too late. Car's marvelous talent prevailed. For Viking it was Bill Hanson, Eugene Mahow and Danny Artyshuk scored. Bill Hanson also picked up two assists while Eugene Minaker and Danny Artyshuk drew singles.

When the final buzzer sounded, the boys were handed their fourth defeat of the season. This one by a score of 10 - 5.

Hopefully the boys realize that they have to be "up" for all three periods; they gave you play. They'll be out to the last, and they visit Hardisty and Car again this coming weekend.

Uniform Holds Annual Convention

In his annual report to Uniform Commission delegates in Edmonton last week, President Howard Falkenberg expressed concern that input costs are still increasing at a faster rate than returns for farm products. Great care will be required in dealing with the problem, he said, or agricultural producers may eventually find themselves in extreme difficulty.

He also cited the energy conflict as holding the possibility of volatile effects on input costs and the standard of living of agricultural producers. Other countries are also wrestling with similar input concerns and he said there is need for international co-operation to solve one of the persistent problems of agriculture worldwide.

Looking to the months ahead, Mr. Falkenberg said that world supplies of grain are lower than normal, making prospects good for returns from present supplies. The limited supply of higher priced grain will also have an effect on livestock production in some countries, which should indicate steady prices for livestock and meat products. Sugar, which is also a major trading commodity, is enjoying strong markets and satisfactory returns at present.

Based on the present situation, Mr. Falkenberg said he anticipates an optimistic approach to meeting the needs of farmers.

The Uniform president said that while attending the annual meeting of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers in Buenos Aires in November, he observed many varying views on the influence of co-operatives and multi-national companies in the development and marketing of agricultural products.

Very different conditions and lower standards of living on the small farms in developing countries make it easy for world wide producers to obtain agricultural products at a lower cost than from developed countries, and still provide returns to producers in the emerging areas that are higher than what they might obtain from their smaller co-ops.

Although much help has already been provided, Mr. Falkenberg said the situation clearly shows the need for countries with strong co-operatives to extend even greater assistance to developing countries in both finance and expertise.

The accelerated activity in energy production and the increased value of agricultural land has again focused attention on the subject of surface rights and right-of-way concerns, the Uniform president observed. While the need for a change to annual rentals for surface rights has been advocated on a number of occasions, Mr. Falkenberg said a clear consensus on the formula for satisfactory settlements has not yet been reached and should be given consideration by the convention.

The subject of transportation was introduced by the Uniform president who noted that last year's convention passed new policy which was agreed to in principle by the Western Agricultural Conference and the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

The process has experienced some confusion and the Alberta Cattle Commission has declared that it can no longer support the policy because the action dealing with feed grain pricing is unacceptable.

Mr. Falkenberg said the federal government has not yet clearly stated what it is prepared to do to support and implement and has asked if a compromise could not be reached on two recommendations it has received regarding methods of paying the Crow rate subsidy.

He said that he has no assurance that a compromise could be found between a proposal to pay directly to the railways and the other that would be paid to producers on an acreage basis. Nor, he said, is there any assurance that a compromise could be found between a proposal to pay directly to the railways and the other that would be paid to producers on an acreage basis.

Therefore, he said, Uniform is continuing its lobby asking for the government's view on what it considers a practical solution, followed by an opportunity for farm organizations to respond.

Viking Mites Undefeated In League Play

The Viking Mites are still undefeated in league play with four games remaining on the schedule. The team has the misfortune to lose two players due to injuries sustained outside of hockey.

On Saturday, January 10, the team travelled to Alderson defeating them 4-0. Our goals were scored by Cory Witschuk, Mark Rasmussen and Todd Ritchie with two. Unfortunately no assists were given, for they mean just so much if not more in the making of a goal. It sure makes the kids appreciate our own Carrea after travelling to towns that are less fortunate hockey wise.

The following Saturday we were off to Peace River to hand them a defeat of 8-0. Goal scorers were Tommy Marvick and Jason Clouston each with a hat trick and Cory Witschuk with two.

Jason Clouston and Tommy Marvick followed with two each. Picking up assists were Cory Witschuk with 3, Jason Clouston with 2 and singles going to Robin Nassar. It was nothing but a wish to wish that the team skating hard. When the final whistle sounded, the Vikings had secured their third league victory defeating Sedgewick 7-0. Robin Nassar and Cory Witschuk picked up two goals each. Colin Babbitt took in a single and assisted on three. Jason Clouston and Todd Ritchie picked up singles with Tommy Marvick getting three assists.

It sure is great to see our group playing good positional hockey with plenty of passing. After all hockey is a team sport. Once again the Viking club would like to thank the parents and game officials for their help and backing up the hard work of their team makes our season so enjoyable. Knapsholm and Brent Erickson. Both boys have stepped onto the ice and with quick action shut out the opponents so well.

The Blue team consists of the following players: Derek Anderson, Robert Gustafson, Rodney Gustafson, Rodney Hild, Chris Humphrey, David McGinnis, Lawrence Newby, Kish Rasmussen, Conway Rasmussen, B. Quastion and Jason Vogel. The coaches for the Blue Team are Gordon Roddick (386-3541) and Dunc Will (386-3411).

It is hoped that by splitting the team in this manner, each player will receive more individual attention during practices and more ice time during games.

Decision Made To Relocate Centennial Park

Following the regular meeting of the Centennial Park Board on Wednesday, February 4th, a special meeting was called for the following night.

One of the major issues which concerned Council in this time was the situation surrounding the relocation of Centennial Park. Attendance at the meeting was two representatives of the Viding Recreation Board, Dr. Rasmussen and Dr. Brian Nordstrom. Also in attendance was Boyd Oberholzer, Municipal Planning Consultant.

On the request of Mayor Hushon, Boyd Oberholzer outlined a number of positive aspects regarding the possibility of locating the Centennial Park project. He stated that it was hard to find land of suitable size and character within the new recreation area on which to build a new ball diamond. The new recreation area as established by the Town Planning Committee during 1970 takes in the area now occupied by the two ball diamonds.

The existing baseball diamond was erected as a Centennial project. The existing baseball and golf courses were erected with permanence in mind and will therefore be very difficult to relocate. In addition, relocating the project would be quite a costly venture.

Councillor Bird noted that the manner in which the Centennial Park and washroom facility were constructed would not allow for relocation and would therefore have to be demolished resulting in a complete loss.

Brian Nordstrom of the Recreation Board expressed concern about the intangible effect of free labor and the number of volunteers who would have to leave the original project - Centennial Park.

Boyd Oberholzer presented with a summary of the positive aspects to relocation.

Move To New Hospital Delayed

The transfer of ownership of the new Viding Hospital has been delayed due to construction deficiencies. The transfer from the general contractor, Bergman Construction, to the Viding Hospital Board will signal the start of the move from the old facility to the new hospital.

Red Krips, Hospital Administrator, said that the final inspection has taken place, but that there are deficiencies in all of the trades. These deficiencies include the electrical, the mechanical and the architectural divisions within the construction of the facility.

Mr. Krips said that these deficiencies, which were determined by the architectural firm responsible for the project, are being rectified at the present time. He said that because of this, a final date for the takeover of the hospital by the Viding Board has not been established. He said that as soon as the Hospital receives 90% completion known as substantial completion, the ownership will be transferred and the move will begin.

Mr. Krips felt that this stage of completion could be reached within the next 8 weeks to 3 months. Because of this, the move is being delayed for an official opening of the facility in the spring.

In the hope of recovering a bit of the past, the Hospital Board will be inviting the Premier and the Hospital Board to provide the new recreation area on which to build a new ball diamond.

Decision Made To Relocate Centennial Park

The relocation, if carried out, would open up a fair amount of land for residential use, approximately 7.6 acres, which would provide lots for 30-40 single family dwellings. The remaining sale of these lots would produce considerable revenue, a portion of which could then be designated for development of the recreation area.

It was also pointed out that the new recreation area is situated on reclaimed land which can not be used for housing and therefore an ideal site, financially, for the construction of recreational areas. In the discussion which followed, members of Town Council and members of the Board agreed that the relocation of Centennial Park was the best course of action and would be mutually beneficial over a period of time.

Councillor Bird expressed concern about the possibility that the residents of Viding may reject the decision to relocate Centennial Park. Discussion on this concern revealed that a petition signed by 10% of the ratepayers showing their desire to adhere to the original by-law which created Centennial Park would make the Board reluctant to move the site.

The immediate concern of the Recreation Board was to provide adequate baseball diamonds for the upcoming season, which was expressed by Councillor Riddle. Mayor Hushon advised that the existing diamond at Centennial Park could be used for the 1981 season as it would not interfere with plans one of the residential subdivisions at the Centennial Park.

Mr. Carrington informed Council that the possibility of their receiving a grant for construction of the project exists. He said that the

The society is a registered charity which was formed to acquire land for the construction of a Child Development Centre. The society is a registered charity which was formed to acquire land for the construction of a Child Development Centre.

At a special meeting of the Viding Town Council held last Thursday, support for the establishment of a Child Development Centre was expressed. The decision by Council followed a presentation by the Child Development Society (C.D.S.) at the regular Council meeting on the previous evening. Evelyn Carrington, President of the C.D.S., was present to discuss the economic viability of the proposed Centre and questions concerning the possible supply of land for the Centre.

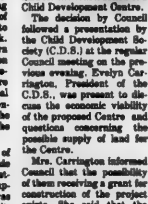

Concern was expressed about the possibility of the Society having to sell the land in the future if the Centre is not a viable operation. Council decided that if the land is given to the Society, the Town would retain the right to determine the use of the facility at all times. Councillor Stephenson expressed concern that the project may fall back to the Society in a period of time when the present enthusiastic members of the Society are no longer involved in the operation.

Mayor Hushon felt that the Society would be able to meet its financial commitments, and would therefore be an ongoing service in the community. He said that by retaining a vote in the land, the Town would have a measure of control in any future sale.

A number of ideas for the Centre were discussed, including immediately south of the present Currier Road and on the new recreation area near Centennial Park.

According to Mayor Hushon, Council decided to send a letter of support with the Society's grant application indicating that the Town will supply the Society with serviced land for the construction of a Child Development Centre. The exact place of land will be determined if the Society receives its grant, or if a financial institution requires title to the land for collateral. If the Society is forced to borrow the necessary capital funds,

A Look Back

From time to time, we present the "Looking Back" feature in this newspaper. Recently, we have been running a series from the original paper which served this area, the Viking Gazette, which appeared on the scene in 1910 and lasted until January of 1912. Although short lived, it set the stage for the establishment of the Viking News, the second newspaper to be located in Viking to serve this area. The Viking News lasted for about 66 years, from 1913 to July of 1979. During the period from February of 1979 until July of 1979, the area was served by two newspapers with the inception of The Weekly Review. Since 1979, The Weekly Review has been the only newspaper published in Viking.

This brief look back at the various newspapers which served this area from Viking is the recognition of the third birthday of The Weekly Review. On February 14 of 1978 the first edition of The Weekly Review hit the streets. And the headline story in that issue was the announcement by the Hospital Minister at that time, Gordon Miniey, that the Viking Hospital District was to get a new hospital to replace the one originally constructed nearly 60 years previous.

One of the stories on this week's front page concerns the delay in the opening of the facility which Mr. Miniey announced in February of 1978. These delays are being caused by construction deficiencies and the architect and Hospital Board are taking care not to accept the facility until it is brought up to a satisfactory standard of completion. During the past three years in particular, the members of the Viking District Hospital Board have put in endless hours of hard work, and faced many frustrating situations in order to provide the area with a quality facility. Their labors in this regard are about to be culminated in a move to the new facility, which should come within the next two months.

And yet these people are not unlike many others who have preceded them, and are their contemporaries, and will follow them. In order to run a society, we need people who are willing to strive to make dreams into realities. In 1910, Mr. F.L. Phillips had a dream of starting a newspaper in Viking. He realized that his dream but saw it up in smoke about a year and a half later. However, he had set the groundwork for a newspaper to be established in this area, a tradition which is being carried on to this day. As well, the people who originally worked on providing the area with a hospital had a dream, and saw it become a reality, a reality which in a couple of months will take on a new, modern form.

Whether it be an individual striving to start and sustain a business, a group working toward the betterment of their community, or a community, province or country working to realize a better situation for everyone, this is the "stuff" on which a society exists. The making of dreams into realities today provides a "Looking Back" for tomorrow. And yet, this is the purpose of it all.

any construction of new development would be a permanent improvement and require further changes or moves in the future to expand development of the site.

Some members felt that the plan as designed by Frankl and Co. was definitely not suitable, considering the needs of the community and the natural contour of the land. Enormous amounts of fill are required if the original plan is to be implemented. It was suggested that the Recreation Board consider the possibilities of developing part of the site in a manner which would incorporate the lower areas as they are rather than incur the expense of landfill operations.

Do You Know The Bible Says

By Mrs. W. Myers

And it came to pass, as they still sat, that he said, I have appeared a chariot of fire and horses of fire and perished them both; and as Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven. 11 Kings 2:11. Elijah was a vessel of God whose origin is only slightly known of but God had a purpose for each vessel to accomplish His will for Israel and to prove to Israel that He was the true God.

He was protected from the wicked queen Jezebel after he prophesied the day years and for perished coming upon the country. God empowered and protected him as he appeared before the king to deliver him to deliver.

After he proved to his God was the true God, he again had to face for his life and was sustained by God for 40 years before God took him to heaven. His disappearance to heaven was doubted by many.

This same thing is going to happen when Jesus appears in the clouds to take out the true redeemed children of God. Those who are left alive will wonder where they are, and will be phoning around and searching for him to find them. 11 Kings 2:16, 17 tells of how 80 strong men were sent out to search for Elijah, against Gilead's wishes; but didn't find him.

It is a sobering thought when those who were not ready to go with those who were ready will realize what was really taken place. Not only that they were left behind, but how very much they will miss the missing ones and the drastic changes that will take place in the world's economy, plus the perils time which will come upon them.

Also the unusual phenomena that will take place, such as earthquakes and other supernatural actions such as the book of Revelation tells about. People will have a choice to make. List of accepting the anti-christ, and taking the mark of the beast (666) and going into a lost eternity or accept Christ and refuse the mark of the beast, and spend eternity with God.

Friend, Jesus says, Come unto Me, accept Me and I will give you eternal life. By doing this you will escape those who will be worse than the world can offer. To know Christ will be when financial responsibility is to give a child an allowance with some guidance.

The allowance is defined as a regular weekly amount of money provided to each

Children's Allowance

A major part of responsible parenting is teaching children how to deal with the market place. In today's complicated market place, the sooner children learn about financial responsibility, the better prepared they will be when they make decisions on their own. One way to teach financial responsibility is to give a child an allowance with some guidance.

The allowance is defined as a regular weekly amount of money provided to each child on their share of the family income. Family decisions should establish an amount that is appropriate for each child; the kinds of things which must be bought with the allowance; and which chores are expected.

Basic Guidelines
An allowance must be given to children as soon as they recognize the basic Canadian costs. This is usually about the age of 8 or 9.

As your children begin to earn their own income by babysitting, or mowing lawns, or delivering newspapers, new financial decisions will have to be made about the allowance.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW

Proposed Changes To Surface Rights Legislation

Alberta Power Ltd. has recommended significant changes to Alberta's surface rights legislation. If implemented, the revisions would increase and better define the rights of individual land owners affected by major resource developments. They would also streamline the arbitration process when negotiations for land access or easements reach an impasse.

In a submission to the provincial Legislature's Surface Rights Committee on Surface Rights today, Alberta's major electric utility said any changes to the existing surface rights legislation should encourage a fair balancing of the land owner interests with those of electric power consumers in the province. Land assembly related to the supply of electricity in Alberta are made here by the consumer in his monthly bill. J.A. Clow, Director of Technical Services, said land owners could today have hardships in a developed surface coal mining area. If use of their lands occurs during the latter development spanning 20 or 30 years.

"Existing legislation does not permit third party resolution if a land owner is dissatisfied with negotiations to sell early, or if he cannot convince the resource developer to acquire land so far ahead of actual need," said Mr. Clow.

"It is our belief legislation should be changed to allow the land owner to initiate expropriation of his lands at a time convenient to his own schedule. Currently, expropriating the right to use lands in a designated surface mining area is under the Surface Rights Act. Land acquisition related to those kinds of projects should be placed under the Expropriation Act."

It could be further improved by amendments to allow and encourage initiated expropriation of all holdings even if only a portion of the land is involved with the resource development project. This would ensure the land owner is not left with an uneconomic farming unit," said Mr. Clow.

The current Surface Rights Act is intended to address operations which can co-exist with farming activities. Surface mining and major electrical developments make full use of the land. The owners should therefore be fully compensated for the loss of such lands in a way that would enable them to make first plans for the future. Current legislation does not provide the land owner that option," said Mr. Clow.

In its submission, Alberta Power has also recommended that the establishment of power line rights-of-way that recognize environmental and social considerations based on the lowest total cost to the citizens of Alberta as consumers, with fair compensation to the land owner.

The establishment of uniform guidelines for awards of the Surface Rights Board. These guidelines should exclude offers and demands during the negotiation process which would create a better negotiating climate and help reduce the workload of the Surface Rights Board.

To make availability of all evidence to each party as a mandatory condition prior to a hearing. This would also encourage full negotiation and help reduce the workload of the Surface Rights Board.

North Africa and the Middle East. The United States is Canada's main competitor in international markets, and although Canadian prices tend to run at a discount to U.S. prices, the latter's prices remain the main market indicator.
Encouraged by attractive prices and favorable growth response, the Alberta Wheat Pool Board plans to increase its marketing for dry beans to 8,000 acres last year from 7,000 acres in 1979. This acreage was made up of pinto, pink, red, great northern and navy beans. The average yield of all the types was 1,300 pounds and producer prices averaged around $1 cents per pound. However, both yields and prices can vary considerably among the various types.
Current prices and future prospects suggest that Alberta's dry bean average will increase significantly again this year and prices are expected to rival them expected last year's crop. Two additional companies are considering a capital investment in bean plants in Alberta. Its acreage increased to 15,000 acres in 1980 compared with only 9,000 acres the year before. Two factors that have contributed to its rapid rise in popularity are its drought resistance and its consistent yields compared with other grains in dry land areas of the southern part of the province. Another factor is that contract offerings have been increasing as companies attempt to build a sufficient surplus to meet feed and milling requirements. There is also a lot of interest in the use of triticale for high yielding silage.

Triticale has been trading on the open feed market at between $175 and $185 per tonne. However, the contract price for milling purposes has been only $100 per tonne. First efforts are being made to penetrate this market. Prospects for the far future expansion of triticale in Alberta will hinge on the solidification of the crops position in the market, both for open market feed and for silage. Last year's yield averaged 38 tonnes per acre on dry land and as high as 1.7 tonnes per acre irrigated land.

Camrose Warriors against the neighboring Irma team. This rather high scoring game favored Irma as they took a 4-1 lead at the end of the first period. However, the second period found local Camroses closing the gap and left the ice with Irma only ahead by a single goal with the score at 4-4. Irma once again took command and ended the game at 11-5 which secured their position in the "A" Division final against Viking.

The "B" Division final between Camrose Kilmartin and Irma at centre ice. Camrose scored the only goal of the first period, which came at approximately the 10:00 mark. In the second period, Camrose scored two more goals while holding Kilmartin to their first of the game. The Camrose Warriors had the upper hand in the third and scored three additional goals before the Kilmartin netters could respond and equalized the ice with a 6-3 victory and the "B" Division trophy.

Presenting the trophy to team captain Brad Drider was Joe Veltner who thanked the team for participating and congratulated the winning team.

The following game, the "A" Final found the long time rivals Viking and Irma on the ice. The game proved to be a real ice "banger" with both teams having lots to cheer about. Viking however had the upper hand as gathering of younger minor hockey members waved banners and cheered enthusiastically and loudly.

With the game barely underway, Irma scored a quick goal and scored a second before Viking decided to get in on the scoring. Irma's first two goals were headed by D. Fischer. Viking's first goal was headed by Clayton Rausser on an assist from Clouston. A close goal off the stick of Wincenza tied the first period score at 3-3. Anton and Keith assisted on the tying goal.

Both teams worked hard but the score in the second period was even, 3-3.

However a goal by Clouston for Irma completed the scoring at 4-4 for Viking.

Following the game John Anton, on behalf of the President of Minor Hockey presented the "A" Division trophy to Rick Thackery, Captain of the Viking Bantams. He thanked all those who had helped to make the tournament a success, and thanked the Irma, Kilmartin and Camrose teams for offering good competition throughout the tournament.

The team members would like to thank the coaches, managers and players for participating, and especially their coach and manager, the parents for their support and the volunteers who worked in the concession and at the gate.

The Viking Bantams will commence provincial play-off action at the Centre on Saturday, February 14th with a game against Elk Point at 5:30. If they not come out and give the team your support!

Viking Pee Wees Begin Provincial Play-offs

This Thursday night, February 12th, the Viking Pee Wee team will meet with Fort Saskatchewan for their first game in Provincial Play-offs. Game time is 6:00. Be on hand to support the local boys. For many of them, it will be their first taste of provincial competition.

The Pee Wees continue to keep a busy schedule and have averaged two games a week in the Little River League. Since last reporting two games have been played; one against Kildare who outscored the Viking boys 13-1. On Sunday, February 1, the team travelled to Camrose for an evenly matched game which ended in a 7-7 tie.

Scoring for Viking were Trevor Ritchie, Dean Hebert and Jason Plam with two goals each and Cory Sternmarchsky with one. Assistants went to Hebert with 3 and Plam with 5.

In the Highway #14 League, the Viking boys highlighted came when they tied the Irma team 5-5. Handling the goals for Viking were Steven Winter, Cory Clouston and Trevor Ritchie with double and Jason Plam, Steven Winter and Cory Clouston with single. Assisting on the goals were Jason Plam, Trevor Ritchie and Steven Winter with two each. This league is now complete and Viking will meet the Wainwright Steelers in the first round of play-off.

We also worked in two exhibition games against the neighbouring Holden team. Viking travelled to Holden during the last week of January and brought home a 12-4 win. Netting Viking goals were Steven Winter, Jason Plam, Dean March and Trevor Ritchie with two each and Hebert, Clouston and Sternmarchsky with single. Assistants went to Plam, Clouston and Ritchie.

On Saturday, February 7, Holden travelled to Viking and turned the tables with this game ending in a score of 13-9 in Holden's favor. Clouston and Aston topped the scoring with three goals each. Ken Ziemke and regularly goals: Viking's net, played up for the opening period and scored a single. Plam and Hebert scored one goal each. Assistants went to Clouston, Taylor and Steven Winter.

Remember Play-offs get underway this Thursday at 6:00 at the Viking Arena.

Midgets Win One - Tie One

The past weekend was fairly successful as the Midget club picked up three points out of a possible four. On Friday night they travelled to Hardisty for what turned out to be possibly their best game of the season. Both teams skated and checked very well. The first period had Viking score when Murray Josephson put the puck in, coming from behind the net. Ian Erickson and Richard Laford drew assists.

Hardisty tied the score up when they scored on the powerplay, ending the period in a 1-1 tie. Both teams had good scoring opportunities in the second period but the two goalkeepers made many very good saves, keeping the game at 1-1.

Viking finally got the go ahead goal in the third period when Ian Erickson scored on a set-up from Murray Josephson. Ian Erickson applied pressure on the point, giving the Viking club a 4-1 lead. But, then, the club became stricken with the penalty plague, spending 15 minutes out of the 20 minute period in the penalty box. A few calls were of the questionable variety, but the rest were completely of the on-the-ice variety. This short-handed playing permitted Car to score three times and when the final buzzer sounded, the game ended in a 4-1 tie.

Hopefully, the boys learned another lesson that you can't spend most of the period in the "sin bin" and expect to win a game against good opposition.

Once again the team and management would like to thank everyone for their support and they hope it continues in the play-offs.

The second period had the Viking boys score twice, making some key saves, kept Car scoreless. Ian Erickson and Cory Quinick scored for Viking. Murray Josephson drew a pair of assists while Richard Laford had a single.

In the third period it looked like the boys had the game in hand when Graham Wilkie scored on a shot from the point, giving the Viking club a 4-1 lead. But, then, the club became stricken with the penalty plague, spending 15 minutes out of the 20 minute period in the penalty box. A few calls were of the questionable variety, but the rest were completely of the on-the-ice variety. This short-handed playing permitted Car to score three times and when the final buzzer sounded, the game ended in a 4-1 tie.

Hopefully, the boys learned another lesson that you can't spend most of the period in the "sin bin" and expect to win a game against good opposition.

Once again the team and management would like to thank everyone for their support and they hope it continues in the play-offs.

The Viking boys came out keyed up for the game but still Car got that first goal. However, the boys came right back when Richard Laford scored with Eugene Makow assisting.

Palliser Requests Crow Task Force

Commodity Coalition spokesman, Irene McMillan, called on the Federal government to act quickly in setting up a Task Force on Crow.

McMillan said the time is overdue for action because the economic development of Western Canada is dependent on an efficient transportation system. He noted that there is no increasing consensus on the kind of Crow Reform that is required.

The Western Agricultural Conference, at its recent Regina Convention, called for a government commitment to pick up the railway's shovels and to grade the roads and it also indicated it's position is flexible enough to recognize that with inflation so severe, farmers themselves will have to consider paying at least some of these costs.

McMillan said the Commodity Coalition shares these views. In fact, he said, CO shares the WAC concern that the time is overdue for the Federal government to act and that setting up a Task Force would be a practical first step.

"Believe It Or Not"

Our new hospital is becoming a reality. The Hospital Board and the Auxiliary are making plans for the official opening some time in early spring.

Prior to moving patients to the new structure, we will arrange a tour for the entire school. This tour has been tentatively set for the week of March 5, 1981.

A committee has been set up, representing, we hope, the people who receive child care in Viking. In order to be viable, we will require people to guide visitors through the hospital, provide and serve refreshments, and act as chaperones for our concession, and generally help in many varied fashions.

We urge you to telephone the following to offer your services and suggestions: Mrs. Jack Pedersen - Elmville 336-2687, Mrs. Kaye Roddick - Viking 336-2642, Mrs. Georgia Mowbray - Viking 336-2154, Mrs. Pamela Erickson - Bruce 686-2281 or Mrs. Orri Darling - Irma 734-0887. Specific dates will be announced for the various functions in the near future.

County Teachers Hold P.D. Day

A joint Professional Development Day, sponsored by the County of Beaver and the Beaver Local of the Alberta Teachers' Association, was held last Friday in Viking. Teachers and support staff from across the County were involved in the day's activities.

The sessions began at 9:00 a.m. with an address by Evangelina Walker, a Psychologist who deals with helping children who have been sexually abused or assaulted. The Psychologist discussed some of the basic features of families in which sexual abuse occurs, she noted that one of the key factors was poor communication skills among members of the families.

After discussing the major characteristics of these families, Mrs. Walker discussed three examples of the types of experiences with which she has to deal. She said that incidents of sexual abuse are becoming more prevalent, and that the family is usually the basis for such problems.

Following this general session, the teachers split into groups to attend one of four sessions. These sessions included Outdoor Education, Problem Solving in Mathematics, Discipline in the Classroom, and Drama-Music.

At the lunch in the Viking Community Hall, words of welcome were expressed by Mary Hallett, P.D. Chairperson. Herdina Armbrage, Chairman of the Board of Education of the County of Beaver, Fred Reinhold, Superintendent of Schools for the County, and Bob Garneau, President of the Beaver Local of the A.T.A.

Following lunch, the teachers selected from among three sessions for the afternoon. These sessions included Art in the Classroom,

First Aid, and Reading Comprehension. These sessions all ran for the entire afternoon.

Members of the P.D. Committee who worked to provide the day were Mary Hallett, P.D. Chairperson, Herdina Armbrage, Chairman of the Board of Education of the County of Beaver, Fred Reinhold, Superintendent of Schools for the County, and Bob Garneau, President of the Beaver Local of the A.T.A.

During the day, both the County Office staff, as well as the support staff from each school attended sessions dealing with various aspects of their job within the school system.

Viking Travel Club Trip Approved

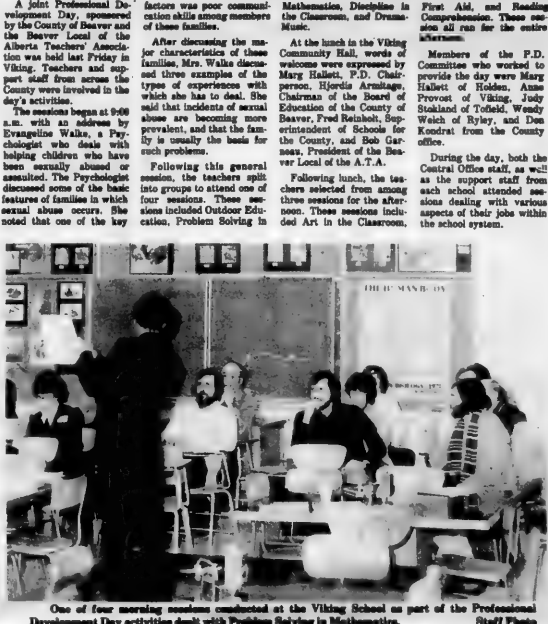

The Board of Education of the County of Beaver has approved a two week trip to Europe for a number of Viking School students. The approval came at the Board meeting of February 11th.

Nineteen students from grades 10, 11 and 12 are scheduled to leave for Europe on April 18th. The students will be travelling during the Easter holidays plus five school days. The trip will include stops in Great Britain, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Austria, Liechtenstein, Italy, Switzerland and France.

Accompanying the students on their trip will be Mrs. Mary Hanson, Mr. Dale Stevens, Miss Deborah Taylor and Mr. Doug Lamarche. Other advisers helping with the trip include Mr. Dennis Watson, Mr. Earl Knudsen, and Mr. Fred Nordstrom. In preparation for the trip, a series of films of the countries to be visited are being shown to the students on a Monday afternoon. As well, the students are preparing reports of the areas to be visited and will be reporting to the group prior to their departure.

Each individual going on the trip is responsible for the funding of their trip. As well, the Travel Club has scheduled a number of fund-raising projects in an attempt to aid individual members with the expense.

These activities include an auction sale on March 7th in the Viking Legion Hall along with a bake sale, a hockey game between the Viking Gas Kings and the Edmonton Eskimos on Sunday, March 8th, a bottle drive on March 14th, and food sales at the School. Plans are also underway to hold a raffle. The group will leave from Calgary on April 18th and return home on Saturday, May 2nd.

One of four morning meals was consumed at the Viking School as part of the Professional Development Day activities dealt with Problem Solving in Mathematics. Staff Photo

Vantage Builders Sets Canadian Record

On February 11, 1981, at the 1980 year and Butler Agri-Builders Convention, it was announced that Vantage Builders Ltd., of Vegreville, were the first Butler Agri-Builders in all of Canada to reach the 3 million dollar sales of Butler buildings.

Mr. Phil Brown, Vice-President of Butler International from Kansas City, presented an award to Jim Davis and Hugh Zepke, owners of Vantage Builders. He noted that Mr. Davis and Mr. Zepke have only been in business since 1978 but that their company has received top sales awards for Butler Agri-Buildings in 1977-1978 and 1979 and have now broken the 3 million dollar mark.

This is quite an impressive record when you remember that there are over 200 Butler Agri-Dealers in Canada.

President of Vantage Builders, Jim Davis (son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Davis of Viking) stated that he is grateful to all the customers in his home town district for the continued support they have given him over the past years. He said that supply and service of Butler buildings will continue to improve now that the Butler Manufacturing Plant at Nisku, Alberta has been expanded and upgraded.

Good Turnout For Greaser Skate-a-thon

Friday, February 13 found approximately 90 people skating in the Viking Figure Skating - "Greaser" Skate-a-thon. With the appropriate music playing and the skaters in greaser costumes the mood was set for the day.

It was very difficult for the judges to decide on the winners for the best costume as most of the skaters were well dressed.

In the afternoon the four best dressed youngsters who were staged out for cash prizes were Junior skaters Lori McArthur and Brett Sternachewsky, Intermediate skaters Cory Winter and Lori Servell.

In the evening the judges decided in favor of Jason Place and Barbie Fowler as best dressed senior skaters with Duncan and Elsie Will and family receiving a cash prize for participating as a family.

There were also prizes given to the people receiving the most pledges. The first place winner was Dwight McKenzie who was sponsored for $60.00 with second and third place winners being Ash with $61.25 and Donny Lawes for $60.00. We would like to thank all the children for their enthusiasm and fun conduct and for working so hard to collect pledges. Thanks also to Merle (McLaren) Jackson and Denise Watson for supplying the sound music, to all the parents who came out to help supervise and to everyone who pledged money to make the skate-a-thon a success.

From The Ground Up

District Agriculturists
Bill Brass & Jerome Manchur

It seems that most house plant problems encountered during the winter are the result of unfavorable growing conditions.

According to Dr. Ronald Howard, plant pathologist at the Alberta Horticulture Research Centre in Brooks, low humidity, over or under watering, fertilizer and salt imbalances and insufficient light are the most common environmental conditions that damage house plants.

African violets, begonias, ferns and plants that have just come from a cool, moist greenhouse or florist shop are particularly vulnerable to low humidity. The low humidity in many homes can cause spotted or scorched leaves.

Dr. Howard says the humidity around potted plants can be increased by notting the pots on a brick or an inverted saucer in a large pan of water or by putting them in a planter containing moist sphagnum moss, sand vermiculite or perlite. A furnace or room humidifier may also help.

Over and Under Watering
Improper watering is usually responsible for the lower leaves on a house plant turning yellow. However, a fertilizer imbalance, excess salts and infection root diseases can also cause this condition. Dr. Howard recommends checking the drainage hole in the pot to see if it is blocked or if the plant is standing in water.

An excess of water causes oxygen starvation and contributes to root rot. Solutions For House Plant Problems
If excess water is not the problem, inspect the roots by tapping the root ball from the pot. If the roots and the soil appear to be in good condition, then some fertilizer may be all the plant requires. However, if the roots look as if they are rotting, a disease is probably present.

The best way to deal with a root disease is to cut off the roots that are discolored and to remove as much of the soil as possible without damaging the remaining roots. Then dip the root ball into a fungicide solution and repot the plant in sterilized soil.

If the soil and roots are healthy and dry, the problem is underwatering. In this case, set the pot in a shallow pan of water to let the root ball to rehydrate itself with water and then remove the plant. The plant should be watered more frequently in the future.

A good way to water most plants is to give them enough water to thoroughly wet the root ball and run out of the drainage hole. The water that runs out of the drainage hole will help flush out any accumulated salts. Let the top one to two cm. of soil dry out before rewatering the plant.

Fertilizer and Salt Imbalances
As a general rule, house plants need to be fertilized only once every one to two months. If you prefer to fertilize with each watering, Dr. Howard recommends cutting the fertilizer rate used accordingly. He also recommends using a fertilizer that contains nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium and trace elements.

An excessive use of fertilizer or of water containing a high concentration of salts may cause the leaves of house plants to turn yellow or to burn around their edges. The best way to correct this situation is to repot the plant in fresh soil and to occasionally flush the soil out with soft free water. The problem can be avoided by careful fertilization and

Kinsella Rec. Board To Hold Annual Meeting

The Kinsella Culture and Recreation Board held its January and February meetings in the School Library the first Wednesday of each month.

A five year master plan was drawn up to present to the County Board as per request. Suggestions for the five year plan included a bowling alley, boards for the skating rink, building improvement and roller skating facilities.

Mr. Kent Hendricks, regional recreation coordinator met with area residents on February 11, 1981 to discuss the grants available to the area.

Dining is once again underway on Saturday evenings at 8:00 p.m. in the gymnasium.
The Kinsella Men's Basketball team has again won the honour of going to the Alberta Winter Games. It will be held in Bonnyville this year. Good luck to the men.

The senior citizens are very active with crafts, card games and socials.

The annual meeting of the Recreation Board is scheduled for March 4, 1981 in the School Library. Several of the members now sitting on the Board have completed a three year term or more and new members will be needed.

Without new members our school cannot remain functional as a recreation centre. Please come out and voice your opinion if you would like to see the school remain open or have closed. It is also to hear what the residents feel as well as what facilities you would like available.

Profile: Constable Ron Makar

Ron Makar has become the most recent resident of this area to graduate from the R.C.M.P. Training Centre in Regina. His completion of the basic training course culminated on February 2nd of this year when graduation exercises for his troop were held.

Ron was born at the University of Alberta Hospital on January 9, 1960 to Joe and Ruth Makar of Wainwright. Ron lived in Wainwright for 1 1/2 years, at which time his parents took up residence on the family farm approximately 1/2 mile east of Kinross.

Ron lived on the farm with his parents and two younger sisters, Jewel and Lynn, until his acceptance into the R.C.M.P. training program last August. He attended the Kinross School until completion of grade 6, at which time he started attending school at Viking.

During his younger years in Viking, Ron played hockey up to the midget level.

His interest in hockey switched to refereeing instead of playing. Ron became an Alberta Amateur Hockey Official in 1976 and refereed in the area until last year. He hopes to be able to continue with his refereeing in the various locations to which he is posted.

As well, Ron played high school football while he was in school in Viking. He also took up the sport of fishing.

a passion which he enjoys to this day. Ron's first posting in the R.C.M.P. was to Carleton Place, Saskatchewan which is a 18 man Detachment in southwestern Saskatchewan.

Where the real treasure lies

One of the real treasures in any province lies in its people. Treasury Branches' personnel know that and strive to help each and every Albertan enjoy maximum financial opportunities.

Of course, we're a full-service financial institution. That's important. What's even more important is that you know what our services can mean for you and your family.

To put Treasury Branches to work for you, all you have to do is come into our nearest office, introduce yourself and talk things over. Whether it's a loan or savings matter, we'll show you a program that suits your needs, your situation. And that's a good way to save, right from the beginning. It's worth talking about.

When you come in, see Bill Deederly about a savings plan that suits your needs.

Irma's new curling rink is coming along in fine style. The concrete was laid Monday, February 16th and it looks like a swell job.

Electricians and crack fillers are busy and it appears as if it will soon be ready for painting. Much credit is due to the many people who have given their time so freely and so cheerfully.

When finished, the curling rink will be a credit to our community.

Get well wishes are extended to George Engrer who went into the hospital on Monday, February 23.

The Irma Provincial Bantam team defeated Invermay 7-3 Friday, February 20 and again on Sunday, February 22 to win the second round of their provincial play-off. Viking Mites Awarded Second Place Trophy At Mannville

Following last Friday's game at home, the Mites were up early next morning to be on ice in Mannville for a 3 game which was their first game in a three game, six game tournament.

Our first game we drew against Vermilion. Viking lost this game in stride and when the final buzzer sounded had won handily 7-3. The goal scoring was as follows: Tammy Maxwell and Colin Bablitz with 2, Cory Wiechink, Jason Clouston and Brad Hodgins with singles. The few assists that were given went to Jason Clouston, Vernon Erickson and Robin Nashund with one each. At 1:30 it was back on the ice for a game against Irma. Both clubs played good hockey with our goalies Brent Erickson and Robert Kamphuis pulling us through with a 7-0 victory.

Scoring in this game were Colin Bablitz, Jason Clouston with 2 goals each and a single going to Tammy Maxwell. Picking up assists were Brad Hodgins, Tammy Maxwell, Cory Wiechink, Colin Bablitz and Robin Nashund all with singles.

Cheering their second win, Viking then advanced to the finals at 8:00 against Mannville. The team really came out skating even though it was their fourth game in less than 24 hours.

The players all had their hearts in the game of hockey and with a great deal of work kept the score at 1-1 going into the third period.

However, in the third Mannville managed to pop in three unanswered goals and defeated Viking 4-1. Our single goal was scored by Cory Wiechink from Jason Clouston.

The refereeing was a little lopsided all day and really showed up in the final game. It makes it very hard for our coaches to teach the team good sportsmanship and respect for other teams when this occurs. Let's make sure it never happens on home ground. Regardless, the team can feel proud of themselves as they all played good hockey throughout the tournament and especially in the final game.

Again thanks to everyone for their help and support.

Each year the A.C.T. (Alberta Commercial Travelers) hold "Search For Talent" shows in various communities throughout Alberta. Money raised from these shows goes towards the handicapped of Alberta and with this being the International Year of Disabled Persons, no project could be more worthwhile. The A.C.T. has been conducting Talent Shows for thirty-four years now and thanks to the Viking Lions Club as sponsors, there will be a talent show held in Viking on Saturday evening, March 21, 1981 in the Viking Community Hall.

Anyone wishing to rehearse their performance please go to the rehearsal which will be at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday afternoon, the 21st. Contestants may enter the show by leaving their entry with Mrs. Ruth Hanson at the Viking and District Credit Union or by contacting her by telephone at 388-4944.

Winners of the Viking Search For Talent Show will have the opportunity to go on to one of the semi-final shows in the West.

Town Signs Water Reservoir Contract

The contract for the construction of the new Viking water reservoir was signed at the special Town Council meeting held last Thursday evening.

Don Chapko of Closs Engineering presented the contract which had been signed by Marshall Behrve Construction Ltd., low bidder for the project.

The contract is for a total of $698,402.50 for the necessary dirt work, fencing, grading, seeding and other items involved in the water reservoir project. Initial estimates call for a total of 410,000 cubic metres to be moved in conjunction with the job. The new reservoir will be located on property approximately 15 miles southwest of the Town. Construction of the reservoir is expected to start in early spring.

In other news, Council decided to have the Town develop the Laughlin Estate land for housing. The Town will be purchasing the land using funds in reserve, and will then go through debenture borrowing to fund the development project.

In conjunction with land development, Council also decided to pursue the possibility of acquiring a first option on the Roddick land, and then when purchase occurs, to let the Alberta Housing Corporation handle the development. Mayor Fueston informed Council that the Town can only go to debenture borrowing for land development if the Town owns the land. He said that Alberta Municipal Association informed him that a general rule is that municipalities are allowed a $2,000 per capita municipal debt ceiling.

Council is also considering the reconstruction of the elevator road along Highway 14. The poor condition of the base and the road causes serious problems any time that the area receives any significant rain.

Tied in with this project is Council's concern about the lack of a fire hydrant in the vicinity in case of a fire on the south side of the CN tracks. With the new water line being run just east of the elevator, Council felt that this was an opportune time to install a hydrant or hydrants near the elevator.

Don Chapko of Closs Engineering tabled estimates for construction of the road and water line along the elevator. The cost of a raised gravel road with water line is estimated at $185,000. The estimated cost of a paved road with curb and gutter, along with water line is estimated at $250,000. Continued on Page 2

Viking School Hosts County Science Fair

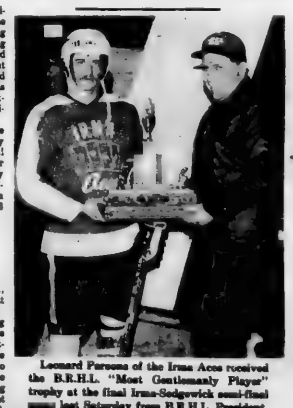

A total of 60 projects were entered in the County of Beaver Science Fair which was held in the Viking School gymnasium on Monday evening. Students from schools across the County had scored high in the School Science Fairs were entered in the County event. Judging of the exhibits took place between about 4:00 p.m. and 6:30 p.m., with various judges being responsible for specific categories. From 6:30 until 8:00 p.m. the exhibits were open for public viewing. At 8:00 p.m. the awards were presented to the winners.

In most of the categories, the judges had a difficult time in selecting the top projects. Hard work and study provided a number of very good projects, all on a near equal par with each other. As 8:00 p.m. approached, the judges were still trying to make those difficult last minute decisions in certain categories.

In Category A, individual or group projects in grades 10 to 12, Dean Simmonds and Blair Kosenow of Viking captured top honors for their project entitled "Genes and Their Physical Effects on Agricultural Plants". The team also won the award for Best Agricultural Project which was donated by Barry Second place honors went to Ken Pedersen of Ryley for his project entitled Food Life.

Category B, group projects in grades 7 to 9, was won by Cheryl Andrusch and Loreta Warkentin of Ryley for their project and titled "Transpiration". Dale Lutz and Russell Gledhill of Holden took second place honors with "Optical Waveguides".

Wing Replacement Possible At Holden

Studies have begun to determine the long-range school facilities needs in Holden. The study was initiated due to a decision by the Alberta Department of Education concerning the original wing of the school.

Fred Reinhold, Superintendent of Schools for the County of Beaver informed The Weekly Review that the Department has decided to fund the old wing of the Holden School as having reached its life expectancy. This figure is usually 30 years, and part of the wing was constructed about 36 years ago.

Mr. Reinhold said that the wing was built in three stages - one about 35 years ago, another about 30 years ago, and the last about 27 years ago. He said that the Board had requested that the entire wing be treated as being 36 years old, thus allowing for a study into the possibility of building a new wing.

The Board request followed a decision by the Board to look at modernizing the Holden wing. Upon looking at this possibility, the Board approached the Department which said that it would view the entire wing as having reached its life expectancy if the Board decided to rebuild.

Mr. Reinhold said that the Administration is presently studying the educational needs of the community for the future, and that they should have something concrete to base a decision on within the next 2 or 3 months.

The P.C. Leadership

Last week, the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada held a convention at which the membership was questioned as to whether or not they favored a leadership convention in the near future. The question posed to the delegates was sparked by concern and/or dissatisfaction on the part of a number of P.C. Members of Parliament, mainly from Ontario, and a number of non-elected members of the P.C. Party in general. Some of this concern and/or dissatisfaction stemmed from the defeat of the P.C. government in last February's general election in which the Liberals achieved a majority government, only about nine months after the P.C.'s had achieved a minority government. The lack of flexibility on the part of P.C. leader Joe Clark in dealing with a minority government situation definitely led to the defeat of the short-lived P.C. government. Many people within the Party blamed Mr. Clark directly for both the defeat in the House of Commons on the federal budget, and the defeat at the polls in February. At the least, the Party's defeat definitely led to the rumblings which culminated in the vote on the leadership question last week.

In May of 1979, Pierre Trudeau and the Liberals were ripe for the picking. Many, many Canadians were tired of the same "old" party in power for a period of some sixteen years. Politics had been played too often by the Liberals in their dealings with Canadians and many Canadians were tired of it. The classic example was Mr. Trudeau's rejection of wage and price controls in the mid 1970's, only to have him institute them across Canada once he had achieved power. The election of Joe Clark to the leadership of the P.C.'s was seen initially as a chance for a viable change in Canadian government. With Mr. Trudeau's popularity on the skids in his own party, as well as across Canada, the Liberals were in a position to be soundly beaten in the 1979 election. And yet they weren't.

Yes, the Conservatives did achieve a minority government, but the situation isn't ideal for the Conservatives winning a majority government. And they didn't. And one of the major reasons that they didn't is the leadership of Joe Clark. The P.C.'s make a media event. The days of the whistle-stopping trains chugging across Canada, the town hall meetings, and successful candidates forums which are attended by hundreds of people are gone. People across Canada today rely on the mass media, i.e. T.V., radio and newspapers, for the information on which they base their decisions as to which "product" they prefer. Politics today requires good packaging of a product, and/or a good product to package. The image which the candidates give to the voters is very important. But in today's world, the image which the party leader conveys to the public is even more important!

Since the 1960's, when a generation of young people protested against the stereotyping of people and expectations, North American societies have experienced a freedom of expression previously unheard of. We now have much more freedom to "do our own thing" than existed even 15 years ago. This situation can be healthy, but it also lends itself to people searching for direction, for someone to give them guidance, or else lead them along the right path. With society becoming more and more complex since we have reached the computer age, with more and more Canadians "about our future, we want to see someone take charge" of the affairs of this country without having to be continuously concerned or worried about our future. We want that leadership which appears confident, knowledgeable, and strong, a leadership in which we can place some trust.

If it is possible, smart "packaging" have failed to increase his popularity across Canada. The 34 per cent of the Conservatives who voted for a leadership convention is a significant minority. The 66 per cent who voted against a leadership convention is not a decisive vote of confidence in Mr. Clark. He needs a new mandate, or the Party needs a new leader. Mr. Clark's track record lends itself to the latter. The Conservatives need a leadership convention in the near future, for it is their future.

with the water line, is $225,000. Providing of a sewage line to the observatory was included in the contract. The cost of the sewage line was $150,000. The possibility of a cost-sharing arrangement with the water company for the project was discussed. The town engineer said that the town would consider constructing a gravel road and placing curb and gutter along the north side of the road as to provide more controlled access to the observatory. In discussion with Mr. Chapiro, Mayor Rasmussen informed the engineer that the town will be seeking tenders for engineering costs on the major project which the town will be undertaking in the near future. The Mayor said that the town was happy with the job being done by Glen Engineering, but that the Council must be responsible when spending taxpayer money. He said that Council would be looking for a contractor to build a building for engineering four buildings a job is started so that they can have the engineer's choice. He said that the town isn't looking for the cheapest job, but that estimates will be used in their deliberations.

In an adjustment of an earlier meeting, Council decided that the town would give $1000 to the Hospital Board to be used toward the Official Opening of the new Hospital. Council requested the motion which called for the town to sponsor a banquet for the evening. They felt that planning for the Official Opening should be handled by the Hospital Board and that the town should be able to carry out this function.

By-law 1981, which called for the rezoning of lots 6 and 8 in Block 25 to the Residential subdivision from R2, multi-family, to R1, single family, designated by the town council.

A letter from Nigel Towns who operates a number of excursions for Senior Citizens requested that Council support their bid for a license to allow them to frequent the "Palliser" Inn.

The town engineer said that the town would apply for a special permit each time they stop in the town to pick up people going on their tours.

At this service will not be a regular bus service, and it will provide a service for citizens in the area. Council decided to send a letter of support for Nigel Towns.

There are too many unanswered questions about MAP for the Board to seriously consider implementing it at this time," says Nederhoff. "The job of the Board is to market wheat effectively, not to take over a farmer's operation. The Board should redirect its efforts to developing more effective marketing programs. Farmers will grow the grain if the Board will get on with the job of selling it."

Cloverlodge Stampede To Run Again

Plans for the second annual rodeo of the Cloverlodge Stampede Association 1980 are on their way. With the ending of our fiscal year on December 31, 1980, the following executive was elected: Arnold Foubay - President, Ervin Currie - Vice-President, Ir-grid Holmer - Secretary, Bruce Currie - Treasurer. Our contract with Leslie Trach (stock contractor) was signed January 25, 1981 and approved by the LRA (Lakeland Rodeo Association) for the dates of June 29 and 30, 1981. An unanimous decision was reached by the club to build an arena. Plans are being made for purchasing the materials and for setting up a work day to start building.

An application to become a registered society has been dealt with and have been sent to the Education Head Office of the Department of Agriculture.

Negotiations are being made with the Viking Legion on the purchase of the Viking chutes. The community effort to help the Stampede is a great asset.

Four 24-hour licence suspensions were issued; one person was charged under the Liquor Control Act and one driver was charged with Impaired Driving.

Five minor motor vehicle accidents were reported and investigated. All resulted in property damage.

One complaint of Theft of a Motor Vehicle was documented. However subsequent investigation revealed this was the work of a prankster and no charges were laid.

Killam Recreation Hi-Lites

No doubt the majority of the population of Killam and district are all rather stiff and sore this week. How could anyone be so stiff and sore after all the activities and events that they were participating in?

At any rate, the weekend proved to be a complete success. The whole idea of the Snowflake Winter Carnival is to get participation from the four corners of our community and the people from the four corners were all there. "Bilvay" was there as well but "Fun" didn't let him get the best of the carnival.

The Red team is to be congratulated on their win, but Green, Yellow, and Blue can only accept congratulations if they had any fun at all. The Snowflake Carnival is always a lot of hard work and organizing for many people. But, if these people get so wrapped up in their preparations that they forget the real content of the event, they should perhaps slow down and take a chance.

Joan Smith and Gerald (Joan Gair) have been busy

the Killam pool. Instead of playing water polo in inner tubes, the Recreation Board decided to make use of the basketball game constructed by Sam Smith. It was a lot of fun except that most years there will have to be jerseys and soccer events. At any rate it was a great weekend to introduce the game to everyone. I can imagine what the response is going to be when we get the rope swing up. Nothing but fun, thanks to our men.

as well. We were invited for the second time to the town of Rocky Mountain House to do a session on Fitness and Tuna swimming. The recreation director of that community tells us every time we go there, that a community the size of Killam should not even have a pool.

Many people probably feel the same way, but there is a lot to be said for the fact that we have the pool and hopefully through the program and games that we offer, we can perhaps save some lives, help some of those poor bodies back into shape, and most important of all, provide some fun.

The recreation director only meant that we should not have a swimming pool because the community is too small for such a facility. I informed him that he should see our Snowflake Carnival. The trip to Rocky was a complete success all the way around. Not only is Janet as expert on the subject of teaching tote to swim, but she is a good navigator as well.

Lesson registration is going very well, but there is still room in many of the classes. Remember there are two sessions of lessons commencing the first week in March. One session will run for 8 weeks with lessons twice a week, and the other will run for 10 weeks with lessons every Saturday.

Swimming is underway this week, with sessions on Monday mornings at 10 (halfpriced provided) and also on Wednesday evenings. There will also be lessons here to swim classes on Wednesday and Friday mornings at 10:00 with halfpriced provided as well.

I wanted to call this paragraph "Arms Hi-Lites" but it is hard to call a cannibal hockey game a highlight, because of the fact... June Gair Pool Supervisor

Annual Father And Son Banquet Held For Cubs And Scouts

On Tuesday evening, February 24th the annual "Father and Son" banquet was held in the United Church basement. There were approximately 50 fathers and sons on hand to enjoy the supper of beans and wieners which was served by the members of the scouting movement.

Carle Arnett, second year member of the Scouts was master of ceremonies for the evening. The toast to the fathers was presented by Stephen Hoyland with Neil Hoyland making an appropriate reply. The toast to the Sons was handled by Roger Brooks.

Present for the banquet was Mr. Bill Mattinson of the Viking Elks who later presented a cheque from the Elks Foundation, to the Group Committee members to be applied towards the cost of the shelter which is nearing completion at the Gary Child Memorial Camp on Lake Thomas. The shelter which took form last year needs only minor additions before it is completed.

A committee of volunteers will soon have the doors in place and the ends of the shelter sheathed in metal.

Just a note of interest to some, memorial donations are still being accepted by Ruth Hanson at the Viking Branch of the Vegreville and District Council Union. These donations are used to upkeep the camp area and to make additions as funds are available.

Also in attendance at the banquet was Mr. Brent King who is the Executive Director of Scouting for the Central Alberta Region. In his address as guest speaker he gave a short version of what personal gain and value his involvement with the Scouting Movement has afforded.

Three members of the Scouting Movement were honored for the amount of time and effort they have volunteered towards the continuation and growth of the Scouting Movement in Viking. Gerard Wadley who spent a number of years as a Cub Leader, Cub Master, and is now the District Commissioner for the area, was awarded a 10 year Service Pin as well as a plaque from the local group.

Bill Taylor who has also worked with the youth of the area for a great number of years as a leader and as an active member of the Group Committee, received a plaque from the local group.

Myrtle Tiedemann who has worked with the Scouting Movement for the past fifteen years or so, was awarded her 15 Year Service Pin. Mr. Brent King made the official presentations.

Bringing the evening to a end was Bill Mattinson who led the group in a sing-song.

These funds were presented on behalf of the Elks Foundation and are to be used for funding of the "Shelter" at Gary Child Memorial Camp on the east shore of Lake Thomas.

Palliser Asks For Crow Action

(Regina) In a telegram to the Prime Minister, the Prairie Farm Commodity Coalition has asked Mr. Trudeau to act on the need for Crow Reform, because delay is having an adverse effect on the growth of prairie agriculture. The telegram said, "The issue is no longer Crow, IT is economic development." Signed by Ivan McMillan on behalf of the Prairie Farm Commodity Coalition representing 60,000 prairie farmers. The telegram read as follows:

"Economic development is the great challenge facing not only Western Canada, but all of Canada."

"The prairie mood is shifting rapidly towards support for economic development."

"It is becoming increasingly evident that any real economic growth will be based largely on prairie resources and particularly renewable resources."

"Delay in dealing with Crow is having an adverse effect on the growth of prairie agriculture, and particularly on the livestock and food processing industries. The West cannot wait for unanimity. The issue is no longer Crow. It is economic development."

"We urge your Government to face up to the Crow issue by making a public commitment to provide funds equal to the railway shortfall, for the transport of prairie grain and to initiate setting up a negotiating mechanism such as a Task Force for developing the details of a settlement that ends the discrimination against various segments of agriculture and, in fact, is neutral in the marketplace and will lead to further economic development."

The St. Paul Presbyterial U.C.W. meeting was held in the Vancouver United Church on February 17, 1981. The theme - "Forward Christian Women" - also was long was held before the meeting opened, with Mrs. Gishel-haus leading.

President Margaret Parkin opened the meeting with a welcome to all present and a special welcome to Jean Schmitt of Milk River, President of Alberta Conference U.C.W. Lois Gregory, President of Vancouver U.C.W., brought greetings from her local. The two High Ladies had devotion.

The business session of the meeting opened with the summarized minutes of the last annual meeting which was read by secretary Marjorie Walton. Jean Wechs gave the financial report and the treasury report. Vera Dwyer brought down the list.

Nominations and election of officers followed. The slate of officers was read and nominations were received from the floor for President Janet and Community, Fraternity and Visitation officers. Jean Schmitt then led the officers for 1981 and pictures were taken.

At lunch break Rev. David Holman presided. He brought greetings from the Presbyterial and chairmen of the Vancouver Church Board. Jean Schmitt then thanked the ladies for her gift.

A short conference meeting was held before the afternoon session. At the executive meeting the ladies from Ardmore were welcomed. This is a newly formed U.C.W. which started in the St. Paul Presbyterial.

Delegates were picked for the conference which is to be held in St. David United Church in Calgary on April 10-12. The 1981 Conference will be held in the fall. Dates scheduled are October 21-23 and the theme chosen is "The RV that we are".

The afternoon session started with Memorial Service by the Milk River ladies with communion by Rev. David and the Vancouver ladies. The Viking ladies took up the offering which was presented to M.L.A. Our guest speakers for the afternoon were Rev. Gerry and Miss McWhinney. Each division chairperson introduced the ladies in her division and referred to the reports in the booklet. She also gave a brief introduction to the division.

Doris Jeffrey and Helen Parker moved that the reports in the booklet be adopted as circulated. After the theme song "Forward Christian Women" Margaret Parkin introduced Jean Schmitt the guest speaker for the morning session. Both Gray then thanked Jean and presented her with a gift.

First period action in the first game of the best of seven B.H.H. final series between the Viking Gas Kings and the Irma Aces. The Aces won the contest by a score of 5 to 2.

Gas Kings - Aces In Final

Gas King goals were David Darling, Kevin McInnis and Ray Ratnay. Blair Quinlan, Jim Laskowky and Barry Field assisted on the three goals which found the game into a ten minute overtime period.

The two teams had played almost the entire ten minutes when Barry Field put in the winning goal. Kirk McInnis and Lee Laskowky assisted on the goal which came with only 28 seconds remaining on the clock.

With Viking leading the series 3 to 0, the teams met for the third, and what turned out to be the final game, on Saturday in the Caravan.

Although many had expected the game to be more closely contested, the Gas Kings walked away with a 9 to 0 victory.

Blair Quinlan opened the scoring with a goal at the 2:28 mark in the first period. Kasey Lohrer and Ray Ratnay were credited with assists on the goal.

Alvin Evans added the only other goal of the period, with Barry Field getting an assist.

The Gas Kings managed one more goal in the first period as Kevin McInnis scored on a perfect set up from Gordon Bodnar.

Viking had several other excellent chances in the first period, but Ivan Bacon came up with some big saves for the Irma Aces.

In the second period, the game began to fall apart for Viking, as the Aces scored three goals to take a 3 to 2 lead.

The third period was not much better as the Irma team took complete control of the game, adding two more goals to bring their total to 5.

Viking Badminton Club Report

Five members of the Viking Badminton Club, namely Walter Stefank and Marianne Thayer (mixed doubles), Doris and Alana Fouts (ladies doubles) and Jeanette Thayer (ladies singles) represented the County of Beaver at the North Eastern Alberta Winter Games which were held in Bonnyville over the past weekend. Although all had hoped to do better, they were unable to finish in the top three and therefore came away without any real winners.

After Jeanette lost her match on Sunday morning, they made a quick stop for a change of personnel and then journeyed on to Dayland with a strong determination to have a better showing.

Their loss on Saturday was quickly avenged when Alana and Doris Fouts finished first in ladies doubles. Another member of the Viking Club, Ruth Laxness, teamed up with Donna Andrews of the Camrose Club to finish second in ladies doubles.

This was only the beginning though, as Walter Stefank and Dan Fox teamed up in the men's doubles and came away with 2nd place to earn them a silver medal. The mixed event saw Walter and Alana narrowly lose a gold medal when Walter suffered a muscle cramp in the third and deciding game. The loss forced another play-off with the other local team, Stan Pon and Doris Fouts, to decide first and second place. Walter and Alana won, giving them the silver, while Stan and Doris had to settle for the bronze.

The Viking competitors were all satisfied that they had avenged their showing in Bonnyville and were only sorry that they were unable to compete in the singles competition at Dayland because of the tournament's early start.

Many Enjoy Kinsella U.C.W. Smorg

As usual, many people from Irma attended the Smorgasburg in Kinsella sponsored by the United Church Women at the Community Hall on Friday evening, February 27th.

There was the usual multitude of dishes and I would guess, a record crowd, estimated by one who presumed to know, at a minimum of 250 people. For dessert there was strawberry shortcake with cream whip toppings.

In attendance, were people from Viking, Irma, Lougheed, Sedgewick and other points. In fact, there were people who I had never seen before.

Viking 4-H Clubs Hold Public Speaking

On Sunday March 1, 1981, the three Viking 4-H Clubs held a joint public speaking competition in the Lutheran Church. A total of twenty-two members took part in the speaking presentations. Judging the efforts of the speakers were Margaret Hill, Irene Haiso, Brenda Wechsler, Bill Giesse, Ted Krips and Ralph Child. Mr. Jack Roddick was master of ceremonies for the afternoon while Marie Hanson was teller, and Richard Nordstrom acted as official timer.

Following the judging, Sheryl McClements and Elizabeth Roddick of the Viking 4-H Red Club were awarded first and second place respectively.

Winners were selected in both the Junior and Senior level from the membership of the Viking 4-H Multi Club. In the Junior section Mary-Lyn Lang and Stephen Lang placed first and second respectively while Lisa Lang placed first in the senior division.

Members of the Viking 4-H Light Horse club had participants in both the Junior and Senior division by Clayton Basser securing first place and Janet Volmer second. Veronica Servik topped the winter class and Sheila Winter placed second.

The top two Senior and Junior public speaking winners will go to the County CHIP-off which are scheduled for March 8 at 1:30 p.m. in the Regional Arts Centre at Holden. Good Luck to all speakers.

First, and foremost, shoot from the child's level. In this instance, it probably means getting right down on the floor.

Second, stay close enough to get the details of each expression without distracting the child. A Kodak Tele-Ektarite camera is very useful in this type of situation since a flick of the switch to telephoto lens means you're shooting at half the actual camera to subject distance.

The Tele-Ektarite 600 camera has the added advantage of being able to zoom in and out.

Further information can be obtained by telephoning 426-2460 in Edmonton or by writing to the Canadian Home Inspection Program, P.O. Box 3090, Postal Station A, Edmonton. Free application forms can be obtained from the same address.

M.A.P. Meeting To Be Held In Viking

A meeting to discuss the Market Assurance Plan which has been proposed by the Canadian Wheat Board will be held next week in Viking.

Advocate of the open market system of grain marketing as opposed to the board marketing system. He has a Masters Degree in Economics from the University of New England in Australia.

Mr. Perkins moved to Canada in 1974 at which time he became a market analyst for the Grain and Oil Seeds Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

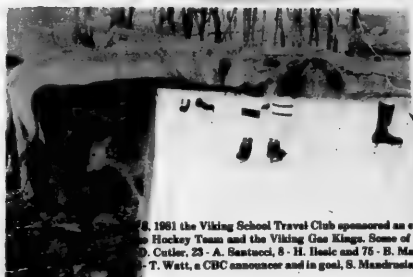

In 1979 he joined the United Grain Growers as a market analyst, and edited the Grain News.

In October of 1979, Mr. Perkins started the Herald Grain Company which deals on the international grain market. He is both a market analyst and an outspoken ideas on Canada's position in the international grain trade.

Also slated to speak at the meeting will be Ted Strain, President of the National Farmers Union. Mr. Strain is also a member of the Canadian Wheat Board Advisory Committee. Also on hand from the Advisory Committee will be Mr. Ken Galloway of Fort Saskatchewan.

The meeting has been planned to provide information to area farmers on the present and proposed marketing of grain in Canada. It is planned to be an informative and interesting evening which should be of benefit to all farmers.

Spelling Girls Win Public Spelling Bee

It isn't only the boys who excel in the yearly crop of the area, as represented by the winners of the Viking Spelling Bee.

Winning the Terry Moore Trophy in the senior division.

Hodges 4-H Beef Club for hosting the finals and providing a delicious lunch. The following is a list of all the winners and their topics.

Gas Kings Extend Series

The Irma Aces have a healthy 3 to 1 lead in games going into tonight's fifth game of the Battle River Hockey League championship series in Viking.

Prior to Monday night's game in Irma, the Aces had a commanding 8 to 1 lead in the best-of-seven series. They need only one win to take the League trophy.

In the second period, the Gas Kings took command, outscoring the Aces by 5 goals to 1. The Gas Kings scored by handily by the second of the night, Barry Field with two, Les Leasky and Kevin McMillan. Scoring for the Aces was Ray Tomlinson.

Following their first game victory over the Gas Kings by a score of 5 to 2 in Viking, the Aces took the second game in Irma by a score of 5 to 2. In that contest, the Aces took a 2 to 1 first period lead on goals by Garnet Mackay and Captain Barry Burr. The Gas King marker came off the stick of Barry Field.

In the second period, Allen Jones tallied for the Aces to give them a 3 to 1 edge. The Gas Kings' Devin Wemura netted the only goal of the third period to make the final score 3 to 5 for the Aces.

In the third period, Viking once again outscored the Aces. Ray Rattray netted two goals in the period, while Lenore Parsons tallied one for the Aces, bringing the final score to 6 to 5 for the Gas Kings.

A near capacity crowd attended Friday night's red game in the series in Viking, which once again saw the Aces come out on top, this time by a score of 5 to 4.

The Gas Kings took the first period lead on a goal by Les Leasky, the only player to put a goal in the first period.

In the second period, the two teams exchanged two goals each, to bring the second period score to 3 to 3 for the Gas Kings. Scoring for the Gas Kings in the second were Ray Rattray and Kenny Laford, while Garnet Mackay and Barry Burr replied for the Aces.

The third period saw the Aces take charge as they outscored the Gas Kings 3 to 1, to make the final score 6 to 4. Scoring for the Aces in the third period were Brian Burr with two goals, bringing his total to 3 for the game, and Jim Owen. Scoring for the Gas Kings was Doyle Wicmura.

The series was thus set for possible wrap-up of the series on home ice by the Irma Aces. But such was not to be the case.

In a building filled to the rafters, the Gas Kings asked to a decisive 8 to 5 victory over the Aces to stay alive in the series.

At the end of the first period, the Gas Kings scored themselves behind by a score of 3 to 1. Putting the Aces out in front were Jim Owen, Merv Mackay and Gary Phillips. Helping for the Gas Kings was Kirk McLaughry.

The fifth game in the series will be played tonight in Viking, with the sixth game in Irma on Saturday and the seventh game in Viking on Monday night, if necessary.

Edmonton Northlands will maintain very strict regulations to ensure a high quality show of Alberta Angus Hereford and Shorthorn Bulls selling at the Annual Northlands Stock Show and Sale, March 22 through the 28th.

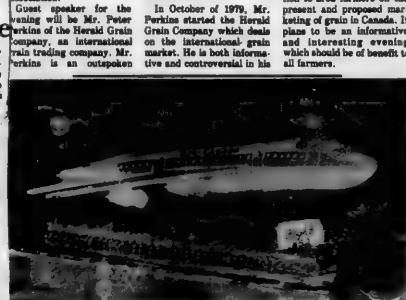

Every animal will be inspected for quality, representation of its breed, liveliness and soundness and conformation standards. All bulls are guaranteed breeders.

All bulls under two years of age will be weighed on a two pound rule of gain from birth to be eligible for sale.

Edmonton Northlands Stock Show and Sale is an annual event held in conjunction with the Farm and Ranch Show (March 28-31) and the Northlands Super rodeo (March 30-31).

Travel Club Weekend A Success

Travel Club member Brenda Petrowski presented auctioneer Norman Berg of Bawil a gift in appreciation of all the work he had done to help make their auction such a huge success.

Kings for playing Sunday's game and then donating their share of the profits to the Travel Club. Thanks to the Edmonton Eskimos for coming down, to Tom Hareway and Vir Hower for working at the door, to Dick Morris and Curtis Wilkie for officiating and Carl Baumgartner our announcer and Dale Pedersen the score keeper and to all the other people who helped with announcing, timekeeping and organizing. We would also like to thank the winners of the hockey pools who donated their winnings back to us.

The members of the Travel Club would also like to thank all our parents for their donations, time and support and a special thanks to Mr. Kindy who helped to organize and prepare for the activities and for supporting us during the past weekend.

Ward was received this week of the passing of Mrs. Nightingale at the Auxiliary hospital in Wainwright. Mrs. Nightingale made her home with us at Vialta Lodge from June 1967 until her death in 1970. Our sincere sympathy is extended to her family.

Also sincere sympathy to the family of the late Mr. Sven Hagen who also resided at Vialta Lodge before he went to the Nursing Home.

Mrs. Sorenson was thrilled by her Mother, we all enjoyed it very much, and hope she calls again to see us.

Before you begin short cut sewing take a minute to think about your own personal sewing likes and dislikes. Sewing is very individualized. A knowledge of basic sewing is needed before going on to short cut techniques. You will have to spend some time doing the new methods in order to save time in the long run.

Organize your sewing space. Ideas are to use a cork board to tack up pattern pieces and a mug rack to hang tools on, attach rollers with a ribbon to the machine, and set up the sewing board near the machine.

Place a value on your time before you start to sew and to save time, choose a simple pattern with few details. Extra time and skills are required to make pleats, plaids, button holes, etc. Choose lively woven fabrics if you're not sure how the small prints that will not need matching will be more the fabric is on grain.

Many new notions are available on the market. Next time you're out shopping take a minute to look at some - heating tape, stick welders, dry check, fabric markers, invisible snap fasteners. Be a smart shopper and ask for a demonstration if you're not sure how the item works. A short cut saves time and energy. It should not sacrifice the appearance or durability of the finished product.

Killam Swimming Pool News

The past two weeks of Girl Guides, Brownies, Boy Scouts and the first part Scouts, Cubs and Beavers, of March have proved to be very busy ones at the Killam. That is a lot of people.

Swimming pool. During the weekend of February 20, 21 and 22 there were almost 500 swimmers making waves there. The pool had been rented by a church group from the town of Watrous, the 4 children after school. We have postponed these sessions for one more week in hopes of getting an improvement in registration. Some of the classes still have plenty of room. If you are still contemplating putting your child into our program. The classes for Adults, Preschoolers, Ladies Learn to Swim, and Gymnastics however are in progress and going extremely well. Our introduction of the Babysitting Service for the children while their mothers partake in either Monday morning Swimming, or the Tuesday and Friday morning "Learn to Swim" classes has been very well. It is a great relief for these mothers to know they can finally get some exercise and not have to worry about their children and whether or not they will be happy. Our own Babysitting is the meeting room upstairs that the one Agriplex centre for observation during the curling season.

The room is fully carpeted and even has a window where the children can watch Mom swim. We have brought in a crib, some toys, coloring books and crayons, and such to keep the children occupied while Mom is "swimming it out" down in the pool. Val Doyle and Gladys Stende (two of our Agriplex staff) say they are really enjoying the children.

I guess what I am trying to say is that you ladies out there don't have much of an excuse anymore for not going swimming. There is still room in several of these classes if you are interested.

Seventeen people, some from as far away as Watrous, Coronation, Stettler and Hardisty are partaking in the National Lifeguard course that we are very proud to be running here at our pool.

This course involves many hours of hard and strenuous practice and requires a high level of aquatic skill to achieve this qualification.

The staff of the pool are all taking the course as well as part of our in-service training. Through courses like these we hope to increase our own levels of knowledge and aquatic ability and thus improving the safety level of our swimming pool.

Pool Schedules of all the aquatic activity going on at our pool can be picked up at the Agriplex.

Changes In Crop Insurance Program

A number of changes are being made in Alberta's crop insurance program for 1981, but they are mainly minor in nature and policy holders will find the program basic to the same as last year, according to officials of Alberta Hall and Crop Insurance Corporation in Lacombe.

The most significant change is in the higher price options now being offered which will enable farmers to obtain increased deductibles on coverage per acre. This is in line with improved market values for most crops and steadily rising production costs.

For the three main insured crops, the top price option per kilogram are: Wheat - 14 cents compared with 13 cents last year; Barley - 11 cents versus 9 cents; and Broomcorn - 11 cents over 10 cents. The new prices are the equivalent of $3.82, $1.40 and $5.25 per bushel, respectively.

Coverage levels and premiums have been readjusted to take into account last year's yields and loss experience, and the increased price option.

A new program is being introduced to cover corn grown for grain on irrigated land in the Bow Island area. The hay and pasture which is covered on a trial basis in central Alberta for the past two years is being extended into the southwestern portion of the province.

In 1980, over 19,100 farmers placed just over $800,000,000 in crop insurance coverage on the grain crops under the insurance program. E. A. Patching, General Manager of the Corporation, predicts an increase in coverage for the current year because of the need of farmers to cover spiralling costs of fuel, fertilizer, chemicals, seed, and other inputs. "No longer," he says, "the majority of farmers risk the possibility of crop loss."

The February meeting of the Quinte W.I. was held at the home of Catherine Evans at the 28th.

We had our constituency convener present for our meeting she gave us a quiz on W.I. work. This was Betty Parsons of Irma.

Parental Help Is Needed

In this week's issue of The Weekly Review on page 8, the Youth Worker involved with the Preventive Social Services in Viking has laid out the goals and objectives, as well as a brief overview of the program which has been established since she began her position in Viking about 2½ months ago. When one reads this article, the distinct impression left is that what is needed for this program to survive is parental help.

Often we hear young people say that there is "nothing" to do around a small town. And probably more often we hear the same of whom are parents, knocking the youth for "hanging around the streets" or "making laps all night" on Main Street. With the small population of our rural communities, it is often very difficult, if not impossible, to provide a solid variety of activities for entertainment to our youth. Because of this, they either must provide their own form of entertainment, or get their parents to help in this matter. An effort is presently being

The gap in the series was getting smaller as the two teams returned to Irma for Saturday night's 6th game.

The Irma Aces, as the Viking Aces had been called on Wednesday night, was filled to near capacity as the game teams began the game. Near the midway mark of the first period, Art Matthews gave the Aces a one goal lead. However, within 3 minutes, the Gas Kings took it up on a power play and tied it up on a power play goal by Ray Rattry.

The second period also ended in a tie on goals by Art Matthews, his second, for the Aces and Terry Quistak for the Gas Kings. The Gas Kings came out fired up in the third period and by the 10 minute mark had a 6 to 2 lead on goals by Kenny Leford, Barry Field and Allan Evans. At this point, victory seemed to be in the bag for the Gas Kings. But such was not to be.

A concerted effort by the Aces lead to their scoring three minutes starting at the 14:30 mark with a goal scored in a tie on goals by Art Matthews, his second goal.

The last regular meeting of the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce was held on Tuesday 9th March at the banquet room of the Viking Burger Queen. The meeting was called to order by the President Lane Carrington at 10:00. Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as printed in the Crossroads Courier.

In the discussion that followed Will Rasmussen advised that the Town of Viking was in the process of gathering information and preparing an updated brochure on the Town and invited a Chamber committee to work with the Town in preparing an information brochure on Viking as the brochure will be quite costly to produce it was decided that each job in time for 1981 distribution would be out of the question. Members of the Chamber of Commerce appointed to work in conjunction with a committee from Town Council are: Leann Bell, George Fairbrother and Ev. Carrington.

Also discussed at this meeting was the grant from the Battle River Tourist Association and the operation of the Tourist Information Booth at the newly planned location at the south end of main street.

this year. These businesses are: Viking Meat Market, Viking Restaurant, Don-Jay Plumbing and Heating, Viking Hotel, Beauvieve's Mechanical Service, Gordon's Automotive and Petya's Tailoring Shop.

Lane Carrington on behalf of the Christmas Promotion committee presented a brief financial statement and commented on the favorable public response to this endeavor.

Red Krjke briefly outlined the history of two Viking families who have contributed a great deal towards "putting Vikings on the map". The Matashukowski and the Storchheim. Red moved that the Chamber sponsor a supper social in honor of the Matashukowski on April 1st and the Storchheim family at a later date. Seconded by Will Rasmussen, all in favor.

Twenty-two were in attendance at the lunch meeting and all members or interested persons are encouraged to attend the March meeting which will be held the Viking Inn at 10:00 on Thursday, March 26.

VIKING GAS KING WIND-UP DANCE & SUPPER

Viking Community Hall

We regret to report that Mrs. Nellie Thurston is again in Waterbury Municipal Hospital and not very well. Get well wishes are extended to her.

Congratulations to the Irma Seniors on their victory on Saturday evening over the Viking Gas Kings by a score of 6 to 5 in overtime thereby winning the series four games to two.

Alfred Walker, late of Capetown, Australia has purchased the house on 50th Avenue number 6084 from Douglas Larson and took up residence on Sunday March 15th. We extend a warm welcome to Alfred, whose family was well known in the Irma area. He had home-stayed north of Irma in 1900, and his brother, Charlie, farmed in the Strawberry Plains district for a number of years.

Quite a number of Irma people drove to Waterbury on Sunday afternoon to watch the Hockey game between the Waterbury Blues and the team from St. Paul. According to some reports it was a hard fought, rough game, played before a large crowd. St. Paul won by a score of 3 to 2, however the score didn't really indicate the play. The Blues travel to St. Paul for the next game on Monday Evening, Mar. 19th.

Viking Mites Lose In Semi-Finals

Since our last report, Viking Mites have been very busy. On February 28, we played in a four team tournament in Irma, winning the "B" trophy.

Our first game of the day was played against Irma. This was a real close game and when the final buzzer sounded it was an 11-11 tie. The rules of the tournament were to have a shoot out for any tie, resulting in Irma scoring and winning the game.

Our goal scorers were Brad Hodgins, Robin Neslund, and Tammy Maxwell each with hit tricks and Jason Clouston and Cory Wisniewski each getting a single.

Assists went to Colin Bahlitz with 2 and single going to Vernon Erickson, Jason Clouston, David Will, Cory

Wischuk and Orin Maxwell.

Viking then dropped to the "B" side of the tournament and played against Maxwell. This game was a hard fought game from the first drop of the puck. Both teams played great hockey with Viking pulling through to a 5-3 victory to win the "B" Trophy. Our points in this game were earned by Jason Clouston with 2 goals and Cory Wisniewski, Tammy Maxwell and Colin Bahlitz each with 1. Assists went to Cory Wisniewski with 2, and Tammy Maxwell and Jason Clouston each with 1.

On March 5 we played our final league game with Killam. This turned out to be quite an emotional game with Viking losing to Killam 5 to 6. Our only loss in league play. Our scorers were Jason Clouston with a hit trick and Brad Hodgins and Tammy Maxwell with 1 assist. Assists went to Cory Wisniewski with 2 and Tammy Maxwell with 1.

IT TAKES A LOT TO EARN THIS PIN

Do you know someone who has what it takes?

If you know a young Albertan, or group of young Albertans who have earned this kind of honour, we'd like to know too! In fact, we'd like all of Alberta to know. We need the names of young people between the ages of six and eighteen who through their selflessness, initiative and responsibility have contributed to your community.

In 1981, as in every year for the past 19, Alberta's investor-owned electric utilities, will honour these young Albertans with the title, "Alberta Junior Citizens of the Year".

Goals And Objectives Of Youth Program

I would like to take this opportunity to tell you what the youth program is all about and what our goals and objectives are.

I was hired on a grant for "four months" to plan and organize programs for youth in the community. What I am trying to do is have the kids and parents in the community involved in planning, organizing and supervising. This way when I leave at the end of April some of these activities will carry on.

The junior and senior high youth meet once a month and then once a month with an "Adult" youth committee.

What we are trying to achieve by this is Youth planning their own activities and then meeting with Adults to get approval and supervision for activities.

However these meetings have not been very well attended. I hope to get more Youth and Adults involved so that youth in Viking can continue to have activities.

These are some of the programs that we have had in Jan. and Feb. and will continue having in March and April.

ACTIVITY NIGHTS—every second week an evening of non competition games and sports.

FUN AND FIT—for ladies and youths, an evening of exercise, fun and games.

LOOKING GOOD—A six week program for girls age 11-17 consisting of hints on makeup, new clothes, nutrition, fitness and self esteem.

PHASE III—a group talking to youth about drug problems.

WINTER DAYS—a day of outdoor activities and hot dogs.

TRIPS FOR MARCH—wintering and bowling in Killam, roller skating and pizza in Sherwood Park.

JASPER SKI TRIP—we have done a lot of work on planning this trip but so far we have not met once a month.

This trip will be April 23-25 and is open to High School and Junior High students.

We will be going by train and staying in a dorm provided by one of the churches.

We are not sure of the cost as yet but we hope to have a few fund raising events to bring down the cost.

HIRE-A-STUDENT—we are trying to get a hire a student program happening for students this summer.

If any one can offer their help and support for any of the "Youth Programs" or is interested in coming to some of the meetings, please call: VONDA CHASE, P.S.S. 01, Ext. 308-0384.

On Monday, March 16th, members of Phase III, a group of drug addicts were in Viking speaking to school students. Phase III is a self-help, self-supporting group functioning under the auspices of the Alberta Alcohol and Drug Abuse Commission. On Monday evening, the group also held a session for the public, at the Community Hall.

Prague Residents Return For Social

The former residents of the Prague district returned to Prague Hall on Sunday afternoon March 15. The president of the Prague Hall, Charlie Berch, welcomed the group and expressed appreciation and thanks to them for what they had contributed to the community in previous years. John Aston replied on behalf of the Senior Citizens, and said they were looking forward to the next party. The afternoon started off with a bingo game and after this was over, a bingo game took place. Refreshments and lunch were provided. Everyone was entertained by some real good music, even though the group was a wee bit self. The young folk also got the new skin out to get their 1981 football season underway.

All in all it was a beautiful Sunday afternoon with many old time stories and memories being recalled and to quote an appropriate phrase - "a good time was had by all."

M.A.P. Meeting Attended By Large Crowd

Approximately 250 people attended the M.A.P. meeting at the Community Hall last Tuesday evening. Head table guests included (left to right) George Fletcher, President of Palliser Wheat Growers, Peter Perkins of Herald Grain Company, Hjordis Armitage, who chaired the meeting, Ken Galloway, Vice-President of the Canadian Wheat Board Advisory Committee, and Roy Atkinson, former President of the N.F.U., and President of the Canadian Wheat Board Advisory Committee.

Between 250 and 300 people attended the M.A.P. meeting which was held in the Viking Community Hall last Tuesday evening. Consisting mostly of farmers interested in knowing more about the proposed Market Assurance Plan, the crowd was provided with arguments both for and against the implementation of the Plan.

The evening was chaired by Hjordis Armitage of Kinross, with speakers from the Canadian Wheat Board Advisory Committee, Palliser Wheat Growers, the Western Barley Growers, and a private grain marketing firm.

Mr. Ken Galloway, Vice-President of the C.W.B. Advisory Committee opened the meeting by informing the audience of the work of the Wheat Board, and outlined the M.A.P. program. He said that it was necessary to ensure that farmers get a fair price and to ensure that they get some money. He said that hopefully the program would seldom be used. It was being suggested as "insurance" for farmers when a restrictive quota was in place.

Mr. Galloway said that there were a number of advantages to having farmers guaranteed a market for their grain at a stable price. He said that not being able to attend at any time this spring.

Because of this, the Hospital Board has decided upon the date of Monday, June 1st for the official opening. He said that the Board is presently trying to get the Alberta Hospital Minister, Mr. Dave Russell, to attend the opening. He said that if necessary, the date could be changed to accommodate the Minister if he was not able to attend on June 1st. However, this is the date that has been tentatively set.

Following the question period, Mr. Peter Perkins of the Herald Grain Company, addressed the crowd. Mr. Perkins started his speech by saying that he felt that night-wind news enterprises were not appreciated in rural communities, but that was the position he was taking.

Mr. Perkins spoke some time criticizing work of the Wheat Board. He said that the Board performance has gone downhill in the past few years. He said that Canada has slipped in terms of its relative position in the world. Mr. Perkins said that he is not a critic of the Wheat Board pooling grain sales, but that he is a critic of bureaucratic incompetence.

Mr. Perkins chastised the Board for not dealing more in feed grains. He said that the new world market is for feed grains, and that the world does not particularly want the high quality grain grown by most farmers in this area. He said that the Board should be concentrating on feed grains.

Move To New Hospital By May 1st

Mr. Roddick indicated that the process of commissioning started March 25 and will end with the transfer of patients May 1, 1981. Commissioning is when the building is put into service by the Board of Trustees and can take place at one time or in phases. The process of moving and occupying the modelled or new space requires considerable coordination and liaison among departments. Since most departments activities are interrelated, not isolated, their plans for the move must be coordinated, they cannot be accomplished separately.

Scheduling of various activities is extremely critical to the success of the patient transfer May 1. During this time the staff will be cleaning, stocking and getting familiar with the building. The general contractor is responsible to arrange for the services of fully qualified and experienced personnel, including manufacturers' representatives to prepare in-service seminars and to instruct the staff in the operation and preventive maintenance of each piece of equipment and systems supplied and installed.

At last week's meeting of the Viking Town Council, Roddick informed the members that the Premier of Alberta, Peter Lougheed, will not be able to attend the official opening of the new facility. He said that the energy negotiations and the constitution were given as reasons for the Premier not being able to attend at any time this spring.

Because of this, the Hospital Board has decided upon the date of Monday, June 1st for the official opening. He said that the Board is presently trying to get the Alberta Hospital Minister, Mr. Dave Russell, to attend the opening. He said that if necessary, the date could be changed to accommodate the Minister if he was not able to attend on June 1st. However, this is the date that has been tentatively set.

Viking Council Adopts Industrial Area Plan

By-law #268, adopting the area structure plan for the new Viking West Commercial area was passed at last Wednesday's Viking Town Council meeting.

The area is approximately 33 acres located just west of the Viking across Highway 98 on land presently owned by the Roddicks. The area is to be used for Highway Commercial and Secondary Commercial businesses.

The area will be fronted by a service road which will run parallel to Highway 98. The drainage ditch along Highway 98 will be maintained to handle the spring run-off.

The area structure plan recommends the expedient development of the area. A final subdivision plan has to be submitted to the approved by the Alberta government.

The Town is presently working on attempting to purchase the land from the present owners, a decision which the Council reached a few months ago. Negotiations are still underway. When a contract, the area will be provided with all facilities.

Seniors Units To Be Built

A sixteen unit, two story assisted housing unit and the committee have now selected a design for the apartment and plans are in the hands of an architect.

Each of the sixteen self contained units will have a kitchen, with dining area, living room, bedroom, bathroom and storage area. A washer and dryer area will be shared by the eight occupants on each of the two levels. A Janitor's closet will be installed for the convenience of second story dwellers.

The low rental housing unit will be constructed on property which has been purchased from the Beaver foundation, directly north of Vista Lodge.

A spokesman for the Alberta Housing Corporation advised the Viking Committee that construction of the Vista project should begin in August of 1981. The contract for construction will be advertised and awarded at a later date.

Following completion of the seniors housing project, the committee will place the responsibility of maintenance with the local committee.

Although rental rates may be subject to change in the future, similar units are currently running at 25 per cent of the residents' monthly income.

ANNA
Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association National Advertising Representative

What's In A Label?

What really is in a label? In today's world of high pressure advertising, and slick packaging, we begin to consistently rely on labels to inform us of the product with which we are dealing. In the past, a label was merely a pretty, ornate message that it must convey a message to the respective customer, and it must be effective if it is to be successful. We learn to rely on labels to provide us with some quick information without having to delve deeply into what the product may be.

As with products, we often find ourselves using labels to describe people as well. We use labels such as bigot, racist, radical, or rebel. And in the political realm, we use terms such as conservative, or Conservative, liberal, or Liberal, socialist, or Socialist, and communist, or Communist. And yet what do these last labels really mean? The four terms noted above with the capital letters generally denote an individual who is a member, or advocate, of a particular political party. The same four terms which are not capitalized generally refer to a person or persons who believe in, or practices a particular philosophy. To be a "conservative," one would usually be opposed to change, one who favored a policy of keeping things as they are. A "liberal" individual would be one who was more receptive to change and who favored reform or progress. And yet, when we compare these ideas with those of both the "Conservative" and "Liberal" parties in Canada, we wonder if there is any relationship between the parties and the root of their names.

And yet, does this really matter? We throw labels around today with reckless abandon. We call people "socialists" without sometimes really understanding the meaning of the word. The vast majority of Albertans would be extremely angry if our Medicare system were to be abolished. Most Albertans believe in this concept. And yet this is a "socialist" concept. Politicians in Saskatchewan 20 years ago were labelled "communist" for introducing Medicare into that Province. And yet today, we all enjoy the benefits of Medicare, and most of us would refuse to give it up. Yet can we be labelled "socialists"?

At the M.A.P. meeting held in Viking last Tuesday evening, Mr. Roy Atkinson of the Canadian Wheat Board Advisory Committee was labelled a "socialist". He indicated that he had been labelled many things in his time, and that these labels didn't bother him. He said that what really mattered was the actions one took. Mr. Atkinson said that his definition of a "capitalist" was an individual who used very valid means available to put more money into his own pocket. According to some sources, Mr. Atkinson is a good "capitalist" as indicated by his success in farming.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:
Despite its shortcoming, I believe that the Market Assurance Plan being proposed by our Advisory Committee to the Canadian Wheat Board is going to be a boon to farmers.

Grain producers will have an opportunity to commit all or a portion of their annual production for delivery to the Board with the assurance that it is not detrimental to the end of the crop year, they will still receive initial payment and be paid for storage on that portion the committed grain not called in under regular quota.

The Canadian Wheat Board will be able to do a much better job of marketing because they will know exactly what quantities, kinds, classes and grades of grain will be available for them to sell.

Livestock producers, too, will benefit from the greater stability stemming from the fact that grain producers will not be jumping in and out of livestock production every time they are faced with carrying an excessive grain inventory.

Among shortcomings in the plan are the lack of provisions for the Board to market all grain produced in Canada, or that the price at which grain is sold into the domestic market should reflect the cost of production.

As it stands, the proposal appears to meet the needs of the needy as well as the needs of farmers.

Wm. Dacavich.

DEAR SIR:
As a concerned citizen, I would like to inform Albertans of our reservations concerning the proposed new legislation on Sunday retail opening which is to come before this spring's Legislature.

My concerns are not with the small independent grocer who provides a necessary service to the community, but with the large retail grocer or chain who do the bulk of their business during the week. Consequences will be a result of greater stability and standard of living are certain to occur, and another area of conflict will be jumping in and out of livestock production every time they are faced with carrying an excessive grain inventory.

Small retailers in the large shopping malls will be forced to remain open because of agreements requiring the opening of all retail outlets in the event of any one of the large retailers

Phase III Presentation

Monday, March 16 saw an excellent response to the Phase III group...a group of drug addicts involved in a self-help program. These addicts are trying to live a drug-free life, and encouraging others from using and abusing drugs, whether street drugs or prescription.

The group made presentations to the students from grades 7 to 12, plus an evening session for interested community members. A film on various drugs introduced the session, then a brief history and story of each person, followed by a question period.

The majority of group members had been heroin users. They stressed the fact that physical withdrawal took only three days; the psychological dependence is the biggest problem and it is extremely difficult to combat. They used drugs to escape dealing with difficult situations, and now have to straighten out the past, as well as the present. Another difficulty is getting back into society and being accepted. Crime becomes a way of life to support a $800.00 a day habit and ramifications of prison follow. Therefore, finding jobs, new friends and a place in the community can take a long time. Living drug-free is a very difficult thing for them, but they find the support group tremendously helpful and worthwhile.

One of the points they stressed was the need for good communication between parents and teenagers. They encourage parents to really listen to their children and encourage kids to talk out their problems rather than to run away from them by using alcohol or drugs. They also encourage parents to find out as much as possible about drugs than about their children's needs. Varied recreational activities providing alternatives to drug usage are really important. The group also stated that it has not been proven that marijuana leads to harder drugs. However, when a person is in an environment with people who use drugs, it is much easier to begin experimenting with various other types.

This was the first presentation Phase III has made to a school and a community group. They were very interested in receiving any comments and suggestions they might use when developing future presentations. They can be contacted by phone at 484-2201 and asking for Debbie or by writing Phase III, West End ADAC Clinic, Misericordia Hospital, 67 Avenue and 170 Street, Edmonton, Alberta.

A Success

The annual presentation of the Irma Figure Skating Club was held on March 21 following the theme "Story Book Land"

Despite the Irma-Viking senior hockey game on the same evening in Viking, there was a fairly good crowd on hand to enjoy the Figure Skating Club presentation.

The beautiful back-drop and costume design was the talented art work of Janet Inkster. The many hours of work that Janet has donated to the club has been greatly appreciated.

ing intermission of the program. Those receiving prizes were the skating teachers, Janet Inkster, club president Faye Linn, the arena caretakers - Jim Beer and Kevin Cressy. The lucky winners of the

BORN EQUAL

In Alberta, Human Rights Legislation provides everyone with a fair chance to contribute and participate for life.

But disabled people have too often been denied meaningful participation in education, recreation, accommodation and the workforce.

The individual's Rights Protection Act now prohibits discrimination because of physical characteristics. These are physical disabilities as a result of injury, infirmity, maturation and disfigurement. The Act continues to prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, religious beliefs, colour, sex, age, ancestry, marital status and place of origin.

Employers will be receiving by mail "Equal Opportunities in Employment", a handbook on equal opportunity employment practices. Any employer not receiving one may contact:

From The Ground Up

District Agriculturist
Jerome Manchur

On March 17 at 7:00 p.m. a M.A.P. informational meeting was held at Viking. Well over 800 farmers attended. There were speakers for the proposal and speakers against it. All in all I thought the evening was very well spent and certainly helped to broaden my knowledge of the subject. A vote was taken at the meeting's end. 64 farmers voted against, and 24 wanted more information. A vote was also taken to see if there would be interest in holding an informational meeting on the Crow Rate. The response was overwhelmingly in favor. It's good to see farmers interested in these areas which so vitally affect them.

VIKING OFFICE DAY
I am in the Viking office every Wednesday from 11:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. I stay in the office during these hours to answer phone calls. If I won't be in I leave an announcement at the office door. The office is in the basement of the Viking City Centre. Generally besides the office day, I'll be in the Viking area 1-2 days per week on farm calls.

UPCOMING EVENTS
Poultry Course to be held at Ted and Ona Strickland's farm on March 31 at 1:00 p.m. I'll be demonstrating printing of fruit trees, shrubs and shelterbelt trees. Pre-register by phoning the office at 865-3551.

Metric Calibration of Sprayers to be held at the Viking Recreational Centre on April 9 at 1:30 p.m. I will talk on metric calibration and Laurie Weatherill, the Ag Fieldman, will talk on weed control. We put on a meeting at Rylyon on this subject and had well over 40 farmers there. The meeting at Bruce will cover the Viking area. Plan to attend as this is a very important conversion to be able to make.

Metric Sprayer Calibration Clinic - I and the Ag Fieldman are making ourselves available to hold metric sprayer calibration clinics at your farm. Please use us and we'll come out. All you need is that you have at least 2 or 3 additional farmers there so they can also learn.

If you have any ideas on courses you'd like to see held, by all means phone us. Have a good week.

Rosegarland W.I. Notes

The March meeting of the Rosegarland W.I. was held at the M'Isers home hosted by our president, Mrs. Erland.

A discussion was held regarding the placing of the "Veggie" in our two local libraries.

Mrs. Marie Weder gave a very interesting and informative paper on Acid Rain, a very controversial subject. She spoke of the components and sources and their damaging effects on our ecology. She also stressed the importance of government action to curb or control this pollution.

Mrs. Mabel Krysanowski and Mrs. Olga Skolney served a delicious lunch to conclude a very enjoyable evening.

Quality Seed Pays Off

During Good Seed Month in March, Agriculture Canada officials say farmers should take advantage of the rights when buying seed.

Purchasers should carefully check seed package labels to make sure they have the kind of seed, grade, lot number and the name and address of the seller clearly marked.

Buyers also have the right to know the seed used content of all purchased seed.

Swinging Beaver Club Square Dance News

February was a very busy month. The first dance was Feb. 2, that being groundhog day, quite a number of couples backed. February 18, was ladies night and they didn't have to pay at the door.

It was decided to again hold a family night on Sat. Feb. 28. This was a real success with approximately 300 adults and children attending.

Our thanks go to Alvin and Olive Zweraski for supplying the music for both square dancing and modern dancing. Games and snacks had been prepared for the children, with suitable prizes handed out which the children really enjoyed. At 10 p.m. a lovely lunch was served.

The club sent a pledge to the original Children Fund during the Feb. 28th.

March 2 was pie and ice cream night with a contest being held. The blind folded ladies, led their partners who sat across the table from them, and yet guessed it, it was chocolate pie with whipped cream. Mary Zweraski and Hank Field were the winners.

March 9 was Ziegler night with Art's family helping out with the calling. He called them all up front and introduced them, including his sister and family plus he and his wife, there were 17 of them.

It was a really enjoyable evening and was about 80 people there with visitors coming from Edmonton, Daryland, Wainwright and Vegreville. All in all there was nice square dance callers and it was fun trying to do what they told us to do. For our wind up dance we are planning a Jamboree on Saturday, April 25.

Midgets Lose Tournament In Overtime

Sunday, March 22, saw the local Midget team hold a 4 team tournament. Visiting teams came from Watrous, Dayland and Vegreville. The first game went at 11 o'clock with Viking taking a 2-1 victory. Viking scored twice in the first period, while holding Watrous off the scoreboard. Ian Erickson got both goals with Randy Graham drawing an assist.

The second period again saw Viking outscore Watrous 2 goals to 0. Ian Erickson got his third and fourth goal of the game, while Eugene Mawson got a single. Murray Josephson and Danny Archuk each picked up an assist. In the third period, Viking held back permitting Watrous to carry more of the play. This resulted in Watrous scoring twice. The Viking boys managed only one goal and this came off the stick of Murray Josephson. Brad Majewski drew an assist on the goal and when the final whistle sounded, Viking defeated Watrous by a score of 6 to 4.

The second game of the tournament had Vegreville go against Dayland. This turned out to be a very easy and lopsided win for Vegreville as they totally outscored their opposition and defeated them by a score of 18 to 3. Had it not been for the goal tending efforts of the Dayland goalie, the score would have been definitely a lot higher than it ended up. After a half hour break, Watrous and Dayland played off in what would decide the 3 side winner of the tournament. Again Dayland just wasn't up to the task of playing good hockey and when the final whistle sounded, lost to Watrous by a score of 11 to 5.

This set the stage for the final game of the tournament with Viking taking on Vegreville. This turned out to be the best game of the tournament as both teams were evenly matched. Viking opened the scoring first when Ian Erickson scored on a setup from Murray Josephson. But Vegreville came right back and tied up the game. Two minutes later, Vegreville scored the rebound goal to round out the first period.

The second period saw the boys go into a slump as they could not find the goal. Vegreville capitalized on the opportunity scoring three times, while holding Viking scoreless. This looked like sure defeat for the local boys, but in the third period, the Viking club reentered their form, mounting a four goal comeback. Ian Erickson scored twice, while Murray Josephson and Danny Archuk got singles. Graham Wilkie, Murray Josephson, Eugene Mawson and Ian Erickson each drew an assist in the period. Finally, Danny Archuk's goal tied up the game, sending it into overtime.

As in most overtime periods, it's never a picture goal that wins the game, and this was true to form as Vegreville scored on a trick that just crossed the goal line. Try as they might, the Viking boys just couldn't score and when the final whistle sounded, Vegreville defeated Viking 6 to 5. This victory resulted in Vegreville being the tournament champions. With the end of the tournament, this brings the season to an end for the Viking Midget Club and with that they would like to express their thanks to everyone who supported and helped them throughout the 1980-81 year.

Club To Host Tournament

On Sunday, March 22, eight members of the Viking Curling Club participated in a tournament hosted by the Camrose Club. Competition was very close with entries from Edmonton as well as Camrose and surrounding areas.

Walter Stefank had the strongest showing as he went undefeated to finish first in men's singles.

Alma and Doris Fouts reached the finals in ladies doubles, only to lose, which forced them into a play-off for second and third. In that match they were narrowly defeated and had to settle for third.

Alma Fouts finished fourth in ladies singles; a good showing against much more experienced competitors.

Next weekend will be an extremely busy one as some members will be competing in a tournament in Leduc on Saturday and then will be hosting their own tournament on Sunday at the Viking School gym. Play will commence at 9:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day.

Any interested spectators are more than welcome to come out and enjoy the games.

Irma Home And School Hosts Variety Concert

On Friday, March 27, the Irma Home and School Association hosted a Variety Concert which was enjoyed by a large crowd.

The Master of Ceremonies Charlie Allen welcomed everyone and introduced the Senior Band who opened the program with "O Canada."

Band Master Don Nash and the Senior Band gave a fine performance as they offered their next two selections "Muppet Show Medley" and "Longer."

Christopher Nash then entertained the crowd with a delightful rendition of a piece he had written.

Adding an interesting change of pace to the program were 2 pretty tap dancers, Sheri Burton and Alana Fisher.

Brace Landa, one of the Mexican students, performed a beautiful piano solo of a classical Mexican melody which was enjoyed by all.

Next on the program was a dance improvisation presented by the Irma grade six class.

"Dance from Bohemia" and "Latin Winds" were presented once again by the Irma Senior Band.

The Irma Ballet class featured Dawn Jamieson, Karri Ayres, Louisa Machine, Alana He, Candace Lee, Karri Jones, Nicole Milton and Brooke Jamieson in their performance, "Magic Star."

The Variety Concert was brought to a close by the singing of "God Save the Queen" with Mrs. Carol Greasy on the piano.

After a supper which was prepared by the P.S.B. Board and staff, the 140 people present assembled for a short program.

Members of the "Larkin Guild" class treated the audience to a fashion show, depicting some of the information they had learned.

The Senior Girls Chorus from the Alliance Church was accompanied by Carol Greasy in their presentation of "Sometimes I'll Be There" and "Ain't Gonna Let The Mountain Princes Take The Love."

The grade eight class entertained next with a number of short skits and commercials which they had written and acted in.

Karen Patterson, Shelly Jones, Karri Landa and Karri Jones presented a ballroom routine which was followed by a lovely solo by Anita Newton. Brent Pierce on the piano, accompanied Anita in her rendition of "The Rose" and "Can I Have This Dance?"

Next on the evening's entertainment was the Irma Junior Class dancing to "I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing." Members of the Irma Class are Jacqui Price, Karri Landa, Shelly Jones, Karri Shaw, Karen Patterson, Karri Jones, Vicki Kolar, Heather White and Karri Landa.

The crowd was then treated to two solos by Jim Lingard accompanied by his wife Donna on guitar.

"Why Me Lord" and "I Know Who Holds Tomorrow" were presented by a church singing group accompanied by Audrey Nason.

This was followed by two selections by the Junior Band "Day By Day" and "Huge Range."

Appreciation Evening Held

The Viking P.S.B. annual Volunteer Appreciation evening was held on March 27th at the Community Hall. This event was staged to thank the many people who have offered so much time and effort to make the P.S.B. program such a success.

of the P.S.B. Board then spoke. She made mention of those who had been instrumental in bringing the P.S.B. Board members to the P.S.B. Board members and introduced the present P.S.B. Board members and those who served previously.

Mario made mention of the fact that a fair number of people served and involved are rural, and encouraged those concerned to approach their county councillors about joining P.S.B.

Next the P.S.B. staff put on a short skit about "Warm Fuzzies" and gave a head-on view of the P.S.B. Board members and those who served previously.

The whole basis of the story is that caring, encouraging, and saying positive things to others makes a much better world than that negative, hurtful comments. The more people treat each other, the happier everyone will be.

Finally, the Director, Deborah Taylor, introduced the staff and thanked the volunteers who had supported her as much. She mentioned that although people might think "I've hardly done anything," the combination of one doing a little here and another there is what keeps the program going and therefore it does not put too big a load on

Rec Board Survey Goes Out

Included with this week's issue of the Weekly Review is a Viking and District Recreation Board survey. The survey is intended to provide the public with an opportunity to express their opinions regarding the construction of future recreational facilities in Viking.

Once the survey has been completed, the Recreation Board will be calling a meeting and inviting the Clubs and organizations within the community to submit their ideas regarding recreational facilities planning. At this meeting it is hoped that the various clubs and organizations will be able to indicate which facilities they would be willing to support financially as well as in other ways.

As the next step in the planning process, a public meeting will be called where any interested person may present his or her ideas regarding recreational planning.

For Town residents the survey will be picked up by the Clubs or Groups on their respective survey forms. Tuesday School will be surveyed by the Clubs or Groups on their respective survey forms.

The Recreation Survey

Inserted into this week's issue of The Weekly Review for residents in and around Viking is the Survey which has been set up by the Viking and District Recreation Board. The Survey is an attempt by the Board to acquire information which will assist them in planning the proposed major recreation facility which has been in the works for a few years now.

A few years ago, a survey similar to this one was also sent out in the hopes of acquiring similar information. At that time, it was part of a larger community survey which aided the Town in the formulation of a General Municipal Plan. The results of the recreational portion of that survey were used to initiate tentative plans for the new facility. Final plans were not achieved, and as the time between the last survey and now has been a few years, the new Board felt it was imperative that they acquire new information concerning the possibilities for the project. But now comes the "cruncher".

It is only with a bit of time and effort on the part of the residents of Viking and District that the Recreation Board can best arrive at the major decisions which they will face over the next year or two. Without an effort by the residents, all residents, to carefully fill out the survey, and then ensure that it is turned in to the Recreation Board, their efforts are for naught. A great deal is at stake in the planning of major recreational facilities for any community. If they don't fulfill the needs and wants of the people within that specific community, then they most often become "white elephants" which do little except survive off of an increased mill rate. The ability of any facility to survive lies in its capability to generate a major part or all of the revenue required for its operation. The initial capital expenditure which is required for these facilities can often be acquired through grants, or slight tax increases. However, their survival depends on the amount which they are going to be used.

The only way that the right plans can be drawn up for such a project is if the Recreation Board has the greatest amount of valid information that they can possibly get. They must be able to properly forecast the amount of use a certain facility is going to get. They must know how many people want a curling rink, or a swimming pool, or meeting rooms, or a bowling alley, etc. They also must know if residents are willing to support the construction of these facilities through taxation. This information is needed for proper planning.

We will not all be satisfied by the final results of the survey or even perhaps the construction. But we must all make an effort to help the Recreation Board in its deliberations. Fill out the survey and send it in!

Letter To The Editor

Editor's Note: The following letters are reprints of a letter from M.P. Don Macanowski to the Honourable Eugene Whalen, Minister of Agriculture, and Mr. Whalen's reply to Mr. Macanowski. Copies of the letters were supplied to us by Mr. Macanowski for reprint. We do so in the hopes of providing for a clarification of information on the matter noted in the letter.

Dear Sir:

I have, on many occasions, made representations to the Minister of Agriculture concerning assistance to my constituents under the Herd Maintenance Assistance Program.

The following letter was received on March 16 and I am sure the remarks, made by the Hon. Eugene Whalen, will be of considerable interest to producers of the Yegreval Community.

As a follow-up measure to ensure that such producers receive fair treatment, such applicants from outside the district were recently asked to submit any new or different information pertaining to their individual circumstances respecting yield or precipitation. This will assist the Board to make a fair determination on the facts.

If your constituents have not already done so they should write to the Appeals Board and supply additional pertinent information. Any new information respecting precipitation and crop yields should be noted.

Appeals should be addressed to: Chairman, Appeals Board, Herd Maintenance Assistance Program, 1780 Hamilton Street, Room 140, Midtown Centre, Regina, Saskatchewan, S4P 0S6.

I am certainly sympathetic with your position that many farmers suffered losses of poor hay crops due to the drought. Generally speaking though, farmers with near normal grain yields and above 60 per cent precipitation would have some to alternate feed supplies. This is why the yield and precipitation criteria were established - to concentrate the assistance in the hardest hit areas. These criteria are fundamental to the program, and to abandon them would seriously jeopardize the intent of the program.

I am encouraged that the criteria are applied in a fair and equitable manner, that is why the Appeals Board was established and that is their job. The Board will be exercising a certain amount of discretion when considering matters related to crop yield, precipitation levels and the use of superior farming techniques, but will still maintain the basic criteria as their guidelines for reviewing appeals.

My officials inform me that applications from farmers outside the drought area were acknowledged by the HMAF administered by the Appeals Board. Farmers were supposed to receive an acknowledgment card that explained the appeal process. I do not understand why some of your constituents failed to receive this notice, but their names have been given to the HMAF administration and they should receive an acknowledgment shortly.

Old Age Security Payments To Increase

Increases in the Old Age Security Pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance, which are to take effect in April 1981, were announced recently by the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Monique Bégin.

The basic Old Age Security pension will be increased to $305.34 monthly from the present $302.14.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for an individual or a married person whose spouse is receiving neither a pension nor a Spouse's Allowance, will increase to $309.08 from its current $305.94. Added to the basic pension, this will give a person receiving both the OAS and the maximum GIS a monthly total of $614.38.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a married couple, both of whom are pensioners, will increase to $615.16 each from $156.47. Added to the basic pension this will give each married pensioner receiving a maximum GIS a total of $620.36, or $786.72 for the couple.

The Guaranteed Income Supplement is paid to pensioners whose income, apart from the Old Age Security pension, is limited. The amount of the supplement varies in relation to income. The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $309.36 from $308.61. The maximum Spouse's Allowance is made up of an amount equivalent to the basic Old Age Security pension and the maximum GIS at the married rate and it is paid to persons between 60 and 65 years of age who are married to OAS pensioners and meet residence requirements.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance, and the amount paid, is based on yearly income. Where the pensioner spouse dies, the surviving spouse may be eligible for the continuation of the allowance to age 65 or until remarriage if the person has no income or a limited amount of income.

A skit "The Warm Fuzzy Story" presented by the Staff of Preventive Social Services brought a great deal of laughter from the audience during "Volunteer Appreciation Night" held last Friday in Vining.

Weekly Police Report

The Viking Detachment of the R.C.M.P. report an unusually busy spell over the past seven days, possibly due to the beautiful weather and a touch of "spring fever".

A total of 18 drivers had their licenses suspended for a period of twenty-four hours. Twelve individuals were charged with illegal possession and three impaired driving charges were issued.

One person has been charged with Dangerous Driving while operating a motorcycle. The Detachment also reports quite a number of minor motor vehicle accidents which resulted in property damage. One motorist, a resident of Red Deer, sustained injuries when his vehicle left the highway and rolled while travelling on Highway 38, approximately 8 miles north of Vining.

Following the accident, the motorist required hospitalization and is presently in stable condition in the V.R. Hospital.

Two ill and hurt incidents were reported and investigated by the Viking Detachment. Charges are being laid in both instances. Following a recent complaint of theft of gasoline from the rural Kinsmen area, charges have been laid against three individuals.

The local Detachment also investigated a complaint of a stolen vehicle. However, the complaint was unfounded and no charges were laid. On Sunday, March 29, a Break, Enter and Theft was reported at the Crossroads I.D.A. Drug Store. At present, investigation is still continuing; however the local Detachment advised that an undetermined amount of narcotics is believed to have been taken.

An Evening With Andy Russell

Andy Russell, noted Alberta naturalist, photographer and author, will be in Loughheed on Friday April 10 as part of a province-wide appearance to study the Calgary Power's 70th anniversary of service to Albertans.

The Canadian inventor of the electric utility company, the Henshaw Falls hydro plant near Seattle in 1911 to supply the first customers - two cent companies and the City of Calgary. Today, Calgary Power serves more than 60 per cent of the province including the community of Loughheed.

Mr. Russell is familiar to radio listeners as the voice behind "Calgary Power's Our Alberta Heritage" series.

In his address, he will relate some of the work he has done in the studies of the electric utility.

His evening will be the first of a series of lectures, a project supported by the Iron Creek Fish and Game Association.

Prior to Mr. Russell's appearance at the Loughheed Hall at 7:30 p.m., arrangements have been made for him to visit the Redwood Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre at 8:00 p.m.

Tickets for the evening lecture are $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children.

The evening will also feature an Energy Management display to provide utility customers with information to assist in the wise and efficient use of electric energy.

It is hoped that the evening will be directed toward pleasant raising, a

In 1911, Calgary Power accepted the challenge of providing reliable and economic electrical energy in Alberta. We pioneered many major power developments in this province during the ensuing 70 years. While the basic construction of installations like the Horseshoe hydro plant, in 1911, may now seem only an historical shadow when viewed against the high technology and scope of generating stations like the Sundance coal-fired plant, there is a common and unifying bond between them. It is people. The construction workers, consumers, employees, and investors have given the company direction and purpose throughout the whole 70 years. It is the people of this province who remind us of our past and assure us of our future.

1981 Car Check Campaign

The Canada Safety Council suggests that vehicle owners compare the need for automotive care to the need for personal health care.

Just as an annual checkup is beneficial in spotting early signs of problems and doctors advise us all to have them on a regular basis, so with motor vehicles. Check-ups can spot problems developing before they become major catastrophes. Preventive maintenance may require some expenditure, but these are usually far less than might be the cost should a total failure of a car or a system within a car occur.

The week of April 2nd-8th, has been designated as "Car Check Week". It is a good time for all vehicle owners to note that vehicle owners have just come through the ravages of a Canadian winter and few owners are as conscientious about checking their vehicles in winter as they are in summer. Just as with people, the older a vehicle becomes, the more frequent check-ups are required.

One case of neglect was documented in Ontario not long ago. A maintenance mechanic spotted necessary universal joint repairs resulting from neglected maintenance. The work was not acceptable to the owner. Later, the unit failed, breaking the drive shaft, main transmission case, and gears. Instead of the less than $100.00 a universal joint replacement would have cost, the final work cost the owner about $1,700.00.

The Canada Safety Council suggests that qualified mechanics should be consulted.

Guess Who's Coming To The Viking Inn
April 24 & 25

The newest member of the Viking R.C.M.P. detachment, who brought the manpower complement up to ten, is Constable Peter C. Hyde.

Constable Hyde was born in Smiths Falls, Ontario on February 6, 1960. Peter is the youngest of four children. His parents previously having had two boys and one girl.

Peter grew up in Smiths Falls and completed his schooling into the early high school years, up until the family moved from Smiths Falls to Markham, Ontario, just outside of Toronto. In Markham, Peter's father became Vice-President of an automotive firm. Peter completed his high school education in Markham.

During his school years, Peter was involved in a variety of sports. He was on his school football team, and track and field team. He also played hockey up to the Junior B level. Peter's involvement with track and field provided him with the opportunity of training with the Canadian Olympic Track and Field team for about five months during the summer and early fall of 1979. He was involved during this time in the 100 and 200 meter events.

Upon the completion of his high school, Peter worked for about a year and a half in his father's automotive firm, up until the time of his move to Regina for basic training.

Peter's hobbies include hunting, both birds and big game, and a variety of sports. He plays hockey, racquetball, squash, football and basketball.

For the past 6 or 7 years, Peter has wanted to be a police officer. He felt that the R.C.M.P. was the best force in Canada, and therefore applied for membership. His basic training started in June of 1980, and he graduated on January 7th, with Viking as his first posting.

Agriculture Canada's Spring Outlook

Agriculture Canada economists say that if there is to be any increase in Canadian wheat exports in 1981-82, there must be an increase of about 10 per cent in the area needed to wheat this spring. World wheat prices in the coming crop year are expected to average near 1980-81 levels.

Coarse grain prices are expected to increase moderately in the coming crop year.

About 12 million tonnes of Canadian barley would be required to meet anticipated domestic and export needs. The economists say this would suggest a 10 per cent increase in the area needed to barley compared to last year.

Prices for edible oils are not expected to change much in the coming crop year as world supply and demand will likely increase only slightly.

High protein meals could be more in demand than oils, so soybean prices may have a greater potential for increase than rapeseed prices.

Agriculture Canada economists say because of large Canadian stocks of cattle and more favourable barley prices, a reduction of up to eight per cent in the 1981 area needed to animals may be indicated.

A prairie-wide survey conducted by Agriculture

Canada in early March shows good prairie soil moisture reserves.

The early spring this year, and below-average rainfall this past winter have caused some concern about moisture levels.

However, heavy rainfall over much of the three Prairie Provinces before freeze-up last fall built up moisture reserves.

Only one area in southern Alberta and Saskatchewan now has below normal reserves.

Light Horse Club

The March 19 meeting of the Viking Light Horse Club was called to order by our President, Holly Hoyland. The pledge was then led by Gordy Runkles. Following that, roll call was answered by giving one dollar towards the ride of the rope which was given out at the previous meeting for the construction of a halter. The secretary's minutes were read by Veronica Sevick. They were adopted as read and seconded by Richard Valtner. The treasurer's report was given by Brent Hoyland and seconded by Stephen Winters.

Correspondence was then read and dealt with. Richard Valtner made a motion: we pay $100.00 to Telus as pledged.

It was decided that we meet at Chikah's farm for a practice session on April 4 from 12:00 to 5:00 p.m. The rest for this will be $80.00. Richard Valtner moved we set a date for our Achievement Day. A tentative date was decided on - July 13. Cory Winters seconded this motion.

We then saw two interesting films. One was an introduction to "Arabians" and the other was on "Western Pleasure". Both were enjoyed very much.

After the meeting was adjourned, Bruce Bridgman brought a delicious cake which was baked and decorated by Laura. Thanks Laura. We also had hot chocolate and coffee to go with it. The members then thanked Bruce and Laura for their thoughtfulness.

A very interesting, informative meeting on M.A.P. was held in Viking on March 17. Well over 200 farmers attended to hear both sides of the proposal. Ken Galloway, a representative for the Wheat Board Advisory Committee, started the meeting off explaining why M.A.P. has been proposed. Mr. Galloway stated that the basic concept of M.A.P. was to give all producers the opportunity to market all of their grain or to get paid less than which they couldn't market within the crop year. Some of the advantages of M.A.P. would be: 1. Producers could increase production and also increase income. 2. The Canadian Wheat Board could do a better job of marketing Canadian grain and could utilize the grain transportation system better. 3. Farmers could accurately estimate their cash flow. This would allow more security and stability to farming. 4. The program would help to stabilize the highs and lows of the livestock industry. 5. Producers could grow what they grow best. 6. M.A.P. is not intended to alter the dual marketing system. After Mr. Galloway's talk, Roy Atkinson, Past President of N.P.U., re-stated his support for the M.A.P. proposal.

Following the question period, Pat Perkins, of Herald Herald, delivered some scathing comments about the Wheat Board's performance in marketing its grain. He felt that the Canadian Wheat Board could do a better job of marketing and should have a better market responsive system. Mr. Perkins addressed four possible problems with our system now: 1. The Canadian Wheat Board is pre-occupied with high quality wheat to the detriment of feed grains. 2. One of the main reasons for so much excessive summerflow is the quota system. 3. The Canadian Wheat Board has failed to see the demand for feed grains and feed grain producers are unfairly treated in quota allocation. 4. Crop data - cheap raises give small volumes of grain movement.

Mr. Perkins addressed a few comments on the M.A.P. proposal. 1. Mr. Perkins encourages storage and farmers respond better to movement than storage. 2. M.A.P. is not a solution in fine but the only assurance the farmer needs is that he can move his product at a price he is happy with. 3. M.A.P. would guarantee a price for whatever is grown. As such provision would have to be made for a surplus, and therefore the initial payments probably would be low in order to compensate for the loss.

Following the question period, Pat Perkins explained the function of the Western Barley Growers Association. Pat also explained that although the association doesn't support M.A.P. as proposed, they are looking into it.

The president of the Pulver Wheat Growers Association, George Fischer spoke next. He didn't feel very positive about the M.A.P. proposal and thought that the real problem is with transportation. His biggest fear is that M.A.P. would reduce the competitive nature of the Canadian farmer and just might signify the nationalization of the farming industry in Canada. Mr. Fischer felt that M.A.P. would be a disaster.

An example of a carmelization plant in Saskatchewan was mentioned. Apparently 30 percent of the carmelization plant is a type of wheat. Mr. Atkinson was the last speaker of the evening. He agreed that the transportation must be improved and he thinks it can be. In considering our grain system in Canada, he noted that because of Canada's system, Canadian farmers have access to that market and therefore Russia helps Canadian farmers to make a living. Mr. Atkinson also addressed the question of free enterprise of which he felt there just isn't any.

Following the speeches was a lively question period. Mr. Perkins answered several questions. It was felt that either the Federal Government or the farmers, maybe even the railways, or a combination would pay. Another common question pertained to commitments. What would happen if you committed more than you had. Although no definite answers were given, it was pointed out that a contract is a contract.

A vote was taken at the meeting's end. Forty six farmers supported M.A.P., 122 were against it, and 34 wanted more information. All in all the meeting certainly did provide a change in bare information from both sides of the coin on the M.A.P. proposal.

If you wish to express dissatisfaction with the way the Federal Farm Maintenance Program was handled in the County of Beaver No. 9, come into the office and put your name on a list, before April 16.

Viking Chamber Honors Mazankowskis

"Mas' Night", sponsored by the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce, was held last Friday evening with a crowd in excess of 800 people in attendance. The evening was designed to honor Don and Lorraine Mazankowski for their accomplishments as Don is a Viking native son.

The evening began with Bill Mathison offering the Grace, followed by a fine meal. Shortly after the meal was completed, Chamber President Lane Carrington, who was chairing the evening, introduced the head table (see picture page 7). Mr. Carrington then introduced Horis Armiga who brought greetings, and a unique gift, from the County of Beaver. She was followed by Mayor Will Baskin who praised the Chamber for holding such an evening, and brought greetings from the Town of Viking.

The Provincial level of government was represented by M.L.A. Tom Lyons, who brought greetings from the Premier and the Government of Alberta.

Mrs. Sybil Brower was then called upon to introduce Lorraine Mazankowski. Mrs. Brower related her experience with the young Lorraine. Lorraine was the first to come to Viking to serve in the Viking Hospital. Mrs. Brower was the Ma-

Writers To Hold Spring Meeting

About 800 writers from all parts of Alberta are expected to attend the spring meeting of the Writers' Guild of Alberta, to be held in Edmonton April 26-28. Meetings will be held on the University of Alberta campus, Education North Building, Room 3118.

Noted Canadian poet and novelist Margaret Atwood will be a guest speaker at the meeting, and will also give a public reading. Another highlight of the program will be a three-hour "Readabout," in which writers will be interviewed by reading from their own works.

The meeting will open late Friday afternoon, with registration and a coffee party. Margaret Atwood will give her public reading on Friday evening at 7, and business sessions will continue through Saturday and Sunday.

The writers' Guild of Alberta is a new organization, formed last October at a meeting in Calgary. Edmonton provides the Writers' Guild.

Writers interested in getting information about joining the Guild or attending the April meeting may write to the secretary, Marlene Summers, at 1618, 95 Avenue, Edmonton T6B 4Y7 or telephone her, afterwards at 661-0100.

Mr. Larve loves to speak to teachers, social workers, parents and teens, he relates well on any level and has much to give if we want to listen.

Since 1970 Fr. Larve has been heading St. Joseph's in Regina. It has become a home, a special school and a treatment centre. St. Joseph's has been home for some 800 delinquents with many serious problems. His latest project is to establish an intensive care unit for the most suicidal.

A number of Viking people on different occasions have heard Fr. Larve speak before and have been delighted with his talk as well as having a great learning experience.

Perhaps we are still a town with a lot of problems and maybe each one of us young or old can come and learn something about social problems. So come, listen, learn. Everyone Welcome.

From The Ground Up

District Agriculturist
Jerome Manchur

A new program has been announced for the Alberta Ag Producers. Main feature of the new program is that the program is designed to help producers meet operating costs during periods of low returns.

Participating producers will pay a premium which, when matched by the government, will cover the cost of operating the program. The price support level takes into account cash, cash costs of the operation, labor at $0.40 per hour, interest on operating costs, and 75 per cent of interest on investment. No depreciation will be taken into consideration. 4. Similarities with Saskatchewan's Program: Voluntary; 50/50 producer and government premium sharing; Based on production cost estimates; Producer premium $1 and one half per cent of gross revenue. 5. Other features include: Payments calculated weekly, paid monthly. This keeps it current. Upper limit $1000 tops per year. Entry once per year at full coverage. Four year contract participation. Comparable to Emergency Stop-Loss Program and SHARP (Sask.).

There has been some interest in establishing rural crime watches. Please inform me if you are interested and I'll arrange a meeting in your area and perhaps we can get something started.

On April 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bruce Recreational Hall, I will be teaching a course on spraying in metric units. All chemicals are coming out in litres. Some feel they can just measure the litres in a gallon container; you could be in for big trouble though because many of the companies have changed their concentrations. For example, 1 gallon of 24D may now cover 4 acres anymore. It might only cover 3 acres.

Following my presentation, Laurie Weatherill, the Agricultural Fieldman, will be talking on weed control.

METRIC CALIBRATION CLINICS AT YOUR FARM

That's right, Laurie and I will come out and calibrate your sprayer in metric units. All we ask is that you have it or more neighbors there to also see how the sprayer is calibrated. Please either of us or we can book you in.

Have a good week.

Blair Kolosny and Deana Simmonds of Viking have been selected to represent northern Alberta in the Canadian National Science Fair which will be held from May 10th to 17th in Kitchener, Ontario.

Also attending this week long Science Fair will be Russell Giebelhaus and Dale Lutz of Horden. The selection of Russell Giebelhaus and Dale Lutz comes as a result of their taking the Physics Award at the Northern Alberta Regional Science Fair held in Edmonton on April 18th and 19th.

Blair Kolosny and Deana Simmonds were awarded as a result of their winning first place under the Alumni Award for Basic Research. The combination of Kolosny and Simmonds received the Best Research Award in a previous Science Fair and it is the first time in the history of the awards that this award has been won by the same students twice.

The trip to the Canadian National Science Fair in Kitchener will be sponsored by the Edmonton Regional Science Fair and the County of Beaver. A total of four winners may be chosen from categories A, B, or C to represent the Edmonton Regional Science Fair at the National.

The project displayed by Kolosny and Simmonds dealt with "Gases and their Physical Effects on Agricultural Plants". The winning entry produced by Giebelhaus and Lutz was entitled "Optical Wave Guides".

The County of Beaver Students made an excellent showing at the Edmonton Regional Science Fair held at the M.E. LaFarge Composite High School.

This Science Fair has competitors from the following school systems: Edmonton Public School, Edmonton Catholic Schools, County of Athabasca, County of Beaver, County of Lac St.

Anne, County of Parkland, County of Smoky Lake, St. Albert Separate School District, Sturgeon School District, Wetlock R.C.S.D. #10, Westlock School Division #37 and Yellowknife School District.

Viking Guide To Eire

In a recent competitive interview, Miss Patti Ash of Viking was selected to represent Canada at an International Girl Guide Camp in Ireland.

Canada has been invited to send eleven girls to the camp. Two candidates were chosen from Alberta, Miss Margaret Fredericksen of Edmonton and Miss Ash.

The camp is to be held in late June and early July at a Dublin in Eire. The girls will also spend a few days in the Dublin.

On her return from Ireland Patti will be available to give a talk about the camp and her experiences.

County Funding Requested For Garage

A delegation from Viking comprised of Hospital Administrator Rod Krup and Council Chairman, Jack Roddick attended the April 8th meeting of the Council of the County of Beaver.

The purpose of the delegation was to request funding for the construction of a dual purpose garage facility on the new hospital site.

In addressing Council, Rod Krup opened by stating that he hoped to clarify the Board's position in regard to the construction of a dual purpose garage. During a previous Hospital Board meeting Councilors Armitage and Maxwell expressed concern over the proposed plan, indicating that it may be more elaborate than necessary.

The proposed garage facility would be located at the north end of the new Viking hospital site, just off 58th Avenue. The building would cover an area of 2,540 sq. ft. Approximately 1800 sq. ft. would be used for hospital purposes and the remaining 740 sq. ft. would be used for a dual purpose garage.

This was the 31st year of the competition and a total of 58 School Divisions and/or counties participated.

Deana Kittle of Viking was the County winner in the grade 5-6 category and Dany Gates of Tofield was the winner at the grade 7-8 level. These two essays together with two essays from the remaining 55 divisions or counties were handed to the judges for selection of the provincial winners.

Deana is the oldest daughter of Bill and Lynn Kittle of Viking. She has always been fond of literary work and creative activities. Deana's essay was selected as the County winner at the grade 5 level in last year's competition. She has recently been declared the winner in the Veg. Health Unit writing competition for 1980, for her poem entitled "Land of Nutrition."

Viking Girl Wins Provincial Award

The Alberta Society Council recently announced that the essay written by Deana Kittle of Viking submitted in their latest Rural Safety Essay competition was considered by the judges to be the best in the Province for the grade six level.

Deana and three other students now representing each of the grades 5, 7, and 8 will be honoured at a banquet at the Chateau Lacombe in Edmonton on Friday May 1st.

Lieutenant Governor of Alberta, Frank Lynch-Staunton will present the students awards. These awards include $100.00, a gold plated pin and a certificate mounted on a wooden plaque. The plaque will be hung in the Viking School as a permanent record of Deana's achievement.

The Space Shuttle

The culmination of years of scientific research and development was realized on Tuesday afternoon when the United States space shuttle "Columbia" landed safely at Edwards Air Force Base in California. The efforts and knowledge which went into this massive project should be applauded with great vigor, for the benefits from the U.S. space program to date to all of mankind have been tremendous. To view this latest effort as meaningless or lacking in value is ludicrous, for our own nation is one of the major beneficiaries of this program.

The economic spin-offs from the U.S. space program are tremendous. Presently, a Canadian firm, with the aid of a $100 million Canadian government grant, is developing a "mechanical arm" which will be used in future space shuttle flights to place objects in space. The first of the "arms" will be a gift from the Canadian government to the U.S. space program. However, it will not be a waste of the taxpayers' money. Already, the U.S. space program has ordered a further four such "arms" at a price tag of between $75 and $100 million. It is also expected that other nations will purchase the "arm" for specialized work in technical areas such as nuclear power plants. The job creation and tax dollars which will be gained from these sales are a direct result of the U.S. space program.

For this "gift" of a mechanical arm, the Canadian government is also supposed to receive preferential treatment in the use of the space shuttle as a conveyor of satellites into space. Presently, it costs about $22 million to launch one communications satellite. This cost will be cut considerably once the shuttle service becomes more routine. A nation the size of Canada will be utilizing a vast number of communications satellites for all facets of life in the near future. We already have about a half a dozen such satellites floating around in space, and the number is sure to increase. With preferential treatment in the use of the shuttle service, only benefits can be returned to this nation.

The efforts of the space program in miniaturizing equipment so that they will fit in isolated places has led to a wealth of developments which aid in every day life for people in all walks of life. The computer has become a common tool, and its development is partially due to the space program. As well, the development of such things as artificial limbs for disabled people, with their near life-like capabilities is also partially due to the space program. The list in our society today is lengthy, and will continue to increase as the space program continues. Although the short-term benefits don't appear to be numerous, the long term benefits should be tremendous.

Hopefully, the major thrust of the space shuttle program will be for the development of life saving and life preserving devices and knowledge. The one true fear is that it simply provides a new, more awesome method of potentially delivering destruction upon mankind. All the positive things which have accrued from the space program to date could be totally wiped out in a matter of hours if this were the aim of the program, and this aim was realized. We must have faith that only positive, constructive aims and attitudes will govern the use of this newest "space ship".

should the County comply with this request they would be responsible for funding of 60 percent of half of the total cost, including the architect's fees.

In the discussion that followed County Council members questioned the need for such a large and somewhat elaborate facility and questioned the reasons for a hospital storage area outside the immediate hospital.

Red Krips explained that adequate storage had been requisitioned in the original hospital design but due to government cut backs and a freeze on hospital construction, approval for the hospital only came about after a number of revisions, one of which was to delete the storage space in question.

Alan, in view of the constantly rising costs of construction, the Hospital Board felt it was to construct an adequately sized and appropriately designed general storage area outside the hospital with a constant shortage of space and a number of additions.

In view of the fact that there is a possibility of the province withdrawing from an ambulance program Mr. Krips suggested that Council investigate the possibility of using funds previously planned for ambulance purchase for this construction project.

If in fact a provincial ambulance program does in fact effect it will not be as a retroactive basis. Therefore funds used for any immediate ambulance purchases would not be reimbursed to the County.

Council decided to table the matter until further information was made available and tenders for construction were received.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:
 Being a "hockey mom" is a rewarding, frustrating and sometimes bewildering experience.

As I did almost every other hockey parent, I attended the Minor Hockey Annual Banquet held last Sunday evening. I was never more disgusted in my life than when the Bantam hockey team and their coaches were announced and called to the stage.

Trophies are a fine and small token for the hours time most spend away from their homes, but to all there and watch while one man who has never missed a practice, was always there when the coach's business called him away, or when the manager went on holidays; failed to be appreciated, was disappointing.

I've done some checking and discovered that Mr. Volker also held a card to take this team to any victory in Canmore as well as victories at both Falkland and Edmonton.

To say he was not recognized or appreciated by the team and the other coaches is false. It was the head coach who in fact invited Mr. Volker as part of the team to go up for the presentations.

Hopefully by next season Mr. Volker will have far gotten the embarrassment he must have felt when after so many hours with the team, those who make the decisions on who is deserving of recognition, found him lacking.

Arts Centre Future In Doubt

To the Town of Viking, as a motion by Council's Mac-will.

In the area of road construction, Council approved the construction of a new bridge in Division 1, located approximately one mile east of the town of Viking.

As a result of the County's decision to discontinue the operation of the Beaver Regional Arts Centre, Members of the Council expressed regret over the possible closure of the only cultural centre within the county and the unfortunate financial situation the centre is in. Responses for support from surrounding communities does not appear to be substantial. Although it has been determined that the centre is not self-sufficient, opinions varied as to the possibility of it becoming a viable unit if operated on different basis. Due to the type of building it is the cost of heating and insurance are high. Council felt that the centre can not hope to become self-sufficient and are not prepared to support the centre to the extent requested. However they felt that if some other security was willing to port forth a reserved opportunity program they would be appreciable to negotiate a cost sharing program.

Council felt that the centre can not hope to become self-sufficient and are not prepared to support the centre to the extent requested. However they felt that if some other security was willing to port forth a reserved opportunity program they would be appreciable to negotiate a cost sharing program.

County Councilors gave their approval to the annexation of the old hospital site at the town of Viking, as a motion by Council's Mac-will.

In the area of road construction, Council approved the construction of a new bridge in Division 1, located approximately one mile east of the town of Viking.

As a result of the County's decision to discontinue the operation of the Beaver Regional Arts Centre, Members of the Council expressed regret over the possible closure of the only cultural centre within the county and the unfortunate financial situation the centre is in. Responses for support from surrounding communities does not appear to be substantial. Although it has been determined that the centre is not self-sufficient, opinions varied as to the possibility of it becoming a viable unit if operated on different basis. Due to the type of building it is the cost of heating and insurance are high. Council felt that the centre can not hope to become self-sufficient and are not prepared to support the centre to the extent requested. New Nursing Home Boundaries Requested

Members of both the Viking and Tofield Hospital Boards met with the County of Beaver Council to discuss the establishing of new boundaries for nursing home district jurisdiction.

Also attending the meeting was Mr. Protti who has been involved with provincial hospital matters for a great number of years. Although semi-retired he has been working with the provincial government in connection a great deal of research into the effectiveness and viability of existing nursing home districts.

Mr. Protti outlined the provincial system in detail and relating to the local scene travelled back to the time when auxiliary hospitals were first established.

From there a provincial survey determined the needs of the people could be met by way of establishing nursing homes. These were under the jurisdiction of the local hospital boards. At the time when the Kilman Auxiliary Hospital was to be established, legislation had been passed allowing hospital districts to amalgamate. The County of Beaver amalgamated with the Flagstaff District for the purpose of building Kilman Hospital. This larger district was still under the authority of the Viking Hospital Board and the Viking Nursing Home District.

Later when the Viking Nursing Home was to be built, Viking requested a split from the Flagstaff District. From that time until the present the Viking Hospital Board have been the focus in authority over the entire County which was designated as Viking Nursing Home District #10.

Tofield is now in the early stages of constructing a new auxiliary hospital and a nursing home and would like a further split whereby they would gain the authority to request funds from the County on their own behalf.

Viking Hospital Board and the Tofield Hospital Board are in agreement over the establishing of new boundaries. However there are two small portions within the County of Beaver not included in District #10. One parcel is situated in the north Horden area and is under the jurisdiction of the Vegreville Hospital Board while the other takes in a small portion between the Hamlet of Bruce and the Village of Dayland and is included in the County of Flagstaff Nursing Home District. All concerned with the establishing of this new boundary between Tofield and Viking, felt that these two smaller portions should be brought into one district or the other at the same time. From the County's stand point, this would be a wise decision as it would provide a more complete unit for the purpose of tax levies.

Mr. Protti suggested considering their wishes to the appropriate branch of the Department of Hospitals and Medicines.

Irma Co-op Association Has Banner Year

The annual membership meeting of Irma Co-operative Association was held in the Ladies Hall, Irma on Wednesday April 8th. The meeting was called to order at approximately 1:40 p.m. by President Lawrence Savago. There was a year-end report of the association. The minutes of last year's annual meeting were read. The minutes of the March 26th, 1980 were read by the secretary Eddie Jackson. The minutes were discussed and questions relating thereto were asked and answered. Minutes were accepted as read. The secretary then read the report of the board of directors, which was very comprehensive and dealt in detail with the operations of the board and the Co-operative for the calendar year 1980. It stated that $1 new members had applied for membership and had been accepted. Year members had moved away and their equities paid out. Also the rotation of three directors was completed. A few questions were asked and were answered by the president, or the manager. The directors report was then adopted as read. One member complimented the writer and said it was an excellent report.

The president then read the auditors report and financial statements and the answers to questions, which were mostly asked for clarification. The report was then adopted.

The manager, Mike Fisher gave his report, in which he said that the business done in 1980 amounted to a total of $1,215,540.00 which was an increase of $204,754.00 over 1979. The net savings of $80,480.00 before income tax or 7.1 per cent was the best saving for the association with the exception of 1976 when the savings were 8.6 per cent. He said that dividends paid in 1972 and 1975 were paid out amounting to over $60,000.

Mike expressed thanks to the members of the board for their interest, help and encouragement. He also expressed thanks and appreciation to the members of the staff, who had done an excellent job of giving service to members and others.

It was the loyal support of the members patronizing their own store which had resulted in this excellent turn over and savings. Mike also suggested that thought might be given to holding the annual Co-op picnic on Wednesday instead of Sunday. Also that perhaps the annual meeting would be held in the evening instead of the afternoon. Those he ling matters for the board to decide.

Mike also gave a report on the return to the store by the R.C.M.P. of the goods taken when the store was robbed in 1974. One item not returned was the shot gun which had been saved off, as the Mountain said it was now an illegal weapon.

A vote of thanks to the manager, staff and the board was carried with appreciation.

Eddie Jackson and Hugh Tomlinson the retiring directors were presented with another three year term, unopposed. Associate board members, Doreen Hill, and Lorna Jackson were elected, all for a one year term. The meeting was adjourned and coffee and freshly baked long-johns were enjoyed.

Viking Chamber Of Commerce Minutes

The March meeting of the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce was held on the 26th and called to order at 12:30 at the Viking Inn.

Bill Kamphuis moved that the minutes of the last meeting be accepted as printed in the "Chatter". Seconded by Jim Jones.

President Lane Carrington introduced Dale Wadsworth who will be our Chamber representative from the Agriculture sector.

At the February meeting of the Chamber, was denied not to print "Viking Brochure" for distribution through the Basin River Tourist Association. However having researched the matter available from surrounding towns, Jenny Bird proposed we reconsider the decision on this project. Following discussion it was moved and carried unanimously to print 5000 small brochures as soon as possible.

Three unpaid arrears Alberta Government Telephone B.R.T.A. membership dues and Alberta Chamber membership dues were presented. Moved by Ken Bird and seconded by Len Ottison we clear these accounts.

Correspondence was received from B.R.T.A. re: grant for moving of tourist information booth to its new location at the South end of Main Street. A request was received regarding the purchase of Viking's trade dollar. As we no longer have these on hand the secretary will advise the writer. Discussion followed as to whether or not we should again have these trade dollars produced. It was tabled until a later date.

Red Kripps who had been working on the "Max Night" committee, read a letter which was to be distributed to create interest and explain the purpose of the evening.

A letter was received from the P.R.O. office requesting one volunteer from the Chamber to work on the second annual Canada Unity Day Picnic. No volunteers came forth. The president advised he would try to find a volunteer from the Chamber membership unable to attend this meeting.

The president mentioned the retirement of a long-time member of the Viking business community. It was agreed the President and secretary offer the Chamber thanks for best wishes for a happy retirement to Bill Young by way of a letter.

Jenny Bird advised the Chamber that the Statute Committee which was formed a few years back was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. They had again headed the seniors low rental housing complex, for which approval has now been granted. She advised that sponsorship had really been in name only and asked for their continued support. It was moved by Ken Bird and seconded by Vince Skerif that we continue to open on a by-laws by Red Kripps.

Beard, was called to the stage and presented a cheque in the amount of $2,000.00 from the Viking Gas Union to go towards the purchase of a new gas station for the Carina. Gordon Aronson, on behalf of his team mates handled the presentation.

A token of appreciation was presented to Emily Laford for her endless dedication to the efficient running of the Carina Snack Bar.

Also in attendance for the evening was Mr. John Kelly, head of Minor Hockey for Zone II. Taking the time, Mr. Kelly spoke of the great dedication and contribution of one of our members and went on to inform the gathering that there are seven teams within Alberta's boundaries. Each zone has the option of presenting a plaque of appreciation to someone within the zone who's efforts have been beyond the "call of duty" with this season he then called on Gary Woloshak to receive the 1980-81 Zone II Award. Mr. Kelly's selection was rewarded in applause from the parents and hockey players alike. Upon accepting the plaque, Gary in turn spread the Award around saying it would not have been his honor to receive such an award if not for the backing of a dedicated association, co-operative parents and hard working enthusiastic hockey players.

The evening came to a close with the 1980-81 Minor Hockey raffle draw. The winning ticket was drawn by R.C.M.P. Detachment chairman, Dianne Clouston with Gordon Bird announcing Clint Newby of Viking the lucky winner.

The meeting was sponsored by the Palmer Wheat Growers, the Western Barley Growers, and Alberta Agriculture, and was held in the Viking Community Hall.

Tourism Destination Study For Central Alberta

The Department of Alberta Tourism and Small Business has arranged to have several studies done on the tourism resources of various regions in Alberta. To date, such studies, completed by consultants, have covered the following regions: Southeast Alberta, Grand Central/Bonnyville, Southwest Alberta and Grand Cheche and presently a similar study is being finalized covering West Central Alberta.

An area completely left out of the study program is "East Central Alberta." Our Association (BRTA) has been in contact with the Minister of Tourism and Small Business, the Honourable J. Allen Adair in regard to the neglect of a study covering the East Central Alberta area.

Mr. Adair advised that the present Tourism Destination Area Studies are part of a three-year program and the program is due to end in March 1982. However, Adair says "Based on increasing interest and support for the destination area development program, it is possible that the program could be extended to other regions in the province in 1982, or all of Zone 6 could be the subject of a destination area study if the program is extended."

To this end, we are asking for the support of all Municipal Councils, Chambers of Commerce and any other interested groups.

What Is Spring?

Spring is birds and bees and flowers, sunshine, rainbows and April showers.

Water fights and beautiful nights.

A whole new life for all kinds of mammals, fish, cats, bears and even camels.

Spring is when birds build their nests.

And big black bears come out from their dens.

If you look around some nights.

You may see the northern lights.

That's what spring is.

New Hospital To Receive Patients This Friday

This Friday is moving day for the staff of the Viking General Hospital. On Friday at noon, the many years of lobbying, planning and construction will culminate in the move to the new Viking Hospital.

Prior to the announcement in January of 1978 by then Hospital Minister Gordon Minns that Viking would be getting a new hospital, many years of pressuring the government for a new facility had been realized. On May 28th of 1979, the official and-boring ceremony took place for the construction phase of the hospital.

Takeover of the new facility was finalized in March, and preparations for the move to the new facility got underway in earnest on March 22nd.

Since that date, a number of activities have been going on at the new facility. Each member of the hospital staff has been given a tour of the facility, and has spent some time becoming oriented to their particular specialty area in the new facility.

Following the withdrawal of the construction company, extensive cleaning was also necessary to bring the hospital up to medical standards. In conjunction with this, the equipment which has been installed in the hospital was put through extensive testing to ensure that it worked properly.

Another requirement of the move was ensuring that all the departments were fully stocked with the supplies necessary to be operational. The past six weeks also saw the arrival and assembly of furniture for the new facility.

As part of the "commissioning" or moving process, the Hospital Board conducted a number of tours for special groups, such as the Town Council and the Hospital Auxiliary. As well, this past week saw all of the students in the Viking School being treated to a tour of the new building. No further tours of the facility will be conducted until after the official opening on June 1st.

One of the final requirements in preparation for the move took place last Thursday and Friday when a "dry run" occurred at the new hospital with all departments being staffed. A number of area people acted as patients for various activities surrounding the operation of the new hospital. This was in anticipation of discovering any "bugs" prior to full operational status.

At present, no elective admissions are being received at the old Hospital. Emergency admissions and maternity cases will be admitted to the old facility until noon on Friday, May 1st, along with emergency operations. After this date and time, those patients will be received at the new facility. Elective admissions will resume at the new

Contrary to rumours, B. of M. manager Bill Kamphuis was not attacked by an irate customer. As a member of the Viking Fire Department, Bill was a "patient" for the practice run carried out last week in preparation for the opening of the new Viking Hospital this Friday. Staff Photo

Parkland Facility Purchased

Hospital on Tuesday, May 1st.

Shortly after noon on Friday, the transfer of the few patients remaining in the old Viking Hospital will begin. Plans are to have the transfer completed in a few hours, and the new Viking Hospital should be fully operational by the evening of Friday, May 1st.

Extensicare Ltd., a Canadian company which specializes in providing a range of long-term care and health care services, has recently purchased the Parkland facility in Viking, Alta.

In making the announcement Paul Rushforth, assistant vice-president of Extensicare, reported that it is his company's intention to work in close co-operation with staff members of the Viking home and to offer residents the type of quality care that has earned Extensicare a fine reputation.

"We've built our reputation upon providing quality care and responding to both the resident's and the community's needs," he says. Extensicare, reports Rushforth, was established in 1960 and has since grown to become one of the best known and well respected health care organizations in Canada. In addition to operating nursing homes, the organization presently operates hospitals, diagnostic laboratories, mobile health units and a wide range of other health-related services. That background, coupled with the specialists the company has been able to attract to its staff, has enabled Extensicare to become thoroughly familiar with all aspects of both long-term and health-care related services.

"We believe," says Rushforth, "that our background, together with our stated goal of always striving to deliver the best possible care, will assist each Parkland facility, each employee, to both continue to maintain and improve the quality of care provided to individual residents."

The Viking home is one of 12 nursing homes located in Alberta and is a sister facility to a nursing home located in Halifax, N.S. All were recently purchased by Extensicare.

All three juvenile occupants of this truck owned by Ron Petrovsky of Viking were hospitalized following a single vehicle accident 6 miles north and about 10 miles east of the Town on Saturday evening. Staff Photo

The Viking Fire Department responded to this grass fire along Highway 14 near the garbage dump. Fire Chief Bill Kamphuis indicated that cause of the fire is believed to be a spark from garbage burning at the dump. He reminds everyone that burning at the dump is not allowed, nor is burning within the Town limits, and that five permits are required in the country. Staff Photo

Not Too Late

From time to time, events occur involving our children, or young people in our communities, which cause us, either individually or collectively, sit up and take notice. The type of "notice" that is being referred to here is concern, or perhaps even worry, about their actions. Often, these events cause us to question our roles as parents, and the very nature of the effort which we have made in the long process of raising our children. And perhaps this questioning is exactly what we are meant to do.

On an individual basis, this type of concern may be caused by our child's involvement with society's favorite drug, alcohol. It may be our child's lack of success in school. It may be our child's actions, or reactions, during a sporting event. And it may even be an action which is in direct contravention of society's laws. Most often, the actions which caused our concern are kept within the confines of our families, and are effectively dealt with there, as a reaction on our part to that action.

Collectively, it may be a "party" which gets out of hand which our children were attending. It may be an entire nation's attitude or actions while engaged in a sporting event. Or, it could be a group action initiated by the very existence of "peer group" pressure which goes beyond the scope of everything which we, as parents, hold to be right and proper. In this "collective" type of concern situation, often we "get together" as parents, either to talk about the situation, or to attempt to do something which will lead to its not happening again.

"Kids will be kids" We have often heard this statement, and its truthfulness is beyond question. We can't, as parents, be expected to know at all times what our youngsters are up to. As they grow up, they gradually increase the distance between themselves and their parents, thus allowing us less and less control. We can't feel guilt about every "action" which leads to our concern. Youngsters will learn by experience, either their own or someone else's. When such actions do occur, either their own or someone else's, we, as parents, should take advantage of the situation to provide a learning experience for our children. And that learning experience should be immediate.

As parents, we can't afford to wait until our child totally "falls" before we take action to help him or her in their "struggle" to grow up. We can't afford to sit back and simply observe while they are growing up, then blame others for our child's actions or failures which bring upon them little but hardship.

With the tremendous number of choices, available to our youngsters today, we must constantly provide them with guidance as they grow. We can't wait until it's too late!

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Concerning the Mayor and Town Council, are they capable of handling a small matter such as this?

I feel that something should be done about disturbing the peace of the neighbourhood all hours of the day and night.

I am referring to Mr. Ross Hansen's business who runs around, in and out with his trucks and electric welders going day and night. Could these goings on not be done during regular hours at his place of business, rather than in a residential part of town?

We neighbours have talked this over, and if this matter can not be handled, we feel that we'll have to think and vote differently come the next election.

Council is so concerned about Mr. Hansen's business licence, how let me see if something can be done about this matter. How would you like to listen to this kind of noise day and night under your window?

Mac McDonald

Irma News And Views

The large Dicks of swan which have been sent on a shaggy search of Irma for the past several weeks, seem to be blinding out and only a cautious few have been seen recently, while up to last week there were large flocks of the beautiful birds. It is presumed that the others have gone north for the summer.

Daily News has been visiting with Minnie and Jim Jackson, also visited with Ada and Sidney Johnson, Allan Beeson and other farmers and neighbors and friends.

Beverly and Albert Jackson came down from Edmonton on Saturday, April 25th, they visited with Lora and Eddie, also called on Minnie and Jim. They drove back to the city on Sunday evening.

Gertie and Pete Funk from Wainwright visited with Minnie and Jim Jackson on Saturday evening, they both keep in good form.

Congratulations are extended to Shirley Williams and Fred Gieseler who were united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony by the Rev. Taylor in the United Church at Vermilion on Saturday April 25th at 4:30 p.m. Fred informed us that they will postpone their honeymoon until some time in June when wedding is done.

Newspaper is still being accepted at Jackson's garage. The magazine and glassed paper are at present, considerable and no mail will be disposed of in some other way. Every ton of newspaper which is recycled

I believe it is correct to say that last week in general in the Irma area. Rick picking, an overabundance in some areas has been going on for the past two weeks. Much cultivating has been done and some seedling has already taken place. Fall rye is growing up vigorously well, considering the winter. The weather continues to be delightfully mild. A good days steady rain wouldn't hurt no one feelings and would do much good.

W.I. Conference Held

The nine W.I. branches of the Wainwright Constituency held their conference in Irma United Church April 18, with seventy persons present.

Betty Parsons, our convener called the meeting. After opening ceremonies we were pleased to receive greetings from Irma Mayor, Richard Larson and Rev. Anne Gossens of Irma United Church.

Two members from Alberta Women's Inst. were also present. Mrs. Kristine, our District II Director gave a short review of her life and W.I. work. Her last 3 years as Director were most rewarding. She urged all members not to hesitate to take office. The book, "Alberta Yesterday Pictures" was on display and for sale.

Mrs. Toffinair, our 2nd Vice-president of A.W.I. gave information of Provincial, Federal and A.C.W.W. work. This year we are recognizing "The Year of the Disabled". Bob Welch of Falcon Enterprises showed slides and spoke on their work and program of the disabled since 1976.

In 1980 A.C.W.W. will be held in Vancouver. A great number of preparations are already underway for the event where delegates from approximately seventy countries will attend.

Mrs. Toffinair also showed slides taken at the A.C.W.W. conference in Hamburg, Germany in 1980.

Winning the trophies were Baking-Strawberry Plains, Handcraft-Tand for first place were Strawberry Plains and Shady Cove, seventy years and over-Mrs. Bridgeman.

Betty Parsons enjoyed her year as convener. She attended all meetings and visited all branches. A workshop was held in the spring with excellent attendance.

Gifts were presented to our Home Economics. Bob Welch, 1980 year in W.I. was won by Jean Rea, Irma. Most recent member, Margaret Busch, Viking Door Prize-Betty Oakes, Kinross, Pillow Case-Marg Dickson, Roseville.

Members enjoyed visiting and selling all displays during their meeting and about noon coffee breaks as well as during dinner which was served by hostess branches Irma and Buffalo Coulee.

Grass-hopper Outlook

The total area expected to be infested by grasshoppers this summer in the three Prairie Provinces should be down from last year, but the potential for damage in some areas is quite high.

Saskatchewan is again expected to be the most seriously infested province with close to 16 million hectares threatened. A significant rise in areas with severe and very severe infestations is expected in Alberta. Infested areas in Manitoba should decrease this year.

Safety rules to live by:
RULE NO. 2:

Never stand irrigation pipe on end.

In most cases, irrigation pipes are long enough to reach overhead power lines and since they are also usually good conductors, the end result could be the end of you.

Large numbers of geese and swans were in evidence on sloughs and ponds in the Viking during the last two weeks.

Weekly Police Report

A rather quiet spell is reported over the past week with the local detachment answering to one complaint.

plaint of a missing person and one report of fire in the Bruce area, both of which were unfounded.

The local detachment investigated two motor vehicle accidents. One of the accidents resulted in property damage only while three people from the Viking area sustained minor injuries in the other.

Youth News

Well the time has come to say good bye, and like they say in Romeo and Juliet, "Parting is such sweet sorrow." I would like to thank the Town of Viking for giving me the opportunity to work here.

I have enjoyed working with the Youth of the community, and feel it has been a very rewarding and growing experience. I had a very pleasant surprise when the Fun and Fit class presented me with an engraved tray and also a poem. The girls in the "Lookin' Good" class presented me with a silver plaque. I would like to thank you all very much. So often in our field we hear about all the mistakes we've made as it is nice to know that we are appreciated. I will treasure these gifts and think of Viking often.

The bike trip went off as planned with sixteen of us present. We went out to the golf course and had a picnic and played some games. Friday, the 24th of April was a swimming and bowling trip to Killam. There were thirty-five of us and I think we all had a good time. The youth club has been formed in Viking. If you would like to have activities carry on, please join! They are looking for someone to take the President's position and lots more members. If you are interested call Elizabeth Raddick (336-3243) to find out more. We need High School students as well as Junior High. The club will also do odd jobs in the community to raise money. If you need something done, please give them a call.

I hope the rest of the year goes well for everyone. Have a good summer! In closing, "Be grateful for yourself. Yes, for yourself. Be thankful. Understand that what a person is or does is something they can be grateful for." William Shakespeare.

QCrv To Provide American T.V. Channels To Viking

The last woman to "deliver" at the old Viking General Hospital was the first to leave the old Hospital.

Cable television should be available to the residents of Viking by mid October or early November of this year. The service which is being provided by QCTV Company Ltd. of Edmonton will now include two American channels, along with the available Canadian channels.

Ed Polanski, President of QCTV informed The Weekly Review that the Company has been negotiating with AGT for the use of their microwave tower facility which is located approximately seven miles north of Viking. He said that the use of this facility allows for the inclusion of the two American channels. Under the original method of bringing the cable signal to Viking, this was not possible.

Mr. Polanski said that farmers within a mile of Viking wanted $5,000 per acre for their land. He said that this land QCTV to abandon their original plans of erecting a tower in the immediate vicinity and move to negotiations with AGT. AGT is presently installing a microwave system from Vegreville through to Wainwright. Part of this system includes the tower which is north of Viking. According to the QCTV President, the contract for the installation of a cable from the AGT tower to Viking was let two days ago to a firm from St. Albert. The Company will soon be looking to purchase a small parcel of land in the area of the AGT microwave tower for their use.

Holden Holds Spring Grad

Spring Graduation exercises were held for Holden's grade twelve class on Saturday, May 2, 1981 at the Beaver Regional Arts Centre. (See picture page 3)

Arthur Micklich was Master of Ceremonies for the evening program. Rev. O. Zachariasz delivered the invocation which was followed by a few chosen remarks from Principal Oleh Shykora.

Class Valedictorian for the 1980-81 graduating class was Anna Lukawski. Providing entertainment during the graduation exercises were the Norris family of Shykora.

Greetings from the County of Beaver were handed by Mr. Fred Reibelt, Superintendent of Schools.

Awards for 1981 were presented at the exercises: the first of which was a gift to the Holden School from the County of Beaver, in honor of the graduates. Making the presentation was Eugene Ewanick while Maurice Parnak accepted the gift on behalf of his classmates.

The Student's Union President's Message by Curtis Archibald was delivered in an exceptionally able manner and was a credit to Curtis who wrote and delivered it. A vocal solo by Anna Lukawski, who played the piano as the plan was enjoyed and encouraged.

Hospital Day May 12th

"Hospitals - contributing to maximum participation of disabled persons in society" is the message for the 1981 Canada Hospital Day on May 12th. The Canadian Hospital Association has voiced its concerns with the needs of disabled persons in a major brief to the House of Commons Committee on the Disabled and Handicapped. Canada Hospital Day is sponsored by the Canadian Hospital Association, a federation of provincial hospital (health) associations. CCHA's objective is to promote the welfare of the Canadian public through its leadership and assistance to members in the provision of better health services.

Viking General Hospital actively supports the theme for Canada Hospital Day. "We want the public to know that our hospital services are directed towards the rehabilitation of individuals with disabilities," said Jack Roddick, Chairman of the Board and spokesman for the Hospital. "Health care includes a wide range of rehabilitative services designed to speed patients' recovery and achievement of maximum function and participation in society. Our efforts are co-ordinated with other agencies to meet the needs of disabled persons."

It's Not Mischief

During the past few years, Canadians have regularly heard about the so-called "dirty tricks" which the R.C.M.P. are purported to have carried out in Canada over the past 10 to 15 years. The revelations on the "forces" activities have mainly come from the two tribunals, one federal, the other in the province of Quebec, which were established to investigate the activities of Canada's main policing body. The activities in which members of the force became involved which drew much public attention included illegal entree, search and seizure without warrants, the use of wiretaps without court approval, the destruction of private property, and numerous attempts to discredit people and organizations which they, the R.C.M.P., considered candidates for such treatment.

Some people will profess that what the R.C.M.P. did during this time was O.K., that nobody was hurt by their actions, or if they were, they probably were doing something wrong in the first place. "Surely the police wouldn't do anything illegal, or if they did, it would only be what was necessary under the circumstances." The major problem with this argument is that if such actions are allowed to go unpunished, they simply breed more acts of a similar nature, or perhaps, of an even worse nature.

For committing many of these crimes, the average Canadian would have been charged with a crime under our Criminal Code. And yet, not a single member of the R.C.M.P. has been charged, even though some have admitted to taking part in such "illegal" activities. It is absurd to expect that Canadians should watch their police force commit crimes and go unpunished, and then to abide by those same laws. The laws of a nation must apply to all people within the nation. In this case, it looks like that does not apply. To allow the police to use their powers in any way is to move towards total abuse by those who wield the most power. Many police officers complain about the rigid structure of the legal system which hampers them in their investigations of crimes. And yet, this rigid structure is there precisely to avoid abuse of the special powers which police officers have. It is obvious that some people within the R.C.M.P. are in agreement with the abuse of their powers.

A sadder fact of the matter is that our politicians, those who could do something about it, choose not to do so. Alberta's Attorney-General Neil Crawford calls an R.C.M.P. smear campaign against an Alberta organization "mischief." Why should the "mice" behave themselves when the "cat" could care less what they do?

Flashing Light Regulations Effective May 1st

New legislation prohibiting flashing lights on motor vehicles unless authorized by regulation became effective May 1, 1981, Alberta Transportation safety branch announced today.

The revised regulation was required because of misunderstanding and abuse of existing requirements. "With the great proliferation of flashing lights on vehicles during the last several years, they've almost lost their effectiveness as warning devices," explained George R. Harker, acting director of the transportation safety branch. "It is expected that these restrictions will control the use of flashing lights and thereby restore their role as warning devices for specific vehicles," he added.

As of May 1, only specific vehicles may display flashing lights, in authorized situations, while in use of the vehicle. The color of light authorized.

Flashing red lights visible in all directions are required on ambulances and fire vehicles, and gas disconnecting vehicles may display a flashing red light. School buses are the only vehicles permitted to show alternately flashing red lights.

Police vehicles are normally required to show flashing red on the left and flashing lights on the right. Flashing blue is only permitted on Peace Officer vehicles.

No red lights of any description are permitted on the front of vehicles unless authorized by this regulation.

Flashing amber lights are required on vehicles escorting or carrying wide loads, and on all tow trucks. However, tow trucks may activate flashing lights only while hooking onto or dragging vehicles onto the travel portion of the roadway, and not while towing along highway.

Flashing amber lights are permitted on vehicles engaged in highway construction, Maintenance, inspection or safety investigation, seismic exploring, vehicles providing on-highway service, funeral procession and vehicles, and public utility service vehicles.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:
 I wish to take this opportunity, through your newspaper, to express our profound appreciation to the citizens of Viking and area, for their support of the A.C.T./CPRN Search For Talent Programme.

A very special thanks to Mr. Bill Giroux and the Viking Lions Club for being the local sponsor of the Search For Talent Show held in your community on March 21, 1981. I know and appreciate just how much time and effort is needed in making preparations for a travelling show such as Search For Talent, and the Viking Lions Club can be justly proud for the commendable job done, and certainly this reflects the excellent interest their club has, in getting involved in Community Projects.

The tremendous turnout of Viking and area residents was very gratifying to witness and the calibre of talent was of the highest standard. It is indeed an honour for me to have had the opportunity to be involved in an active organization such as the Viking Lions Club and I wish them the very best in their future endeavours.

Thank you one and all for supporting a very worthy cause, the Northern Alberta Crippled Children's Fund, and may God Bless Yours in Community Spirit

Holden R.C. Youth Form Group

Mr. Luther Seide has stated that he is the leader of this newly formed R.C. group.

This is mainly to get the youth back to the church. They have a total of 10 members. President is Norman Villeneuve, Vice-President is Sean McKibbin, Sec. Michelle Kowalski, Treasurer, Rocky Ventura. One of the youth functions was a supper last Sunday. The meal was mainly prepared and served by the youth. The roasts and desserts were done in the parents' homes. Assisting in the R.C. supper klatches were leaders: Luther Seide and Mrs. Ann Villeneuve. Many local residents attended the supper. Visitors for the supper were Rev. Father Zyost of the Lemont area, and Rev. Father Sinker R.C. Parish Priest.

Entertainment at the supper was several selections by the youth band. Sean McKibbin played two solo selections on the bagpipes.

Many residents expressed their enjoyment of the supper and band. They wish the new group success.

Kinsella W.I. Report

The band table speakers were excellent. Bob Welch gave a very interesting talk on Physical and Mental handicapped people that he works with in Wainwright. They hope to have a greenhouse there for the handicapped to work in.

Beth Greenwood, one of our former members is much improved in health although she is still taking treatments in the City. It was decided to collect stamps to help Leprosy patients in Canada.

The Old W.I. Conference will be held May 28th to 29th inclusive.

Our May meeting is exchange of plants. Also please bring an article you have made this winter. Meeting adjourned.

There were 3 birthday draws on hand. They were won by Pat, Betty and Nellie. We had a delicious lunch provided by Debbie Orzechowski and Pat Redford and served by Pat.

Anyone having stamps they don't want would please save them for the W. I. They could be given to Jackie at the Post Office.

With the arrival of nice weather, it's time to move cooking operations outside to the open grill.

We immediately associate barbecues with hamburgers and steaks, but many other meats are suitable too. First let's concern ourselves with the heat source.

Before pouring briquettes into the firebox you may want to line it with foil and 2 cm. of gravel. This protects the bricks, makes cleaning easier, prevents ventilation for the fire and reflects heat.

Write briquettes are heating up it's a good idea to remove the cooking grill until you're ready to cook. Meat will stick to a hot grill immediately, making grill harder to clean.

The more tender cuts of meat cook well on a barbecue. Sirloin, porterhouse, T-bone and rib steaks give best results without any extra tenderizing. But many of the cheaper, less tender cuts of meat work fine if tenderized first. Marinating meat overnight, or for a few hours will tenderize and flavor the meat. Pounding meat with a wooden mallet will also tenderize, by breaking up the strands that can make meat tough.

When barbecuing, don't forget about meats other than beef. Poultry and pork are both reasonably priced and barbecue well. To grill chicken parts, brush pieces with oil and sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Place skin side down on greased grill 8 cm. from coals. Brown each side about 3 minutes. Raise the grill to 12 cm., and turn meat often to avoid scorching. Baste with oil after each turning.

When turning meat use long handled tongs rather than a fork, as piercing the meat lets juices escape. Below is a recipe for a basic marinade, for any type of meat: 175 ml oil, 125 ml vinegar or lemon juice, 50 ml chopped onion, 1 clove garlic crushed, 5 ml salt, 1 ml pepper, 5 ml dry mustard, seasonings.

Combine ingredients and blend well. Pour over meat and allow to stand at room temperature for 2 hours or refrigerate overnight. Seasonings - for beef 25 ml Worcestershire sauce and 2 ml oregano, for lamb 5 ml curry powder, for pork 25 ml Worcestershire sauce, 5 ml sage, 5 ml soy sauce, poultry or fish, 2 ml lemon juice, 1 ml sage, savory and thyme.

The Viking Hospital Auxiliary will meet on Thursday, May 7th at 8:00 p.m. in the Conference Room of the new Viking General Hospital.

Club Participates In Clean-Up

Like 4-H Clubs across Alberta, those in the Viking area took part in the highway clean-up on Saturday. This is an annual event in which these clubs participate.

The Big day started when everyone met at the youth Club Centre at 9:30. Once everyone had gotten settled we divided up in vehicles, averaging four people to a vehicle. We were to pick garbage on Highway No. 26 going south for ten miles.

Our big task had begun. Everybody seemed "ready and rarin'" to go. It wasn't until the first pumper was picked up that everybody realized this wouldn't be as much fun as expected, but we managed to survive. Many articles of junk were found, some including, old thermoses, dead cats, old of pampers, cigarette cartons, numerous amounts of glass (especially under signs), hubcaps off of cars, oil cans, etc. One thing that was found, that really surprised me, was a calendar with a picture of the famous Dolly Parton on it. By the looks of things, somebody didn't appreciate her singing good looks. Over half of the club members had showed up, so it wasn't too terribly exhausting. Well, at least we had one thing to look forward to, the water cooler when we were finished. It couldn't have been too hard on everybody because we all seemed to have smiles on our faces when we had gotten finished.

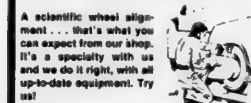

I don't look forward to it next year, but we had a good time and didn't over exert ourselves and I guess that's the main thing.

Irma News And Views

The Irma Fire Department burned the house on 49th avenue which was so badly gutted by fire a few months ago and cleaned up the debris one evening during the week.

Mrs. Fred Cladel (Shirley) on driving home from Irma on Friday ran onto some loose gravel about three miles north of town. The truck rolled and she was thrown out, and luckily escaped with nothing worse than some cuts and bruises and being badly shaken up. A neighbor came along and picked her up and she was taken to Vermilion Hospital where she had some stitches in her scalp and one arm. Her condition is improving and she expects to be released in a few days. Damage to the truck was extensive.

A heavy shower during the early hours of Saturday morning May 2nd was very welcome and at least settled the dust. Leaves are appearing fresh and green on the poplars.

Agnes and Gunnar Larsen left last week for Prince Albert, where they plan to spend at least a few weeks visiting, fishing, etc.

Joyce Bartholomew drove her grand parents, Minnie and Jim Jackson to Viking last week. Minnie visited Dr. Bennett, while Jim visited some old friends in Parkland Nursing Home, namely Mike Prewer, Dick Rohrer, Frank Murray, and Ashley Murray.

Madge and Jim Davison from Sedgewick visited with Mary and Bob Dempsey on Sunday afternoon.

A large dwelling has gone up during the last week on the west side of Prince Street in east Irma. We are told that it is being built for Haun Bros. More recently a basement has been dug just south of the Haun house. It indicates quite a large building. Judging by the excavation, the east end of Irma is growing up. Roger Cart has moved in and set up a very lovely two-car garage on his lot next to Highway 14 on 69th Avenue.

Helen Maria Ada Thurston Passes

A highly respected and well loved resident of Irms, Helen Maria Ada Thurston passed away in the Waikaraiti Auxiliary Hospital on April 2nd, 1981. Helen was born in Perthshire, South Wales in 1888. In 1910 she was united in marriage to Fred Thurston, and to this union eight children were born.

Continuing coal strikes in South Wales caused an economic depression, and the family emigrated to Canada in search of better prospects for a promising life in 1917. A small child arrived during the ensuing years of depression. Mrs. Thurston devoted herself to the welfare of her family.

The spent long, hard days working in the garden and home, without the help on any occasion. Through the hardships encountered, she rarely complained. There was always a work of encouragement to those who needed help - her door was always open to visitors.

Many a husband made her home a second home, particularly at Christmas time. She was instrumental in founding the Anglican Church in Irms, and was president of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary for many years. She was a Life Member of the Diocese W. A. She was made Honorary President of the British Columbia Regional District of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary, in appreciation of the many years of devoted service to her church. A hard working and devoted member of the Women's Institute since its inception, she was also made a Life Member of this body. Mrs. Thurston was a member of the Irms New Horizons Senior Citizens Club.

Mrs. Thurston was predeceased by her husband in 1975, and her son in 1970, and an infant grandson. She will be sadly missed by her surviving family of four daughters and four sons - Mary Russell of Mississauga, Ont.

Viking Rec. Board Calls For Support

A need for ideas, and a commitment to other financial or physical resources...this was the message conveyed at a meeting of the organizations and clubs in Viking with the Recreation Board.

Bryan Nordstrom, Chairman of the Rec Board, opened the meeting by saying that the meeting was called so that the Rec Board could gather information which will help in making future decisions. Besides this, the meeting also became a place on the part of the Rec Board for money from the clubs.

During the meeting, Mr. Nordstrom said that the overriding factor in any decisions as to what was going to be built is going to be money. He said that there is a grant of $174,000 available, which must be met by matching dollars by the community. Other than this, he said that there doesn't seem to be any money available.

The Viking Little Horse Club asked that the Rec Board provide a show ring, washrooms, a change area, and a concession stand closer to town. Holly Hoyland, President of the Club, said that it is difficult to show horses at the present gymnasiums grounds without these things.

Dr. Cunningham asked Miss Hoyland if the Club could provide any financial support for these facilities. She replied that they had had no discussion on this matter yet. And this set the general tone for the remainder of the meeting.

Both Hanson of the Viking Ag Society said that it was getting harder to get help with the Ag Society. Mr. Nordstrom noted that the Ag Society was probably the biggest contributor to recreation in the past, and that volunteers are needed in all phases of recreation.

Bill Comisarow of the Viking Golf Club said that their Club needed financial assistance from the Rec Board. Mr. Comisarow said that the Club needed about $5,000 to purchase a mower for the course. He said that they have few funds to encourage use of the course, and Continued on Page 9

P.S.S. Director To Handle Recreation

The Viking Town Council has informed the Viking P.S.S. Board that the new P.S.S. Director should be able to deal with recreation matters.

At a meeting of Council last Wednesday, members of the P.S.S. Board were asked to hear from the Recreation Council on their decision. With the resignation of Deborah Taylor as P.S.S. Director for the Town, the P.S.S. Board is presently looking to fill the vacant position.

Mayor Rushton informed the Board that the terms of reference for the P.S.S. position should include basic things that can be construed as recreation. He said that there are many projects now under P.S.S. that are recreation in nature, and that the Town must get the best value for the dollars that they spend.

The Mayor said that the Town cannot afford both a P.S.S. director and a Recreation director. The Recreation Board will still be responsible for recreation in the Town, said Mr. Rushton, but the Director could ease the work load presently on the Recreation Board.

Councillor Bert said that the combining of the positions would help to prevent the Town's losing any more great monies from the Provincial government. The Recreation Board would be responsible for the hiring of a university student to oversee the summer playground project for the youngsters of Viking. However, the allocation was not set in by the deadline of March 31.

Mayor Rushton said that this arrangement is beneficial to the Town due to the $50,000 cost which will be the Province. He said that the dual position is legal as there are recreational programs that fall under P.S.S. Brian Nordstrom, Chairman of the Viking Recreation Board, advised the meeting that when Deborah Taylor left, there was no one to handle the routine inquiries dealing with recreation. He said that jobs such as phoning Edmonton and clarifying available grants must be filled, and that the pressure on the P.S.S. Board was critical for a time.

Marie Rushton said that P.S.S. is eligible for a S.T.E.P. worker and that they might be able to help in this area. On a question from Elsie Brower, Mayor Rushton said that P.S.S. should continue to exist, and perhaps even move into that direction. He said that recreation was a bad word, and that P.S.S. could help out. Mr. Nordstrom said that the day to day administration of recreation isn't being done, but that it won't take a major part out of the new P.S.S. Director's day. He said that the members don't feel they have the time to handle routine business.

Mr. Rushton said that Council hoped that it was a short-term necessity, but that this was the direction in which the P.S.S. Board should go.

Viking Logo Contest

The Viking and District Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring an open competition for the designing of an official logo for the community of Viking.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded to the person submitting the winning design as determined by a Chamber of Commerce committee. Following the Chamber's selection, the winning logo design will be turned over to the Viking Town Council for their approval and development.

Those submitting entries should keep in mind that the design must be versatile as it could be put to any number of uses such as letter heads, envelopes, etc., plaques, etc., in the future.

The logo should depict the nature of the community. It could possibly incorporate ideas from the past, present and future as the designer sees fit.

All entries must be postmarked on or before June 30, 1981. The winner of the logo contest will be announced at the next regular meeting of the Chamber.

Holden Hosts Zone III Drama Festival

The Beaver Regional Arts Centre in Holden was again the selected location for the Zone III Alberta High School Drama Festival which was held on Thursday, May 7th, and continued through Saturday.

Though the day festival included drama workshops, performances and awards. President and Zone Director Gerjan Zwiggelaar of Viking stated that the main purpose of the festival is to stimulate and create enthusiasm for those students interested in theatrical works. The festival creates a somewhat competitive atmosphere and provides a showcase for the students' talents. The presentation of trophies which is unique to Zone III serves as any other award system, helping the students to become aware of their potential and their accomplishments.

This year's Drama Festival was an even greater success than the previous year, said Mr. Zwiggelaar, and although it proves a rather difficult task for one individual to organize the event, Holden will probably be hosting their third festival next year. Regional Arts Director Barry Walker and Ray Sorkin provided a great deal of assistance which all lead to the success of the festival.

Schools participating in the festival were from Sherwood Park, Devon, Wetaskinaw, Vermilion and Irma. The festival was held at the Composite High School from Sherwood Park winning first place in the Best Play Category. This play was written and directed by a 17 year old student who was selected in the play. Numerous other awards were also given out. This year's trophies were once again hand crafted by the Director - Gerjan Zwiggelaar.

Viking Rec Board

that this doesn't allow them to purchase the necessary equipment. Dr. Cunningham reported on behalf of the Viking R.C. Board, saying that the Club would help financially, and that no preferences were stipulated by the Club for a project.

Evelyn Carrington of the Child Development Society, asked to still be included in the site plan. She said that the Society has $25,000 to be used for constructing a Centre, and they have taken on operating the reformatory program for the Rec Board.

Bryan Nordstrom reported on a meeting between the Rec Board and the Viking Curling Club. He said that the Club is in a desperate situation and needs a new facility as the old one has been condemned. He said that the Club was considering making application to the Rec Board for the entire $175,000 grant, and would agree to work towards raising money to match the grant.

Pauline Watson, on behalf of the Viking O.R.P., said that the Ag Society has come to rely upon the Royal Purple for funding for their facilities and that the weekly blings are run for the benefit of recreation in Viking. Doris Arnett said that the blings haven't been going as well this year as they have in the past. She said that a few years ago, the O.R.P. had agreed to support a curling rink by buying skates and meeting rooms were included. She said that the organization still agrees with this idea.

Following the presentation, George Roddick of the Rec Board said that if any organization is willing to support a particular project with money, that had to be important. Mr. Nordstrom pointed out that the Town could use volunteer labour to match the $175,000 grant that was available.

One major idea that came out of the meeting was that any project would have to be multi-purpose. The cost of any project would be its use in any exclusive manner, as well, no further grants seem to be "in the horizon" for the construction of any facilities, putting capital funding in the hands of the local community.

Mr. Roddick said that the Rec Board needs more definite priorities from all the clubs and organizations, plus the type of financial or labor support which each is willing to provide in the future. When this is done, the Rec Board will be better able to see what it can afford.

A Group Of Doers?

On Monday evening, a meeting was held in the Viking Civic Centre to enable the Viking Recreation Board to hear possible submissions from the various groups and organizations within the Town concerning future capital projects. Few actual submissions were heard, and the message which came across loud and clear from the Recreation Board was that if anything was to be constructed, the groups and organizations would have to commit either financial support or labor support. It was made clear that only with the participation of these clubs, and in essence the community in general, could any major facility of any kind be built in Viking. One of the final messages given to these organizations was to return to their own communities and determine about the amount of financial support or volunteer labor support that the Recreation Board could expect from the membership.

Last Wednesday, at the Viking Town Council meeting, the members of the P.S.S. Board were informed that the new P.S.S. Director would be expected to be involved in the operational functions of recreation in Viking. It was indicated that the members of the Recreation Board should be able to handle the routine jobs such as ensuring that the grant applications were filled out, or that the recreation programs were supervised.

These two meetings raised some rather perplexing questions concerning the operation of the present Recreation Board. One question was to wonder what the responsibilities of the Recreation Board actually are. At the time of the removal of the old Board, one of the main reasons for its removal was that it was not doing its job. The new Board was expected to be involved in the operational functions of recreation in Viking. It was indicated that the members of the Recreation Board should be able to handle the routine jobs such as ensuring that the grant applications were filled out, or that the recreation programs were supervised.

Kinsella To Sponsor Youths To Goldeye

There were seven men present for the May monthly meeting of the Kinsella district in the board would appreciate the participation of more people from the Kinsella area. First to attend the next monthly meeting June 3, 1981 8:30 p.m. at the school in Kinsella.

The position of Vice-President was filled by Jack Welch. A special thank you was given Jack for the suggestion.

It was concluded that with repairs to the main gate the grounds will be closed off during weekends to discourage after hour traffic.

A lengthy discussion took place informally in regards to the formation of a Kinsella Agriculture Society being formed. Barbara Bailey, a consultant from the Alta. Dept. of Agriculture was present at the special meeting, April 22, 1981 to give the community a briefing regarding the same. The local attendance was very disappointing. A total of about thirty people were available for the meeting, the majority being Senior Citizens. This certainly indicated a poor showing for the number that the Kinsella centre serves. Further consideration is a must if we are to retain the use of the school complex.

In summation the Board decided to contact by letter all community organizations to instrument a broader response to the needs of farming the Ag. Society. However, it was agreed that the very existence of the facility depends on a positive move.

The Board will sponsor 50 per cent of the registration fee to send two youths from the Kinsella district to the Goldeye Centre at Nordegg the week of July 10 to 16, 1981. This is a program to encourage youth leadership in rural communities. The program is made available by the Rural Educational and Development Assoc. (R.E.D.A.).

There are two age groups: 14 - 16 years, and 16 - 18 years. The Kinsella Culture and Rec. Assoc. will pay 50 per cent of the fee for one individual to each of the age groups.

To apply please follow the listed instructions: 1. Your mailing address must be Kinsella. 2. Send a letter regarding the name, stating your age and your telephone number to the Kinsella Culture and Recreation Assoc., Kinsella, Alta. 3. All applicants names for each age group will be entered and one name will be drawn to declare the person. 4. The selected individuals will be contacted by phone and at that time applications will be made available. 5. Please have your letter to the Rec. Board before May 31.

Everyone of the specific age groups from the Kinsella area is qualified for this opportunity. Let's see a flood of applicants!

The meeting was adjourned at 10:35 p.m. A special thank you to the Senior Citizens for the refreshing offer afterwards.

Raymond T. Johnston

County Stands Firm On Tax Issue

An accident between a car and a truck on the old highway about three miles west of Viking on Tuesday morning resulted in no serious injuries to either the driver of the car, Gwen Williams, or the truck driver, Morris Yarmach.

A six man delegation representing the Blackfoot Grating Association attended the May 14th regular meeting of the County of Beaver. The purpose of their attendance was to advise council that they were prepared to clear up back taxes with payment spread over a period of three years and requested council to waive the accumulated tax penalties. Attending representatives were: C. Wyle, W. Leveson, D. Wood, G. Brown, R. Walker, and P. Jones.

The decision facing council involved back taxes in the amount of $18,000.00 and accumulated penalties bringing the figure to 1980 tax deadlines to nearly $25,000.00. The Blackfoot Grating Association operates on crown land situated partially in the County of Beaver with the remainder portions in the County of Strathcona comprising a spread of approximately 24,000 acres.

In the discussion that followed one spokesman questioned the assessment of taxes as he felt that land in question was of very poor quality. Council replied that they were assessed at a very reasonable rate; considering their rate was calculated on the basis of $2.00 per acre and other more valuable land within the County at $40.00. Other points which the County does not seem to consider when making their assessment on the basis of the grading land is only accessible from the County of Strathcona.

$150,000 Available To County Under E.S.P.

The County of Beaver provides for funding up to $180,000 under the recently announced provincial Economic Stabilization Program. Charles Landis, Regional Director for the north east region of the province for Alberta Transportation attended the May 14th County of Beaver regular meeting.

In his presentation to County Council, he advised that the Economic Stabilization Program was implemented on a one year basis and was designed to help subsidize off-road construction contractors who have had to face serious cut backs. Its purpose throughout the province is two fold in that it will provide additional capital for road construction and provide work for equipment in off-road construction. However the costs of off-road and paving are not taken into the scope of the program.

In concluding Mr. Landis again mentioned that priority in the use of off-road equipment is not what the purpose and mode of operation of most off-road equipment is somewhat different than that of traditional road construction equipment. Therefore, the program would probably be most beneficial if the off-road equipment was used in addition to regular County equipment.

The general opinion of council was that the assistance should be treated as equal with all other County rate payers, and therefore must be held responsible for the entire sum - taxes and penalties, however, a time consideration allows. A motion was passed unanimously to allow the Blackfoot Grating Association up to a maximum of four years to clear all back taxes and penalties assessed.

County Of Beaver Council Meets

A number of items were dealt with at the recent County Meeting during the time Mr. Landis, Alberta Transportation was in attendance.

With regard to utilizing a $12,000 grant under the Engineering Assistance program, County Council was advised that it is permissible to incur road engineering costs during 1981 even though actual construction of the engineering project would not commence until 1982.

In other previously conducted County business, Mr. R. Krue, Viking Hospital Administrator was advised April 30th that the County of Beaver No. 9 will contribute $40,000 towards the Viking Ambulance Garage project with the stipulation that a maximum of $80,000 be used for construction costs and $12,000 reserved for operational costs.

Residents in the Kinella area will soon have the convenience of a fully operational sewer system. The substantial completion certificate has been issued and actual hook-up is expected within two weeks.

The County has been considering possibilities of up-grading their communications system and had approached Northwestern Utilities in regard to using their tower on a lease basis for installing their radio communications at work. Northwestern Utilities although not prepared to offer any long term commitment, would lease their tower until the end of 1980. Due to the expense and time involved in installing and purchasing equipment, Council felt that the project would only just be completely in operation by the time the lease expired.

Therefore an alternate solution will be sought. A tower relatively close to the Viking area would provide the best service.

A rather controversial election has evolved around the construction of the new fire hall at Tofield. $128,000 is the total funding commitment from the County and they would retain one third interest in the completed project. The possibility of cutting costs of the project have surfaced and some councilors felt that a structure similar to the one recently erected in Daysland would meet the requirements of the Tofield area. Councillor Armitage moved to hold a joint meeting with the officials of the Town of Tofield so their stand on the matter can be clarified. The remaining councilors approved the motion and a meeting will be held as soon as possible.

The strong winds over the low woodland didn't deter golfers from making the rounds on the Viking Lakeshore Golf Course.

Cemetery Support

At last Thursday's meeting of the Council of the County of Beaver, correspondence from Kinross requested that the County do some weed spraying at the Kinross Cemetery this year. At the meeting, it was revealed that the County bears none of the cost of maintaining the numerous country cemeteries which can be found in various locations throughout the County. Last year, the County supplied weed spray to the Kinross Cemetery Committee, and this year, agreed to do the spraying for them. This action on the part of the County is commendable, and should be undertaken for all of the rest of the country cemeteries throughout the County.

The towns and villages have their work force to help in maintaining their cemeteries. Those cemeteries which are part of specific churches in the County have the various organizations within the institution to ensure that they are neat and clean. However, those cemeteries without town or church affiliation must rely on the dedication and efforts of small groups of volunteers for their maintenance. And it is a wonderful job that these volunteers do!

The care and concern that is obviously felt by those who take care of these cemeteries is highly deserving of praise. From the regularly required maintenance work to the annual clean-up, these people put forth an effort that gains little recognition, yet is very meaningful to those who may visit. This type of effort should be supported by the County, and all of us!

Are Your Wires Crossed?

What's your answer to the question heading this editorial? Hopefully they're not! But most of us know something that does have its wires crossed on a regular, and seeming more regular basis. That's our Government of Alberta owned and operated A.C.T.

We do hate to get into the old line about "remember back..." But with Alberta Government Telephones it does seem most appropriate. During the 1960's, most of us had little if any problems with our regular telephone. They operated efficiently, and seldom did we experience the fiasco which occurred in the Viking area during the past two weeks. Experiencing dial tones while talking to someone, having the line go dead after the telephone at the other end has started ringing, or picking up your phone and unavoidably getting connected in to someone else's conversation.

Shortly after the P.C.'s took office in Alberta, they embarked on a program of spending very, very large sums of money to purchase highly sophisticated equipment for A.C.T. The multi-million dollar expenditures looked good on the politicians' records, as they were supposedly "improving" the service to Albertans. And yet, on a with our regular telephone. They operated efficiently, and seldom did we experience the fiasco which occurred in the Viking area during the past two weeks. Experiencing dial tones while talking to someone, having the line go dead after the telephone at the

Flying Companion Seminar Held In Killam

Saturday, April 26th, at 10 a.m., the Alberta Chapter of the 90's held a flying companion seminar at the Killam Agriplex. Who can say the 90's say? Well they are a women's international flying organization whose purpose is to engage in recreational, charitable and/or scientific activities related to flying. More simplified that can be interpreted as an organization of women pilots who have many varied aviation interests, and have a lot of fun.

Two 90's, Mary Oswald of Edmonton, and Helen Lavender of Sherwood Park, travelled down to assist 90's Jane Gair of Killam with the seminar. Those attending pilots included: Rita Chisholm, Sherrie Dumas, Rose Gars, Rosemary Ben and Janice Bailey of Killam; Barb Chapman, Bernadine, Marie Danahoe and Laurie Fortin of Sudbury; and Angela Christie of Vancouver, B.C.

Various topics covered during the course of the day were: preparation for flying (the crank around), instruction on how to fly, one-draw (how the airplane flies), the circuit, points on the circuit, engine, wing, navigation, flight plans and map reading.

The ladies enjoyed a delicious lunch planned by Janet North and the seminar continued at about 4 p.m. After reading the circulation from those who attended the seminar, we were pleased to see that several of the ladies expressed an interest in taking their private pilot licenses.

proportion to the garment. For example a wide border is more suitable for a dress or skirt than for a blouse.

Choose patterns with few seams, or those marked "suitable for border prints". The less should be straight, not curved and a line or flared top and skirt should be avoided. Check pattern piece sizes. The largest pattern piece must not exceed the width of the fabric.

Generally, patterns are made with border prints by cutting off the border and sewing it onto different areas of a garment. For example, running motif or the center of a long skirt, for a neck or ruffle, as a complementing skirt or sleeve-edge.

There are many possibilities, but preplanning before you buy and before you cut are essential.

Know the ground rules BEFORE you start digging

Whether you're a contractor or a homeowner, if you're breaking ground you could be responsible for a dangerous accident. And accidents are costly.

Not just in terms of "downtime" and money, but in terms of individual lives and entire communities as well.

Hitting a gas line may cause an explosion, resulting in a loss of limbs or life - maybe your own. And damaging a gas line may start a corrosion leak that might be dangerous later. If the gas has to be shut off, an entire community could be affected.

Don't risk it! Call your gas company 48 hours before you start to dig. A representative from our Pipe Locator Team will go to the location, discuss your project and then stake out the gas lines in the area of the project.

The service is free! Please use it.

SEEDING CANOLA (RAPSEED)
1. A good seedling is a must. It should be well-seeded, slightly lumpy and moist to within 8.5 cm. of the surface. 2. Seed temperature is used as a guide when to seed. Argen- tine varieties require a minimum of 14 degrees Celsius, while Polish varieties require a minimum of 7 C/41 F. A soil thermometer is a good investment. When sowing, insert the tube to seedling depth and wait 1-2 minutes before reading. Shade the thermometer from the sun for a true reading. 3. Seed shallow, 1-2 cm. as shallow seeding increases emergence, competitiveness with weeds and increases total yield. 4. Treat your seed with a dual purpose fungicide/insecticide, such as Vi- larva. This protects against seedling blight, seedborne sheath and early flea beetle infestations. 5. Seed about 7.5 lbs. of Argentine varieties and 4-5 lbs. of Polish varieties.

'Hopper Control

An old grasshopper control method once used on the prairies may soon become popular again. Studies at Agriculture Canada's Station, Sask., Research Station have shown that spreading poisoned bran in grain and forage fields is an economical and efficient method of grasshopper control.

The poisoned bait can reduce or eliminate the use of more costly spray insecticides and also helps insecticide resistance in the environment.

Local Art Show - June 6

Another successful and close for the Viking Art Club. Under the guidance of Paul Bruid, landscape artist and instructor from the U. of A. Department of Extension, members have continued to enjoy and develop artistic awareness of the outdoor world.

Bruid's impressionistic style has brought new light and life to many local scenes on canvas, and he will return to instruct the group again in January.

Mc, a small but thriving group, the Art Club boasts much talent, the winter having placed exhibit and instructor from its in the Ryeley art show and in the Central Alberta Show in Watrous; and are proud that two of its members, Colleen and Brenda Reuser, have had paintings chosen to exhibit in the Alberta Art Show in Red Deer.

The climax of the 1981 season is the forthcoming art show and sale at the Viking Legion Hall on June 6 from 10 to 6. While viewing the wonders of an old barn or the colour you played in as a child, or while purchasing the painting you always wanted of a barkwood house, you can sip coffee and drink down. Tickets will be sold at the door on a raffle - this year a painting donated by Betty Klein.

Why not take advantage and support your local striving-to-be artist? Your interest is warmly received and encouraged, and will be awarded with perhaps a new sense of artistic awareness and perception.

AGENTS AT YOUR SERVICE

The Hospital Garage

The Viking Hospital Board has undertaken to build a new ambulance garage, storage and workshop facility on the new hospital grounds. The total cost of this project will be about $135,000, including architects' fees. Over the past few months, rumblings have been heard in municipal council meetings and in general discussion about the need for a "135,000 garage". These rumblings have been of a negative nature due to the cost of the project. Are they justified?

A total of $40,000 will be spent on the garage by the municipal governments in the area. The rest will be borne by the Provincial government and the Hospital Board. Now, perhaps the Board money could be better spent on other things, but let's look at why this multiple facility.

In the initial design of the Viking General Hospital, quite a bit more storage space was included. In 1977, the Alberta government (with at least a few billion dollars in the Heritage Savings Trust fund) put a freeze on hospital construction. However, due to the terrible condition of the Viking Municipal Hospital, the government agreed to proceed with the new facility.

Yet due to the cutbacks, the total area of the new structure was cut down, and included in these cutbacks was much needed storage space. About 1/4 of the space in the new 'garage' will be for this purpose. It should have been included in the initial construction of the hospital by the Alberta government, but it wasn't, leaving the Board to fulfill this requirement.

A problem which has plagued the construction of the hospital on its present site since it began is the site itself. A poor soil base is found in the area to a depth of anywhere from about 5 feet to 15 feet. When one is building on such a base, decisions have to be made concerning the factor. A building can be built with pilings (if it is to sit on the surface) or it can be built on a short foundation. The former method better guarantees a longer lasting structure, but is definitely more expensive. The latter is cheaper but does not provide the same standard of support for the facility. There could possibly be problems with the less expensive system, but the Board has chosen to pay the higher price as insurance on the longevity of the structure. This decision all depends on whether or not one is a gambler. In every facility the size of the new hospital, situations occur from time to time that require a Mr. Fix-it to correct a problem. Often, these problems require that the individual involved has an area in which he or she can work to produce an item which will alleviate the problem. These rumblings have been of a negative nature due to the cost of the project. Perhaps they could have opted to consistently utilize the facilities within the Town for the repairs which are necessary. However, if the hospital has the people with the ability, and can perhaps, in the long run save money in the operation of the facility equal to the cost of the workshop, then they have made the right choice.

The actual construction of a garage alone to house an ambulance or ambulances is the responsibility of the local authority. The Government will not aid in such a project. Therefore, this part of the facility is justified, as we already have one ambulance, and plans are to include another one shortly.

The design of the garage to match the hospital raises the question of the necessity of aesthetics. The roof line is similar to the hospital, with part of it projecting upwards. With costs rising daily, perhaps aesthetics are one thing which we should take a closer look at. In public projects, every dollar spent should be utilized to its maximum. Usefulness should be the guideline.

Admittedly, $135,000 for a garage, storage area and workshop does seem high. At an area of 2540 square feet, the tab comes to just over $53 per square foot, a price for which most of us could build a very nice house and furnish it too. However, if this is the lowest price for which the chosen facility can be built, then one must go with it. Wise investing by the Board and a very generous gift from an estate have provided the Board with the $80,000 which they need. Donations made for the purchase of equipment and furnishings will not be used for the garage.

Hopefully, the Board has made the right decision in their selection of a design for the new facility. As long as the new 'garage' is fully utilized, they will have been justified. Only time will tell.

Service complex for Camrose

Artist's conception of the Cargill Elevator to be built at Camrose, Nutrena Feed Mill and Cargill Alberta.

Camrose, Alberta will be the site of a major new agricultural service complex to be constructed by Cargill Nutrena Feeds. Included in the plans are a computerized feed mill, a high through-put elevator and a farm supply centre.

"The 5.0 million dollar project is a full service concept responding to the efficiency and productivity of grain, livestock, and poultry producers in central Alberta," explained Corporate Vice President, Dave Gilmour.

The focal point of the complex will be a large, fully computerized feed mill producing a complete line of Nutrena products.

The high through-put elevator has a planned storage capacity of 3,300 tonnes, and spotting capacity for 10 cars on the CP rail line servicing the site.

The farm supply centre will feature a 5,000 foot warehouse for inventories of herbicides, pesticides, food, seed, and equipment. Provision has also been made for the additional grain receiving facilities and a bulk fertilizer blending plant as required.

"As an industry we are now past the days when an elevator's sole function was to receive and ship grain," said Mr. Gilmour.

"Today's facility must be able to meet the farmer's total farming requirements from feed to market as well as to seed his grain."

HAYING HIGHWAY DIVIDERS - FOR FREE
Alberta Transportation has a policy in place which allows farmers to harvest hay on Alberta Highways. The hay is available first to the adjacent farmer. If he doesn't apply for a permit prior to June 15, it is issued to other applicants on a "First-come first serve basis". Permits can be obtained, at no charge, from the District Transportation Engineer. The man for this area is: Mr. L. B. Wertheim, Vermilion, Phone 668-2811; or Mr. W. F. Wells, Edmonton, Phone 468-7287.
In the past farmers have been told about haying highways because of bad weather and other garbage. Lately this problem has been all but eliminated by maintenance crews and 4-H clubs picking up garbage.

Wainwright Woman Wins Western Express

Bea Ferguson of Wainwright. This time things were just a little bit different. Mrs. Ferguson, the mother of six children, held a ticket that matched one of the seven-digit numbers drawn for a draw, but this time I decided many times before. But, gut numbers drawn for a draw, but this time I decided that three tickets would be enough... it's really incredible. In addition to five prizes of $100,000 and five prizes of $10,000 the Western Express also offers $1,000 prizes for ticket holders with the last six digits correct, $500 for the last five identical digits, $25 if the last four match correctly and $5 worth of Western Express tickets on a future draw if the last three digits match.

Betty Pastor, the President called the meeting to order at 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, May 21 at the home of Lorna Jackson. The meeting opened with "O Canada", and repeating the creed in unison. Eight members were present.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Ester and adopted as read.

Treasurer's report was given by Dereen and received.

Roll call was answered by exchange of plants. Business arising out of the minutes was then dealt with, and bills and accounts were all.

Correspondence: A letter was received asking if our group would consider serving a cold plate dinner for Irona Sports Day on Saturday, Aug. 1st, 1981. This was agreed to.

Resolutions which are to come up at the Provincial Women's Institute Conference in Oshawa from May 28th to 29th were read and discussed, then given to Minnie who is the delegate from this branch.

Altogether, our handicraft convener had several articles stamped and passed them out.

Pennies for Friendship; A love gift.

The raffle was donated by Ethel and was won by Minnie. Bertha will be responsible for the June raffle.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Betty Pastor, on June 18th at 5:30 p.m.

Meeting adjourned. Lorna had an interesting contest in which Alberta was the winner.

A delicious lunch was then served by Lorna.

Shower Honors Lori Prior

Family and friends gathered in the United Church Friday, May 15 to honor Lori Prior whose marriage to Al Fenton takes place on May 30. Susan Cressy very capably handled the job of master of ceremonies.

Following the arrival of the honored guests and their introduction Lori's friends provided a very entertaining program. Lyn McKee supplied a quiz followed by a reading on the hardships a farmer's wife faces, read by Pinky Gullbra.

A song written for Lori to the tune of Grandma's Pestered Bed was sung by some of the hostesses and accompanied by Carolyn Erickson on the piano.

Lori's twin sisters and cousins sang "My Best To You".

Susan handed Lori a Lariat and said she would have to show everyone how well Al has taught her to rope a calf.

Aaron Inklin dressed as a cowboy and Robin Gullbra as a cowgirl came out pulling a wagon made up like a calf.

The call was filled with gifts. Lori then opened the many gifts and very graciously thanked everyone. A delicious lunch was served.

Chairman's Message

The need for a new hospital was apparent as early as 1965, and during the next several years additions and alterations were carried out to the exterior and interior of the building.

Viking's first 14 bed hospital was built in 1921 at a cost of $25,000. Since then the population of the area has increased necessitating additions and renovation to the original building. The new 32 bed Viking General Hospital was built and equipped at a cost of $4.5 million.

The new hospital site was purchased from the Beaver Foundation, and is flanked on the east by Extensicare Nursing Home, and on the west by Valia Lodge, a Senior Citizens' home. Recently, a move was initiated to have the old hospital declared an historic site, with the original building becoming a museum, thus possibly preserving our interesting history.

Construction on the new hospital commenced May 8, 1979 and patients were transferred to the new facility May 1, 1981.

The hospital accommodates modern medical equipment and aims to deliver efficient health care services to its clients.

Vaitkunas, Jamieson Architects Ltd., provided the basic architectural services and worked with the following consultants: Structural Engineers - Duthie, Newby & Associates Ltd., Electrical Engineers - Jarvis Engineering Ltd.

You are cordially welcome to the official opening of the new Viking General Hospital which will be on Monday, June 1, 1981 at 2 p.m. to be officiated by Mr. Tom Lysons, M.L.A. Tours will be con-

Jack Roddick

"Everything You Wanted To Know About Our New Hospital... But Were Afraid To Ask"

UTILIZATION

The new hospital is located between 57th Avenue and an undeveloped lot to the newly appropriated site to the east of the existing Senior Citizens' Lodge and west of the existing Nursing Home. The existing 51st Street partially falls within the site and is utilized as the approach to the new hospital. Thus the general public approach orientation is maintained and will be in the same manner as access to the Senior Citizens' Lodge and Nursing Home sites.

Traffic patterns, view, topography, sun orientation and consideration of existing adjacent buildings have been major influences in the proposed positioning of the building.

TRAFFIC PATTERNS

The shape, location and familiarity of the site suggested that the public approach continue to be off 57th Avenue, which is one of the major streets in the Town of Viking and offers access to two other institutional buildings of somewhat related use. The avenue is therefore very clearly identifiable in the minds of the users.

That portion of 51st Street which is north of the annexed part serves well as a service approach. The two-level scheme allows optimum use of the site by facilitating adequate approach distances suitable for the new grading.

The parking area, especially the public parking, occupies a considerable proportion of the area of the site. It is so located that with careful landscaping it will not be so conspicuous as to detract from the approach and the view of the building, nor will the parked vehicles on the site serve as a composing adjunct with the appearance of the new building itself.

TOPOGRAPHY

The site grades show a difference of approximately 600 mm (2 ft) in a length of 154 metres (505 ft). To minimize the excavation required on this fairly level site, the main level of the building is raised to 1500 mm (5 ft) above average grade. The approach from 57th Avenue therefore slopes up to a grade approximately 1600 mm (5'2") above street level. The service approach slopes down 1500 mm (5 ft).

VIEW AND SUN EXPOSURE

The two ward wings have been oriented to the north east/west and north west/south east in order to obtain optimum sun exposure and to provide view minimizing the encroachment of adjacent parking lots in the normal perspective. Proper landscaping, especially around the palios and wards, generally, further enhance the view.

Clazing of exterior walls has been confined to patient areas and those areas where staff members will be working for long periods. In some internal areas, natural light is brought in by means of skylights.

In certain areas such as O.R.'s requiring high degree of environmental control, exterior glazing will be kept to a minimum.

CONSIDERATION OF EXISTING BUILDINGS

The town block grid is laid out parallel to the railway lines rather than to the surrounding farmstead section line. The adjacent Senior Citizens' Lodge is on a north-south axis complying with the section line. The Nursing Home has two converging axes which are neither perpendicular nor parallel with reference to the site axis. The rotated axis of the new building therefore respects the siting of both adjacent buildings and at the same time enhances the ease of approach from 57th Avenue as well as 51st Street.

FUTURE GROWTH

Throughout the schematic stage, the workability of future expansion, especially in the case of the wards and certain outpatient facilities, has been maintained as a design objective. In essence, the siting of the building as well as the internal layout are conducive to future growth and permit several alternate solutions.

DESIGN

APPLICATION OF CONCEPT

Space allocation was developed in accordance with the conceptual schematics and the final architectural program.

Basement level: contains materials handling facilities, staff facilities, pharmacy, C.S.R., laundry, dietary areas and building services.

Main floor: contains main ward areas and their support functions, emergency and ambulatory care, diagnostic department, O.R. suite, and general administration areas.

Roof level: will house mechanical air handling equipment.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The following prime considerations predicted the concept:

1. A single entry point for all users: The point to be preferably controllable at all times from one central location. This entry serves as the emergency entrance as well.

2. The control point must effectively, in a nursing station which has visual control of the following in that order:

- a) Special Care
- b) Nursery
- c) Pediatrics
- d) Emergency Entrance

3. Segregation of outpatient, inpatient, staff circulation patterns. Maximum staff efficiency by appropriate layouts of corridors, etc.

4. Compliance with safety in terms of formal regulatory requirements outlined in codes and ordinances and logical adaptation concerning items not defined by regulations.

5. Topography of the site and optimum coverage of concrete of adjacent structures, siting and traffic patterns.

6. The layout conducive to possible future extension of wards as well as O.R.'s, outpatient area.

The Nurses' communication centre is the hub of the hospital, both during and after hours. The main and emergency entrances are in close proximity to the Nurses' communication centre without breaking the visual control lines to the wards, etc.

Outpatient traffic flow is also controlled by general office/reception during fully staffed hours, at same time maintaining proper segregation. Departments are grouped by functional relationship and the patient areas/outpatient areas/staff areas.

Corridor lengths are maintained at minimum possible distance for efficient use of staff time. The two level concept allows supplies to be fed directly to the centre of the main floor where all the areas are located; eliminating undesirable cross flows of materials transporting as well as the ease of a single level concept were pursued.

ARCHITECTURAL FINISHES

The dominant material is brick used in a variety of massing and tactile considerations. Visual relief and an element of delight will be provided by the play of a light entrance canopy where the main material will be glass on light structural members.

The sloped roof forms will help scale down the building mass, making for cohesiveness with the surroundings. This also relieves the expansiveness of the remainder of the roof which is flat.

The skylights form a point of interest on the roof line, yet nestle into the general building mass alongside the sloped roof. The sloped roof internal perimeter serves as an enclosure for roof mounted mechanical equipment. The roof will consist of bulk-up roofing type of system with positive drainage.

Window frames and entrances are anodized aluminum. Built-in venetian blinds positioned between double glazing are used where sun control or privacy is required. Where venetian blinds are not required, hermetically sealed double glazing will be provided. External glazing is limited in order to supplement the efficiency of building cooling.

The proposed finishes result from the following considerations:

- a) Aesthetic requirements
- b) Code requirements
- c) Cost
- d) Durability
- e) Ease of maintenance

INTERIOR

Ceilings occurring at areas other than spaces requiring asepis consist of suspended plaster board which have been finished with a high gloss plastic paint or a vinyl composition tile and plaster board, painted or clad with a vinyl fabric finish. More aseptic areas receive a ceramic tile or plastic paint finish. Glazing within walls has been provided as an integral part of the wall system, in conformity with applicable building codes.

Depending on location in any given wall system, the more commonly used doors are of natural wood grain and/or plastic laminate. Some doors are the metal type as dictated by codes and function. The remainder are paint grade type. Built-in cabinets are constructed of wood and plastic laminate, or of metal as dictated by use requirements and code. Special cabinets in more aseptic areas are stainless steel.

Flooring materials throughout most of the hospital consist of sheet vinyl. The cost at such areas is either a seamless plastic coating or a standard resilient base. Carpet is used at some patient, public, and administrative areas. Floors receiving a greater extent of moisture protection such as bathing areas, also received a seamless plastic coating finish.

STRUCTURAL DEVELOPMENT OF DESIGN BUILDING CODES REQUIREMENTS & COMMENTS

In accordance with the National Building Code of Canada (1975): The Hospital is classified as Group B - Institutional Occupancy, Division 2. The building area (inclusive of basement area) is approximately 32,000 square feet. The building was constructed in accordance with Section 3.2.2.4 - Group B, patient areas/outpatient areas/staff areas. The applicable and relevant requirements of this section are summarized as follows:

1. The floor areas of the building must be subdivided into segments by 2 - hour rated fire walls; the maximum area of each segment between fire walls shall not exceed 10,000 square feet.
2. The building may be of combustible or noncombustible construction used either singly or in combination.
3. Floor assemblies over basements shall be a 1-hour fire resistive separation.
4. Other floor assemblies, except over crawl spaces, shall be a 1/2-hour fire resistive separation.
5. Roof assemblies are of noncombustible construction - 40mm metal deck.
6. All loadbearing walls and columns have a fire rating equal to the supporting assembly but not less than 1 hour.

Fire resistive ratings of the various floor and roof assemblies are in accordance with the tabulated assembly ratings as listed by the Underwriter's Laboratory of Canada.

FOUNDATIONS

The exterior basement and foundation walls and interior foundation walls separating basement and crawl space areas are of cast-in-place concrete supported by special treated gravel and footings. Damp proofing of exterior walls and perimeter insulation has been incorporated.

BASEMENT AND CRAWL SPACE FLOORS

The basement floors are normal slab on grade concrete construction and incorporate saw cut contraction joints and vapour barriers. Slab surfaces are a steel trowel finish with integral hardeners and sealers, suitable for the direct application of resilient flooring materials. In crawl space areas a concrete sealer slab and vapour barrier is incorporated on the exposed ground surface.

STRUCTURAL MAIN FLOOR ASSEMBLIES

The main floor structure is of cast-in-place concrete in steel framing. Individual steel framing members for the concrete slab system are fire protected by means of applied drywall and gypsum plaster. Concrete framing members and concrete slabs provide the required fire resistance rating directly.

ROOF ASSEMBLIES

The roof assemblies utilize a light steel framing system with a metal deck (non-combustible). The support columns, in general, are contained within drywall partitions and are fire protected with drywall.

STAIR, DUCT AND ELEVATOR SHAFTS

Vertical shafts are of concrete masonry and/or concrete construction.

Mechanical systems have been considered to fulfill all of the following basic criteria:

1. Comfort performance (includes temperature and humidity)
2. Energy saving
3. Maintenance
4. Capital cost
5. Flexibility

DESIGN CRITERIA

Winter design conditions were based on -18 deg. C.D.B. and 24 lph wind for ambient, and 24 deg. C.D.B., 30% R.H. indoors. Summer design conditions were based on 30 deg. C.D.B., 20 deg. C.W.B. for ambient and 24 deg. C.D.B. and 50% R.H. indoors.

Building ventilation change rates and relative pressures between various spaces for cross contaminant control were based on 1979 ASHRAE Guide recommendations and energy conservation measures, as currently under review and as published in ASHRAE 90-75. Humidification is to maintain approximately 35% R.H. in winter and 45% to 50% in summer. In critical areas where higher relative humidity is required both winter and summer, special treatment is necessary.

HEATING

The heating system consists of perimeter radiation in all areas where finite fenestration is a consideration. Generally, interior spaces are heated through the ventilation system. Entrances and loading ramps are heated with high pickup unit heaters.

Systems heating water temperatures are reset with the ambient temperature variations, in order to conserve energy and reduce overhead conditions.

HEATING PLANT SYSTEM

The heating plant consists of two low pressure steam boilers, sized so that 100% standby is available in the event of failure of one. Hot water distribution system consists of mechanical circulators returning serving the perimeter radiation, and is outdoor temperature compensated. Fuel is natural gas.

All preheat coils used to temper the air are heated from a separate glycol system to reduce freezeup problems during low load conditions.

Pump systems are set up in parallel to offer 100% standby in the event of failure of any one. Each system has its own pumping circuits to allow heat to at least part of the building if a major breakdown occurs.

HUMIDIFICATION

The humidification system uses steam from the steam boilers. Change valves to the boilers are used to control corrosion and scaling.

AIR CONDITIONING

Four separate air conditioning systems are provided offering year round comfort.

System No. 1 is a single duct medium pressure system with variable air volume reheat boxes and services the following areas: nursing services, ambulatory care and emergency, diagnostic suite, and administration areas. The quantity of fresh air is proportioned to offset exhaust air.

System No. 2 is a low velocity constant volume system serving surgical, obstetrics and nursery areas. All air is 100% taken from outdoors with heat recovery on exhaust air.

System No. 3 is a low velocity constant volume system serving the lichen food preparatory area only. All air is 100% taken from outdoors.

System No. 4 is a low velocity constant volume system serving the remaining hospital service areas located in the basement. The quantity of fresh air is proportioned to offset exhaust air requirements.

REFRIGERATION SYSTEM

The refrigeration system is a chilled water central cooling machine and roof mounted cooling tower. This type of system draws energy in accordance with the building load and is capable of operating through an 80% range of full load without unduly affecting the operation. This type of system offers very good maintenance record over direct expansion systems. Direct expansion systems are very difficult to operate at low loads without causing severe damage to the compressor. This restricted load variability in direct expansion systems contributes to higher operating costs.

PLUMBING

Plumbing fixtures are of hospital quality as established in the industry, and as necessary to fulfill the requirements of patients and staff.

FIRE PROTECTION

Fire protection for the building consists of a wet standpipe system in accordance with the National Building Code and applicable local codes. Individual CO₂ or dry chemical hand extinguishers are provided in the mechanical rooms and other areas where required.

AUTOMATIC CONTROLS

A complete system of automatic controls is provided to regulate desired in room temperatures, minimum quantities of outside air, control of supply air temperature and reset of heating and heating water temperature in accordance with outdoor air temperatures. All controls are designed to fail safe to full and loading ramps are heated with high pickup unit heaters.

SPECIAL SERVICES

The following special services are provided to fulfill the needs of the patients and staff:

1. Oxygen system
2. Medical vacuum system
3. Medical compressor set. This unit provides vacuum at 376/100 vol for the following services and equipment:

1. Nitrous oxide as required
2. Incinerator

CONSTRAINTS

The constraints affecting the mechanical systems of this project are:

1. Space within the structural system
2. Access to equipment
3. Installation of fire dampers on all grilles and registers
4. Location of the boiler room in the basement. Noise and overheating of the basement. Noise and overheating of the basement. Access to fresh air and for servicing of equipment requires careful consideration both during construction and for future maintenance.

SERVICE AND SECONDARY DISTRIBUTION

The main electrical power service to the new Viking General Hospital originates at a level of 347/600 volt phase, from a new, pad-mounted transformer located west of the building. This pad-mounted transformer is fed by an underground primary cable extending from the south property. The point of entry on the property line, the primary cable is connected to the existing Calgary Power Ltd. overhead pole line.

LIGHTING

All lighting footcandle levels are based upon the latest recommendations of the Illuminating Engineering Society with special consideration given to designing to minimize power consumption while still providing adequate visual comfort. In order to comply with the Province of Alberta's recent guidelines of 25 watts per square meter for overall maximum lighting loads, an energy efficient lamp and fixture is used to maximize fixture efficiency yet still provide adequate lighting levels using fewer lamps. Although the primary light source will be fluorescent, supplemental secondary sources such as incandescent and mercury vapor utilized in creating a variation in the mood or atmosphere as required. Where exterior illumination is necessary for provision of feature, parking lot, or security lighting, high pressure sodium sources is designed. In the interests of energy conservation, the electrical lighting system is designed, where practical, for multiple level local switching together with provision for reduction of lighting levels in the corridors during evening hours.

TELEPHONE

Telephone outlets are located in the Administration Areas, Staff Areas, Service Areas, Nursing Communication Centre, Patient Wards, as well as other areas as deemed necessary. Telephone in the telephone room is run underground in the same trench as the power service.

TELEVISION

A master antenna television system is provided, complete with provisions to accept cablehead. Television outlets are provided in all patient wards, the Family Room, Television Room, Dayrooms and other areas deemed necessary.

FIRE ALARM

The fire alarm system provided is non-coded, zoned, pre-signal supervised system complete with control panel in the Main Electrical Room and manual breakglass stations, general alarm bells, temperature and smoke detectors, automatic heat detectors, smoke detectors throughout the Complex. Annunciators will be provided at the Nurses' Communication Centre, as well as pre-signal chimes at each annunciator location. The installation complies with current requirements of Alberta Building standards, as well as the Provincial Fire Marshal's regulations, in effect in the Province of Alberta.

EMERGENCY POWER

An emergency power source is generated by a forced air cooled diesel engine driven generator set. This unit provides power at 347/600 volt for the following services and equipment:

1. Lighting the means of egress and exits from the building
2. Exit lighting
3. Nurses' Call Systems
4. Fire Alarm System
5. Clock System
6. Operating Suites
7. Delivery Room
8. Special Care Areas
9. Specified Receptacles
10. Mechanical equipment as designated by the Mechanical Consultant.

CLOCKS

Clocks are provided in the Administration Area, Nurses' Communication Centre, Multipurpose Room, Dayrooms, Lounges, Corridors, Laundry and Dietary Areas. The clocks are of the E.E.D. digital type, 120 volt, synchronous commutated with 24 hour time readout. The clock system is the self correcting master clock type.

INTERCOMMUNICATION

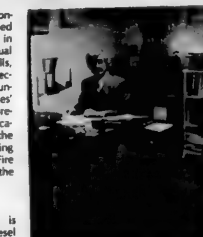

An intercommunication system is provided for communication between specified areas.

AUDIO VISUAL NURSES CALL

The Nurses' Call System is a low voltage type with both audible and visual facilities. The audible and visual portion of the systems operate independently so that either is out of order, the other will function normally. The system consists of a master station located at the Nurses' Communication Centre, with bedside duty, staff and emergency station located as required complete with dim and zone lights.

OPERATING AND X-RAY SYSTEMS

Operating Room, electrical system are provided with electrical equipment designed to the latest standards for these facilities complete with hospital type distribution panels; hazard indicators an wiring.

A Short History Of The Viking Hospital

A group of determined and enthusiastic citizens of Viking who saw the urgent need for a hospital in this area was organized on June 29, 1920. Representatives from the surrounding municipal districts formed the first Hospital Board with Mr. J.E. Kringsen elected as first chairman. Other Board members were Howard Empey, Andrew Holmberg, James Lawes, R.T. Donward, with C.C. Purvis as secretary. Mr. W.J. Blakey was elected to the Board in March of 1922, an office he held for 28 years.

The Board borrowed $1500 from the Merchants Bank to pay for organizing and the expense of conducting the hospital business for the first year. The Board members were paid $4.00 per meeting and mileage.

The original hospital location of 300 by 800 feet was donated by the estate of John Peterson, and an additional one acre was purchased later to enlarge the hospital site. W.J. Blakey was engaged as architect with Mike Johnson as general contractor, with a guarantee from the architect that the building cost, including trades, well, light plant, and sewage disposal system, not exceed $25,000. In November of 1921, the first matron, Miss Jennie Brennan, was hired at $125 per month.

The Board was justly proud of the hospital - a splendid building and a great asset to the Viking district. They were at the hospital every Sunday to show guests through. They even helped take the babies from the nursery to the mothers. The first baby born was Louis Berton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Berton.

Dr. Holton and Dr. Corbett headed the first medical staff. When Dr. Corbett left in 1922, Dr. and Mrs. G.M. Little moved to Viking, Miss Edith Hutchins, now Mrs. A.A. Burnham, and Miss Dolly Lawes, now Mrs. Duncan Wiernp, joined the staff in 1922 as undergraduate nurses at wages ranging from $30 to $75 per month. Shifts were from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., with two hours off it was not too busy, and one day off per week. They were required to clean the rooms, walk up to Berg's farm for milk (three miles return), and when time permitted, pick wild strawberries in Berg's pasture as a special treat for the patients. It was also considered the nurse's duty to make up the morning fire so the cook could make toast, and stoke the furnace in case of emergency or special need of the case room or operating theatre. The rest of the staff consisted of a cook, laundry girl, ward aide and janitor.

The staff quarters were upstairs above the wards and space limited the size of the windows. One evening, Miss Sands, who was matron in 1922, began to worry how the staff would get out in case of fire so she decided to try using the window for a fire escape. Being pretty curvaceous and pleasant plump, she got stuck, and only with the tagging and pulling of Mrs. Burnham and others were they able to get her back in. Fire escape!!!!!! She never really proved a thing.

Ever since the hospital was built, people and groups have donated to add comforts for the patients or equipment to make the hospital more efficient. As far back as 1922, Mr. J.E. Kringsen donated $200 to equip a two bed ward and $50 from Miss Berton bought two bassinets. Over the years, wards have been furnished and equipment such as crutches, a sterilizer, and a diathermy have been provided. Furniture for the nurses' comforts, and radio and T.V. for the patients' enjoyment have been generously donated by individuals and organizations.

Over the years, people involved in the growth of the hospital were C.C. Purvis, Wm. McAthey, and Horace Rollins as secretaries, and Abe Gould and Owen Branson as janitors. Mr. B.C. Gillespie audited the books for many years. Local business firms supplying groceries, milk and services were W.L. Campbell, Hillier Bros., Robinson's Store, Adolf Stern, Mager's Milk, with McClelland Dray transporting the goods to the hospital. Mr. P.P. Nyhus was local fire inspector. A carload of coal was delivered to the hospital in 1922 for 70 cents per ton. During a local milk shortage, the Board saw fit to purchase a cow from Mrs. Jennie Bassell for $50 and this was later sold for $25. Natural gas was installed in 1923.

A hospital auxiliary was formed with Mrs. McAthey as president and they held their first cleaning "bee" in September of 1922. A hospital convention was held in November of 1922 creating the first Alberta Municipal Hospital Association. The delegates were allowed $12 each for expenses. Mr. Kringsen, Mr. Donward and Mr. McAthey attended.

Records show that it was no easier then than it is now to promote a building program. Debenture plebiscites were defeated, but in spite of financial difficulties, the hospital managed to survive. No major change in the structure was made until 1939 when the sun porch was moved west and rooms constructed between. In 1951 there was a substantial building program with a twenty bed addition on the east end with modern staff facilities and upgraded living quarters. In 1956 the front entrance was enlarged to accommodate a large out-patient clinic and office.

Following Dr. G.M. Little, Viking was served by Drs. Sam S. Haworth, Alcide Klein and Moffat, and is presently served by Drs. Caldwell, Cunningham and Bennett. The old 35 bed, 8 bassinets hospital employed about 50 people. Provisional accreditation was granted in 1971 and a follow-up survey was made to acquire full accreditation status.

The residents of Viking and district owe a debt of gratitude to the hardy men and women who pioneered the hospital program and also for the dedication and determination of the hospital boards who followed.

Despite renovations, additions, and upgrading of many departments, it was apparent in the early 1960's that a building program would be necessary. Correspondence with the Government of Alberta Hospital Division began in February, 1965. A severe hail and wind storm in July of 1970 badly damaged the building as well as the trees and shrubs and the Board of Trustees pressed for a new facility.

Terms of reference, and lists of procedures were obtained in May of 1971 and a verbal commitment was made for 1972. Considerable correspondence was received but no action was taken and 1971 marked our 50th Anniversary. Meetings were held periodically between the Hospital Board and the Hospital Services Commission, but an indefinite freeze was established on all construction. The Executive Committee agreed to functional planning in 1974 and physical studies in 1975.

Finally, following several frustrating years, Mr. Minieley, Minister of Hospitals at the time, toured the hospital on February 30, 1978 and at a Chamber of Commerce meeting announced that a new facility would be built. The Government formally signed the agreement on May 8, 1979 and the first load of material arrived on May 9, 1979. Bergman Construction was awarded the building contract. There were many disappointing delays but on May 1, 1981 the patients and staff were moved into the shiny new Viking General Hospital.

There are 9 single and 9 double occupancy wards and an extensive care unit, totalling 32 bed capacity, 6 bassinets, and 4 cribs. A large out-patient clinic, fully equipped with physiotherapy, lab and x-ray, and examining room facilities. For patient convenience, there is a large day-dining room with T.V., a family room or chapel for quiet times, and a concession selling toiletries, gifts, candles, etc. staffed by the Hospital Auxiliary. The admitting area and nurses' station are spacious and cheerful and the staff can observe at all times a modern nursery, intensive care unit, and attractive, well-furnished pediatric ward. The lower level houses a very modern kitchen, staff dining, efficient laundry, and large storage area.

The hospital presently has a staff of 71. The medical staff consists of Dr. A.E. Caldwell, who has been our resident doctor since 1943, Dr. A. Cunningham, who joined the clinic in 1971 when Dr. Klein moved to St. Albert, and Dr. B. Bennett, who replaced Dr. I. Moffat who returned to Ireland. Dr. A. Mann and Dr. B. Nordstrom are resident dentists with hospital privileges.

The new hospital will enhance the level of health care by our medical, nursing and support staff, and the public can look with pride and joy at our facility. We commend the trustees for their persistence, the administrator for his dedicated and untiring service, and the entire staff for their loyalty and patience during a long and trying period. A dream has been realized and a goal achieved.

A Hospital Auxiliary

An auxiliary is important to any hospital. The women of the community can do many things for a hospital that no one else can do. An institution cannot achieve its goals unless the public understands those aims and the means by which they can be accomplished; it requires the esteem and the support of the citizens of the community.

In obtaining this there can be no more valuable aid to a hospital than an alert and well informed auxiliary to act as a link between it and the people. No matter what the population of the district or the total membership of the auxiliary, they will exert a tremendous influence with both their enthusiasm and their intelligent appreciation of hospital problems.

Good public relations is important to all hospitals and through a well integrated public relations program an educated auxiliary membership has a positive value to its hospital which reaches far beyond the limits of direct service. It is through them that others can quickly learn the background and the history of their hospital, its aims and purposes, the institutional service it renders, its organizational structure, how it is operating and the reasons for current hospital costs.

It is thus that auxiliaries justify their existence. The auxiliaries have an important part to play in developing greater community understanding and goodwill.

The accessibility, acceptability and the costs of health care are matters of great public concern today. The public is turning increasingly often to local institutions in order to find answers regarding these concerns. Hospitals for their part recognize that finding acceptable answers required broad community participation to define the problems and broad community support to achieve the solutions. This is where auxiliaries come in.

Both auxiliary members and volunteers, have a common concern for the health of their community, and can join forces in collective efforts to assist hospitals in the delivery of health care. Over the years auxiliary members and volunteers have been many things to their hospital, including sources of financial assistance and volunteer manpower.

formed is growing and will continue to grow as we respond to hospital and community needs. Today the role seems to be leaning more to patient oriented programs rather than to the big fund raising projects of the past.

Auxiliary workers and volunteers, through the personal approach, can help bridge the gap between the institution and the home, thereby reducing the apprehension experienced by the patient when he is exposed to routine of the hospital.

crease the services to the patient without adding to the cost of hospitalization. Most hospital volunteer programs have been developed either by auxiliaries or from auxiliaries. These are relied upon by the hospitals to provide volunteers and leadership for these programs. Auxiliaries also assist by actively supporting health career educational programs for students desirous to learn of careers in the health care system.

They try to understand the roles and aims of their hospital. They can accept responsibility and are loyal and represent a vast and valuable human resource.

Sun Shines On Official Opening Of Hospital

Monday, June 1st, 1981 marked the official opening of the new thirty-two bed Viking General Hospital. The official ceremonies commemorating the completion of the modern facility got underway shortly before twelve noon at the Viking Community Hall.

Attendance at the official opening provided the shining touch, as people from the various segments of our community and province looked with favour at the accomplishment of a dedicated group.

Seated at the head table were: Mayor Will Rasmussen and Marie Town of Viking; Robert and Mary Crane - County of Beaver; Tom and Margaret Lyness - Municipal Government; Al and Anne Wilmer - Master of Ceremonies (Board of Trustees); Dr. Lloyd Grisdale, Deputy Minister, Department of Hospitals and Medical Care; Jack and Edna Roddick - Chairman Board of Trustees; Pastor Tim Johnson and Rev. - Viking Minister; Don and Lorraine Masankowski - Federal Government; George Haining - Alberta Hospital Association.

Al Wilmer, Vice Chairman of the Board of Trustees handled the master of ceremony duties. He addressed the banquet and called on Pastor Tim Johnson for grace. In very well chosen words, Pastor Tim asked for a blessing of the new hospital and the personnel who are devoted to the health, care and comfort of the people of our community.

A toast to the Queen was proposed and the banquet proceeded with the enjoyment of a very tastefully prepared meal catered by Myrtle Ronaghan and Helen of Viking. Complimenting the meal was a wide assortment of wines, by way of donations from Valkyria Insurance Architects Ltd., The Town of Viking, and The Government of Alberta.

Jack Roddick, Chairman of the Board, officially welcomed everyone and followed with an introduction of the head table guests. Representing the Department of Hospitals and Medical Care, Dr. Lloyd Grisdale, Deputy Minister, addressed the gathering. He presented a brief history of the story of Viking's struggle to establish with the department, the need for an up-dated health care facility. The struggle dates back to 1966 when records reveal that Jack Roddick first began campaigning for a new hospital. Dr. Grisdale singled out another member of the community as one who can well understand the struggles and the enormous accomplishments of past and present board members and hospital administrators.

Dr. A.E. Caldwell, who has spent his entire professional life in Viking.

Years back it was determined that the existing facility was not adequate. Renovations and an addition were to meet the needs for a period estimated at eight years. However, eight stretched into sixteen and not until 1977 was it agreed to build a new facility. Unfortunately, a freeze on hospital construction added still another delay. On Friday, April 10, 1979 Honorable Gordon Minnsy accompanied personally to the people of Viking, that Viking had been removed from the "hard" situation and immediate action could be taken to build. On May 1st, 1981 the first patients were transferred to the newly completed Viking General Hospital.

Dr. Grisdale also announced that the new hospital was built almost exactly on budget. Estimated costs were totalled at 4 million 282 thousand dollars and completed figures rest at 4 million 387 thousand dollars, quite an accomplishment in itself. Dr. Grisdale spoke of the hospital which features the nursing station as the "hub" or commanding point. He also noted the involvement and dedication of the Viking people in providing improved furnishing through accumulated donations.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, Hilda Armstrong thanked Dr. Grisdale for his presentation and his attendance on a day of such importance to the people of Viking.

Following the banquet the crowd moved to the hospital site, accompanied by Corporal Will and Constable Dyde of the Viking Detachment of the R.C.M.P. in ceremonial uniform.

County Allots More Money For Tofield Fire Hall

A delegation from the Town of Tofield attended the May 26th meeting of the County of Beaver Council. Their purpose in attending was to clarify and justify their stand in regard to the site and cost of proposed construction of a new fire hall.

In a previous agreement with the Town of Tofield, The County of Beaver had committed funding in the amount of $180,000 towards the project. This amount had been accounted for by way of grant funds from the Neighborhood Improvement Program and included in the 1981 budget.

In a previous meeting with the Town of Tofield, the County Committee dealing with this matter, felt that the request for additional funding was not justified. In addition they suggested possible cut backs and a redesigning of the total structure was in order.

In the presentation outlined by the Town of Tofield, a new design was provided which they felt would be adequate. This design however did not allow for a partial second story or a number of other features outlined in the original plan. It did however reduce the size of the building and its cost while still allowing for the accommodation of four fire trucks, a van, storage, shower, and conference areas.

The total cost of the revised and completed project was established at $288,000. Tofield's proposal that the County share the cost on a 50-50 basis would require an additional commitment of $144,000 from the County. This met with mixed feelings from the Council.

In the discussion that followed several factors were considered in regard to the existing agreement with the Town of Tofield, such as accommodation for the County fire trucks which is provided by the Town. Tofield citizens had the vehicles in the time and need of a number of other related factors such as

Perseverance Pays Off

It all started a long time ago. It doesn't just seem that way. It actually was a long time ago. About 1965 to be precise. Now to many oldtimers in the area, that may not seem like such a long time. But to those people who worked so very hard to make the new Viking General Hospital a reality, it certainly has to seem like a long time ago.

Monday marked the culmination of over 15 years of hard work and dedication by a number of people in the area. Those who originally began the move to procure a new hospital for Viking in 1965 must feel very proud of the fruits of their labours. And labours they were. Many, many hours of work went into the realization of this major project. And many of those hours were spent in frustration in dealing with the government bureaucrats and politicians who eventually made the final decisions as to the future of those barriers which were met by those people. Veiled promises were made about the construction of a new hospital in Viking in the late 1960's, and yet it took until the early 1980's before it was completed. Government cutbacks in spending, and freezes on hospital construction were only two of the barriers which were met by those attempting to get a new facility for Viking. And yet they fought their way through and won.

The credit for the success of this project must most certainly go to the local people involved in this endeavour. Firstly, the members of the Hospital Board who worked on the project over the years to be commended. It was difficult and it was frustrating, but it gained a beautiful health care facility for everyone in the area. Of this they should be very proud.

The members of the Viking Hospital staff are also to be praised for their dedication to the job in what were, at times, very trying conditions in the old hospital. All one need do is take a tour of the old structure, a close inspection tour, to realize the state of deterioration which faced these people on a day to day basis. It was an atmosphere not conducive to improving health at the best of times, and yet the people on staff did the best that they could to do just that. The new facility is only part of the reward which these people deserve for their efforts.

Over the last five years or so, the individual who has unceasingly worked to make the dream into a reality is Mr. Krips. In watching Rod work over the last few years on the culmination of a dream, one could only marvel at the enthusiasm and the dedication with which he approached his task. He "haunted" the hallowed bureaucratic halls in Edmonton until they wished that he would go away. And the only way that they could get him to go was to provide him with nearly everything he asked for. He brought knowledge and experience to the task, and he was open enough to learn from the task and thus gain more for those people within the Viking Hospital District. He is to be applauded for a job well done.

Everything is not perfect with the new hospital. If it were, it would still be a dream. But the fruit of the efforts of these people is now a reality. Perseverance paid off.

County Of Beaver Council Meets

The Council of the County of Beaver met in regular session on Thursday, May 28th. In regard to the recently announced Economic Stabilization Program which every local official agreed to be included in this year's County road building and maintenance program,
Council was advised that F.
Meyers, R. Hansen and H.
Ray have equipment available.
Mr. Meyers advised the County that he has one cat, one scraper, and a dozer which he would like considered under the program.
Mr. Hansen has two loggers and a scraper also at present and a scraper. A motion was made to contact Alberta Transportation who outlined and monitor the program, advising that this equipment is available, and the County is willing to use it in conjunction with their own equipment.
Further discussion on the issue was tabled until additional information as to exact road projects to be undertaken is determined.

Following a discussion with a spokesman for the Town of Viking, Councillor Maxwell advised that a temporary solution was found regarding the matter of the Viking Landfill site. The Town of Viking has gained an extension on their lease at the landfill site until July 1st of 1982. However Council decided to set up a meeting with all the farm, village, and hamlet within the County to discuss the problem of landfill on a County-wide basis. It is hoped that a meeting of this sort will help determine the needs at each level.

The newly announced government rates for gravel hauling were discussed and the new County rates established as follows: 75 cents per cu. yd. loading factor and 10 cents per cu. yd. haul factor. The government rates are 74.5 cents and 10.1 cents respectively.

A delegation from the Viking Lakeshore Golf Club attended the County meeting with a request for funds for the purchase of maintenance machinery. Mr. Bill Comisarow and Mr. Ken Bird outlined the situation the club is in with regard to the purchase of new equipment.
Mr. Comisarow stated that the golf course is maintained by volunteer labor and although they charge yearly dues for the use of the golf course, the fees are only sufficient to cover operational costs and they are not adequate enough to fund the purchase of new equipment.
He advised that a mower and attachments to replace the existing equipment would cost in the neighborhood of $6,500. In the discussion which followed, Council was advised that the title of the land on which the golf course is laid out, is in the name of the Viking Lakeshore Golf Club and the 1981 membership would be in the neighborhood of 40 to 45 individuals. It was noted that the Town felt that it was not a part of their recreational program and that possibly the County should play a part in the funding.

Mr. Comisarow had previously contacted the Regional Recreation Director at Vancouver who suggested the golf club approach the County Council with the problem.

County Council members in agreement that they were unable to help at this point and that the golf club should approach the Viking Recreation Board with this matter.

The Board with this matter
as a Multicultural Recreation
Grant is available to the Recreation Board for the type of project.

A limited amount of funding is available in the form of a provincial grant for the purpose of filling and patching of old roads within the county this year. Therefore a decision was reached by Council to use the funds to apply a thin coat of rapid cure solution to a section of old road within the County which although covered with fine cracks, remains in top condition. This procedure will be closely evaluated to determine its value in maintaining the surface of old roads in the future.

Know the ground rules BEFORE you start digging

Whether you're a contractor or a homeowner, if you're breaking ground you could be responsible for a dangerous accident. And accidents are costly.

Not just in terms of "downtime" and money, but in terms of individual lives and entire communities as well. Hitting a gas line may cause an explosion, resulting in a loss of limbs or life — maybe your own. And damaging a gas line may start a corrosion leak that might be dangerous later. If the gas has to be shut off, an entire community could be affected. Don't risk it! Call your gas company 48 hours before you start to dig. A representative from our Pipe Locator Team will go to the location, discuss your project and then stake out the gas lines in the area of the project. The service is free! Please use it.

A way everyone can save money—Conserve Energy

THE SOLUTION TO RISING ENERGY PRICES IS TO USE LESS ENERGY WE CAN HELP

The Government of Canada offers a number of ways almost everyone in this country can save energy — and money. By taking advantage of federal grants and conservation ideas, you can economize by reducing energy bills.

SWITCHING OFF OIL

A major goal of Canada's National Energy Program is to reduce household oil consumption across the country by conservation and the use of fuels other than oil.

Canada has energy alternatives that are plentiful and ultimately cheaper than oil. Renewable sources of energy such as solar power are becoming an economic option for home space and water heating. Wind and wood are old energy sources that now have a new life.

Conversion from oil to natural gas is a good possibility in many parts of northern Alberta. Wind and solar power interests many Albertans, especially in the south.

The Canada Oil Substitution Program (COSP), offers taxable

grants of up to $800 covering half the cost of equipment and labour for replacing oil used for space or water heating with natural gas or propane, or a renewable energy source such as wood, solar or wind power.

An oil substitution in a centrally heated building that has two or more self-contained units can qualify for COSP grants ranging from $1,000 to $5,500.

ENERSAVE FOR HOME INSULATION

It costs you nothing to get an evaluation of how well your home is keeping the heat in. A simple questionnaire, a few minutes of your time and you'll receive a computerized analysis of your present insulation situation. Included will be recommended actions you can take, the approximate costs, and how long it will take to pay back your investment. The EnerSave service is free — you've nothing to lose — so why not try it?

CHIP HOME INSULATION GRANTS

If you can save money by insulating — and many homeowners can — you may be eligible for a taxable grant of up to $500 to do so. Starting insulation improvements as soon as possible means more long-term returns on your home-heating investment. Get details on the Canadian Home Insulation Program — CHIP — by sending in the coupon at the bottom of this advertisement.

DO-IT-YOURSELF HELP

You can improve, update and change your energy consumption habits using free booklets, brochures, fact sheets, how-to-do-it instructions, even a toll-free "EnerSave Hotline" (1-800-267-9563) staffed by experts to answer your questions and give you personal technical advice.

Home heating conservation means making more efficient use of energy. It helps all Canadians control their energy future. Conservation is a Goal of the National Energy Program.

Theatre 75 To Perform In Wainwright

Plans are well underway for this year's production by Theatre 75 in Wainwright. The show and they are confident of another successful play to follow up last year's "Showstopper".

Staged as a celebration of Alberta's 75th Anniversary, the 1980 production (entitled "It Makes A Good Story") June 10-11-12-13, with each was a light-hearted look at the history of Wainwright and district... both fact and fancy and was billed as a musical comedy. Reviews were enthusiastic and applauded the ambitious efforts of our "home grown" cast and crew. Not satisfied with Cliff's Top Shop, I.D. have continued in their efforts to bring drama to the people of our area.

Production is slated for Wed., Thurs., Fri., and Sat. 10-11-12-13, with each performance starting at 7:30 p.m. sharp in the Wainwright High School auditorium.

Box offices are now open and anyone interested in seeing the show are urged to get their tickets early. Tickets are available from Cliff's Top Shop, I.D. have continued in their efforts to bring drama to the people of our area.

Admission is $4.00-Adults; $2.00-Students; $1.00-Children 12 and Under. Theatre 75 has really enjoyed putting together "Another Good Story" and are sure that you will enjoy the trials and tribulations of

SPOT AND STAIN REMOVAL
Removing tough stains from clothes can be enough to give anyone laundry day blues! I've received numerous calls about stain removal lately. Below are a few guidelines to follow:

1) Trust the stain as soon as possible.
2) Remove stains before washing or pressing a garment - heat may set the stain in permanently.
3) Read product labels to see what fabric you're working with and what care is recommended.
4) Try out harsh treatments on a lone or inconspicuous area to see if it

Some common stains and their specific remedies follow: Grass - If washable work detergent into stain, rinse or sponge with alcohol (diluted with 2 parts of water for acetate fabric). If stain persists use chlorine or peroxide bleach.

Perfume - sponge with warm water. If color is affected, sponge fresh stain with ammonia; an old stain with vinegar. Remove discoloration with chlorine or peroxide bleach. Always remove these stains before ironing, as ironing will weaken the fabric.

Rust - caustic acid crystals can be used in a solution (1 Tbsp. crystals to 1 c. warm water), or sprinkled directly on the stain, then moistened with hot water. Another method of removing rust is to squeeze lemon juice on stain and hold it over steam from boiling kettle. Rinse and repeat as many times as necessary. Salt sprinkled on the stain, then adding lemon juice and drying in the sun is another method.

For other stain removal problems contact my office and request the publication "Spot and Stain Removal".

The Official Opening of the Viking General Hospital

Rod Kripa, Hospital Administrator

Will Rushton, Mayor of Viking

The Viking School Band led by Director Everett Norris entertained at the hospital until ceremonies resumed at 2:00 p.m. Mr. Dennis Watson, principal of Viking School led in the singing of our national anthem followed by the introduction of the platform guests and an address of welcome by Jack Roddick.

Thanks were extended to the Viking School Band, the Cubs and Leaders, Tour Guides, and the many ladies of Bruce, Irma, Viking and Kinella who contributed each in their own way to the official opening.

Greetings presented by various dignitaries conveyed a magnitude of praise for all those who were dedicated to and involved in the establishing of Viking's new hospital. Laced with a measure of sincere "kidding" and good humor, the greetings encompassed government levels, administration, doctors, nurses, support staff and the community in general.

Mr. J.R. Valkunas of the architectural firm Valkunas Junken Ltd., addressed the gathering and spoke of the many unique features incorporated into the new two-level design, his close association with key personnel and his personal satisfaction upon the completion of the hospital.

Ralph Corbet of Bergman Construction offered congratulations to the Board, the Town of Viking and all firms engaged in the project. George Henning on behalf of the Alberta Hospital Association, offered his personal congratulations and spoke of the tremendous "pulling together effort" which the project required.

Mr. Roy Cross spoke on behalf of the County of Grey and the rural reality was so close that they had a recount and found 3 votes over and above the required 2/3 majority.

Jack Roddick advised of the contents of the new time capsule which will house documents, newspapers etc. pertaining to the opening of the new hospital, after which the corner stones were unveiled.

M.L.A. Tom Lyons headed the official ribbon cutting ceremony, assisted by Jack Roddick, Mrs. S. Brower and Mrs. A. Burnham. Rev. Jim Bennett offered the dedication followed by a number of selections by the School Band.

Tours of the new facility and refreshments at the Viking Community Hall ended a memorable afternoon.

Jack Roddick, Chairman of the Hospital Board

Dr. L. Griedale, Deputy Minister of Hospitals

The day's activities started with a well-attended banquet in the Viking Community Hall at noon.

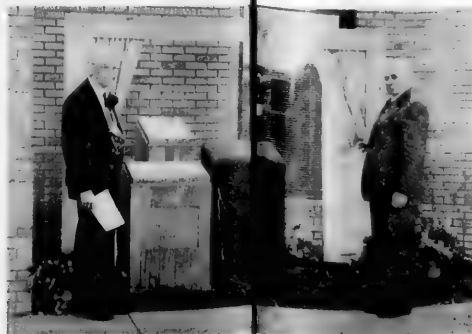

M.P. Don Mazankowski presented Chairman Roddick with a picture of H.R.H. Queen Elizabeth II.

The Viking School Band, under the direction of Everett Norris, provided the entertainment.

Board Chairman Jack Roddick introduced the members of the Hospital Board and the doctors on staff.

Dr. Caldwell (L.) and Jack Roddick unveiled the cornerstones at the new hospital.

A large crowd was in attendance at the front of the new hospital for the official opening.

The rules are few and simple - but they pay off in years of enjoyment of swimming and water activities of all kinds.

Swim at supervised areas. Observe and obey warning notices. Look before you leap. Make sure the water is deep enough and hazard free. Don't participate in horseplay or force play. Don't take chances. Learn and respect your limitations. Long distance swimmers should be accompanied by a safety boat.

Children in and around water. Never swim in darkness. Learn swimming and safety skills.

Local Businesses Support Ball Team

Monday evening, June 1st found Viking's "Monquies" take to the field in full uniform complements of the various businesses throughout Viking.

Taking on the task of providing uniforms for the team he coaches was Pete McEneaney. Pete began his "foot-work" on Wednesday morning and by late afternoon placed an order for twenty uniforms; shirts, pants and socks. The decision to order blue and white uniforms complemented with gold came about in keeping with the previous decision by the Viking Minor Hockey Association to establish blue and white as Viking's sports colors.

The uniforms arrived in time for Monday night's game and were completed by "Astro" hats, complements of Fountain Tire Stores.

The Viking Monquies and their coaches wish to extend a sincere thank you to the following businesses: Anderson Farm Sales, Macdonald, The Credit Union, Brian Nordstrom, Farmers Meat Market, Sunny Days, Viking Sports Shop, Viking L.D.A., Carling's & Gulf Service, Jim's Autobody, Carling's Elevators, Kelly's Hardware, Ritchie Agencies, Thor Agencies, Leland Sales and Service as well as Fountain Tire Stores for providing caps.

The Viking team has played four games in the County Of Beaver Minor Baseball League and have won two and lost two. Their debut came at the hands of Totfield

We heard someone being fervent for the weekend and showers, there were, none quite heavy, we have been told. But unfortunately, none of them about much moisture on the Village of Irma.

Our streets and Avenues in Irma sure look smart since they were swept clean of the accumulation of debris. It would be real nice if our citizens, both young and old would remember not to litter.

Donkey Baseball At Holden Sports Grounds

Holden will be the place to see on Sunday, June 14 at 7 p.m. when Donkey Baseball comes here. Donkey Baseball is a burlesque of baseball that leaves spectators weak with laughter. Real live donkeys that always do exactly the wrong thing at the right time in spite of the frantic efforts of their human riders. It's a crazy game that set the nation laughing. Playing with real live Donkey Baseball are Holden Keggars, Bruce Stampeder, Ryley Tiger Gate, and Holden Revis. Children will also enjoy the Donkey Baseball. A fee of $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children 12 and under will be charged at the Holden Sports grounds.

Sage men and steeple donkeys all add up to an evening of hilarious fun for all spectators.

Through very hard competition, Captain Gerry Archibald of Erna, Commanding Officer of R.C.S.C. Cayuga based in Waterwright, and P.O. Corina Sportiva of Caur have been awarded European exchange trips.

P.O. Sportiva is one of 25 Canadian Sea Cadets who will be travelling to Europe this summer, accompanied by 5 Sea Cadets.

P.O. Sportiva will be touring in Belgium along with 8 other Cadets. It is indeed an honor for R.C.S.C. Cayuga to have been awarded European exchange trips. Captain Archibald is one of 5 Canadian Officers who will be travelling to Europe, and P.O. Sportiva is one of six female cadets from Canada awarded an annual foreign exchange.

For the second consecutive year, Kevin Maxwell of Viking has received Grand Champion honors with his entry in the Viking 4-H Beef Club. This year's calf weighed in at 1270 lbs. and showed an average daily gain of 2.95 lbs. The animal was purchased by Russell Hanson of Waterwright.

At the Holden 4-H Beef Sale held in the Agriplex on June 3, 1981, Parry Story of Holden took Grand Champion honors with this calf. The animal had a finished weight of 1140 lbs. and showed an average daily gain of 2.49 lbs.

Parent Training Course To Be Held In Viking

There will be an introductory Parent Effectiveness Training Course conducted at the Viking Alliance Church on Wednesday, June 17th. The course is being sponsored by the Child Development Association.

Guest speaker conducting the course will be Lyle Polaro of the Forest Hill course Unit of Edmonton. One of the main objectives of the course being offered in Viking is to determine the specific concerns and needs of the people of the community, with a concentrated effort placed on those areas where arranging future programs.

The course at the Alliance Church will get underway at 9:30 and will run until 4:30 that afternoon with a break for lunch between 12:30 and 1:30.

Concerns of a specific nature will be dealt with on a personal one-to-one basis and as invitations are extended to all parents or others concerned with effective parenting to attend.

At previous courses such as this are effective means to understanding children from a previous marriage, adjustments and encouragement required when one must move to another area, province or district and many other parent concerns.

Should this course prove an effective tool in determining the main concerns of our community then more specific programs could be made available as early as next fall.

For the convenience of mothers with pre-school children, babysitting services will be provided at the Viking Day Care Centre.

T-Shirts

T-Shirts! They come in all colors and patterns. They have been around for a great number of years, originally as a form of underclothing to provide warmth or protection from the elements. Today, they have become a piece of fashion apparel. Since the late 1960's, t-shirts have become "in" with the younger set. Since that time, a number of different styles of t-shirts have been worn. We went through the tie-dye phase, to the brilliant color phase, to the single word phase, and now to the phrase phase.

The phrase phase is the one which causes the greatest concern. Originally, the sayings which were printed on t-shirts were cute, and often had a lot of humor built into them. But in a society which has definitely become more sensitive over the last 15 to 20 years, the good entrepreneur couldn't rest at having cute sayings on these t-shirts. What the businessman discovered is that sayings on the suggestive side appealed to a large segment of the market. Because of this, the t-shirts with the so-called "double meaning" have appeared.

Naturally, any one of us has the right to decide what we will wear. Many members of the younger set have decided that these t-shirts with the risqué, and sometimes even smutty sayings on them are the thing to wear. They often say, when confronted with the lewd nature of the words on their t-shirts, that one is taking the meaning the wrong way. They suggest that the primary meaning is not indecent at all. Well, if this were the case, they wouldn't be buying them. All one need do is watch the response which they get from their peers, a response which the wearer most heartily enjoys.

Through the wearing of these t-shirts, one can also discern the very nature of these children play in their lives, or the moral values which these parents have. To allow children of the ages from 12 to 17 or 18 years to leave their homes in the morning clad in a lewdly suggestive t-shirt definitely reflects upon the parents. It seems that these parents have little respect for societal values, and perhaps little respect for their children. For a youngster to have to get recognition in such a way indicates perhaps that the child gets little recognition in other ways, either from his/her peers, or perhaps from his/her parents. For a child to be able to get recognition in such a way indicates perhaps that the child gets little recognition in other ways, either from his/her peers, or perhaps from his/her parents.

Children do need recognition, no matter what age they are at. As long as we, as parents, are going to assume responsibility for our children, and provide them with the necessities, and luxuries of life, we must assume the role of leader. To say that we have no control over what our teenagers wear is utter nonsense. Our children look to us for reasonable guidance in their lives, if we are willing to provide them with it. If we aren't, they will get it from someone else. The lewd, suggestive t-shirts worn by some youngsters today are an indication of the type of guidance that they are getting.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:
Now that life has settled down somewhat, and having had a little time to reflect on my year as the Viking's first C.S.S. Director, I felt that it important to thank the many people of Viking and area who have made it such a pleasure to work here. The concept of Preventive Social Services is often difficult to explain or justify, as it's hard to prove you've prevented a situation by propping, or support or information. The way a good service grows is by the involvement of many people, in various ways, using their strengths to create a more caring environment. Caring whether these are services to maintain people in their own homes, opportunities for young children to socialize, activities for teens where they can learn leadership and how to be a good citizen while having fun. Some with suggestions, others committees, individual volunteers, staff, work experience students and board all did so much.

No one person alone can make things happen and bring about change. It's the working together for a goal that brings results. As with any new endeavor - with both board and staff, there were areas that could have been improved or done differently - and experience will help to guide in the future.

With a new P.S.S. Director starting in Viking in early June, I wish to thank the community, and hope you will throw your wholehearted support behind him as you did me. Sincerely,
Deborah Barwin

Stubble Captured, Held More Snow

Again in 1980, the stubble land in the brown and dark brown soil some captured more water precipitation than did summerfallow fields, and held more water, while the fallow fields lost significant amounts of water by evaporation over winter. These are some of the findings that are made public in the report of the 1980 Palliser Wheat Growers Association Production Trials.

The production trials are directed by Dr. Don Rennie, Head, Saskatchewan Institute of Pedology, University of Saskatchewan. And they provide further insights into ways to get better crops in the prairie.

One of Dr. Rennie's goals has been to find ways to make more effective use of available precipitation. In the 1980 spring wheat trials, the addition of straw above the soil and the recommendation level on stubble heaped yields by over three bushels per acre and on fallow the gain was over five bushels per acre. Protests contained by 6 per cent increased from 14.4 per cent to 18.5 percent on stubble and from 14.6 per cent to 14.9 per cent on fallow.

Spraying urea on spring wheat at the lower stage at the rate of twenty pounds per acre of actual nitrogen increased the average grain protein content by 1.5 per cent on stubble and .5 per cent on fallow spring wheat. The 1980 trials were carried out on 33 farm sites scattered throughout the major soil climatic regions of Saskatchewan.

Dr. Rennie reports that during the past four years of this project, the average yield of the co-operating farms was higher than the Saskatchewan average, and he says that while a lower protein content is normally associated with higher yields, the present content of the co-operating farmers' test plots in 1979 and 1980 equaled the Saskatchewan average. In addition, the yields were fifteen bushels per acre higher. Dr. Rennie reports that stubble yields are higher than normal in relation to fallow yields, because the farmers made optimum use of nitrogen and phosphorous fertilizers. In the 1980 trials, winter wheat out yielded spring wheat by about 30 per cent.

The 1980 project is the last in the present Palliser Project, because Agriculture Canada has withdrawn its financial support and the sum has been too great for farmers to make up elsewhere.

Palliser President George Fiedler says, "We regret the termination of this project because Palliser is concerned that the loss of the most important the West has ever seen. It brought soil scientists together with producers in a joint effort for the first time, and was considered crucially important by both groups. This project greatly helped Dr. Rennie bring public attention to the damage many of the fallow is inflicting on the soil. The program, in fact, represented a step forward in the development of effective research work. Findings of the project have had needed insights into how prairie farmers can meet the challenges ahead."

APPLIANCE UPDATE
Energy Management Services of Calgary Power pass on this update:

For the visually impaired on washers, dryers and dishwashers. Questions concerning the use of these appliances should be directed to: Service Department, Maytag Company, Newton, Iowa 50608.

A fluorescent lamp by Westinghouse has been designed to fit in an instant-on socket. The lamp is expected to last 71/2 to 10 times longer than an incandescent bulb, produce more light than a 60 watt bulb, yet only use 27 watts. The life expectancy should be about 8 years with typical residential use. It is, table lamp, wall and hallway fixtures. Westinghouse expects delivery to Alberta in May to look for the energy saving bulb this summer. The price will be, as yet, unknown.

LEFTOVER REED?
Store unused garden seeds in an airtight container, with a tablespoon of powdered milk to absorb moisture. Keep cool; change milk powder twice a year.

Maytag has an accessory knob designed for the physically handicapped person. This four pronged knob fits over existing knobs on all Maytag washers and dryers as well as the Jetcoast dishwasher, making them easier to operate. The knob retails for $4.70 and is available from Maytag service stores.

Maytag has also developed a method of doing the control panel or selector dial.

A large crowd enjoyed the nice weather, good food and friendly atmosphere of the annual Pragma Picnic on Sunday, June 7. Hereabouts was among the many activities which took place throughout the day.

Viking Fair Board Meets

The Viking Fair Board met on June 9 with 14 members present.

Plans for the fair are progressing satisfactorily.

There are several changes in the schedule and the events which we hope will be pleasing to the public.

The parade will begin at 9 a.m. rather than noon as in previous years. This will begin the day more enthusiastically, and will also allow the livestock judging to proceed more smoothly.

There will be a "No Parking" on Main street on the morning of August 6 and the parade is over, for very practical reasons - for your safety and for your convenience viewing of the parade. We ask for your cooperation.

Hungry people will be pleased to note that the picnic breakfast will be served both before and after the parade.

There will be a series of demonstrations in the hall throughout the day which should appeal to a great many people.

The House Exhibits, pet show, Horse Pull, 4-H Trail Ride, Barbecue Supper, Dance and other special events will be a full day for everyone.

Town Council will be approached in the near future with a request that Thursday, August 6 be declared a Civic Holiday.

The Fair Booths will be available in the next few weeks. All information you might require regarding schedule, exhibits, judging and special events will be found in it.

The Fair Board will meet again on Wednesday, July 8 at 8 p.m. in the community stand.

Is Donor Blood Threatened?

Did you know that the 10 Provincial Ministers of Health will only allow three facilities to be the whole of Canada to fractionate blood plasma? Because of this, the Red Cross Society was excluded from building its own fractionation plant. The end result is, that one of the firms chosen is a profit-making company. Although there was legislation passed that no firm was to make a profit in fractionated blood (i.e.

The breaking down into components of which there are four) this company is in Toronto has an out. It is allowed to import plasma from paid donors outside Canada and export again for a profit. You can bet your bottom dollar this company will not be quite so interested in processing Canadian blood for free.

The major concern of the Red Cross Society is that the Blood Donors System which has been in existence for thirty four years will be threatened. When material hits for a few takes pro-cedence over the well being of humanity as a whole and it very well could then we the public should be made aware of it. The future health of all Canadians can be jeopardized. Legislation in any legislation can be found. We can combat this concern by supporting the Red Cross in its continuing volunteer program of free distribution of blood to people in need of it. Attend the Blood

Donors Clinic to be held in St. Mary's Catholic Church in Viking on June 26, 1981 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Fountain Tire Celebrates 25 Years

From a single tire store, opened in Wainwright in June, 1956 by two brothers, Bill and Jack Fountain, the Company has grown to a multi-million dollar corporation.

This wholly Alberta-owned organization consists of more than 30 operations engaged in various business endeavors.

The basic industry of the group remains tire products, which are distributed by two wholesale Astro Tire companies, supported by some 20 Fountain Tire retail stores, 4 associate dealer stores and a retreading facility.

The Wainwright store had gross sales of approximately $30,000 in its first year. The 25 year interval since its inception has been a period of steady growth, with group sales of the current year predicted to exceed $30 million.

The head office of the organization was moved in April, 1980 to new facilities at 8801 24th St., in Sherwood Industrial Estate.

The new premises house, in addition to head office, the main Astro Tire warehouse and operations of two associates: Modern Tire Supply and Astro Computer Services.

Bill Fountain established a tire store in Fort St. John in 1959, as well as one in Whitehorse. In 1962, he relocated in Edmonton and established Domestic Distributors Ltd., the forerunner of the present company, Astro Tire Distributors of Alberta Ltd.

Meanwhile, Bill and Jack had expanded the Wainwright operation to include locations in Provost, Two Hills and Viking, the latter still owned and operated by Jack. In 1963, the Lloydminster operation was acquired.

The Dunsmuir operation relocated in 1964 to a new building which has since become the retreat division for the organization.

Bill and four other business associates from across Canada formed the Astro Tire and Rubber Company of Canada Ltd. in 1967.

This private Canadian company, with warehouse and offices in Toronto, arranged for production of Astro Tire products built to its rapid specifications by major rubber company manufacturers.

The retail operation in Alberta was expanded by the acquisition of the Camrose Tire and Rubber Company in 1968, providing retail representation in Camrose, Drayton Valley, Hinton and Valleyview.

Ten additional retail tire stores were added in the interval 1968 to 1976.

An associated dealer program was instituted in 1976, providing all the advantages of the Fountain Tire Store program while allowing the owner to maintain his own identity.

Four operations now enjoy this status, Shoka Tire in Calgary, Skettler Tire, St. Paul Tire and Newell Tire & Supply, Ponoka.

The organization suffered a loss in 1976 with the death of Bill Fountain in an automobile accident. The managing director of the organization now consists of Lloyd Higginson, Harold Greenwood, Dennis Irving and Ken Kile.

From the original staff of Bill and Jack, in Wainwright in 1956, the group has grown to its present strength of 250 employees.

The group operates solely within the confines of the province of Alberta and its wholesale Astro Tire divisions supply over 400 independent tire dealers; and service stations throughout the province under direction of the sales manager, Ray Charrier.

Viking Logo Contest Deadline Approaching

The open competition for the designing of a "logo" for the Viking community has a deadline for entries set at June 30. This still gives you more than two weeks to put your ideas down on paper and send them to the Chamber at Box 810, Viking, Alberta.

Remember, this contest will be judged according to the meaning or content rather than on the actual art work. Ideas from the past and present can be combined as well as any original ideas which you may come up with. Although aesthetics and competition will play a part with. Therefore, even if you don't consider yourself as much of an artist, you may still have just the ideas we are looking for as we need it.

In order to ease the task of judging we ask that all entries be submitted on an 8 1/2 x 10 in sheet of white paper, accompanied by a photo-copy which has your name and address written on it.

The person submitting the winning logo will receive a cheque in the amount of $100 for their work. Adaptation of the winning design as the official Town logo is subject to recommendation by the Chamber and approval by the Town Council.

A way everyone can save money— Conserve Energy

THE SOLUTION TO RISING ENERGY PRICES IS TO USE LESS ENERGY. WE CAN HELP.

The Government of Canada offers a number of ways almost everyone in this country can save energy—and money. By taking advantage of federal grants and conservation ideas, you can economize by reducing energy bills.

SWITCHING OFF OIL

A major goal of Canada's National Energy Program is to reduce household oil consumption across the country by conservation and the use of fuels other than oil.

Canada has energy alternatives that are plentiful and ultimately cheaper than oil. Renewable sources of energy such as solar power are becoming an economic option for home space and water heating. Wind and wood are older energy sources that now have a new life.

Conversion from oil to natural gas is a good possibility in many parts of northern Alberta. Wind and solar power interests many Albertans, especially in the south.

The Canada Oil Substitution Program (COSP), offers taxable

grants of up to $800 covering half the cost of equipment and labour for replacing oil used for space or water heating with natural gas or propane, or a renewable energy source such as wood, solar or wind power.

An oil substitution in a centrally heated building that has two or more self-contained units can qualify for COSP grants ranging from $1,000 to $5,500.

ENERSAVE FOR HOME INSULATION

It costs you nothing to get an evaluation of how well your home is keeping the heat in. A simple questionnaire, a few minutes of your time and you'll receive a computerized analysis of your present insulation situation. Included will be recommended actions you can take, the approximate costs, and how long it will take to pay back your investment. The EnerSave service is free—you've nothing to lose—so why not write today?

CHIP HOME INSULATION GRANTS

If you can save money by insulating—and many homeowners can—you may be eligible for a taxable grant of up to $500 to do so. Starting insulation improvements as soon as possible means more long-term returns on your home-heating investment. Get details on the Canadian Home Insulation Program—CHIP—by sending in the coupon at the bottom of this advertisement.

DO-IT-YOURSELF HELP

You can improve, update and change your energy consumption habits using free booklets, brochures, fact sheets, how-to-do-it instructions, even a toll-free "EnerSave Hotline" (1-800-267-9563) staffed by experts to answer your questions and give you personal technical advice.

Home heating conservation means making more efficient use of energy. It helps all Canadians control their energy future. Conservation is a Goal of the National Energy Program.

Hansuk's Country Style Bakery Opens

As of Tuesday, June 16th, another newly established business will serve Viking and district residents from a main street location. Hansuk's Country Style

Bakery is located in the premises formerly occupied by the Viking News. The bakery operated by Harry and Wendy Hansuk and family will be open six days a week during the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. Anticipating the family operation will be a journeyman baker, and The Hansuks are not newcomers to the bakery business. Harry brings to Viking over twenty years experience in the trade. He spent a few years employed in the bakery department of the chain of food stores known as the Dominion Stores of Canada. Following this he spent eleven years with Edmonton Co-op stores, first as a baker and later accepting a promotion to bakery manager. The attractiveness of becoming self-employed and establishing a business of his own began to take importance. A move towards this goal brought the family to Vegreville. Here, they established their first bakery business and served the Vegreville community under the title Hansuk's Country Style Bakery.

While operating his business in Vegreville Harry often heard little comments about needing a bakery in Viking. People from this general area seemed to miss the "home-baked" quality provided by Earl Dixon before his business in Viking was brought to a close. These little remarks were the seeds...eventually they grew and quickly prompted Harry to investigate the possibilities. In time a decision was reached and Hansuk's Country Style Bakery was relocated to the Town of Viking. Prime requirements following this decision were locating a building in which to set up the bakery and bring commercialization. Instrumental in helping the Hansuks were Ralph and Thelma Thomson, Glen and Elaine Bisme and Cindy Erickson.

The bakery will carry a wide selection of breads, pastries, cakes, pies and a great number of specialty items such as their Ukrainian festive breads for weddings, funerals and other special occasions. In total, approximately 100 products or variations of each will be available, and if you don't see what you want...just ask the Hansuks and they can easily fill your orders. Another point they stress is that they stand behind their products and you should be satisfied with the product and its freshness.

For the convenience of shoppers, products from the bakery will be available at the three food outlets within the Town: the Viking Co-operative, the Viking Co-op and the Viking I.O.A.

The Hansuks have found Viking a friendly community and a nice place to resume family living. Harry and Wendy have three children, Janice 14, Marianne 13, and Harry J.C. 9 years.

Harry's busy schedule and quiet nature find him interested in amateur sports, golfing and enjoying a good meal with family. He is looking forward to meeting everyone and becoming involved in the community.

Brain Bank Established

June is Huntington's Disease Month in Canada. In recognition of this time, Claude David, National President of the Huntington Society of Canada, has announced two major research efforts of the Society in Canada. These are the opening of Canada's first national Brain Tissue Bank at the University of Toronto, and the awarding of $60,000 to further the training of five research scientists.

Huntington's Disease is not kind. Physical symptoms include uncontrollable jerking and twitching movements, abnormal gait, and shuffling steps. Patients frequently show mental deterioration and/or marked personality change as the disease advances. This progressive deterioration leads to total incapacitation and eventual death. Symptoms normally begin to appear between the ages of 30 and 40, the prime years of life... usually after the defective gene has already been passed on to a new generation. In some cases, HD does appear in children and in individuals in their 20s and 30s.

Children of an HD parent are said to be "at-risk" because of their 50/50 chance of inheriting or carrying the disease. At present, there is no effective test to detect who has inherited the defective gene until symptoms appear. It is difficult to know how many people are affected by HD, as many families deny its existence for fear of discrimination. Scientists estimate 1 in 10,000 either have or will develop the condition. Because of its hereditary nature, however, we know that 1 in 1,000 Canadians are directly affected by this genetic time bomb.

While there is no effective treatment, supportive drugs do help to relieve the symptoms in some people. The Brain Bank, which will open in July, will collect and store brain tissue from patients who have died of HD. The tissue will be used for research purposes.

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS RATE INCREASED TO 16%* EFFECTIVE JUNE 1, 1981 TO OCTOBER 31, 1981.

With this increase, the annual return on all unannounced Canada Savings Bonds for the year which began November 1, 1980 is 13.85% - interest at the rate of 11 1/2% for the first 5 months, 13 1/2% for the next 2 months and 16 1/2% for the remaining 5 months.

SERIES DATED BEFORE 1977

Series dated before 1977 have a bonus payable at maturity. Holders of these Series will receive the higher rate of return through an increase in the value of this bonus payment. The new bonus amount per $100 Bond of each Series is as follows:

Series	Maturity Date	Cash Bonus at Maturity
1966/69	Nov. 1, 1982	$17.48
1970/71	Nov. 1, 1981	$10.37
1972/73	Nov. 1, 1984	$24.33
1973/74	Nov. 1, 1984	$29.69
1974/75	Nov. 1, 1983	$ 9.67
1975/76	Nov. 1, 1984	$13.30
1976/77	Nov. 1, 1985	$17.77

Bondholders who redeem these Bonds prior to maturity will not be entitled to the cash bonus but only to the original return payable, as printed on the Bond certificates. Bondholders may continue to cash interest coupons each year and be entitled to the cash bonus.

SERIES DATED 1977 TO 1980 INCLUSIVE

For these Series the annual rate of 13.85% will apply for the year which began November 1, 1980, instead of the rate printed on the Bond certificates. Each $1,000 Regular Interest Bond will now pay $138.54 interest on November 1, 1981.

In addition to regular annual interest at the rate stated above, Compound Interest Bonds will earn compound interest at the rate of 11 1/2% for the 1977/78 and 1979/80 Series, 11.32% for the 1978/79 Series and 11.14% for the 1980/81 Series - these rates are the new average annual yields from November 1, 1980 to maturity of each Series. With this increase, each $100 Compound Interest Bond grows to the following value at maturity:

Series	Maturity Date	Value at Maturity
1977/78	Nov. 1, 1986	$245.01
1978/79	Nov. 1, 1985	$209.39
1979/80	Nov. 1, 1986	$211.92
1980/81	Nov. 1, 1987	$209.30

NOTE: The 1980/81 Series of Canada Savings Bonds was withdrawn from sale effective May 29, 1981. Terms of the new 1981/82 Series will be announced this fall.

DISCO DANCE

Saturday, June 14 Kinsella Hall Refreshments Available
Sponsored by the Kinsella Recreation Board

Dear Parents:

This is an open letter to parents of all young people everywhere. I am writing in response to some of the questions you ask me daily. I am not one police officer, but I represent every officer in every city and town in Canada.

You may also know me as the cop who gave you a ticket last summer but I am also the guy who lives down the street from you. I am a parent of three children, and I share with you the same hope, ambition, and dreams that you have for your children.

I am faced with the same problems you have. I share with you those moments of agony and ecstasy. I share with you the feelings of shame, guilt and disappointment when my boy or girl gets into trouble.

The scene is a long stretch of highway, with a sharp curve at one end. It has been raining and the roads are slick. A car travelling in excess of 80 mph missed the curve and plowed into the embankment where it then became airborne and struck a tree. At this point, two of the three young persons were hurled from the vehicle, one into the tree, the other onto the roadway where he landed on his head, suffering only a few bruises and a concussion. The third person was killed instantly, and he was the lucky one.

The girl thrown into the tree has her neck broken and although she was voted queen of the senior prom, she will now spend the next six years of her life in a wheelchair.

Unable to do anything else she will live and relive that terrible moment over and over many times.

When I arrive, the car has come to rest on its top, the broken wheels have stopped spinning. Smoke and steam pour out of the engine ripped from its mounting by a terrible force.

An eerie calm has settled over the scene and it appears deserted except for the one lone traveller who called in. He is sick to his stomach and heaving against his car for support. The driver is conscious but in shock and unable to free himself from broken glass and jagged metal. These cars will bend, but the one inside cannot be touched by the skilled surgeon's scalpel.

The third passenger has almost stopped bleeding, the seat and his clothing are covered with blood from an artery cut in his arm by the broken bone and that pressure from his forearm just below the other. His breath comes in gasps as he tries desperately to catch his air.

He is unable to speak, and his eyes, blue and fixed on me pleadingly, are the only communication that he is terrified and wants my help.

I feel a pang of guilt and recognize him as the boy I let off with a warning the other night for an open container of alcohol in his car. Maybe if I had cited him then he wouldn't be here now. Who knows, I don't.

He died consciently in my arms. His pale blue eyes staring vacantly as if trying to see into the future he will never have. I remember watching him play basketball and wonder what will happen to the scholarship he will never use. Daily my mind focuses on a loud screaming and I identify it as the girl who was thrown from the vehicle. I run to her with a blanket but am afraid to move her, her head is tilted at an exaggerated angle. She seems unaware of my presence and whimpers for her mother like a little child.

In the distance, I hear the wailing wail of the ambulance winding its way through the rainy night. I am filled with incredible grief at the waste of so valuable a resource - our youth.

I am sick with anger and frustration with parents and leaders who think that a little alcohol won't hurt anything. I am filled with contempt for people who profess to love life and yet let their kids go. I pray for God that I might never have to face another parent in the middle of the night and say your son, Bill or your daughter Susan, has just been killed in a car accident.

You ask me why did this happen? It happened because a young person acted out of his mind, thought he could handle two tons of burning death at 80 mph.

It happened because you as parents weren't concerned enough about your child to know where he was and what he was doing. And you blame me the harrowing news when I was only trying to do my job, and prevent this kind of tragedy.

For your sake, I hope it doesn't happen to you, but if you continue to regard alcohol as part of growing up, then please keep your mind light on weekends some rain and rainy night, you will find me at your doorstep, eyes downcast, staring at my feet with a message of death for you.

Alberta Junior Citizens Awards

They're selfless, courageous individuals or groups, showing initiative, responsibility and leadership beyond their years. They're the Alberta Junior Citizens of the Year. You can have a part in honoring young Albertans with such an Award for their accomplishments.

If you know a special young Albertan, or group of young Albertans, between the ages of six and 18, we want to tell all of Alberta about them. The deadline for nominations for the Alberta Junior Citizens Awards is June 30. Complete the nomination with details of why you want the nomination.

For 19 years, Alberta's investor-owned electric utilities have co-sponsored the Alberta Junior Citizens of the Year Awards, in conjunction with the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association. Youngsters who have helped their families in troubled times, those who have saved the lives of others while endangering their own, those who have overcome physical handicaps while maintaining their spirit, and those who participate in volunteer projects in their communities are among the candidates for the awards.

Several former Junior Citizen Award winners have gone on to become opinion leaders in their communities, inspiring others, informing their neighbors about dealing with handicaps, and staying involved in community life. They have remained good citizens, as evidenced by reports in weekly newspapers across the province. The deadline for nomination is June 30.

Life Insurance For The Uninsurable

For some years now, a life insurance policy has been available which will provide insurance for the uninsurable on a reasonable and long term basis. It is called a Last Survivor Policy.

The type of whole life contract generally provides insurance on two lives with the death benefit payable on the second death. That is, on the first death the policy is continued in force and the death benefit is payable when the second insured dies. A significant underwriting provision is that only one of the two lives needs to be insurable. Substandard or highly rated lives can also be included in this type of coverage. A husband and wife for example, could be included in the same Last Survivor Policy and as long as the wife was insurable the husband would be covered for the full sum assured. Similary, two people in business together could be covered even if one were uninsurable. The death benefit is payable on the second death and while the uninsurable or highly rated life may die first, that person could also outlive the insurable life.

Where estate planning dictates that taxable gifts be deferred until the second death, the Last Survivor Policy can provide funds not available in any other way.

Viking Art Show Great Success

The Viking Art Club once again enjoyed a very successful Art Show and Sale. The Show was held in the Legion Hall and featured 69 paintings, all which were works of seven local artists.

Staff Photo

Although the word "treasures" is an easily overused expression, it is the word that best explains the success of this past week-end art show. Its reception was a heartwarming, encouraging, incentive to striving local artists - and tremendous.

Seven members of the Viking Art Club exhibited a total of 69 paintings making an exciting and colorful show. Not only were guests able to view scenes of pastures, woodlands and bygone eras, but were able to purchase an artist's interpretation of their old home, the old neighbors cabin, a forsaken windmill, and in the style of their choice.

Despite all the "not-for-sale" and the "hold" buyers were not discouraged and 22 paintings were purchased by visitors to the "gallery" in the course of the day. The Club is excited to see the success of effort and recognizes the reward for determination and labour. As for the raffish Rita Haden now claims ownership to the painting donated by Betty Klein.

In all sincerity, the Viking Art Club thanks the community for its support and encouragement. It looks forward to reassembling in January with Paul Brand their instructor and are planning to make a show an annual event.

Irma Cubs Hold Camp-out

The Irma Cubs have had another successful year with a weekend camp-out at Stillefloss Lake. This is the second year their sponsors the Irma Kinsmen have taken them. They would like to thank the Kinsmen, namely Richard Larson, Doug Coffin and Doug Entor for taking them and the Irma Canadian Legion for their generous cash donation towards the campout.

Prior to this the Cubs journeyed to Watervliet to visit the Vet Clinic and then went to Cambridge for supper. A special thank you to Larry Froland for taking the time to show them the fire truck and explaining the duties of the fire department, and to Walter Littlewood for giving them a tour of the 74 Office.

Chutes Purchased For Cloverlodge Stampede

Preparations are underway for the 1981 Cloverlodge Stampede, Saturday and Sunday, June 20 and 21. With the help of volunteer labour and the support of many Viking businesses, the Stampede should prove to be an even better success than last year.

The Stampede family donated most of the single iron and the single dogs for the chutes was made by Mel Holmer.

It has been with a lot of hard work and dedication that the Stampede has been kept alive in the past. It is hoped that the Cloverlodge Stampede will receive the interest and be enjoyed by all.

Canada Day Picnic Plans Set

At the June 9th meeting plans for the Canada Day picnic began to take shape for a fun packed afternoon, at Centennial Park.

The first activity will be a picnic at 11:45 to signal the start of activities, then the program will proceed to demonstrate their prowess and will accept any challenge to their best.

Many people have contributed to the success of the picnic. The picnic will be held on June 13th at 1:00 p.m. and by 1:30 p.m. the picnic will be ready to challenge any one to a Tag-O-War.

The Recreation Board will be in charge of 7-ball game at 1:00 p.m. and by 1:30 p.m. the picnic will be ready to challenge any one to a Tag-O-War.

At 2:00 o'clock there will be a picnic for children of all ages followed at 2:30 by relay and novelty races under the guidance of the C.W.I., Lecher League and 4-H Clubs.

Household W.I. will organize a Picnic cruise at 2:00, and don't forget to enter the Line's Pic eating contest at 2:15.

Viking 4-H Day Results Finalized

On Monday June 8, the Viking 4-H Beef Club held their final Achievement Day with the Milk-Club and the Horse Club participating with a display.

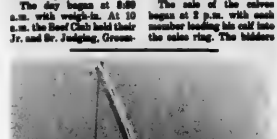

The day began at 8:00 a.m. with weigh-in. At 10 a.m. the Beef Club held their Jr. and Dr. Judging, Greening and showmanship competition. At noon the Beef Club members made use of their meat tubs while the Horse Club had their show.

The sale of the calves began at 2 p.m. with each member leading his calf into the sales ring. The buyers were kept busy for the next hour as only twenty-five calves were up for sale.

The day concluded with a Banquet at 7 p.m. in the Catholic Church basement. The delicious meal was prepared by the Burger Queen.

Following the supper, trophies were presented and a special "Trust" for the members and parents was a film shown by Jack Raddeick. It was filmed in 1966 at the 4-H achievement day held in Viking. It was real interesting and provided a few laughs for everyone.

In summer the skies are blue, the days are golden and the nights begin with beautiful sunsets. The season's long, lazy hours provide time to sit back and watch the world go by. Time to listen to a neighbour's vacation plans, a child's questions, an old song. Summer is a season of colorful sights and memorable sounds. Helping people to hear those sounds is more than a business - it's a pleasure.

One Pint of Blood Saves Four Lives

How would you like to pay over twenty dollars for one blood transfusion? This is happening in the United States. Do we want to be like Canada? The only solution is to keep the life line of free blood saving to ourselves. It is not passed on to a recipient. When money enters the the nearest blood donor. Furthermore the Red Cross Society has always been extremely cautious in its volunteer donor program to carefully check all blood so that possible infection is not passed on to a recipient. When money enters the picture, there is always a danger that it becomes more important than the blood. The dirty new process of "fractionation" means the breaking down of blood into four different components so that four people with different needs can benefit from one pint. For example, a hemphile can have a transfusion only if there is enough Factor VIII, the clotting component of blood. It is imperative that the processing or fractionation of blood be done within a two-hour limit from the time of donation. This puts a lot of pressure on the blood bank to rush the blood to the lab in Edmonton in time. For this reason, all donors must no longer can hold blood donor clinics.

Therefore, we invite everyone who is able to donate, local people and all points east to attend the blood donors clinic to be held in St. Mary's Catholic Church basement on Monday, June 22 from 6 to 8 p.m. just a few minutes of your time and one pint of blood can save four lives. Who knows, sometime it could be yours.

Canada Unity Committee Plan Annual Picnic

Jennie Bird, Marilyn Haydon, John Hume, Bill Haddock, Ed Wader and Irene Hado were present. Also present representing various organizations were Marjorie Hansen, Dore Hachorn, and Max Josephson.

The Canada Unity Day committee held a meeting at the Civic Centre on May 27, 1981.

Jennie opened the meeting at 7:45. John then read the minutes of the previous meeting. One mistake was noted concerning the grant. The grant was made out for $770.00 instead of $990.00 which was printed in the minutes. The minutes were then approved as corrected by Ed Wader. Sponsored by Irene Hado. Curried.

The following organizations agreed to take care of these certain activities. Royal Purple-Biggs, Lutheran Church Ladies League, United Church Women-Supper, Rose Garland W.L.P.

and Scramble, Hospital Auxiliary-Pillar Light, Lions-Play Ball Contest.

The idea of having the picnic was brought up during the day was brought up. Irene Hado volunteered to approach Everett Morris. It was decided to have another meeting in the near future where we contact other various organizations, and also to see what happens concerning the grant.

Dore Hachorn then adjourned the meeting which was seconded by Irene. Carried.

Donkey Baseball Great Success

A larger than anticipated crowd was in attendance at the Holden Agricultural Society sponsored Donkey Baseball games to watch the chase when men and donkeys' team up to play baseball. Staff Photo

A huge crowd attended the Donkey Baseball here last Sunday. Everyone enjoyed themselves. Nils Benner and Glen Brown of Peterborough, Ontario who are employed for the summer months handled the on-site show.

Donkey Baseball is a presentation of Jim Smith Enterprises of Fossil Falls, Ontario. The Donkey's age were from 1 to 10 years old. Nils Benner stated that the donkeys liked good grade alfalfa hay and oats. All donkeys are trained for the Baseball game. Only one was sort of an "old ball". Throughout the entire game Nils and Glen did a great job to get the crowd laughing. They stated that Donkey Baseball is a good business and that Donkeys are just not for sale because they have been in the family business for over 40 years.

Summer Care For Your Pet

Well, here we are in the middle of summer enjoying all the activities that only this season has to offer. If you are a pet owner and pet lover, chances are you've already made sure that your dog or cat is also enjoying this fine season.

But, just as you don't forget to have a checklist of things the Pet Food Manufacturers Association thinks you should know to make sure your pet has a happy and carefree summer vacation.

One down on volume of food if your animal is less active.

Feed your animal his usual meal in the morning when it's cooler.

Make sure there is always a ready supply of cool, fresh water available.

If you keep your dog tied outside make sure that your pet is shade nearby for those hot afternoon noons.

Avoid the problem of heat prostration. Keep your dog at home when you go for a jog. And never, never leave your pet in the car, even if the windows are rolled down.

Should your pet have the misfortune to meet up with a snake, you can relieve the snake problem by holding the animal (your pet, not the snake) thoroughly in your hands. Think of it as a "Buggy Mary."

If you're planning to take your pet away from home on holiday, keep these things in mind:

Find out ahead of time which hotels, motels, and campgrounds allow animals.

Never leave your pet alone, always take him with you when you leave your home.

Make sure your pet has had all its shots. This is extremely important in any case, but especially if you're planning on camping.

Familiarize yourself with first aid care for pets. Summer is a particularly hazardous time with things like insect bites, poisoning, fish hooks, porcupine quills, and as mentioned earlier - heat

If you're travelling by train or plane, make suitable arrangements. Your pet must be shipped, you must buy a special pet ticket and it will ride in the baggage compartment, not with you.

If your pet isn't used to travelling by air, or for that matter, crum about it, take him to your favorite veterinarian.

Make sure your pet has had all its shots. This is extremely important in any case, but especially if you're planning on camping.

Familiarize yourself with first aid care for pets. Summer is a particularly hazardous time with things like insect bites, poisoning, fish hooks, porcupine quills, and as mentioned earlier - heat prostration, and drinking. If you decide to leave your pet at home, you must find suitable boarding facilities, or leaving the pet with a friend makes sure you have a complete list of requirements for the animal. Leave nothing out. What appears to be common sense to you, might not occur to someone else. As well, should you leave the pet with a friend, make sure they have a car available in case a trip to your vet is necessary.

Now, pin this up in your kitchen high enough so you can't get it at it, and refer to it if it is doubt.

Have's wishing you and your pet a happy and trouble free summer.

Introducing TransAlta Utilities

The new name of Calgary Power

When we first began providing electricity to the City of Calgary in 1911, our name accurately reflected the scope of our Company's operations.

Today, however, it does not. Over the past 70 years we have grown a great deal. Our operations now stretch from north of Lac La Biche to the International Boundary in the south and covers some 194,000 square kilometers of Alberta. We now provide services to over a million Albertans, a number far greater than imagined by our founders 70 years ago.

To convey the Alberta-wide nature of our 59 percent Canadian-owned Company, and to reflect our growth and progress, we are changing our name to TRANSALTA UTILITIES.

TRANSALTA UTILITIES will continue to supply the same high quality of service and personal attention which has for 70 years been the hallmark of Calgary Power. For you—our customers, employees, suppliers and friends—nothing will change except our name.

We're excited about this new name and the new symbol which will accompany it. We look forward to many more years of partnership and progress with all Albertans.

Family Support Services Explained

Just when you're beginning to figure out what P.S.S. (Provisional Social Services) is about, along comes a new one - P.C.B.S. Don't panic, it's the same place with a new name. The Provincial Department which provides 80 per cent of the funding for our local program, has undergone a name change and our local office will be following suit in the months to come.

Having been in the Director's position for only a few days, I am spending most of my time getting acquainted with P.S.S. activities and those related activities of organizations in Viking. The more exposure I get in this area, the more I am impressed with the ability of the people of Viking to identify their own needs and do something about them. There are several community service programs underway that were initiated and are supported by local groups. I will elaborate on the details of some of these programs in the months to come and on the good work of some of the community minded people who are making them possible.

It is the objective of Family and Community Support Services (P.S.S.) to be established as an avenue of assistance to groups and individuals concerned with community services and development and to undertake the establishment of such services indicated necessary in the Viking Community. If you have concerns about Community Development, Services needed, programs in progress or future plans, call or drop in to our office and share your thoughts with us. Our current priority centre around "youth" services. In "Summer Action" is currently being drafted and Senior Citizens needs (recomendations) will soon be forthcoming regarding services, facilities and programs for seniors from the recent survey in the Viking area.

I most recently met with the Viking Day Centre Committee and they have a great day shaping up for July 1st. If you're a big pie eater, horseshoe player or world class pillow fighter, better start your training camp now. Try of War challenges will be issued and games and demonstrations are scheduled for a very full afternoon for all ages. Watch for Picnicking entry forms and time schedules for the day that will soon be posted by the Viking Committee.

After 32 years of City living, my past 5 years of "rural life" has led me to the discovery of a great delicacy not found in the city. It's called the "Pot Luck Supper" and every one I have attended has been a feast fit for a king. It's had to list my reasons for choosing to live in a rural town rather than a city. The "Pot Luck Supper" would rank high on the list. A Pot Luck Supper will wind up the afternoon on July 1st, so get a few extra notches in your belt before you go to the picnic.

Dick Chamney

For those who can still go on a full stomach, a few evening activities are in the works so keep an eye out for the schedules.

Holden News

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kryka were in Edmonton attending the graduation of their son-in-law, Dr. John Colin McNeil on June 4, 1981. In addition to receiving the degree of Doctor of Medicine, John was awarded the Dr. Ernest A. Johnson Prize of Ophthalmology. Diane (Kryka) McNeil hosted family and friends to a post-graduation dinner at their home.

Attending the 4th annual Elated officials symposium in Edmonton June 10-13 from the Holden area were Eugene Frawich, Victor Romanich, Ryley and Anna Sharvack village of Holden.

Rosegarland W. I. Meet

Thirteen members answered the Roll Call of "A Household Hunt" at the regular meeting of Rosegarland W.I. held at the home of Vernie Ellison, Tues., June 9, at 6 p.m.

Activities carried out during the past two months were as follows: We entered to a farm auction sale in April. We were responsible for the May Birthday party at Extensicare Nursing Home for the May birthday celebrants were residents there. Mrs. Hato and Mrs. Hudson brought the Grade one classes to sing. Children's entertainment is always a highlight to make a break in an adult oriented atmosphere. Besides serving cake and ice cream to the adults, each child was given a prize before returning to their homes.

Emmie Odie, National President of the Federated Women's Institute of Canada was the main speaker and the spoke mainly of W.I. work at the National level. Emmie is no stranger to the rural segment of our country for she is the Home Rep. columnist of the Western Producer.

Other speakers were Sister Martha Holden and Sister W.I. Regional Co-ordinator for the Handicapped in Calgary. In his remarks he stated "We judge people by what they cannot do, but by what they can do we should help the Handicapped to help themselves."

A film was also shown at the convention entitled "Love, Honor and Obedience". Publicity on battered wives and abused children has brought to light much that is going on in our so-called civilized society. We can no longer sweep it under the rug and pretend that it is not there. Public awareness places a responsibility on everybody.

Following the convention report, business was resumed. In a discussion on our involvement with the Community picnic planned for Viking, Rosegarland will donate one unit of coffee for the potluck supper and run the peanut scramble for the children.

Education paper committees were then chosen for the year. Handcraft and Cultural Activities - Verne Ellison, Agriculture and Canadian Industries - Irene Hato, Citizenship and Education - Margaret Hill, Health and Home Economics - Marie Weder, United Nations - Irene Toward, Environmental Conservation - Elaine Sudaby.

The Pensions for Friendship gave the instructions "Five cents for every inch of your shoe size."

Induction has even hit the Pensions for Friendship project. This project is the finance ability for travel expenses for institutional Convention. It has even suggested that the term can be changed to "Dollars for Friendship" in keeping with the times. Members are reminded that we don't go far on pensions anymore.

The International Convention will be held in Vancouver in 1980 which will put an extra strain on the travel fund so much travel will be necessary in the preparation for this.

The meeting adjourned for the summer session of July and August and will reconvene again at the home of Marie Weder on Sept. 8, Happy Holidays!

CLEANING BARBECUE GRILLS

The taste of a barbecued meal is a real treat, but cleaning the grill afterwards can be a chore. There are a few methods to make the job a bit easier, whether you have a charcoal or gas barbecue.

Preventing the meat from sticking to the grill is the first step to an easy cleanup. If your grill is easily removed, get it aside while heating the coals. It will not stick as much if put on a cool grill. On barbecues where the grill is awkward to remove, save fat from the meat drippings and rub over grill just before putting meat on.

Gas barbecues can be cleaned easily by turning heat on high, and closing the lid, after you have finished cooking. Leave it for 5-10 minutes then turn off heat and let cool. A stiff wire brush is all that's needed now to remove the burnt ashes.

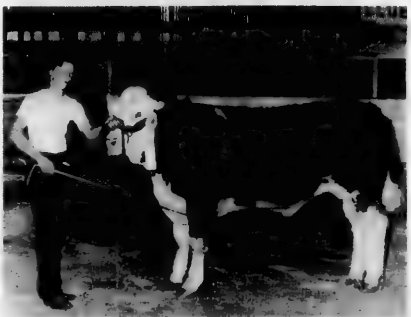

Small hibachi type barbecues have grills that fit snugly into a sink. As soon as you have finished cooking, soak the grills in hot soapy water. By the time you're ready to clean up, the grills are easy to clean.

The last method of cleaning is to use a spray oven cleaner. Spray on grill after cooking, let sit for a specified time and wipe clean.

These methods of cleaning grills can keep outdoor cooking fun and simple for you too!

"There is an urgent need for the Federal Government to adopt measures that will encourage the economic development of agriculture in Western Canada," says the President in a letter to Senator Brad Olson, Minister of State for Economic Development.

Coalition Spokesman Ivan McMillan said, "A financially strong Western agricultural industry is essential for a prosperous and unified Canada."

But he said this requires "a major thrust towards a more intensive kind of agriculture" and to welcome producers and to much more processing of the raw food products produced here. "Central to such a development is the need for an adequate and efficient transportation system."

The Coalition Spokesman said the lack of a sound transportation system for the West is a major threat to the economic development of the West. "We urge you as a senator from the West who is committed to the united Canada to communicate to government the urgency of establishing a technical team to work in concert with producers and transportation agencies."

CROP CONDITIONS IN THE COUNTY OF BEAVER

Generally crops have germinated well over the county. However there is some real question in some fields due to lack of rain. The west end of the county has had more rain than the east end. The driest area is north of Highway 14 from Bruce post.

Viking. We need a good, general rain really bad. Let's hope a good rain comes in for a few days.

Water Safety Tips

Never be in so much of a rush that you forget to look before you leap. The Red Cross recommends that before diving in you take a minute or two to check the water depth, rocks and other hazards. If it prevents an accident, it's time well spent.

Arthur Thomas, son of Ralph and Teresa Thomas of Viking was injured in a motorcycle accident on Saturday, May 16. The couple are making their home in Viking.

Wainwright Hospital Opens Gazebo

May 18th was the yearly day for annual convalescent "Hospital Day" in Canada and was celebrated locally with a bit of a flourish.

The Wainwright Hospital celebrated the official opening of the outdoor gazebo which has been built outside the Auxiliary Hospital pavilion.

The gazebo was jointly dedicated by the Wainwright branch of the Royal Canadian Legion and Alberta Nurses. Costs of construction were $2,700.00.

The gazebo was designed by architect Patricia Arpeta of Edmonton, who visited the hospital to see the site. Bert Jensen did the building and the gazebo was dedicated by other employees.

The gazebo has the appearance of an outdoor detached, but this is to be a familiar sight to patients in the Auxiliary Hospital as it is a little coming with outside due to weather conditions, insects, etc., hence this building is a protective a weather and in patients can be outside for a longer

Calgary Power Changes Name

Calgary Power Ltd., officially changed its name to TransAlta Utilities Corporation on June 18, 1981. The change of name for the 80 per cent Canadian-owned company was approved by shareholders at the utility's Annual Meeting on May 14.

Since 1911 when it supplied electric energy to its first customers, Canada's largest investor-owned electric utility has played an important role in the rich heritage of the Province of Alberta. The utility's first customers were the City of Calgary and the Canada Cement plant at Ennis. Today the company serves over one million Albertans, providing about 60 per cent of the province's total electric energy requirements.

The name TransAlta Utilities Corporation will better identify the company's service area. Growth and progress over the first 70 years of operation has surpassed the ability of the former name to fully reflect the scope of the company's operations.

Make Biking More Fun

As well as supervising the selection of a bicycle for a child, parents should also inspect the bike regularly to see that it remains in good working order until the child can become responsible enough to carry out the necessary maintenance. At the beginning of the season, check the tires for wear and tear. Also check the wheel spokes, chain, lights, horn or bell. Take note of the bike's oil and replace any loose nuts and bolts. Check braking ability before taking the bike onto the street.

No child should be permitted to ride on roadways until he has mastered all aspects of bicycle riding. When a child becomes the proud possessor of his or her first two-wheeler, traffic safety education is a must. Since 1960, the Alberta Safety Council has offered the Peal Pusher Program to teach youngsters the basic elements of safe bicycling. Currently, between ten and twelve thousand children, and at least 800 adult volunteers, participate annually. Any interested organization, such as Community Leagues, Home and School Associations, Recreation Departments, Service Clubs or Police Departments, wishing to organize a Peal Pusher Program, should contact their local safety council (if in Edmonton or Calgary) or the Alberta Safety Council, 1038 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 1Z7.

the family name for a group of companies, name of TransAlta Resources and TransAlta Fly Ash, in addition to TransAlta Utilities.

"We look to the future with the change to TransAlta Utilities," said Marshall M. Williams, President and Chief Executive Officer of TransAlta Utilities. "The decision to adopt a new name reflects the diversity and progress of our business interests and of our dynamic and growing province of Alberta."

"We will continue to provide Albertans with the same high-quality service and personalized attention as we have in the past," he said.

TransAlta Utilities will maintain the company's link with the past through a heritage program and the documentation of records through the Glenbow Institute in Calgary.

TransAlta Utilities' trust is cradled on the Alberta, Toronto, and Montreal stock exchanges has changed to TAU, with newspaper stock listings appearing as TransAlta.

Mary Hardy

The month of June is full of celebrations. Its beginning signals the end of the school year, a time for travel and holiday plans and the start of radiant spring. To a very large and excited few it is Huntington's Disease month. A time when the Huntington Society of Canada needs support on the public and tries to do the disease better known and understood.

Through personal contact, speakers and sharing, the like Mary Hardy of Mary Whitaker was born in Lacombe, Alberta in November of 1919; the oldest daughter of planning parents from western Canada.

Mary and her two younger sisters enjoyed the amenities of life and education in a rural community. Mary completed the primary grades at Lacombe and attended high school at Something in Edmonton. Prior to accepting her first teaching position Mary completed one year of normal school.

Mary's first posting brought her to the Viking area, a place she has since called home. Teaching grades one to nine at Iron Creek School was a challenging and rewarding step in her teaching career. She then went on to teach the same span of grades at the Robinson School.

About this time, Mary and her future husband Archie Hardy and Mary Whitaker exchanged vows in July of 1943 and had only a few short days together before Archie went overseas. He returned three years later, twice decorated and earned university. He graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in Commerce and moved his family to Lloydminster for a period of five years.

Here the Hardys adopted a daughter and Mary settled into making a happy home life for her family. After returning to Viking the Hardys completed their family with the adoption of a son. Mary resumed her teaching career in Viking in 1948 when James was seven and Bob was five.

Along with teaching and raising a family Mary enjoyed an active community life. She joined the Viking Social for over fifteen years and enjoyed her role singing in the chorale choir. She was an active member of the United Church Women's group and served the role of President of the Women's Auxiliary as it was formerly known.

An P.H.R.L. of the O.C.P.F. Mary recalls with pride a great number of volunteer endeavors and contributions that were and still are a vital part of our community. Mary found a great deal of enjoyment in the seasonal game of pool and curling and cultivated a long-time love of books. As with many home-owners she actually turned her hand to building and sewing.

Then, during the school year of 1976-1977 fate stepped in and dealt her a heavy hand. Unknown to Mary and those close to her subtle signs of Huntington's Chorea became noticeable. The year also held many unpleasant experiences for Mary. Doctors were either unable or reluctant to make a diagnosis and she and those around her drew their own conclusions. Finally in the spring of 1979, Mary's neurological disorder was diagnosed as Huntington's Chorea and Mary retired from teaching with a permanent disability pension.

Although an almost instantaneous diagnosis and acceptance is shock to Mary and her family, a close look at her ancestral family background revealed the presence of the somewhat unexpected diagnosis on her mother's side. Of her mother's family three out of eight members had Huntington's Disease and two members died too young to know. Three were mistaken for the neurological disorder.

Often symptoms of the disease can include uncontrollable jerking or twitching movements of the head, neck, arms and legs and erratic behavior. At all speech may become slurred and some patients show signs of delicate mental deterioration or personality changes.

Much is being accomplished through scientific research but no known cure has been found. Some new medications are being tried. Some new experiments are underway and a brain tissue bank has been established. Chapters of the Huntington's Society are helping immensely by raising funds for research projects and with the personal struggle and adjustments of many individuals.

Mary remembers well the embarrassment and humiliation of 1976-1977 but she has the Society and the understanding and sharing of experiences with other members, has learned that what she experienced was a typical public response.

Mary now bravely accepts her disability and feels she is luckier than some. Mary experienced the physical deterioration of the neurological disease and with help available from a number of sources finds many joys in everyday living.

Alberta and British Columbia farmers with a farm safety will now have the opportunity to collect a reward for their inventions. A new farm safety contest known as Project I.D.E.A. (Inventions designed to end accidents) is giving away $7,000 worth of cash prizes to the entrants who offer the best ideas leading to the design of safer farm implements.

Project I.D.E.A. is co-sponsored by Alberta's Farm Safety Program and the Farm Equipment Dealers' Association of Alberta and British Columbia. It is open to farmers, farm workers and farm family members who are working on farms in Alberta and British Columbia. Alberta District Agricultural and farm implement dealers throughout the two provinces will be distributing rules and entry forms for the contest. Project I.D.E.A. will be in effect from June 15 until the last day of November, 1981. The entries will be judged by a team of adjudicators comprised of agricultural engineers, farmers and representatives from the Farm Safety Program, the Farm Equipment Dealers' Association and other organizations. Contest winners will be announced early in January.

The purpose of the contest is to promote farm safety by encouraging farmers to design modifications that would make farm implements safer to operate. The adjudicators will be looking for three requirements when they examine these ideas: originality and the soundness and practicality of incorporating these ideas into the design of farm implements. The winners will receive cash prizes and the adjudicators that their ideas would not curtail the functional effectiveness of the implements. Project I.D.E.A. will mark the second time that the Farm Safety Program (administered by Alberta Agriculture and Alberta Workers' Health, Safety and Compensation) and the Farm Equipment Dealers' Association have co-sponsored a contest in promoting farm safety. Last summer, the two organizations co-sponsored the popular Farmers' Safety Showcase. Interest there for indicates that this year's Project I.D.E.A. will be just as successful.

Questions regarding Project I.D.E.A. can be directed towards Mr. Robinson, Kyrremonting of the Farm Safety Program, 9885-108 Street, Okotoks, Alberta, T8K 2J6, (403) 627-2541, or towards the Farm Equipment Dealers' Association of Alberta-British Columbia.

Outdoor Courts At Last

As I'm sure most of all of the town is now aware, we have outdoor tennis courts set up next to the school. They have had the nets up for only a couple of weeks, but there has been lots of activity on the courts already.

Everybody is ready to try and play tennis. Players very in age, size, and skill, but they are all enjoying the game.

However, some are enjoying it more than others because they will not adhere to court etiquette. For the players who have played very little or not at all before, they may not have an idea what court etiquette is.

COURT ETIQUETTE IS GOOD MANNERS. Court etiquette covers many things. Most of these things are rules you would see posted at most tennis courts. They consist of: 1. No foul language on the courts. This includes being and we are some of the enjoyment for the other players. 2. Be courteous and helpful. If a ball rolls onto your court, throw it back to the owner.

If your ball goes onto another court, don't charge after it in the middle of a rally. Wait until the rally is over and then get it. 3. If you are playing singles and others are waiting to use the courts, offer to play doubles with them. 4. If a lot of people are waiting to use the courts, play for one half hour, and then let someone else on the court. Just because they are not good players or do not know the rules completely, does not mean they are not entitled to use the courts. 5. Familiarize yourself with the rules thoroughly. Playing the game the proper way makes that much more fun.

These few rules are easy to remember, and when adhered to, make the game and use of the courts much more fun for everybody. Hopefully, we will be able to get a rule board made up and posted in the courts.

Remember, the courts are not a place where we all have a whole summer to play tennis. So don't try to get a whole season play into one night. We all enjoy tennis. Good luck to you all.

Old Age Security Payments To Increase

Increases in the Old Age Security pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance, which are to take effect in July 1981, were announced recently by the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Monique Bégin.

The basic Old Age Security pension will be increased to $214.80 monthly from the present $208.50.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for an individual or a married person whose spouse is receiving neither a pension nor a Spouse's Allowance, will increase to $212.72 from its current $208.08. Added to the basic pension, this will give a person receiving both the OAS and the maximum G.I.S. a monthly total of $427.52.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a married couple, both of whom are pensioners, will increase to $169.52 each from $161.16. Added to the basic pension this will give each married pensioner receiving the maximum G.I.S. a total of $391.18, or $782.36 for the couple.

The Guaranteed Income Supplement is paid to pensioners whose income, apart from the Old Age Security pension, is limited. The amount of the supplement varies in relation to income. The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $201.18 from $200.38. The maximum Spouse's Allowance is made up of an amount equivalent to the basic Old Age Security pension and the maximum G.I.S. at the married rate and it is paid to persons between 60 and 65 years of age who are married to OAS pensioners and meet residence requirements. Entitlement to a spouse's Allowance, and the amount paid, is based on yearly income.

Where the pensioner spouse dies, the surviving spouse may be eligible for the continuation of the allowance to age 65 or until remarriage if the person has no income or a limited amount of income.

Increases in Old Age Security pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments are calculated quarterly based on the cost of living.

Fishing Regulations Change

Selkirk Lake, A Trophy Lake, is located approximately 75 km north of St. Paul. It was closed to all anglers from April 1 to May 31, 1981, but recently reopened.

This regulation change is necessary in order to protect the large pike during this vulnerable period, and after spawning. In addition, the possession of fish for bait will not be allowed on any Trophy Lake. Also, the daily and possession limit on Selkirk Lake is two pike and five walleye.

Selkirk Lake was designated in 1970 as one of seven Trophy Lakes in Alberta. Special regulations and reduced catch limits are needed to manage the populations of large pike in Selkirk Lake. R. McDowell, now Alberta Fish and Wildlife's N.E. Regional Director, intensively studied the Selkirk Lake pike from 1971-73. Pike tagged during that time period are still being caught. If you catch a tagged fish please return the tag and details of the date and location of capture, and length, weight, and sex of the fish. A sample of scales from just below the fish's dorsal fin should also be included. Please send the information to Hugh Norris, Regional Fisheries Biologist, Box 1480, St. Paul.

Wainwright Seniors Visit Irma

On Thursday evening, June 11, a bus load of Senior Citizens were guests of Irma New Horizons Club. The visitors arrived at 6:30 p.m. and were met and welcomed at the door by members of the Irma club.

When all were seated and comfortable, Georgia Eiger on behalf of the Irma club, welcomed them that we were glad to have them and hoped they would enjoy their visit with us. She then led a sing song and told a few stories. Lily Shum gave a reading "Albert and the Lion", and as usual told a few silly stories. Louise Prosser then gave a reading.

Blanka Landis, a student from Macleod, (who is taking grade 10 in Irma school) gave a piano solo which was much enjoyed and enjoyed. When the program was concluded, lunch was served. A Wainwright lady, on behalf of the visitors expressed thanks for an enjoyable evening.

Since sympathy to the Murray family on the passing of their Dad, Mr. Murray made his home with us for eight years before being transferred to Estevan where he died in March 1979.

Mill Rate Jumps 26 Mills

A special meeting of the Viking Town Council on Monday evening set the 1981 mill rate at 126 mills. This is an increase of 26 mills over the 1980 tax rate.

The special meeting discussed a number of special meetings held to set the 1981 budget. Total expenditures by the Town of Viking for the year will be $1,501,948.00. One mill in Viking is equal to $5,819.36. Prior to passing by-law

No. 286, the new mill rate, Council discussed possible reductions from the 126.91 mills previously established in committee. Most councilors expressed concern that the increase was large, but that it couldn't be lowered. Councilor Bird said that there was going to be an awful year at this rate (126.91), but that she could not see anywhere that it could be lowered.

The greatest jump in the mill rate is being caused by the debt service payment on the new water system. Payment of $81,000 will now be required annually to pay for the nearly $800,000 borrowed by the Town to finance the $2.5 million project. This payment requires that approximately 21 mills be added to the mill rate.

Requisitions from other sources to the Town decreased slightly from last year, from 53.45 mills to 51.90 mills. These requisitions include the Provincial School Foundation program, (18.90 down from 20.56) the County's Supplementary Education requisition (28.27, down from 25.78) the Alberta Foundation Fund, (1.85, up from .74) the Viking General Hospital (9.30, down from 9.60) the Ambulance Foundation, (1.38, new) and the Beaver Foundation, (8.11, new).

C.D.S. To Get Portable Classroom

The Viking Child Development Society has been allocated a portable classroom by the Alberta Department of Education.

In a letter to Evelyn Carrington, Education Minister David King stated that the Early Childhood Services Branch is making arrangements with the Department of Housing and Public Works for the transfer of a unit from another part of the provision. A timeline for the move has not been determined at this time.

Mr. King also said that housing arrangements for the unit will be provided to the Viking C.D.S. in the near future. He said that he hoped the allocation of the unit would enable the Society to continue its work with young children and their families in the Viking area.

The C.D.S. is presently operating out of a classroom in the Viking school. However, this is a temporary arrangement, and the acquisition of the portable unit will provide a more permanent home for the C.D.S. activities.

The building is slated to be placed on the former Viking Cartage lot which is owned by the Town. At a special meeting on Monday evening, Council made provisions for the demolition of the old Viking Cartage building and the removal of any contents in preparation for arrival of the building.

The municipal portion of the mill rate jumped from 45.55 mills in 1980 to 73.45 mills this year. This represents a 61.9% overall increase. Over 40% of this increase comes from the 21 mills necessary to pay the water system debt. The total debt of $82,000. This leaves a municipal operating deficit of about 11.74% just over 7 mills. The total overall increase in the mill rate, from 90 mills to 126 mills, is just over 36%.

Meeting Calls For Town-County Agreement

A meeting between the Viking Town Council and the local Recreation Board concluded with a call for a meeting between the Town and the County to work out a cost-sharing agreement with the Town for recreation facilities.

The Recreation Board delegation met with the Council at its regular June meeting last Wednesday evening. Bryan Nordstrom began the Board presentation by showing outline drawings of the proposed recreation area on an overhauled project that there are problems with and conditions in the area in several places, leaving few options that will provide a good natural base for a major facility.

George Roddick pointed out that there are problems with the long range site plan. Several problems, such as a lack of fill, poor soil conditions, and poor drainage were mentioned.

The meeting then spent considerable time discussing various possibilities for locating one baseball and two football diamonds, a racetrack, fair grounds, and a major facility in the area designated.

Most of the working suggestions for locating these facilities came from members of the Council. The Recreation Board expressed disagreement in their attempts to plan the area. A suggestion was made by one Board member that the site plan be dropped for now until adequate feasible land could be acquired.

Mayor Roddick told the Board members that they would have to make the best of a bad situation. He said that the land was not use-

Chamber Honors Sutter Family

A crowd of over 300 were on hand in the Viking Community Hall Sunday evening to pay tribute to the Sutter Family. The evening was sponsored by the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce.

Following grace by Rose Brower, a fine meal was enjoyed, catered by Jenny Bird. Bob Evans, M.C. of the evening, introduced the band (see picture) which was made up entirely of the Sutter family members. Bob provided some background on each of the Sutter boys in their boyhood lives. Gary is presently the coach of the Yegerville Jr. B. Rappers, Brian is captain of St. Louis Blues, Darryl is with the Chicago Black Hawks, Duane and Brent are with the New York Islanders and Richard and Ronald are with the Lethbridge Broncos.

Late Carrington, President of the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce expressed his appreciation to everyone in attendance. Late said it was fitting that the Sutter family be honored because they had done a lot to put Viking on the map.

Deane was "selected" by the Sutter Family to reply to the C. C. evening on behalf of the family.

Now We Have To Make It Pay

On Monday evening, the Council of the Town of Viking set the mill rate for 1981 at 125 mills. This is a significant jump from the 99 mills which was set last year. Of the 125 mills, $13.99 is targeted to pay for requisitions from other bodies. The municipality has no choice in this matter, for these requisitions are either set by the Provincial government, or by boards on which the Town has representation. That leaves 73.61 mills at the cost of operating the Town. This is an increase of 28.06 mills from the municipal operating costs of 1980. However, of this 28.06 mill increase, nearly 21 mills will be going solely towards paying for the new water system for the Town.

The 21 mills is required to pay the $82,000 which goes towards the debt incurred in building the water system. The Town borrowed nearly $590,000 to pay for their portion of the $2.8 million system. This $82,000 payment will be required each year for the next 20 years. And so we might just as well get used to that fact, and try to do something to decrease the tax burden on the businesses and residences in Viking.

The construction of the water system was a must if Viking is to have any kind of a progressive future. We constantly see towns in Alberta attracting small businesses and industries to their communities. And yet, in the past, the lack of an adequate water supply in Viking discouraged anyone from establishing here. In order to survive as viable communities today, towns and villages need to be able to provide a wide variety of services to people in their communities and their area. The larger the population in the community, the greater is the demand on business to provide these services. As well, due to the automated nature of our society, recreation has become a major part of the lives of all rural Albertans. The major problem is with providing capital to build facilities, and dollars to keep them running once they are built. In order for any town or village to maintain a good recreational system for their communities, they need the population base which will provide the funds necessary.

The taxpayers in Viking have just felt a large chunk of their income being taken to provide a better service to the community. What we now have to do is start working to ease the burden on each taxpayer. The only way that this can be done is to attract more people to Viking. The major crunch in this year's mill rate is a result of the fact that we have to pay every taxpayer with every taxpayer that is attracted. The best way that we can attract taxpayers is to provide them with jobs. Now it is imperative that the Town, in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations, initiate a program to attract business and industry to this community. Without an increase in the industrial and business base, Viking will not attract new residents. At the same time, all efforts should be focused on getting the Roddick land and the East Industrial Park on stream for development, and on getting the Laughlin land on stream for housing.

In the past few years, the Viking Councils have made some very good moves towards the future. They all must cost money. But we can alleviate the individual tax burden by working together.

Viking Mill Rate Jumps

Mayor Rankin said that when one considers that the Town is now faced with the $82,000 debt, plus inflation, plus development of the East Industrial Park, that total expenditures are up 80 to 90 per cent. He said that the mill rate is not increasing substantially this year to meet the spending requirements, then there will be big problems next year.

Council discussed the possibility of using more of the out of the Town's reserves, thus allowing for a decrease in the mill rate. The Mayor said that the Town already had less in reserve than was recommended by Alberta Municipal Affairs. Councilor Evans said that the reserves should be utilized as a source of short term borrowing for the Town and there should be no depletion any further. The discussion resulted in the idea being rejected.

Mayor Rankin reported to the meeting that some towns and villages in the area had also experienced large increases. He said mill rates jumped 54 per cent, while Ryegate's rose nearly 30 per cent. Golden managed to hold it to an 11 per cent overall increase, while Watrous jumped 51 per cent.

Following lengthy discussion, Council gave all three readings to by-law No. 288 setting the 1981 mill rate at 125 mills for commercial purposes and 99 mills for residential purposes. The Provincial School Funding requisition will be 108.06 mills.

the map", a task which the Chamber is also involved in. The absence of an official representative from the Town of Viking was handled when Bob Evans, a Town Councillor, provided greetings from the Town.

Bob then called on Gary Woloshak, long time Midgott hockey coach in Viking to speak about the Sutter family hockey days. Gary gave a run down of a number of highlights of his involvement with the boys over the years, noting the fine attitude which he displayed toward the game. He said that the boys had worked hard for everything they got, and that it was a dedication to the sport which provided the success. Cor Swanson, President of the Alberta Junior Hockey League and former owner of the Red Deer Barons, provided the audience with some memories of his involvement with the Sutter family when they played with the Barons. Cor mentioned Brian and Darryl and was the manager when the other four boys played in Red Deer.

Cor also described the tremendous dedication and hard work which each of the Sutters displayed while he was involved with them. He said that after Brian succeeded, each of the others seemed to have something to prove, and prove it they did.

Following Mr. Swanson, Bob called on long time hockey fan Canada Man and to present gifts to the Sutter family. As Dick Morris presented a hotel description of each, Charlie presented Louis and Grace, and each of the boys with an original painting by a local Viking artist. The night paintings were done by Myraa Pyton, Betty Klein, Karen Cottrell and Cathleen Sasser. Bob then called on Deane to respond to the evening on behalf of the Family. Deane provided a short account about each of his brothers, and then expressed a number of "thank you's". He expressed the family's appreciation to the Chamber for the evening which they had provided.

Then, on behalf of the boys, Deane thanked his parents for in the years of moral and financial support which allowed them to realize their dreams.

Next, he thanked the numerous people in the Viking who had come to the evening and helped with the minor hockey teams while each of them was playing in Viking. Following the speeches, the Sutter Family posed for pictures and then signed autographs for anyone who wished them. A memorable evening was brought to a close with a general visitation among those in attendance.

Lane Restriction At Fabyan Bridge

In a recent announcement Alberta Transportation advised that a single lane restriction will be put into effect in the area of the Battle River Crossing at Fabyan, Alberta.

Traffic going both directions will be temporarily reduced to a single lane on Highway 14 at the Fabyan Bridge from June 22 to July 14th.

During the duration of the bridge repair project, the area will be closed during daylight hours and signs have been erected.

The temporary lane restriction is necessary in order to complete repairs to the bridge, railing and deck.

Alberta Transportation said it is necessary to drive with extreme care and urge truckers to use extreme caution because of the steep hills throughout the area.

Following the speeches,

Irma News And Views

Irma was fortunate in having a fair shower on Tuesday night or early on Wednesday morning. We got some rain on each, and some say they got 4 inches. It was windy and so didn't will help. The fact that Wednesday was cloudy and cool also helped, but we really need a good shower. Hope has permitted of very warm and much of it came up very quickly. Crops, particularly on the lighter soils are showing signs of deteriorating.

Minale and Jim Jackson attended the wedding of their grandson Larry of Edmonton at Vermilion on Saturday evening, June 20th. Larry and Darlene married at the Vermilion Hotel and were married in the bonds of Holy Matrimony by the Rev. Gordon Taylor in First United Church Vermilion.

Lorne and Edith Jackson were also in attendance. The reception was in Dervent District Recreation Centre where over 400 sat down to a really beautiful meal which was followed by a dance. The music was excellent and everyone was enjoying themselves immensely. After midnight there was a line up of the bride and groom (backed by their parents and grand parents). The guests then lined up and came forward, congratulating the newly weds and presenting them with cash.

Retirement Party Held For Louisa Prosser

A retirement party honoring Mrs. Louisa Prosser who has taught school in Irma since 1962 was held Friday evening, June 5 beginning with a pot-luck supper.

Following supper a short program was enjoyed; a dance number by Mrs. Prosser and Roy Larson (granddaughter of Mrs. Prosser), a Sam Dano number, Irma and School (Mr. J. Black), and the retired teachers (Mr. D. Guss), and selection by the Choral Group.

In giving the teacher's history and making the community presentation, Mr. Douglas Coffin (himself a former pupil of Mrs. Prosser) stressed her many contributions to the community, the school, the A.T.A. and the Home and School Association.

After presentations from the Staff (Mr. Dick Milne), the Home and School (Mr. J. Black), and the retired teachers (Mr. D. Guss), Mrs. Prosser fittingly thanked everyone.

cheques and presents. I am sure almost everyone involved enjoyed the band, especially the banding. Minale and Jim stayed over night at the Turner Hotel and at noon on Sunday attended the opening and display of presents and at 1 p.m. the delicious meal served by the brides parents. Minale and Jim returned home across country on Sunday afternoon. They saw large areas north of Vermilion where cattle have been cleaned all the leaves off the trees and also saw many crops which need moisture very badly. Some crops are already hurt.

Irma was a quiet town on Saturday June 20th when so many people were in town. The district attended the United-irrigated stampede. The parade which started at 10 a.m. and lasted for over an hour was witnessed by what appeared to be a record crowd. While the theme of the parade was advertised to be "Agriculture" many other things of our society were also evident. One outstanding agricultural exhibit was a large Case steam engine towing a big Case separator, fully belted and ready to go.

This was followed by water tank and finally a rack load of sheaves. There were several other interesting exhibits. The school band made a good showing. Some visitors were heard to wonder how a strawberry Plains June meeting was held at the home of Betty Fawcett on the 19th with seven members present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Betty Fawcett. Opening prayer was given by Dorcas Hill and resolution of the crowd. Minutes were read by Edna and adopted. Treasurer's report was given by Dorcas Hill and received.

Announcement coming from the minutes was making further plans for the cold pizza dinner. In this connection it was decided to hold a special meeting when all members could be present.

Concordance was then taken care of. Roll Call was answered by suggestions for our July outing. Many suggestions were put forward, but finally a dinner outing and then a show, if and when a suitable show could be found.

Handicraft and Social Service were all at this time. It was decided that we cannot our annual social picnic, but to take in the annual Co-op picnic instead.

A delicious lunch was served by Betty and many hits of interesting news were enjoyed over the tea cups.

Proposed: 1. Retain Centennial Park; one suitable land north of Centennial Park for complex. Acquire 2 properties west of recreation site as they come up. Expand Centennial Park eastward to parallel 46th Street.
2. If Centennial Park is not retained, we need an entirely new package of 10-30 acres of usable land.
George Rodick spoke to Kent Hendrick who reported that the planning man will meet with us to talk about a major complex. Mr. Hendricks will meet with us on June 28 to receive 5 year master plan.
Results of the survey to be presented at meeting with Council on June 17, 1981.
Adjoined to ball diamonds in Centennial Park for measurement.

Rec. Board Holds Special Meeting

The Viking Rec. Board held a special meeting of Saturday, June 8, 1981. In attendance were John, George Rodick, John Andruskow, George Rikard, Dr. Bryan Nordstrom and Peter Cummings.
Studied site plan of existing area designated for recreation. Studied and held results which showed very little land suitable for building. There are major restrictions placed by existing sewer line, Rusk's yard, proposed water plant and water line, and unsuitable land. Commenced in that there is inadequate usable room available for recreation facilities.
Before the Rec. Board can start forming concrete plans, the issue of Centennial Park must be resolved. Without Centennial Park left intact, there is inadequate space in the designated area.

Miles Family Gathers

On Friday June 12, Roy, Elmer, and Michael Miles, headed for Canmore, to enjoy what proved to be a delightful and happy weekend for the entire Miles family. The weekend was spent with Margaret, Fred and girls, who visited Marilyn and Ben for the evening to celebrate the latter's 18th Wedding Anniversary.
The latest arrival to the Miles family, Candy Lynn, daughter of Dorothy and Duane was her sweet little self, as good as gold.
A tired but happy family left for their respective homes about 9:30 p.m. The end of a perfect day.
Fred took his camper and barbecue, the man did the cooking and the ladies provided all kinds of delicious food to satisfy the inner man and woman.
Duane arranged a day of ball games, hiking exploration and good old fashioned visiting. Ben, Martini and three boys were with us, as David and his girlfriend, Cammy Schmidt, both of Edmonton were able to join us.

Area D.A.'s Report Serious Situation

Many sloughs which are normally filled with water have nearly dried up, or have dried up due to the drought conditions in the area. Staff Photo

Seniors Survey Completed

A survey formulated to assess the concerns of senior citizens in Viking has been completed. The survey polled residents in the Town and the country who were 50 years of age and older.

The purpose of the survey was to find out the needs, wants and concerns of citizens in this age bracket, to acquaint people of the area with various resources and information, to compile the information in order to decide what services and activities should be organized in the future, to increase communication between the people and the community, and to pass this information on to various agencies and groups such as Home Care, the medical profession, the clergy, Town Council, Recreation and P.S.S.

A total of 400 surveys were sent out and 307 were filled out, giving a return rate of 76.75%.

Major concerns for the 50 to 70 age bracket were ranked as follows: income, knowledge of services available, leisure time activities, consumer protection, health care, home repairs and transportation for the handicapped. In the 70 to 75 plus age group, the top three concerns were: income, knowledge of services available, and leisure time activities.

In response to the question "Do you think you need more services than you are receiving now?", 280 persons answered no, while only 10 answered yes. The majority felt that they were getting excellent health care in Viking, however some need for Nursing Home Care was expressed.

Natural Gas Rates Go Up

The Alberta Public Utilities Board has authorized an increase in natural gas rates charged by Northwestern Utilities Limited.

Effective July 1, 1981 the company's rates will increase by 1.40 cents per therm due to the increase in the Federal Excise Tax on that date. Also, beginning July 1, 1981 for a five month period, an additional charge of 0.80 cents per therm will be made, primarily resulting from the previous Federal Excise Tax and the Federal Canadian Ownership Tax with a small amount related to higher cost of providing service.

It is estimated that the 1981 billing of an Edmonton customer using 1875 therms during the year will increase to about $10 from $9.60 as a result of these rate changes. Without further rate increases, the annual cost in 1982, with the rate in effect for a full year, would be $10.40. However, the National Energy Program does include a further increase in the Federal Excise Tax of 1.40 cents per therm on January 1, 1982.

Extreme dry weather conditions have prevailed over the central farming region of Alberta over the past few months. This coupled with the relatively low moisture supply available from spring run off, has farmers facing the problems of feed shortages and serious crop losses.

G. Manchur, District Agriculturist, County of Beaver states that area farmers are facing a very severe drought situation. Pasture in the Viking area is pretty well burned off and the prospects for winter feed cuttings is rather bleak with almost nothing in the way of good hay crops due to the lack of moisture. Taking a look at the situation from Tofield through to Kinross we find the Tofield area is in a state of a dilemma as some rainfall has been received from time to time. However, when one approaches Viking the lack of rainfall becomes more apparent. Crops in this area don't look too bad but do show signs of substantial crop losses. Moving further east the situation becomes worse with Viking and Kinross the hardest hit areas in the County.

Repaired crops are in bloom now but blame appear very spotty due to poor germination and lack of moisture in the spring and early growing stages. Quite a few farmers have already decided to turn their crops under.

The District Agriculturist also stated that there are a number of reports of damage to crops due to spraying which they feel is an indirect result of the lack of moisture at that time.

A quick evaluation of the state of growth of crops throughout the County reveals that a number of the crops have reached the budding stage. However, these crops are of very little height and without moisture immediately they will not fill resulting in a very light weight hay yield. The District Agriculturist stated that we must have substantial rainfall within the week or it will be too late.

Mr. Manchur would like to remind farmers of the "Feed Freight Assistance" program which will be in effect until July 31 and anyone who requires information on this program is asked to contact him at his office. He also encourages readers to write or contact your M.P. and M.L.A. and verify the extent of damage in the area as a result of low moisture conditions.

Moving further east, to the Irma area we find the M.D. of Watrous. Mr. Asmus, District Agriculturist with the M.D. of Watrous, has been to the area and states that moisture levels are at the lowest ever during that time. He also advised that the man who was D.A. for the four years previous to his appointment to the M.D. of Watrous, had not experienced such dry conditions during his four or five years of serving in the area.

With the postal strike already into its second week, and little prospect of an early settlement in the dispute, frustration is setting in amongst many Canadians over the lack of mail delivery. However, the only mail that is being adversely affected by the strike is that which originates in or is sent to the larger centers of Alberta.

Postmaster A.L. Wilmer reports that all local mail going to destinations in rural Alberta is being delivered. Only the mail which goes to centers such as Vegreville, Watrous, Camrose or Edmonton is not being delivered.

The rural post offices are operating as before because the employees in these locations are not affiliated with the union which has gone on strike, CUW.

So remember, any mail which is destined for rural Alberta's smaller centers will be delivered.

The Viking summer crew work was busy this week patching the cracks and touching up the lighting cable trench on Main Street. Staff Photo Lysons for Vermilion-Viking at 4535-4202 in Vermilion or 427-1835 in Edmonton collect) or the Minister of Transportation (Henry Kroeger at 427-2080 Edmonton), or wrote them a letter, we may just provide them with the "gentle nudge" necessary for something to get done. In a province with $8,000,000,000 in a road fund for Albertans which is growing minute by minute at a phenomenal rate, it seems little to ask that the two major highways in the province (besides the one between Edmonton and Calgary which is always kept in tip-top condition) be kept in a condition which will allow for enjoyable driving. It's time that Highway 35 be paved in its entirety. Enough of the "annual patchwork" project. It's time to do it right!

Moreover, Social Credit wishes to assert a fresh direction in the priorities of this province which will see an emphasis being given to the policy areas neglected by the Loughheed government's ongoing pre-occupation with a state of war (Mr. Loughheed continues to stress this unfortunate term). We would like to discuss this fresh approach in our next column.

Alberta Wheat Pool Opens Second Concrete Elevator

Alberta Wheat Pool's Buffalo Sloped Bin elevator was officially opened at Fort Saskatchewan on June 25th. Another similar structure is being built at Vegreville.

Alberta Wheat Pool officially opened their second ultra-modern sloped bin concrete elevator at Fort Saskatchewan on June 25, 1981. This new facility is very similar in design to the world's first Buffalo Sloped Bin concrete elevator built at Magrath, Alberta, almost two years ago, but incorporates a number of additional features.

Constructed for Alberta Pool by Buffalo Beton Ltd., the Fort Saskatchewan elevator makes extensive use of electronic equipment. All operations of the elevator including receiving, transferring and shipping of grain is controlled from a computer and control panel.

A feature of the Fort Saskatchewan elevator is the automatic shipping scale. The elevator operator prescribes the amount of grain to be loaded into a rail car. By setting the proper controls, the rail car will be loaded automatically with the correct amount of grain. An important part of the new facility is direct loading. Grain can be weighed and stored in five holding bins, each with a storage capacity of 4,000 bushels. At the upper level of the facility, grain is ready to be loaded directly and very rapidly into hopper cars.

All equipment is synchronized to move grain at the same rate. The elevating legs and the five drag conveyors move grain at a rate of 100 tonnes, or 6,000 bushels per hour. This balanced system enables the elevator operator to move grain fast and efficiently. Safety is a hallmark of the Buffalo Sloped Bin elevator. Structural materials are fire and rodent proof. The drive-way scales and two elevating legs are located in the front of the structure. If a dust explosion did occur, the external metal sliding would simply tear away, dispersing the force of any explosion.

Electronic bin sensors keep the elevator operator informed as to when a bin fills with grain. The electronic sensor illuminates a light and sounds a signal on the control panel when a bin is full. As the bin starts to overflow, the sensor sounds a warning horn easily heard throughout the structure and the immediate area.

Under construction at the Fort Saskatchewan site is a large 50 x 100 feet grain warehouse. This warehouse will complement the over 3,000 square feet of warehouse area within the elevator structure.

Partners of Fort Saskatchewan and district will be provided with many services at the Pool's agro product complex. The one-stop service outlet provides such services as grain handling, bulk and liquid fertilizers, numerous agro products, and the many services of the Alberta Food Products Canada crushing plant.

The manager of the Fort Saskatchewan elevator facility is Al Armstrong, and he has a support staff of four. Together they operate the Buffalo Sloped Bin elevator which has a rated storage capacity of 6,000 tonnes ($15,000 bushels); the 360 tonnes (400 ton) bulk fertilizer plant, and the 91 tonnes (100 ton) anhydrous ammonia fertilizer storage tank. The Pool's one-stop services complex is located north of Fort Saskatchewan on Highway 628 in the Sturgeon Industrial Park.

project: Agriculture ...expanding our potential

In Agriculture, the Heritage Fund directly helps rural Alberta farmers as well as scientists conducting agricultural research in Alberta laboratories. Through the Heritage Fund, Alberta farmers benefit from the purchase of 1000 new rail hopper cars which are spending our farm products to market. Heritage Funds have also been committed for investment in Prince Rupert terminals. This will provide a new and much improved port outlet for the marketing of our agricultural products. To promote the processing of Alberta agricultural products in Alberta, the Heritage Fund has also invested in the new Food Processing Development Centre near Leduc. Your Heritage Fund a substantial investment in the Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation contributes to the growth and stability of our family farms. BSA FORMALDEHYDE TESTING PROGRAM

Urea formaldehyde is a foamed-in place insulating material which was isolated in many Canadian homes during the 1970's. It is now being tested because it can break down, especially in warm or moist weather, emitting gaseous formaldehyde compounds to a home's interior. Formaldehyde compounds have been linked to respiratory infections, headaches, skin ailments, and possibly cancer.

The Alberta Government has begun a free testing program on houses insulated with urea formaldehyde foam. Homeowners who suspect they may be exposed to high levels of gaseous formaldehyde should contact the Environmental Health Unit, Alberta Social Services at 637-4803. Laboratory officials will arrange to monitor formaldehyde concentrations in the home and will advise the homeowner if levels are dangerous. The Federal Government has just released a 10-page document on techniques for reducing the hazard of formaldehyde to the homeowner. This will be followed by a more comprehensive 200-page handbook designed for contractors and consultants involved in remedying urea formaldehyde problems. Note that removing urea formaldehyde foam from the wall cavity is not always the best protective measure. Which remedial action is to be taken depends on the concentration of formaldehyde within the wall. Provincial inspectors will recommend the course of action following inspection. CAMP ELLEN TRENZ, The Alberta Registered Dietitians Association sponsors a camp annually for teens between the ages of 18-19 years who seriously want to do something about their weight. This year camp is scheduled for August 30 - August 31 at the Yamaska Centre, 75 kilometres west of Calgary. Participants will enjoy swimming, canoeing, horseback riding, tennis and overall camping, while learning about nutrition, weight and health eating.

The ability to make and use tools is one of the things that distinguishes the human from the rest of the animal world. Tools, machines, appliances, all labour-saving devices are obvious blessings. But, warns the Home Safety Committee of Alberta Safety Council, as any hospital emergency room will reveal, these devices can prove to be a curse for the carter.

To keep the blessing from becoming a curse, use all tools and machinery with knowledge and respect, advise the Home Safety Committee. Read all operating, maintenance and safety instructions carefully, and apply them. Because of their increasing use, the following precautions are suggested when using power tools and power saws.

Use the correct auxiliary safety equipment for the job. Eye protection, for example, is essential for grinding and similar jobs with eye hazards.

Prior to using a power saw, fill the fuel tank. Never add gasoline to a mower that has just stopped and is hot. Let it cool first. You should also check your lawn for stones, wire or other foreign objects before you mow. Make sure that there are no children or other bystanders in the yard who might be hit by flying debris. Make sure your footing is firm. Don't use the power mower on wet and slippery grass. Never cut grass by pulling the mower toward you as you could slip and fall. When using a walk-behind machine on slopes, cut across the slope, not up and down. Never let a child or other inexperienced person operate any power mower.

A way everyone can save money— Conserve Energy

THE SOLUTION TO RISING ENERGY PRICES IS TO USE LESS ENERGY. WE CAN HELP.

The Government of Canada offers a number of ways almost everyone in this country can save energy—and money. By taking advantage of federal grants and conservation ideas, you can economize by reducing energy bills.

SWITCHING OFF OIL

A major goal of Canada's National Energy Program is to reduce household oil consumption across the country by conservation and the use of fuels other than oil.

Canada has energy alternatives that are plentiful and ultimately cheaper than oil. Renewable sources of energy such as solar power are becoming an economic option for home space and water heating. Wind and wood are old energy sources that now have a new life.

Conversion from oil to natural gas is a good possibility in many parts of northern Alberta. Wind and solar power interest many Albertans, especially in the south.

The Canada Oil Substitution Program (COSP), offers taxable grants of up to $800 covering half the cost of equipment and labour for replacing oil used for space or water heating with natural gas or propane, or a renewable energy source such as wood, solar or wind power.

An oil substitution in a centrally heated building that has two or more self-contained units can qualify for COSP grants ranging from $1,000 to $5,500.

For more information call collect the Energy, Mines and Resources (EMR) office in St. Albert: (403) 459-6681 or (403) 459-6682.

ENERSAVE FOR HOME INSULATION

It costs you nothing to get an evaluation of how well your home is keeping the heat in. A simple questionnaire, a few minutes of your time and you'll receive a computerized analysis of your present insulation situation. Included will be recommended actions you can take, the approximate costs, and how long it will take to pay back your investment. The EnerSave service is free—you've nothing to lose—so why not write today?

CHIP HOME INSULATION GRANTS

If you can save money by insulating—and many homeowners can—you may be eligible for a taxable grant of up to $500 to do so. Starting insulation improvements as soon as possible means more long-term returns on your home-heating investment. Get details on the Canadian Home Insulation Program—CHIP—by sending in the coupon at the bottom of this advertisement.

DO-IT-YOURSELF HELP

You can improve, update and change your energy consumption habits using free booklets, brochures, fact sheets, how-to-do-it instructions, even a toll-free "EnerSave Hotline" (1-800-267-9563) staffed by experts to answer your questions and give you personal technical advice.

Home heating conservation means making more efficient use of energy. It helps all Canadians control their energy future. Conservation is a goal of the National Energy Program.

NEW D.A. COMING TO RILEY
That's right, Rudy War-wa will be coming as the

From The Ground Up

District Agriculturist

Jerome Manchur

Co-District Agriculturist in the Riley office, Rudy was born and raised at Mandaree at a mixed farm. After graduating from Mandaree High School in 1974, Rudy enrolled in agriculture at the University of Alberta. In 1978 he graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Agriculture. From then till the fall of 1980, Rudy worked for the County of Newburn as the Agricultural Fieldman. From there he went to Athabasca as a training District Agriculturist.

I'm certainly looking forward to working with Rudy. After working with Bill Brann, former Co-District Agriculturist, it was quite hard to leave the county by myself.

Rudy plans to emphasize forage, soils and livestock areas. Being as he just bought a house in Riley, I expect him to stay for a while.

Welcome to the county, Rudy. LACK OF RAIN VERY SERIOUS IN COUNTY OF HEAVY.

Things are not looking well. Pasture and hay crops in the spring and most parts of the county have pretty well had it. Things are better towards Tofield, as they've had more rain. Looks like crops will really start showing a real loss in yield if we don't get rain soon.

There are reports of people liquidating their cattle herds because of the severe conditions.

Hopefully there will be some some drought assistance program announced. I would urge all of you to write your M.P.'s and M.L.A.'s expressing your concerns over the current situation we are in. The only program available for use so far is the Food Freight Assistance. It has been extended to July 31, 1981. Forms are in the office.

Have a good week!

George Engel, Stuart's sister, led a group of about a dozen of family connections in singing a song especially written for Doris and Stuart.

The afternoon and evening weather was ideal, the setting perfect, and the great gathering of relatives celebrated her 68th birthday on July 6th on which day she was visited by many relatives and friends expressing good wishes and presenting her birthday cake. Margaret Cook and Adelaide Dostert also celebrated birthdays on Monday July 6th. Many happy returns are extended to each.

Irma Residents Attend Sports Day

Many Irma residents took part in the July 1st sports day at Redwood. Some were in time for the hot cakes, sausage and coffee which were served on Main Street from 8 to 10 a.m. and to see the parade which was quite unique.

Four bell diamonds were in operation and there were crowds of ball enthusiasts. The Irma Tigers finally won the B event.

There was of course a beer garden, which in spite of the cloudy cool day seemed to do a thriving business. The charter and checkered buses were the centre of attraction during the afternoon.

They proved to be very exciting. There was bingo upstairs in the rec building, which continued through the day until 8 p.m.

The Klansmen sold tickets on a raffle for a steer carcass and other prizes. The draw was made at midnight at the dance and it is evident that no one from Irma was amongst the winners.

There were horse races, and several side shows, pony rides for the kiddies, etc. There was a great crowd and in spite of the cool cloudy weather, everyone seemed to enjoy the day.

Fentons Celebrate Forty Years

Congratulations to Doris and Stuart Fenton who celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on Saturday, July 4th with open homes in the afternoon and evening with an open house supper and dance in the main barn on their farm east of Irma.

They were assisted by family and friends from a very wide area. The music was good and hospitality was dispensed with a lavish hand.

Councils To Meet On Hazardous Waste Plant Proposal

A meeting to discuss the feasibility of locating a hazardous waste treatment plant in the County of Beaver will be held on July 22nd. The County has been invited to the other municipal councils within the County requesting their attendance at the meeting.

Bob Cross, Secretary-Treasurer of the County, said that representatives of the Alberta government will be in attendance to provide the council with information on the hazardous waste disposal plant. The information will then allow the governments to decide if they wish to submit the County as a possible location for the plant.

Maurice MacKenzie, Chairman of the Hazardous Waste Management Team for the Alberta government, informed The Weekly Review that his team is in the process of making proposals to the Government on a number of criteria for establishing a hazardous waste management system. He said that the problems which resulted from Kinetic Consultants attempts to locate a hazardous waste plant in Two Hills led to the establishment of his team.

Alberta presently produces about 100,000 tons of hazardous wastes per year. This consists of wastes such as acids, solvents, cyanides, pesticides, oil sludges, and infectious wastes from hospitals and nursing homes.

According to Mr. MacKenzie, these wastes are presently being stored at various locations throughout Alberta, which creates a disposal management problem. The problem is as basic as the disposal of pesticide cans used in the agricultural industry.

Proposals on the nature of the ownership and management of the plant were submitted to the Government in June. The Team is now receiving submissions on possible locations for the plant from across Alberta.

Mr. MacKenzie said that there are several areas that have requested to be placed on the location list. He said that the Team will be studying each possible location and must have six general area alternatives submitted to the Government by October 1st. These six areas will then be thoroughly studied within the criteria established for the plant location.

The Team Chairman stated that between October and the end of March, specific sites will be selected. During this time, detailed engineering, transportation and cost studies will be completed on each alternative location.

The hazardous waste treatment plant will be designed to treat approximately 80% of all hazardous wastes in the province. The various treatment processes are designed to render these wastes harmless. These processes include incineration at extremely high temperatures, chemical treatment, and chemical fixation.

The other 20% of the waste which is not treatable will be placed in long term storage. Mr. MacKenzie said that this includes deep well injection to about 8,000 feet for the less toxic materials, or storage in underground salt caverns for the more toxic items.

The Alberta government will not be involved at all with handling nuclear wastes in the disposal plant. The disposal of all nuclear wastes is handled by the Atomic Energy Commission of Canada and is a federal responsibility.

At maximum, the plant is expected to employ nearly 60 people. About half of these will be scientific personnel involved in the treatment process.

Mr. MacKenzie also said that there would have to be co-ordination between the plant and the emergency measures organizations within the area so that adequate services could be provided to the facility. He said that the area surrounding any plant will be hermetically sealed to provide better protection and security for the plant.

Some general areas have been selected.

The meeting next Wednesday has been called so that the municipal governments can determine whether or not the County should request a place on the location list. If the County does apply for the plant, the Waste Management Team will determine any possible location within the County on which to build the plant.

According to Bob Cross, if the councils feel that the County should apply, then public meetings will be held to get input from residents from across the County. He said that the location of an industry of this magnitude would provide substantial tax revenue to the County if it was located here.

However, the Secretary-Treasurer stated that the Council may accept or reject applying to have the hazardous waste treatment plant located within the County depending upon next Wednesday's meeting.

It's holiday time and Kalow's seems to be a popular vacation spot for prairie people. Evelyn and Brian Corbin recently returned from a holiday there and on Sunday Joan and Irving Bablis left to spend a few days with friends there.

Paulette, Morris, Ian and Tracy Erickson attended the Calgary Stampede and visited Jasper Park.

Kay and Marion Stambaugh of Edmonton were visiting friends here on Friday.

Grace Gormley is back home after spending some time in the Daysland Hospital.

Visiting at the Stogryn home was Mrs. Blagyn sister and brother-in-law, Myrtle and Mike Saranuchuk of Vancouver.

Kim Maloway, Michele Blais and Jim Stefank are working for the Bruce Agricultural Society for the month of July. They have been doing some painting at the Stampede grounds as well as dismantling the old skating rink which will be moved to a new location near the Community Centre.

The Bruce Ball Club staged its annual ball tournament on Sunday. Eight teams participated with the first game beginning at 10 a.m. and the final game in the evening. The B event was won by Longbeach who defeated the Irma team by a score of 9 to 8. In the B event, Ryley emerged victorious over Kinsella in a close fought battle which ended with a score of 8 to 7. David Laing and Stump-champ Starkey are spending a few days in Cowton, B.C. with Mr. Starkey's son Brian.

NORTH STAR & PRODUCE - HONESTY OUR POLICY

The Homemaker

By Maureen Bauman
District Home Economist ARE WE THERE
YET, MOM?
Travelling by car with youngsters often means fill ing the back seat with enough toys to stock a mili tary armament centre. A catch all to organize toys and ac tivities cuts down on back seat chaos. Take only toys that fit into the containers and make each responsible for his or her own.

A plastic duffigan can be come a toy chest, writing desk and lunch counter when fitted with a sliding wooden lid. Cut a small hole to hold crayons or a drink.
A closet shoe bag is the inspiration for a pocket book that attaches to the back of the front seat. Books, crayons, puzzles and games are neatly stashed and easy to reach. Pocket sizes are varied to the size and shape of toys.
Book projects are simple to make with a minimum of equipment and scraps of wood and fabric.
I have more detailed in structions on both projects;
just contact this office.
Happy Holidays!

Change Sought In East Industrial Park Development

The truck pictured above rolled on Highway 14 about 4 miles west of Viking on Monday evening, spreading debris across the road before coming to rest in the ditch. Following a lengthy search of the area by a number of passing motorists and the R.C.M.P., Don Maxwell of Viking, on a quest of the truck, was found and taken to hospital. Staff Photo

Problems with developing phase 1 of the Viking East Industrial subdivision has caused the Town Council to try to move to phase 2. Phase 1 of the East Industrial Park is the low portion located in the southwest corner of the development. In moves to have the area filled to grade, Council decided to establish a borrow pit in the area just east of the subdivision. In late June, 12 test holes were dug in the borrow pit area to determine its usefulness for fill. These holes were about 8 to 10 feet deep, and within a short period of time, filled with water. This effectively cancelled the possibility of moving heavy equipment onto the site to move dirt from the pit to phase 1.

On Saturday evening, the problem with the development was discussed at length. The problem of providing services to this part of the subdivision was discussed at length. A major suggestion was that the land be developed without services at this time. The possibility of the area being serviced by wells and septic tanks was also discussed at length. Council instructed the Administrator to contact Municipal Affairs to see if the phasing change would be easily administered.

Other business, the Town received a request from the Hospital Administrator requesting that the Town proceed with the transfer of the museum site to the Hospital Board and the subsequent transfer of the old hospital site to the Town for the museum. According to section 128 of the Municipal Act, the Town must handle the transfer as a sale at fair market value. Thus, a value of Continued on Page 2

Bruce Prepares For Annual Stampede

Irma Wins Provincial Silver

Two days of exciting Provincial championship football concluded on Sunday afternoon when the Irma, Fox-Wood team won the silver medal in the gold medalist Wotakivir team. Five teams competed for the Fox-Wood A Provincial football championship in Irma. The tournament was organized on a double knock-out basis.

Irma and Red Deer started the playoffs on Saturday morning with a well played game. Irma held 2 to 1 lead till the top of the seventh inning, when Red Deer scored four runs on two Irma errors, a walk and 3 hits, to take a 6 to 5 lead. Red Deer won this game 6 to 5.

The next game had Calgary taking on a strong Wotakivir team, with Wotakivir scoring in every inning. The final result was 18 to 4 in Wotakivir's favor.

With the Edmonton team dropping out on Friday night, the draw had to be changed to a four team draw. This put the two winners and the two losers against each other on Saturday afternoon.

Again Wotakivir showed their hitting power as they came up with a 14 to 5 win over Red Deer. The star of this game was the Wotakivir pitcher who had 17 strikeouts in the seven innings pitched.

The final game on Saturday was the best team in Irma, take on Calgary. A loss for either team here would put them out of the tournament. With the home team fans cheering on their team, Irma came up with a well played game of hitting and fielding to down the Calgary team by the score of 6 to 2.

Sunday morning had Irma taking on Red Deer again. This was another close game with Red Deer holding the lead till the fifth inning. Then Irma scored 4 runs to take a 4 to 3 lead. Hiding Red Deer off the score sheet for the final 2 innings, this win put Irma in the final against the undefeated Wotakivir team.

The final game started at 1 p.m. with a good crowd on hand. Again Wotakivir showed their power by coming up with a 16 to 1 score to win the gold medal and the provincial trophy for the second year in a row. The Irma players were given the silver medal for finishing second.

Stampede grounds at 10:00 p.m.

Monday activities begin early with a pancake breakfast at the grounds between 8 and 10 a.m. followed by a parade from Main Street at 11 a.m. Entries for the parade can be telephoned to Bruce Kavalik at 680-2788.

Rodeo events get underway at 1 p.m. Spectators will see the usual professional rodeo events - middle bronc, bareback, steer wrestling, calf roping, bull riding and wild horse race. The rodeo crown money off is $4,000. A free-of-all pony race and pony chroquetage runs will complete the day's events.

The beef barbecue will commence at 6 p.m. and the traditional tug-of-war match will be staged during intermission. If you have a hard time getting your entry in. The annual 1981 Stampede Tournament ends at 6 p.m.

For a fun-filled, action-packed weekend, make your way to Irma this weekend!

Water Rates Up In Viking

By-law 886, setting the new water and sewer rates for Viking, was passed at the regular July meeting of the Council.

The new rates are organized along much the same consumption guidelines as in previous years with one exception. The over 800,000 gallon consumption rate has been dropped, thus making the highest consumption category over 140,000 gallons.

In general, the water rates have been increased by 15%. For up to 8000 gallons consumption - every two months, the rate has increased from a minimum of $0.80 to one of $10.50. The rates for the other consumption categories have been set at $14 for 8000 to 6400 gallons. The minimum consumption rates for each category were set as follows (last year's rates in brackets):

CHOOSING A GAS BARBECUE

Barbecues enthusiasts choose gas grills today because they are easier to use than charcoal burners and can be used year round. Food cooked on a gas grill still has the "barbecue" flavor because the flavor results from fat dripping onto hot coals, whether they are charcoal or synthetic lava rocks.

When choosing a gas barbecue, look for solid cast construction and heavy cooking grills that can withstand sharp temperature changes without warping. Grills are usually enameled cast iron, or chrome plated to make cleaning easier. Grills should be adjustable, and if the unit has twin burners, it should have two adjustable grills and dual controls. To clean the grill, turn to high heat for 10-15 minutes and let cool. Remove from unit and use a stiff wire brush to remove any burnt on food. Grills can also be washed in hot soapy water.

Check the location of the hot gases outlet. The hot gases that does not get consumed by the flames flow down into a collecting cup. Make sure this cup is securely fastened to the unit. It can be easily removed to cleaning. Empty, wash and replace this container regularly.

Gas grills can be fired by natural gas or propane. Those fueled by natural gas are stationary and connected directly to the house gas line. The additional cost of line hook up varies with the area. The portable model uses propane which is stored in a 20 pound cylinder under the unit. Look for convenient use of this fuel tank because it can weigh 60 pounds when full so it is best if it is conveniently removed and replaced. The propane tank will cost an additional $80.00 - $100.00 and requires refilling every two to three years. One 20 pound cylinder will cost an average of $8.00.

Gas grills are inexpensive to operate. Natural gas costs 8-10 cents per hour on high heat, which would be about 10 cents per meal. The average cost of cooking a meal with propane is 20 cents, which compares to 75 cents for conventional charcoal barbecues. The gas grill takes 15 minutes to heat up.

while charcoal takes 30-40 minutes. The heat of the gas grill is even and provides constant heat over long periods of time. Most controls allow for more precise time and temperature cooking. The cost of the gas barbecue is considerably higher than that of a conventional barbecue. Prices ranging from $200.00 to $1,100.00. When purchasing a gas barbecue consider the needs of your family, the amount you will use it and the type of cooking your family enjoys. Choose one that is the right size and style for your family within your price range.

For My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. Isa. 55:8. Give Somebody A Break

Last Friday, the Viking Inn Dining Room opened under new management. There had been anticipation of the re-opening of the restaurant for some time and at noon on Friday, the restaurant was filled within a short time and seating was provided in the lounge for the overflow crowd.

The new operator was fully prepared for such a turnout on his opening day. In doubt. Perhaps few people would have correctly anticipated the number of people who wished to dine at the Viking Inn last Friday. However, as we sat waiting for our meals, it was most interesting to observe the actions and listen to the patrons concerning the opening day's problems.

The food was very good. Of course there are people who will argue this point, but having eaten there twice in the past week, our verdict is that the new operator is doing a superb job of food preparation. As well, he is providing a good variety of foods from which to choose. However, his service last Friday was slow, yet perhaps even very slow. But herein lies the lesson.

It will be a rare occurrence that we endorse a particular business in our editorials. And it is not our purpose here to do so. Some people will like the food and service at the new Viking Inn, and some people will not. But let's at least give the new operator a chance. An individual at a table next to us last Friday just had to pass some derogatory remarks about the service to the waitress. However, the delay was not due to her lack of effort, but due to a degree of unpreparedness on the part of the chef. And yet, with a little thought, one can fully appreciate the myriad of challenges and problems which the operator faced on his first day. There were other people during the day who commented negatively on the efforts at the restaurant during dinner. Perhaps these people who were so quick to criticize should consider what brought them out to that restaurant on its opening day. With a little support, and encouragement, maybe this operator will make a go of it.

And this case isn't isolated in our communities. We are so often quick to criticize those who are trying to make an effort at running a business in our communities. We must remember that without these businesses, our communities would be nothing. When businesses start to die, due to unjustified criticism because of a lack of patience or understanding, our entire communities begin to die. We all make mistakes, or don't always live up to the complete expectations of others. But that is the nature of being human. And we can all be a little more "human" by being a bit empathetic and giving someone a break.

Public Meeting

known as Turley Plaza. Mr. Steel informed the meeting that between 60 and 80 per cent of all hazardous wastes produced in Alberta are produced in the Edmonton area. He said that the proximity of the area to Highway 16 and the main CN line were positive factors in considering it as a possible location for the plant.

Following Mr. Steel's presentation, most of the meeting was devoted to a question and answer session. Much of the information relayed to him in attendance was the same as that which appeared in the front page story in The Weekly Review of July 19th.

In addition to this information, Mrs. Noble said that the plant would take up an area of about 10 acres. However, about a section of land would be needed for a landfill site and a "psychological" buffer zone between the plant and the public. She said that the land would be owned and used so that the care of the area would continue forever.

Mrs. Noble said that there is a moratorium on the building of hazardous waste treatment plants in the province until the team completes its work. She said that a decision should be made before April 1st concerning the location of a plant or plants for Alberta.

At the end of the session, James McIntosh opened the meeting for questions on a public meeting to be held in the County sometime before October 1st. It was decided that a public meeting for all residents within the County of Beaver will be held at the Brown Community Centre on Thursday, August 19th at 7:30 p.m. Members of the most towns will be in attendance to provide information and answer queries. Steve Kinsdale concluded the meeting by urging those in attendance to provide information to the public and install a desire in the public to find out more on the management of hazardous wastes.

Walter Lutz Family Honored

The Walter Lutz family reported a very enjoyable time as part of the Alberta Farm Family Awards Day on July 30 at Edmonton Northlands Klondike Days.

Following a trip on the L.E.T. from the Coliseum to City Hall, the thirty-one farm families from various parts in northern Alberta met with Alderman Jane Cavanagh, then travelled by bus for a tour of the Legislative Buildings and the Martini Conservatory.

A dinner reception at Edmonton Northlands with City of Edmonton and Klondike dignitaries, as well as Hon. Marvin Mosey, Minister of Municipal Affairs, who presented the Farm Family awards, highlighted the day's activities. Following the presentations, Farm Family members spent the remainder of the afternoon at Klondike Days.

Potato Breeding

Scientists are using computers to improve potato varieties. At Agriculture Canada's Fredericton, N.B., Research Station, up to 30 characteristics of each potato line used in breeding are entered into a computer. With the help of the computer, a plant breeder can quickly select from the 60,000 plant lines available, the ones which have the desired yield, quality, disease resistance, or other characteristics.

SHORTAGES With the dry conditions experienced during May, many farmers are having trouble with an adequate amount of grain or high quality hay available for their livestock.

June and early July, many of the hay, pasture and cereal crops are in less than satisfactory condition. As well, with the recent rains, some hope still exists for cereals and oleseeds. However, hay and pasture conditions are such that many livestock owners are faced with some major management decisions. "I do not think we will see a price rally. Here again, your concern is predicting the future price of grain in relation to the future price of livestock will greatly affect the success of your decisions. Interest rates also should be a part of this decision. Be careful with operating loans. High interest rates can be devastating things do not quite work as expected."

any livestock through the winter. Therefore, do I reduce the size of my herd or do I buy additional feed to tide me over? Each individual situation may be different and likewise each individual's decision may be different. Some of the factors that should be considered when making such a decision are:

1) Selling price of livestock now as opposed to the selling price at some future date.

Livestock prices are not exactly favorable at the present time. They may or may not be more favorable a few months or a year from now. Your accuracy in pre-reduction of your herd, you would normally start with animals that should be culled in the near future or, in the case of dairy, the low producers. This is where a good culling record becomes an

2) Cost of buying feed now and in the future. Is feed available? What is the price? Rather, what is the price per unit of quality? High quality feed is usually highly priced.

Feed testing is always a sound management tool. It helps to determine the quality of the feed and therefore, helps determine the amounts needed.

Livestock Emergency Assistance Program, formerly called the Feed Freight Assistance, has been extended to July 31, 1981. As well, there seems to be a fairly good indication that the program will be in effect after July 31, 1991 for this area.

Variety Of Events Highlights Irma Days

Band led off the Irma Days parade on Saturday morning with a large number of floats and decorated bicycles. (More pictures on 8 and 9) Staff Photo

The big news in Ives this past weekend was of course the Annual Ives Sports Day and Fair. Events kicked off with a pancake and sausage breakfast at 8:00 a.m. on Saturday morning with quite a crowd gathering at the Hi-Way Antebuy Shop on main street. The early morning breakfast was followed by the events of the Bank of Montreal. The manager Bob Fournier and his staff, with the help of many willing volunteers, were serving breakfast until after 10:00 a.m. dishing out the delicious meal. It was a delightfully sunny morning and everyone seemed to enjoy their open air breakfast.

The parade started from the parking lot at the first-attorney Hotel a few minutes after 11:00 a.m. and Thurston was in charge and was busy lining up the various entries. The colorful Lieutenant and the Canvasser Fair was held during the same weekend.

Following are a list of first and second place winners in the horse classes.

The over-all Grand Champion in the Open Halter class was Harold Taylor. Placing second in the same class was Junior Taylor, both from Chauvin.

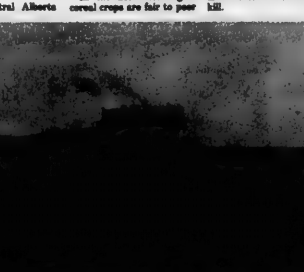

Section No. 2 which was open to 4-H members only found Junior Taylor placing first in the open halter class. He also won the championship class with Louise Taylor on placing second. In the Junior Riding class Louise Taylor and Janice Taylor placed first and second respectively.

In the Senior Showmanship and Senior Riding class Heather Parsons and Theresa Parsons placed first and second place in both events.

Section No. 3 which was open to all members division. In the B Side the Manville Elmshires captured first place while the Longbeach Rockets took home second. Also competing were a team from Westport, the Irma Ladies, the Viking Comets and the Edgerton Royal Angels.

Results of the Irma Elm Slow Pitch Tournament which was held on Saturday are not available at the present time, nor the bench exhibitors' winners. These will appear in a future issue as they are provided.

Mr. John Newton, President of the Irma Agricultural Society stated that he received an outstanding good number of entries in the Beach Exhibition Category but that livestock

16th Annual 4-H Conservation Camp To Be Held

Sixty-eight 4-H members from throughout Alberta are once again meeting at the Silver Creek Ranch near Camrose for the 16th annual 4-H Conservation Camp. The group of campers also includes a number of 6-Hers from Saskatchewan, Ontario and Manitoba.

Campers will study five areas: water conservation, range management, fish and wildlife management, and forest management. Experts in these fields will be on hand to provide instruction.

Each 4-H camper is asked to choose two areas to study and is exposed to the other areas through group discussions and activities.

The camp is jointly sponsored by TransAlta Utilities Corporation (formerly Calgary Power Ltd.) and Alberta Power Ltd. Both companies had the names of past winners. She will also receive a replica of the plaque to keep and a $250.00 saving bond.

The 4-H members at the camp have made special contributions to their communities in the conservation field. Some have written articles on conservation for newspapers, while others have spoken to various 4-H groups.

For the past seven years, the Great MacPhee Conservation Award has been presented to the 4-H camper who best displays what he or she has learned at the camp.

The award was named after Dr. MacPhee because of his special contribution to conservation in Alberta.

The conservation camp award winner for 1981 is Karen Holman of Okotoks. Karen is in her eighth year as an active member of the Foothills 4-H Sheep Club.

During her eight years in 4-H Karen has made many outstanding efforts to spread the conservation message.

Shady Cove W.I. Meet

Shady Cove Women's Institute held their June 15 meeting at the home of Mrs. Irene Young in Camrose. After a cheerful luncheon drive, the members assembled on the patio in a most exotic setting of blooming flowers, shrubbery and splendid old trees. Roll call of a fish pond found willing fishers, and excellent results. The fishing fees were donated to the Treasury. In the absence of the Secretary, Rita Hahn called the roll and read the correspondence and minutes of the last meeting. Myra took minutes from this meeting. In the Treasurer's absence, Pres. Laura read her report.

With the money donations individually added to the Fish Market project, the month became $108.00. Kay Ward made a motion the contribution of $18.00 be continued in support of the Fish Market project at the Viking Fair. This motion was seconded and carried.

Correspondence included a letter of appreciation from Viking General Hospital for Shady Cove support at the Opening.

President Laura Swift read of the Obit Convention as reported by the Western Producer. In support of the Red Cross A.W.I. urged "Keep Blood Donors" as a voluntary contribution, such as it has been.

Other resolutions were noted. The next meeting of Shady Cove is expected to be August 30 at Estevan to entertain. This date will have to be confirmed. A short business meeting to follow at Gledy's Hotel. The lunch duty - people will be asked or notified prior to the date.

TransAlta Investment

TransAlta Resource Corporation of Calgary, the utility investment subsidiary of TransAlta Utilities Corporation (formerly Calgary Power Ltd.) acquired from Canada Northwest Land Limited 755,000 of its Common Shares and $45,000,000 of its 10 per cent Debentures in 1980, convertible at any time into 800,000 additional Common Shares for an aggregate amount of approximately $75,000,000. Fully converted TransAlta Resources would be the largest single shareholder holding approximately 50 per cent of the outstanding shares, increasing its ownership to 60 per cent.

Canada Northwest Land, an Alberta based company, was established as a land settlement company in 1960 with the purchase of 2,500,000 acres of land from the Canadian Pacific Railway in Western Canada. On disposition of this land, Canada Northwest Land retained mineral rights to about 300,000 acres. The royalty income from all discoveries of the 1950's on some of this acreage in Saskatchewan provided the foundation for its development into a natural resource exploration and development company. Canada Northwest Land and its subsidiaries have interests in producing oil and gas wells in Alberta, Saskatchewan, the United States and the Canadian West of the coast of Spain. It has holdings, or is engaged in further exploration and development activity, in Canada, including the Arctic Islands and the United States and through subsidiaries, in the Mediterranean, off Italy, Pakistan, Oman, and the Persian Gulf.

She was predeceased by her husband, Mr. H. Campbell, who died in 1970 and daughter Jean in 1978. A memorial service will be held July 30, 8 p.m. at the Bethel Memorial Chapel. Officers will remember "Campbell" flowers which were located where the Co-op now stands.

Just a note to let all golf enthusiasts of the Viking area know that Two Off time is 11:00 a.m. on Sunday, August 9th. This information was inadvertently left out of the advertisement placed last week.

The Viking Club would like to extend an invitation to all local golfers and those interested in taking up the sport to join them at the golf course on Sunday.

A pot luck supper has been planned with and lunch supplied, commitments of the ladies of the Golf Club.

Support Your Local Fair

This week is the first of four fairs in the county. Viking fair opens August 6. Holden fair is on August 10. Ryley follows on August 19 and the Tofield fair is August 22. Now is the time to be gathering your entries together, whether they be in horticulture, clothing, foods or handicrafts.

As a competitor in a fair, you can gain a great deal. It's self-satisfying to have your entries rated against others. You can also benefit from the judge's comments. Last but not least you are supporting your community. A fair with a good display is a crowd pleaser!

At a recent Exhibitors workshop in Irma we covered many pointers exhibitors should keep in mind when entering. Here are a few:

Make sure the article will serve it's function. Crocheted hot mitts may be attractive, but not too practical for carrying hot dishes. A practical cushion should be comfortable and washable, where a decorative cushion will be judged on it's decorative affects only.

Remember that an article must be finished and ready for use. If the article has been used before the fair, make sure it has been thoroughly cleaned and pressed before it is entered. Clothing brought in on hangers often has a better chance of remaining wrinkle free than it was folded.

Read the fair book thoroughly to make sure your article meets the specifications. For example, if you enter a rug in the wall hanging class the judge must be able to see how it is intended to be hung on the wall. If no hook or dowel is apparent, the article will be considered incomplete. Tension is very important in knitting, crocheting and macrame.

Irma News And Views

Mrs. O. Darling had her grandchildren Nancy and Lindsay Darling from Whitehorse visit her from Wednesday until Aug. 3. She and their mother Mrs. Smith drove them to Edmonton International Airport to catch a 1:00 p.m. flight to Whitehorse. There they joined their parents, Candice and Emory Darling for a two week vacation into Alaska.

Sherry and Gordon Darling and two children of Waterburn arrived on Sunday afternoon to visit the day of Irma Sports and with his mother and other relatives, leaving Wednesday to continue their vacation.

News has just been received of the tragic death on Highway 16 near Hardisty of a young man named Kirk Broughton. While riding his bike he got off his low road and was run over by another truck and killed instantly.

Our informant said that Kirk had only been married a matter of a few months. Sincere sympathy is extended to his widow and family.

The south wall of the Irma Co-op store building had been falling by the application of drop-siding in contrast to concrete, a big job.

On Sunday, Aug. 2nd Ade Johnston and Ade Johnson were amongst those who attended the Bacon-Harvey family reunion for dinner.

This gathering was held at the Wainwright Fair Grounds for the weekend.

The forebears of both the Bacon and Harvey families were amongst the early settlers in the Irma district.

Harvey's and Bacon's are cousins. The Harveys lived south of Irma on the farm where Mrs. Helen Bell now resides.

Much time was spent socializing and reminiscing and visiting with members of families not seen for quite some time. Between 80 and 90 members were present. This has become an annual event and is held each year in a different location.

The Grade 9 classes with their teacher, Mrs. Ardley, have again made an outstanding contribution to wards helping those less fortunate than themselves.

Last fall they collected $200.00 for U.N.I.C.E.F. During the year they have sent $200.00 to the Red Cross as well as collecting 870 Pampala Peto coupons, 977 Nabco coupons, 775 Hiltop coupons and 1 pound of used stationery.

They would like to thank each person who helped them achieve this record.

Well done Grade 9.

Visiting at the Burr home last weekend were Margaret's brother, Ed Miller from Fredrick, Kansas, her sister Mrs. Maureen Peterson of Edmonton and her sister and husband Lorne and Jack Harwood of Burnaby, B.C. The four former Milleres attended the Hardisty Homecoming on Sunday.

Needling to say they met many former school friends and teachers. One of their favorite teachers, who Irma people know as Mrs. Janet Mills, was there and had pictures taken with a group of her old time Matrons students.

The Alberta Wheat Pool elevator in Irma hit the miller barrel mark on Monday, July 13th when Paul and George Nungy delivered a load to manager Gary Barber (R.).

trial in Scotland have shown that the management of spring-calving suckling cows is much easier if they are fed late at night.

The tests, which were carried out on four farms by the East of Scotland College of Agriculture, showed that when cows were fed at 22.00 hours, only one in five of their calves were born during the hours of darkness. But when they were fed regularly at 08.00 hours more than twice as many of their calves were born between 22.00 hours and 08.00 hours.

Dr. Basil Lowman, the college's best specialist, believes that changing to night-feeding could help farmers to reduce early calf mortality. This is because the scale of losses at birth is often governed by how quickly the students discover trouble and is able to take action. And, of course, if a veterinarian is required, he is likely to be readily available during the day than at night.

Dr. Lowman believes the reason feeding time influences the time calving stems from the fact that spring-calving cows tend to be slightly overweight in the winter and are expected to live off their residual fat. Consequently, he believes, they are always ready for their food, they continue eating to get as much as possible to prevent any of the other cows getting more than their share. Dr. Lowman says they become so preoccupied with feeding that they do not settle down to calve.

JAMS AND JELLIES

Below are a few common problems encountered when making jams and jellies, and the solutions to those problems. If you have further questions, contact this office for one of numerous publications on food preservation.

1) Jam or Jelly didn't set - You may have doubled the recipe. It is recommended that no more than 8-8 cups of juice be used as one time. Too little or too much sugar was used. Fruit was too low in pectin. For fruits low in pectin (peaches, pears and blueberries) use commercial pectin or combine with fruits high in pectin (apples, crabapples, currants, gooseberries, raspberries, strawberries, rhubarb, pineapple, raspberries) with one low in acid (apple, pear, peach, blueberry).

2) Pectin fruit in jam - caused by letting hot jam into jars immediately after removing from heat. Cool jam slightly by stirring for five minutes before putting into jars.

3) Jelly weeps - From acid. Mix a pinch high in acid (crabapple, cranberry, currant, gooseberry, sour plum, grape, strawberry, rhubarb, pineapple, raspberries) with one low in acid (apple, pear, peach, blueberry).

Councils Hold Joint Meeting

A special meeting of the Viking Town Council and the Council of the County of Beaver # 9 was held in the Viking Council Chambers on Wednesday evening, August 12, 1981. The joint meeting of the two councils was called to discuss items of common interest to both the residents of Viking and the County of Beaver.

The first topic for discussion between the two groups was the condition of what has been referred to in the past as the hospital road on the north side of Viking. The Town is presently responsible for a small portion of the road extending along with the property of the old Viking Hospital with the remainder of the road to Highway 888 being maintained by the County of Beaver.

The idea of a regional landfill site was also discussed. Under this type of waste disposal system one common land fill site is used for the surrounding towns in the area. Garbage from each town is collected in large bins which are then hauled to the land fill site. This system is presently being used in the County of Pinagault but can be a rather costly procedure. Viking Council felt a future land fill site for the town should be located on town property near the sewage lagoon at least expense.

A general discussion pertaining to a recreational complex in Viking was the last item for joint discussion. Mayor Rouben expressed the need for County involvement in the construction and operation of such a facility as it would be used by county and town residents. He went on to emphasize the importance of planning a recreational complex now, as Viking will be expanding with the availability of new residential and commercial subdivisions, a new water and sewer system and the opening of the new hospital. In other Viking Council business a revised subdivision of the East Industrial Park was presented by Cyron Engineering. The proposed Stage 2 plan for development of 31.4 acres in the north west corner of the industrial subdivision received council's approval. These lots are located on higher ground, therefore will require less fill and give a better base than those planned for development in Stage 1 which are in the southeast corner of the subdivision. Although the Phase II lots will not be serviced with water and sewer they could optimistically be ready for occupancy by late fall.

Following the establishment of a central waste disposal plant location will be determined after studying the physical, biological, land use and human aspects of each area. Continued on Page 4

Hazardous Waste Meeting Well Attended

A public awareness meeting of the Brown Remediation Centre on Thursday, Aug. 18, 1981 proved that many people of this community are interested in learning about hazardous waste disposal. Approximately 200 people attended the public community workshop designed to provide background information and identify areas of public concern. From this workshop a local committee is to be selected to represent the community in conducting studies and the drafting of proposals. One delegate will be selected to attend a provincial workshop to provide further study of waste disposal. A film and maps were shown depicting the methods of determining a possible location for a waste disposal plant.

In the initial stages of Alberta's Hazardous Waste Program, a management committee was organized in 1979 to gather and evaluate information of waste requiring special treatment and disposal. This committee visited a plant in Bavaria, Germany who have developed an efficient, clean and effective system of hazardous waste disposal that has been in operation since 1970. The committee then began doing studies and gathering information for a report published in 1980. The basic recommendations were:

1. Albertans bear the responsibility to start proper disposal of hazardous waste immediately.
2. A waste treatment system similar to the Bavarian collection and treatment system should be established.
3. To insure the protection of the environment and public health, the Alberta Government should play a leadership role in management, legislation and financial and administrative participation.

Following this the Environmental Council of Alberta held public hearings through the year of 1980 with their findings being completed in January of 1981.

Currently, the issue is identifying the best locations for waste collection and treatment facilities as well as selecting the most appropriate methods to dispose of wastes generated in Alberta. The committee has outlined 11 regions throughout Alberta that could be suitable as gathering points. A gathering point is defined as a place where wastes are accumulated and is the first link in the chain of operations that make up a disposal system. The facilities provided at such gathering point would depend on the amount and quantity of waste generated within that specific region. The committee established that the largest volumes of industrial wastes generated in Alberta are within the Edmonton, Red Deer, and Calgary areas and should be serviced by at least 8 gathering points.

Following the establishment of gathering points, a central waste disposal plant location will be determined after studying the physical, biological, land use and human aspects of each area. Continued on Page 4

Approximately 300 people turned out for a public meeting held last Thursday evening, August 13, at the Bruce Recreational Centre. The meeting was designed to provide information and identify areas of public concern regarding Hazardous Waste.

Hazardous Waste

With regard to the physical aspect, they are looking for areas that do not have underlying rock formations or major underground water flow. Level land is required with minimal surface water areas. Biological studies include forested areas, wildlife, birdlife and sensitive soil types. Also excluded from possible disposal plant sites are: prime agricultural land, federal land, parks, reserves, and recreation areas.

The actual plant will sit on only 16-18 acres but will be located within a one section block of land, with the surrounding area used as a buffer zone. The plant will be built on crown land to insure perpetual control of its operation, and could be located as far as 16 miles from major existing highways or railways.

Recommendations put forward by the Hazardous Waste Team concerning all aspects for the site.

The mayor of Edmonton where a large disposal plant is located right next to the town states that good relations exist between the town and the plant. The presence of the plant has meant that new services were made available to the town and the plant is the second largest employer, providing residents with 70 full-time jobs and various business and maintenance contracts. As well there are spin-off benefits such as upgraded recreational facilities, improved roads and increased tax revenues for the area.

On August 8th, 1981, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kadota of Vernon witnessed their son Frederick's marriage to Laurie Christensen, daughter of Donna and Alfred Christensen of Edmonton. The wedding was held in Vegreville, and the reception was at Bruce Commu-ity Hall. Among relatives and friends from afar were: Mr. and Mrs. Dick Madson of Whitaker, Alta., Mr. Gerry Kadota of Surrey, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Herb Kadota of Grande Prairie, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kadota of New Saraya, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kadota of Lacombe, and Mrs. Frieda Ganss of Edmonton. A good time was had by all.

School Bus Safety Everyones Concern

The first week of September signals the return to school of millions of young Canadians. For hundreds of thousands of them this will be their very first venture into the unknown, away from the protection of parents and the security of home. We must be totally sensitive to the needs of these young people as they begin to learn how to become independent of family and productive in their own right.

Over two million students will be riding school buses everyday. In many cases the buses will be crowded and the trips to school will range from ten minutes to an hour or more. In addition, field trips and other school activities will require most students to ride a school bus at some time or other during the academic year.

School bus drivers continually face problems that demand much knowledge and skill to assure the safe operation of the vehicle. Many drivers say that school buses and their passengers do not get the respect they deserve from other motorists. Accident statistics and violations reports tend to confirm this view. For example, although it is the law motorists do not stop when signs are flashing on a school bus that has stopped. Students, especially the younger ones, expect motorists to stop when they get off the bus and cross the street. The sense of security this creates could cause disaster if motorists do not co-operate by obeying the law.

Please share our concerns for the safety and health of these young Canadians.

Although volunteer firemen arrived at the scene promptly, they were unable to save a tractor owned by Floyd McVie. The tractor ignited on Saturday during the noon hour when Floyd attempted to start it.

Isabelle and Marvin Lund spent the weekend visiting in Red Deer with their son Arnold and his family. Granddaughters Laurie and Debbie came home with them to spend a week in Bruce.

George McLeod of Coquitlam, B.C. spent a few days with his sister Jean Starkey and her family.

On Sunday afternoon, August 16, approximately fifty people attended a family picnic sponsored by the Bruce Agricultural Society. While some of the adults played horseshoes, the children were entertained with contests, and races. A water race and tennis were enjoyed by all.

Several families from the Overlander Trailer Club of Edmonton camped out at the stampede grounds last weekend. On Friday evening the Wendeale Hoping Club put on a show for the visitors and any local residents who were brave enough to endure the mosquitoes. Saturday evening there was a potluck supper at the grounds and on Sunday morning the visitors entertained at a pancake breakfast. President of the club is Bob McKay of Edmonton.

Lillian and Don Tebo and Audrey, Vernon and Gerald Pratt spent a few days with their son and daughter-in-law at Manitou Lake.

Lillian and Bill Doris of Edmonton visited with Kate and Stanley Bracha on Sunday.

Joey and Otto Lund of Edmonton visited relatives here and in Viking on Sunday afternoon.

Charles Koppel of Red Deer spent the weekend with his parents Annie and Rusty Koppel.

At the August meeting of the County of Beaver Board of Education a number of issues pertaining to the 1981-82 school year were dealt with.

The Board accepted the resignations of three County of Beaver employees, one teacher, Ray Vandenak of Hinton and Gary Vargette and Jackie Morris both custodians at Tofield.

Following the recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools and the Board Chairman, the Board accepted the appointment of fifteen educational instructors and a head custodian. Among the appointments were Dave Smith to the position of principal at C.W. Sears School in Tofield and Ray Stokarch who will become Viking's first Elementary School principal.

Keneth Cornett will fill the position which came available with the Board's acceptance of Mr. Dick Milton's resignation at the close of the 1980-81 school term.

Mr. Milton carried out the principle duties for a span of three years, beginning in September of 1978 through to June of 1981. Dick Milton has moved to the northern Alberta community of Spirit River where he has acquired turning to the classroom to complete his education.

A request by a church group to use the Tofield School facility for construction services was approved in principle. However a number of reservations as outlined by the Board must be agreed to and adhered to by the group. One requirement falls into the "new" category.

The School Bus Supervisors report indicated that this years schedule of school bus routes has no major changes. The few changes that were necessary should not require major adjustments. In an additional report the Board were advised the Pioneer was unable to supply the next school bus ordered. An alternate purchase was offered and accepted, eliminating any delay in delivery.

An updated science program will be introduced at the Elementary level in schools throughout the County. The new program places emphasis on the "hands on approach" which allows for a learning while doing experience for the students. In view of the new program, funds from the central County budget, amounting to $100.00 per classroom will be transferred to the Education budget. These funds are to be used for up-dating science project equipment and the purchase of reference materials and library supplies in conjunction with the new program.

County teaching staff involved in the new program will attend a workshop in Hinton during the early part of the school year, possibly in October. A total of 30 Elementary classrooms with 11 in Viking, 6 in both Hinton and Ryley and a total of 17 in Tofield.

Mr. Cornett, comes to Irma from Le Loche, Saskatchewan a north western community somewhat larger than Irma. Mr. Cornett was employed in the teaching profession in the capacity of Principal of Le Loche School. Mr. Cornett and his family will take up residence in Irma upon their return from North Bay, Ontario where Mr. Cornett has been attending summer school.

Two other changes have been brought about in the Irma teaching staff. Sherry Horsfield will fill the position brought about by the resignation of Leoni Orndick. Sherry will teach senior high science. Joanne Nelson will undertake the instruction of the grade one class. Donna Smalwood will be returning to the Resource Room this term following a leave of absence.

With another school year only two weeks away, the Viking School is accepting some last minute reservations. Entrances to the school have taken on a new look to help welcome back the students. Staff Photo

Irma Fair 1981

Irma once again held a very successful fair on the holiday weekend. Bench exhibits were displayed Saturday and Sunday in the Curling rink. Although entries in the Flower and Vegetable sections were down somewhat from last year other exhibits held their own and entries were well over the 1000 mark.

Mayweed Tour Arranged Recently

A recent farm tour arranged by Myron Meyers, councillor for Division 7 of Wainwright municipality, and Robert Heller, municipal weed inspector was held recently. The purpose of the tour was to demonstrate to these officials how present the pernicious "Mayweed" has become in many areas in the Wainwright municipality and also in the county of Beaver.

This weed looks innocent enough, but can multiply very rapidly. One plant having the ability to produce 300,000 seeds and can effectively choke out crops. The flowers resemble those entries were down this year but we hope to see them up next year again. Castle entries were non-existent this year and for the first time the plan for the weekend this is disappointing.

Judging was very capable carried out by the following people: Howard Allen Smith, Vernon, Horticulture; Al

Bertha Vavarganogen and Mrs. Donna Jordan, Vermilion. Handcraft: Sharon Stordewick, Sherbrooke; Karen Fortin, Vegreville; Jean Gabelhaus from Vegreville helped with baking and handicraft.

May we extend a very sincere thank you to our many exhibitors, both local and out of town. Thanks to our many faithful helpers who turned up to set up, help take entries and clean up afterwards. My apologies for mistakes I made. Prize money will be paid out as Wound around the huge were the names of the many countries he had visited. He is a Frenchman and had recently ridden from San Francisco to Alaska, and from there he was heading east to Montreal. He even carried equipment for camping out. I never heard much have liked to have had more time with this unusual person.

On Sunday, August 16th, Minnie and John Jackson drove to Bawd where they had lunch with Pearl and John O'Donnell at noon. Half hour, bringing three tenths of an inch of rain, which at least laid the dust and brought a respite to the excessive heat with we have been having so much of.

The east side of the road of the Irma Roman Catholic Church has had a covering of new shingles, and looks really neat.

Dr. G.T. Cahill of Hardisty with his wife and four children left Edmonton International Airport on Wednesday evening for a holiday in Galway, Ireland.

Albert, Edith and Arthur Jackson and their spouses took their Dad Jim, and Minnie to Leon's in Wainwright for dinner on Monday evening, Aug 17th in honor of Jim's 83rd birthday. Joy on Thursday was also along. When they all arrived home in Irma, Joyce served coffee at her house.

Congratulations and best wishes to Eric Nissen and Shirley Lynn Anderson whose marriage took place on Sat. August 15.

Fear Of The Unknown

In 1979 when the provincial government formed the hazardous waste committee to deal with the problems associated with disposal of industrial and commercial waste, the first mistake was made.

Use of the word "hazardous" has hindered the committee since that date. That word, which immediately activates a defensive public reaction. "Garbage" or "Waste" are everyday words we all understand and accept, but attach the word "hazardous" to it and a whole new attitude is created through fear of the unknown.

The construction of a waste disposal plant in Alberta is an overdue necessity. At present there are unmeasurable amounts of potentially dangerous garbage being disposed of wherever and by whatever means because there is not a proper facility available.

One example would be empty chemical spray cans that are left in farmers' fields, in ditches or in the "dump". The dumping of industrial wastes in ditches, streams, fields or land fill would seem more dangerous than the existence of a properly managed facility to handle these wastes.

People who are concerned with the danger of a plant in this area should first consider the dangers they are living with on a day to day basis.

No one raises a fuss about anhydrous ammonia and propane storage tanks located within corporate limits, or trains and tank trucks loaded with sulphur, ammonia, propane, nitrogen and other potentially explosive and lethal commodities travelling at excessive speeds through rural and urban areas.

All of these are necessary evils in today's society and we have learned to live with them, but when something new and beneficial is proposed for our area with the word "hazardous" attached, people become alarmed.

Today's technology has advanced to the point where society is in far more danger by not having proper waste disposal facilities than we are by having them.

A committee has been formed to evaluate and study the feasibility of a plant in our area. At present they are requesting letters from individuals and groups stating their opinions for or against the project. This group needs your input in determining whether or not a plant should be considered in the county. Letters may be sent to: Hazardous Waste Action Committee, Bruce, Alberta T0B 0R0.

THE OFFICIAL OPPOSITION

By Alberta Social Credit Leader Rod Sykes and Opposition House Leader Ray Speaker.

We recently asked for a court ruling as to the legality or otherwise of the Loughheed Cooperative apparently uncontrolled handling of spending money by Special Warrants. Actually, we spend as a typical test case a Special Warrant by the Government to spend $20 million on the purchase of McDonnell Douglas C-141s to provide some emergency officers for itself.

Last year Special Warrants totalled $30 million — about 11% of the total budget. Now Special Warrants are intended for sudden, unexpected emergencies for which the Government was legitimately unable to budget. Relief payments to cover a natural disaster, for example, would be a proper use of a Special Warrant. The rules are clearly laid out in the Financial Administration Act.

Our concern over Special Warrants is that money can be spent in this way without any reference whatever to the Legislature. A small group within Cabinet can make any decision it wants about a project and it doesn't have to receive any other approval for that decision. It's a behind-closed-doors deal.

Improperly used, Special Warrants can become a recipe for sloppy budgeting practices, abuse of public funds, and legislative accountability is undermined. And, that, we believe, is what has developed under the Loughheed Conservative regime. There have been the system of Special Warrants in a cynical and arrogant way.

In the court judgement, however, the judge ruled that he could not rule on the particular matter before him because the Legislature had already approved the Special Warrant after the fact. In other words, he would not deal with the substance of the case, but dismissed the matter on a technicality. He did not mention, though, that he would have had trouble agreeing with the emergency nature of the McDonnell Douglas purchase if he had been required to warrant after the fact.

So, the Government was able to engage on a legal technicality. It was a technicality, moreover, founded on blatant deception by the Attorney General. He had earlier persuaded the Legislature to justify the Special Warrant on the basis that the court judgement would relate to the initial Cabinet decision to approve the Special Warrant. With that behind him and over in court, the Attorney General's representative turned around the argument around — because the Legislature had approved it, the court had no jurisdiction over the matter. A clear case of trickery.

The judgement means that, as long as the Legislature ratifies an act by Cabinet, then Cabinet does not have to obey the law of the land. Frustrating indeed!

Preoccupied with their fear of tyranny from Ottawa, it is ironic that many Albertans have not fully realized the enormous powers accumulated under our premier and a select group in Cabinet. If we think the awareness is increasing, and that is a healthy sign.

Uniform Lauds E.R.C.B. Well Spacing Decisions

Uniform Vice-President S.R. Bell of Carletonville, said today that he is very pleased with a decision by the Energy Resources Conservation Board to change the target spacing for all well drilling spacing units to the north-east corner of quarter section.

Uniform has been concerned for some time about drilling patterns on agricultural lands and was a major contributor to hearings on well spacing held in March.

No charge will be made in target areas for one-section spacing of gas wells which will result in the majority of the section. The board noted that the central target area for one section gas well spacing encloses many of the concerns expressed by the agricultural industry since it permits drilling a well in the centre of a section where some farms may follow quarter-section boundaries.

However, the board said, if gas wells should be drilled on quarter-section spacing, their target areas would be identical to those for quarter-section oil well spacing.

The change becomes effective September 1st following agricultural regions of the province and green areas and some specially designated locations.

In its submission to the board last March, Uniform contended that the location of wells in the middle of fields resulted in substantial losses, water work intensification, and increased costs to agricultural producers required to farm around section locations.

Uniform also expressed concern about reduced production or subjected to reduced productivity because of centrally located well sites and roughly spaced roads. It also noted problems of routing leads to normal crop production following well abandonment.

In its brief, Uniform noted that locating gas and oil wells in the corners of quarter-sections was the preferred choice of most agricultural producers and would likely increase the probability of the owner of a well and landowners coming to terms peacefully.

In its summary of the hearings, the Energy Resources Conservation Board said it expects reduced impact on agriculture from corner target areas due to moderately less land being used, less land severance, reduced access road problems, lessened impact on farming operations, and a reduction in general nuisance.

New Curriculum For Handicapped

Starting in September, hundreds of Alberta's handicapped children will have something they have never had before - a curriculum geared to their special education needs. Until now, teachers had no Provincial Guidelines to help them develop individual educational programs for these children.

Alberta has approximately 604 classroom teachers the province's 5,000 handicapped children between the ages of six and 18. The majority are operated by local school boards which employ teachers specializing in services for the handicapped.

Four different programs of study are being introduced for optimal use by school boards this fall. There is a curriculum for the Visually Impaired and three for children with different degrees of physical and mental handicaps.

(A) The Educable Mentally Handicapped: The Educational aim is to teach them grade 6 basic reading, writing arithmetic skills, enabling them to function well as adults in society. (This is the only group of the handicapped to have previous curriculum. However, in 1980, the Curriculum needed the incorporation of new methods incorporation of new methods and updating.)

(B) The Trainable Mentally Handicapped: These children can usually be taught to function in a community with some degree of independence. They can learn life skills such as speaking, recognizing safety signs, preparing simple meals and performing basic house-keeping tasks. Some succeed in routine jobs.

(C) The Dependent Handicapped: They are dependent on the support of others for every aspect of their life. Many are severely physically and mentally handicapped. Curriculum material for the dependent handicapped deals with teaching very basic skills such as learning to chew and to suck. The more advanced learn to choose clothes and to dress themselves. Some of these children are capable of elementary speech.

All curriculum guides will be free of charge to school boards. School Boards receive special program grants for the teaching of the handicapped. These are in addition to the Acute-the-board per-pupil limitation grants.

Each of the four curricula has been piloted in Alberta schools. To complete the curriculum package for the handicapped, Alberta Education is now in the final stages of developing a program for the hearing impaired.

"This is one of the most highly demanded and most well-received programs I have had the pleasure to introduce. The teachers and specialists in education for the handicapped have given input into these programs with remarkable vigour and commitment. They are hungry for these materials and so are the parents of these children," says Education Minister David King.

The curricula are the result of three years of development by some 30 committees under the curriculum policies board, the Minister's advisory committee on School curriculum.

School Bus Safety Week Delayed

The Canada Safety Council today advised that the 1981 "School Bus Safety Week" is being delayed for one month, and will be observed during the period October 24th - 28th.

The Safety Council cites delays in mail service as the root of the problem; compensations for the campaign have failed to arrive in time for distribution across Canada. This campaign will revert back to September in 1982.

This year, the primary theme of School Bus Safety Week is "Wait a minute". The phrase can be equally applied to the material intended to pass a school bus with flashing lights, to a child anxious to cross the street after leaving the bus, to a bus driver who forgets to ensure the children are clear and to parents of young children who should wait to see their children safely aboard the school bus.

The Canada Safety Council hopes the unavoidable change in date, for this year will not lessen the annual public support for this annual and vital campaign.

The world's largest supply of fresh water is in the Antarctic icecap.

In preparation for this year's school term, Halden School has received considerable interior painting, upgraded washrooms and the replacement of asbestos ceilings with gypsum and white spray-on. Staff Photo

Farm Safety - A Serious Matter

The chief medical examiner's office has reported 94 farm deaths for the first 10 months of last year. Of these, about 80 per cent involved the operation of a tractor while about 75 per cent of the related fatalities were the result of rollovers. Of the farm machinery accidents, harvesting equipment such as combines, sweaters and balers were the main causes.

A survey of all types of farm accidents showed that the majority occurred in the farmyard. Most involved serious injury to the head and arm. The study also revealed that between 5 and 5 p.m. is when most accidents happen, and that most of the victims are between the ages of 18 years and 34. This group is followed by the 45 to 60 year old group.

Let's face it - accidents do happen and for a variety of reasons. Alberta Agriculture, in conjunction with Worker's Health, Safety and Compensation, recently prepared an informative publication entitled "Safety Guide For Farming". It discusses the different types of farm accidents and how they can be avoided. It also describes farm machinery safety, livestock safety, safety in handling tools and chemicals, electrical safety and farm protection equipment. Even more important, it points out how accidents can be prevented and what final practices should be followed.

The intent of the publication is to provide information about farm hazards and how they may be avoided in the hope that a responsible attitude towards farm safety will emerge, and that this will add to the development of a safety-consciousness about whatever work is being done. Unfortunately, this often does not happen and safety is commonly forgotten when work is performed in haste or under circumstances of stress. The safety guide points out that it is the way in which three factors interact - environment - agent - man - that determines whether an accident will occur. An agent may be a hazard which itself seldom causes an accident, and since agents can be controlled, accidents need not happen. PEOPLE need not happen. People are the major determinant regarding whether or not an accident will occur by virtue of the extent to which they have control over the situation. Good things as haste, fatigue, stress, illness, inexperience, poor attitude and ignorance of safety procedures are all listed in the publication as human elements that contribute to farm accidents.

Copies of "Safety Guide For Farming" can be obtained from any of Alberta Agriculture's extension offices.

When Should I Sow?

With the warm germination and emergence of all crops in this area this spring, judging when to sow the crop can be a very frustrating decision. This problem may not be as important in cereals, as delayed sowing will not drastically increase available losses. With summer barley, however, may head over, crack and the heads will fall to the ground if you wait too long. There's always the temptation of taking a calculated risk and waiting for the second growth to mature, and in many cases, it is indeed a risk. Wherever possible, swath light crops at right angles to the direction that the crop was seeded. This usually helps to keep the swathe up on the stubble instead of falling down between the stubble rows.

Deciding when to swath rapeseed or canola requires a lot more consideration. Swath canola is a more accurate estimation of maturity. About 25 per cent of the canola should have started to change color. At this point, moisture is at about 80 per cent and seed is in the dough stage. Earlier swath can reduce yields and increase green losses. Later swath will increase harvesting losses due to shattering. With mature maturity levels, the farmer must assess what he has to gain by waiting for green seeds to mature versus what he has to lose through shattering. Shattering losses can be reduced by swath canola during the night or early morning while dew is still on the crop. All in all, the decision to swath this year will not be an easy one. But then who said that farming was always easy?

Sunday School To Begin

Mr. and Mrs. David Black of Sedgewick will be taking the service. Rally Day will be held September 13. The following Sunday, September 20, Mr. Ross Brummer and Mr. Tom Mattison will conduct an Anglican Service in the United Church. Centennial Park Amendment Delays Master Plan

A special meeting between the Viking Town Council and the Viking Recreation Board was held on Tuesday, August 24 at 7:00 p.m. The meeting was requested by the Recreation Board for the purpose of officially presenting the newly drafted master plan for council approval.

Representatives present on behalf of the Rec. Board were Bryan Nordstrom, John Eagle, Eamon Cunningham and P.C.S.S. director, Dick Chamney. Mr. Chamney was instrumental in helping to compile the 91 page master plan and received council congratulations on a job well done.

The importance of having an up to date master plan in force was stressed by Rec. Board chair man, Bryan Nordstrom, who stated that this was a necessary prerequisite in being considered for future recreational grants. He went on to emphasize the importance by pointing that Viking had missed a $100,000 N.U.L.P. grant last year because we did not have a master plan in force.

The basic contents of the Master Plan meet with council approval and only minor questions were asked. Provisions for the relocation of the Centennial Ball Park were not clearly defined in the Master Plan and Mayor Hinkton felt the intention of council to move the park should be made clear. It was agreed this amendment be made and the Master Plan be presented again at the next regular council meeting for final approval. Once approval has been reached at the municipal level the Master Plan will be sent to the Hendricks, Regional Parks and Recreation Consultant for final approval. In other council business, Ron Crapko of Ocean Engineering presented a detailed map of Stage 2 in the industrial park development. Mr. Crapko went on to say that approximately 60,000 yards of fill will be required to raise the total 31% acres of Stage 2 to the desired level. Council will be looking into alternate sources of supply for the required fill.

The matter of releasing final payment for the construction of the water pipe line was brought up. Council felt they should have a sizable amount of money held back until the line has been pressure tested. At present North Side Construction Ltd., contractors for installation of the 12 mile pipe line are not able to pressure test it as there is no water in the new reservoir. Once the line has been tested it is still covered by a one year guarantee by the contractor.

School Opens For 1981-82

Tuesday and Wednesday saw the return of students to the classroom in the Watwayright School Division and the County of Beaver for the 1981-82 term.

Students who attend the Irma School were called back to classes on Tuesday morning. An estimated 800 students will be enrolled in the Irma School for the upcoming year.

These students will be instructed by 18 teachers, along with one librarian and one resource person. These individuals will be under the guidance of a new principal for the year as Mr. Ken Cornett has replaced Dick Milson in the Principalship.

Also new to the staff are Joanne Nelson teaching grade 1, and Sherry Horsfield who will handle high school students.

Returning from a leave of absence will be Donna Smallwood and Eva Ho.

The Irma School will be handling students from the Kindergarten level to Grade 12.

Students in Viking, along with those in the rest of the County of Beaver, returned to classes on Wednesday.

A total of 640 students are expected to enroll at the Viking School, instructing this total will be 30.3 teachers.

Also new to the County will be Jim McGeachy who will be the rising teacher librarian. Mr. McGeachy replaces Ann Smith who retired.

A total of 8 new teachers will be on the Ryley staff, which also offers instruction from K to 12.

The C.W. Burns School in Tofield also has a new principal for 1981-82. Dave Smith will be replacing Keith Robinson as the leader of 11.3 teacher equivalents.

Approximately 347 students will be enrolled in classes from K to grade 8. As well as 200 students, 4 teachers will be new to the C.W. Burns staff.

The Tofield School will welcome just over 800 students for the upcoming year. The students will be enrolled in classes from grades 4 to 12.

Neil Norstrom will be replacing Al Peltus as principal for the upcoming year as Mr. Peltus is on a leave of absence. A total of 10.8 full time teacher equivalents will be on the Tofield staff.

Of these, 9 will be new to the school.

As well as these public schools, three Hutterite Schools will be operated by the County with one full time teacher at each. These are at the colonies at Haddon, Iron Creek, and North Viking.

Also new to the County will be Jim McGeachy who will be the rising teacher librarian. Mr. McGeachy replaces Ann Smith who retired.

A total of 8 new teachers will be on the Ryley staff,

Accident Claims Youth

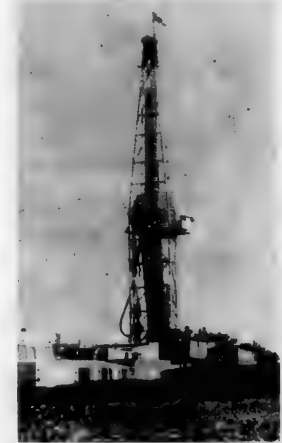

A single vehicle accident approximately 1 1/2 miles west of Kinross on Highway 14 last Friday evening killed the life of a Kinross youth.

Greg Greer, 17 years of age, died as a result of the accident which occurred on the east side approach to the Kinross overpass. The accident occurred about 8:30 p.m.

A second occupant of the 1970 Dodge which left the highway and rolled over sustained minor injuries, Harold Greenwood, also of the Kinross area, was treated at the Viking Hospital and released during the weekend.

Viking R.C.M.P. Corporal Duncan Will reported that the accident is still under investigation as the exact cause of the mishap has not been determined.

Greg Greer was the son of Marie Greer of Kinross, and Bob Greer of Watwayright. The funeral is being held at the Watwayright on Wednesday afternoon.

This Camaro Rig is presently drilling for Dome Petroleum 18 miles north of Bruce. Hopefully, now that Ottawa and Alberta have arrived at a tentative energy agreement, gas and oilfield activity will return to normal. Staff Photo

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:
It has been a pleasure this summer, to visit the Village Community, to see the beautiful condition and the many improvements which are under way.

Local folks and distant visitors have appreciated the efforts of the town involved.

Mr. M.J. Malow
Dear Sir:
I am not disputing the fact that a hazardous waste disposal plant is necessary, but I am concerned that the site of the plant is not being considered as a potential site. Reason for my concern is NOT "fear of the unknown" as stated in your August 28th editorial, but the realization that although recommendations and guidelines have been suggested regarding the siting, decision and disposal of hazardous wastes, there are at present, few adequate safeguards to prevent unnecessary dangers. Some of these wastes are potentially harmful to humans and the environment and unfortunately their detrimental effect may not be detected for several years, eventually causing death, disability, or organic reactions, etc. If the only beneficial aspect of a disposal plant is tax revenue, can we place a price tag on a healthy human life?

Joan Starky

Dear Sir:
Let's be open minded when we look at a controlled industry of waste disposal. This is not an industry that allows dangerous waste into the atmosphere, but an industry that will be heavily scrutinized, published and supervised throughout Canada and the U.S.A.
The County of Beaver and the towns within are not prosperous because we are unable to attract industry. We have a chance to bring some of the benefits of other progressive counties. Just imagine the possibilities: job employment for those that leaving home, increased population allowing improved school systems, fire protection, recreation facilities, new and improved business developments and benefits to our towns and villages, rail service, roads, tax considerations; endless opportunities. Dangerous materials travel by our door everyday by rail or road but we have never been concerned before. We should be welcoming the controlled industry that is our future.

I only hope that the decision makers are not just a few, as the future of the county and its residents will be decided.

Wheat Agreement Extended

Senator Hassan Argue, minister of the Canadian Wheat Board, and Mark McGuigan, secretary of state for external affairs, announced Friday that Canada has agreed to a two-year extension of the 1971 International Wheat Agreement.

The agreement is comprised of the "Wheat Trade Convention, 1971, and the Food Aid Convention, 1980. Senator Argue said the action was taken as the agreement will be maintained at its previous level of 800,000 tonnes of cereal food aid annually.

"Canada has long been a major participant in discussions on international grain matters and our accession to the extended International Wheat Agreement recognizes the importance of the agreement."

"It also recognizes the role of the International Wheat Council as a facilitator of the international wheat trade."

4-H On The Move

By Ed Mason, Regional 4-H Specialist

What if your child asks, "Daddy, may I have a puppy?" Would your answer now likely be yes, if you know the joys and joys of the 4-H Canine Club and learn how to properly take care of that cute and cuddly puppy?

4-H Canine Clubs are an excellent way for young people who love dogs to learn about canine health, nutrition and obedience. Plus they get all the benefits of the 4-H program as a bonus. It is an excellent project for any child who has a dog. It does not matter if you live in town or on a farm because all types of dogs are welcome in the club. The 4-H Canine Club is designed to help young people in a rural or urban area to better understand and enjoy the dog of their choice. Members are responsible to give their dog the care and training it requires. All aspects of good health are explored; feeding and nutritional requirements, grooming, diseases and parasites and exercises. The project animal will be trained in all simple obedience commands and will be taught good manners. Most youths start the canine project with a puppy and learn the basics of feeding, grooming, general care and obedience in their first year. If they decide to stay in the club each successive year they teach their dog more commands, learn about different breeds of dogs or train their dog to be a retriever-hunter or a watchdog.

To start a 4-H Canine Club you need eight people who have puppies or mature dogs and an adult to be the leader. The requirements are not strict and you should be prepared to have a lot of fun. 4-H will supply project materials, record books and other resource materials. If you are interested in the 4-H Canine Project please contact your local district home economist or Alberta Agriculture or J.E. Mason, your Regional 4-H Specialist at Box 580, Vermilion or phone 823-3511. 4-H and Puppy Love Go Together.

Battle River Tourist Association Meets

The friendly greeting from the Battle River Tourist Association (BRTA) is an invitation to enter their "Name the Mascot Contest".

Forty-five representatives from thirteen communities attended the meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association (BRTA) held in Sedgewick on Thursday, August 30, 1981. The Mayor of Sedgewick, Ernie Kneib, as well as the Mayor of the County of Flagstaff, Bud Neen, were on hand to welcome the visitors to the area.

The group, which met at the Sedgewick Golf Club, first enjoyed dinner sponsored by the County of Flagstaff and the Town of Sedgewick. Dealing with business arising from the previous meeting, Manager Clemens advised that the two new campgrounds on Lake Lake had met the necessary requirements of Travel Alberta for picnic areas and that Alberta Transportation have signed the completion of the campgrounds not as requested by BRTA.

Canada Limited. BRTA President Brown was directed to send a strong letter of concern to the Honourable Jean-Luc Pepin, Minister of Transport, saying that a reversal of the decision on the VIA Rail cutbacks has been seriously considered by the Federal Government.

Members were advised that the new BRTA meeting had arrived and that it was an eye-catching, well-constructed costume. It was decided to hold a contest to establish a name and gender for the new mascot which depicts a going or duck character which is in keeping with the official BRTA pose logo. A $50.00 cash prize will be awarded for the winning entry. The contest, open to any interested person, will close at 12 noon on Monday, September 30, 1981. Entries should be mailed to Battle River Tourist Association, Box 1616, Camrose, Alberta, T0V 1E4.

In connection with membership, Manager Clemens reported that the Village of Sedgewick had recently joined BRTA. This brings Zone 6 Municipal memberships to all-time high of fifty-one, leaving only one town and two villages and three counties in the entire Zone 6 area who are not Association members.

President Brown reported that all thirteen Information Centres in Zone 6 were operating a steady flow of visitors. Communities which have a BRTA Information Centre in their community were complimented for the pride which they take in making the centre an inviting place to visit. BRTA members are invited to BRTA Centre, Sedgewick, Stettler, Sherwood Park and White. Other Zone 6 centres are located at Camrose, Lacombe, Wetaskiwin, Wainwright and Provost.

Members approved to have the firm of Loderbach, Dyer, Foss, Harberg and Nilford of Camrose assume the responsibility as the Association auditors for the 1980-81 year. Two items of business

New Canola Variety Licensed

Agriculture Canada has licensed a new canola variety named to the short-season northern growing areas of the Prairie Provinces.

Tobin was developed by plant breeders at Agriculture Canada's Saskatoon, Sask., Research Station. It yields almost seven per cent more than the popular Canola variety. It has good resistance to white rust.

Certified Tobin seed should be available to farmers for commercial planting in 1982.

Health and Welfare Minister, Monique Bégin, announced recently that four senior citizens groups in central Alberta will receive grants under the federal government's New Horizons program.

The Hitching Post Seniors' Club will receive $18,400.00 to build an activity and drop-in centre and to organize a social and recreational program to meet the needs of retired persons. Proposed activities at the centre include, lunches, table games, pool, shuffleboard and music.

The Rowley Museum Group will receive $5,700.00 to renovate the old C.N.R. Station as a museum. The project was initiated by the Rowley Museum Group.

The reaction to the 1981 Rowley Homecoming Celebrations expressed their enthusiasm and donated items to the museum. The group is a branch of the Rowley Community Hall Association.

A grant of $2,864.00 has been awarded to the Stoney Creek New Horizons Society of Calgary. The group plans to organize recreational activities including arts and crafts, slide presentations, woodworking, shuffleboard, pinball and barbecue for the residents of the Canmore Stoney Creek Lodge.

Senior citizens in Daysland will receive $8,000.00 to produce a history of the town of Daysland and its surrounding area. Organized by the Daysland History Book Society, the book will include various early beginnings, special events, family stories and school histories.

New Horizons provides grants to groups of senior citizens to carry out projects of their own design for the betterment of themselves and the community. Since its inception, New Horizons has provided grants totaling $60,000.00 to 193 senior citizens organizations in Alberta.

Local Cadet Completes Rifle Course

Doug Brower

On August 15, Doug Brower of Viking, a Sea Cadet of R.C.B.C.C., Northwest, based at Halden returned from a six week Rifle Training Course at Port Bay on Vancouver Island. Doug is one of 60 Sea and Air Cadets who took part in the National course. Doug is presently the only cadet from the Halden area in the National course. The Rifle Course was enjoyable as the food was good, the fellowship and friendship of cadets from all of the country and the eight sailing tours were very interesting.

After completing the course Doug was invited to return next year to help instruct this Rifle course.

In 1980, Doug had the good fortune of being picked to go on an exchange to the United States where he stayed at the Naval Base at San Diego, California.

The Cadet movement provides many summer camps, training camps, courses and exchanges to other countries both near and far. These outings are very rewarding for those who choose to take advantage of them.

Weekly Police Report

During the past week the Viking R.C.M.P. received one complaint of erratic driving and charged one person with Dangerous Driving.

The local detachment also investigated a fatal motor vehicle accident this past week.

One impaired driving charge and three twenty four hour suspensions were handed out. Two liquor charges were also laid.

Viking R.C.M.P. also received one complaint of wilful damage in Viking, as well as one complaint of theft at chicken which is currently under investigation.

Some ancient Roman ladies were so determined that their portraits never go out of fashion that their busts were sculpted with removable sculpted hair that could be changed when desired.

SAFETY DURING HARVEST TIME

So suddenly upon us, many farmers have been caught unawares and, as a result, have been putting in very long hours to catch up with the work and bring in the harvest. Mental and physical fatigue usually accompany these long hours. Many times are difficult to see at night and, if you're only had 5 or 6 hours of sleep the night before, your head may reach for a moving ball before your brain knows what you're doing. Today's grain bins are getting higher and higher, a level way down to the ground if you should fall. Be careful with these.

With the significant amount of second growth in the crops this year, some farmers consider drying. For those that may be drying grain, try not to leave your dryers unattended especially if something has not been functioning properly. A grain fire is extremely hard to put out before extensive damage occurs.

Farm safety is often discussed as something for government agencies to talk about. But talk to a farmer in the hospital while his crop is in the field and will realize that your work won't get done if you're not there.

Have a good harvest!

Irma News And Views

WEEK OF AUGUST 31
D.T. Cahill, wife and four children flew to Ireland from Edmonton International Airport on Wednesday evening, August 28, for a holiday with the Dr.'s parents and other family in County Galway, a lady Dr. from Ireland has taken Geraldine Hardley while the Cahill's are away.

The third Wednesday of the month meeting was held in the Iron Drop in Centre on August 19. Three tables were played whist with Frances Greenwood being the most high scorer, and Johnnie Lambert taking low. Other ladies played of scrabble and crib. Gortrude Matthews was the scrabble winner. Lunch was enjoyed bringing the evening to a conclusion.

Two bread oven beach seats have appeared on the east side of Main Street in Irma, one by the Co-op and the other outside the Irma Post Hall. Congratulations to who ever is responsible for their construction and placing. Pedestrians can rest comfortably in the shade until well after 12 noon.

Jack and Mrs. Hutchings from Consort, who had been baby sitting for their daughter in Toronto for three months, later visited a daughter in Edmonton, and on Thursday, August 28, were on their way home to Consort, via Wainwright. They called briefly on their home time friends, Minnie and Jim Jackson.

On Friday evening, August
21, Kevin and Lois
Holmes and three children of Ranby, Alberta, arrived in Irma for a weekend visit with Lois's grand parents, Minnie and Jim Jackson, her sister Joyce Bartholomew and other relatives in the Irma area. Lois's oldest boy, Chad, was born on his great-Grandmother's birthday, August 17, 1978 and he celebrated his 6th birthday while here.

Isabel and Chester Bartholomew from Sundre spent the weekend with Isabel's parents,
Minnie and Jim Jackson.
They also visited with their daughter Joyce and on Saturday evening Lorna and her husband, Chester, celebrated the following at a barbecue dinner at their home. The celebration was for the wedding of their daughter,

Isabel and John Bartholomew.
Barbara, Lorna and also, Kevin, Lois Holmes and children, Roseann Carr and sister Geraldine from Wainwright and Edmonton.

Don Dempsey, who with his family recently returned after spending four weeks visiting relatives and friends in England and Ireland, reports enjoying good weather
reports enjoying good weather there for practically the whole time of their trip. A few showers on a few days were inconvenient but the travelling or enjoyment. The month of July this year was the wettest ever recorded in Ireland. Don reported that most Irish farmers would make slugs instead of discovering to save hay.

I do not think it is exaggeration to say that harvesting is general in the Irma area. Most if not all of the .all rye has been combined. Much barley also has been combined along with wheat. Yields vary widely. We have heard that a farmer north of Irma said he estimated that his fall rye yielded about 40 bushels per acre. A farmer south west of Irma figured his fall rye made 60 bushels per acre.
Others got 15 to 30 bushels.
One field of barley yielded as estimated 60 bushels per acre. All crops are ripening rapidly.

Lorna Jackson drove to Edmonton on Sunday afternoon, planning on bringing her mother Grace Archibald home on Monday. Grace has made satisfactory recovery from her recent operation in the University Hospital.
Minnie Jackson went on Monday to Hardley to see her doctor, who put her in hospital for a day or two for blood tests. She hopes to get home in time for the final in the shuffie board tournament at Kinloss on Wednesday evening.

On Friday afternoon Irma was subject to some thunder and lightning. Lightning flashed struck a pole of high voltage lines on the farm of John Pankratz south of town, and ignited them. The alarm was sounded in but the fire didn't well on as it supposed to do, as power was off in some parts of the village. However, when the fire broke human nature, their stress melted and with the volunteer fire fighters were soon doing battle with the burning house. It was so simple, as the water was unable to penetrate the hard packed house. Finally the burning house was represented and finally extinguished. Some houses were lost, but the action of the fire fighters maintained the line.

On Sunday evening, August
22nd, the Iron View Country club was a happy occasion. The 19th Wedding Anniversary of the marriage of Jim and Mary Hinton. A good hour of volunteers and family helped to honour this popular couple. Refreshments were served starting at 7 p.m. and were much enjoyed. The celebration for the longest of the highest order and reflects great credit on these responsible. Dinning was served at approximately 9 p.m. The band was from Camrose and the music was the best ever in the new club room.

Congratulations and best wishes for health and happiness, and many more years of happiness. The band extended to Mary and Jim.
Visiting at the Owen's on Thursday were Christine Smith from Malawi, Africa, and Keith's cousin, Betty Smith from England.

Myrtle McIntosh has been in Irma visiting with her son Lorne and family. Myrtle While she was in Irma she was getting to know her new grandson, Trevor Smith. She also visited around the community with old friends.

Improper Actions Cause Of Accidents

Improper actions by drivers are responsible for 80 per cent of the 100,719 traffic accidents in Alberta during 1980, Alberta Transportation safety branch reported recently.

In its annual statistical review the branch found that the more serious the accident the greater the loss was caused by the proper driver action. Ninety-three per cent of fatal accidents and 77 per cent of injury collisions were caused by improper driver actions.
The safety branch revealed that the most frequent driver action which led to a traffic accident was "loss of control." This was the prime cause in 28 per cent of the total accidents and 18 per cent of the injury accidents and 11 per cent of traffic accidents which resulted in property damage only.

Other provisions of driver actions which led to traffic accidents were following too closely 14.8 per cent of vehicle collisions, backing unsafely 17.4 per cent of incidents and backing a left turn across the path on oncoming vehicles which resulted in 5.3 per cent of all accidents.

Failing to yield, such as at a stop sign, was responsible for 4.7 per cent of accidents while unsafe speed caused another 4.7 per cent of collisions.
The safety branch indicated of the three factors of importance of environmental and vehicle condition factors such as accident cause was low, particularly in more serious accidents.

A.D.C. Lending

H.B. McDrew, chairman of the Alberta Development Corporation has recently announced the corporation's lending results for the first quarter of the current fiscal year.

Following a record-breaking year in fiscal 1980-81, when the corporation's direct lending activity was triple that of the previous year, the first quarter of this fiscal year indicates further increases.

During this period 808 direct farm loans were approved, totalling $74 million.
This compares with 286 loans for $88 million in the same quarter of last year. Of the current quarter's total, 427 loans, representing $66 million, were made to beginning farmers, compared with 194 loans and $27 million in the comparable quarter last year.

Loans made to agriculturers during the first quarter amounted to $4 million, compared with just over $1 million in the same quarter last year. Mr. McDrew said that the corporation expects to become much more active in its agribusiness lending activities in the future.

Under the Alberta Farm Development Loan Program, 1988 loans worth $20 million were guaranteed by the corporation. These figures compare favourably with 1981 loans for $18 million in the first quarter of the last fiscal year.

Mr. McDrew also paid tribute to the corporation's staff, both in the field and in head office, for their efforts involved in keeping up with the greatly increased workload associated with the unprecedented volume of loans and related administrative work. He added that additional loan officers are currently being recruited, along with additional staff for the Camrose head office.

Water Treatment Plant Contract Awarded

The contract for the construction of the structural phase of the new Viking water treatment plant has been awarded. P. O. Construction Limited of Edmonton was the lowest of the three companies which bid on the project.

Phase 9 Construction Ltd. tendered a bid of $400,025 for the treatment facility and clean water storage reservoir. The company is expected to begin construction on the plant this week with a tentative completion date for the structural phase of November 1st.

The bids included only the structural phase of the water treatment and storage facility. Ron Chapiro of Olen Engineering, the firm in charge of the project for the Town of Viking, said that the firm is presently engaged in pre-selecting the mechanical equipment required for the treatment facility. This equipment has been ordered and will be installed in the completed building during the winter. He said that the plant will be operational this spring.

The new treatment plant is being built in conjunction with the construction of the new water storage reservoir. The present water tower will be maintained in its present capacity.

The new facilities will be located on and near the most levelled diamond near Husky Trucking's shipping yard. As this is a high point of land, the plant will have a lowering of the grade in the area for the plant.

The reservoir portion of the project was designed such that the reservoir surface could potentially be used for activities in the future.

For more information, please contact Mr. Phila, Director of District Services at 878-9900 or A.D.S. District Office Mr. B. H. H. Chapiro at 878-4242.

The course will be held in Alliance from September 14 to the 17th.

Rescue Course In Alliance

A basic rescue course will be taught in Alliance which trainees can participate in techniques of emergency rescue. Skills learned will be essential to effective performance of rescue operations.

This phase of emergency preparation training course also includes areas such as basic functions and organization of a rescue service, building and construction and collapse and special hazards to casualty handling and rescue.

This course is organized by the Municipal Director for Disaster Services in conjunction with Alberta Disaster Services district officers.

For more information, please contact Mr. Phila, Director of District Services at 878-9900 or A.D.S. District Office Mr. B. H. H. Chapiro at 878-4242.

The burying of underground cables began last week for the eventual hook up of cable television in Viking. Completion of the system is scheduled for mid October.

Oilseed Crops To Egypt

Canadian canola varieties are being tested in Egypt to see if they are suited to growing conditions there.

The project, sponsored by the International Development Research Centre with technical assistance from Agriculture Canada, is attempting to increase oilseed production in Egypt.

Egyptian researchers hope to have several thousand acres of the best oilseed canola or other rapeseed varieties under cultivation in the near future and this could translate into a new market for Canadian seed.

Compassion for their chances at harvest time are grain cars beside the elevator. With the grain in this area moving west, grain cars are being spotted on the sidings on a regular basis. One hopes that the grain handlers on the west coast won't follow their Thunder Bay brothers and make this picture a long-term reality.

Irma Councillor Resigns Over Hazardous Wastes Issue

Councillor Barbara Frelund has submitted her resignation from the Irma Village Council because she disagrees with the Council's policy to look at a site west of Irma as a possible location for a hazardous waste treatment plant.

Mrs. Frelund submitted her resignation following the September 1st meeting. Her letter of resignation states "personal reasons" for her resignation.

Mrs. Frelund says that there are a number of reasons for her resignation. She indicated that the reason was Council's failure to adhere to preliminary procedure by consulting a letter to the Hazardous Waste Team in Edmonton before it had been approved at a Council meeting.

At the September 1st meeting of the Village Council, a motion was made that the Hazardous Waste Disposal Committee be requested to conduct a survey to determine the suitability of a site approximately 5 miles west and 1/2 mile south of Irma. The site is presently being used as a CN waste disposal area. Councillor Frelund opposed the motion but it was carried.

Following the motion on the survey, the Administrator of the Village, Don Crouse, advised the Council that the Hazardous Waste Team in Edmonton had been contacted and asked to undertake the survey in question. Council then passed a motion ratifying the action as taken by the Administrator.

The action related to the second motion was the sending of a letter dated August 26th to the Hazardous Waste Team in Edmonton with regards to the proposed site. The letter reads: Dear Mr. Bayra: We, Proposed Site for Disposal Plant. The Council of the Village of Irma hereby submit this proposal as a site for the proposed Hazardous Waste Disposal Plant which is under consideration by the provincial government. P.E.I./S-40-45-W-4.

We are of the opinion that the proposed site does have consideration based on the following:

A townsmen community effort last Thursday saw the completion of harvesting operations for the family of the late Ray Shriv. Neighbours and friends, including the John Deere dealership from Killam moved in with 15 combines and an equal number of trucks to complete the harvest in one day.

Construction began last week on the new water treatment plant in Viking. The plant is located on the east football diamond by Renshaw's loading yard.

Six Seconds Prevents Death

Six seconds is all it takes to save a life or reduce the severity of accident injuries, the Alberta Safety Council stated recently.

Every day in Alberta 1.8 persons are killed, 85.5 persons are injured and 366 traffic accidents occur. Many of the deaths could be prevented and the severity of injuries reduced if motorists took six seconds to "buckle-up," the Council said.

"The cost is only six seconds and the savings are great. Not only are lives saved and injuries reduced," a Council spokesman said. In 1979, it was estimated that failures of 65 percent of Albertans to fasten their seat belts cost in the range of $5 million in direct annual medical costs and $35 million in indirect costs.

"It's about time people start relating to traffic accident statistics," the spokesman said. "Accidents don't just happen to other people. In the next ten years, most of us will be involved in some kind of traffic mishap and taking six seconds to buckle-up is a very cheap investment in your future."

The Council now has 74 Alberta members in its development. By The Belt Club who have all testified that wearing a seat belt saved their life or reduced their injury in a traffic accident.

4-H On The Move

By Ed Mason, Regional 4-H Specialist

The program will feature sessions designed to help you find out what is happening in the 4-H movement, aid you in further developing your leadership skills, opportunities to share your experiences with others and recharge your battery for the year ahead. 276 leaders from across Alberta will join with staff, members of the Alberta 4-H Council, sponsors and 4-H Foundation of Alberta representatives, as well as out-of-province guest leaders to share this unique experience.

A conference will feature six workshops set up so that you can participate in any two of the six offered. The workshops are: 1. Once upon a group meeting! Will aid in understanding effective group functioning. 2. What makes kids tick? Theory combined with discussion concerning stressors affecting youth in the 4-H age range. 3. Write it right! How to identify, write and get your story to the public. 4. Reaching the husband! A sharing of methods and experiences of what works in recruiting new members and leaders. 5. The power of speech! Ways to help you develop effective speaking skills. 6. Help! I have never done a demonstration. The "why" and "how" of using demonstrations as a learning vehicle for club members.

As well as attending the workshops the conference is a great place to meet other 4-H leaders and have a good time.

If you are a 4-H leader, sponsor, or project leader and wish to go applications can be obtained from local club leaders, district home economists or by calling myself at 655-3811 extension 518.

Deadline for application is October 8, 1981.
Join us and enter in on 4-H!

Provincial 4-H Leaders Conference, Thursday, Nov. 10 - Saturday, Nov. 21, Capri Centre, Neil Deer.

Benson's Mark 40th Anniversary

On Sunday, September 13, Vivian and Raymond Benson were honored on their 40th wedding anniversary at a gathering at the home of Vivian's sister Bridget Erickson. Approximately forty-five family members were on hand to enjoy a pot luck dinner and bring their best wishes to the honored guests.

Vivian and Raymond were married at Vegreville on September 13, 1941 and have lived the first years of their marriage in the Bruce district. Later they moved to Whitewater where they spent 6 years and then to Edmonton where Raymond was employed for 19 years. In 1977, after Raymond's retirement, they bought a house in Bruce and settled down to enjoy life. The couple have two children and three grandchildren who were all present for this special occasion - Larry Benson, his wife Betty and daughter Rebecca of Edmonton, and Ellen Collinson, her husband Dale and children, two sons and three children.

The Harvest Dance will be held at the Holden Complex, Sat. Sept. 26, 8:00 p.m. Everyone welcome. Sponsored by the Agricultural Society.

project: Education
... enriching our future

The involvement of the Heritage Fund in education has provided students of all ages with better access to many new learning resources.

The "Alberta Heritage Learning Resources" project utilizes the talents of Alberta and Canadian authors, artists and editors to foster and improve understanding and appreciation of our unique Canadian heritage by providing reference books and literary works to schools and public libraries throughout the province. The unique history, geography, environment, and cultural diversity of Alberta, Western Canada and the nation has been highlighted in the series.

The recently created Alberta Heritage Scholarship Fund will provide scholarships and awards to recognize and reward achievements by Albertans in all fields of education. The Fund, endowed with $100 million from the Heritage Fund, will enable students to pursue higher education in Alberta and elsewhere and will attract top scholars to our own schools.

The "Library Development" project provides grants for the upgrading of learning materials in university, college and technical institute libraries throughout Alberta.

The concept of assuring uniquely Canadian learning resources for students and providing comprehensive scholarships reflects the fundamental aim of the Heritage Fund. Since 1974, 30% of all revenues from your oil and natural gas - non-renewable resources - have been placed in the fund. The Heritage Fund is committed, over the long term, to help secure our future.

This support of our educational community is just one visible way that the Heritage Fund is working today... for tomorrow.

Irma News And Views

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murray from Burnaby, British Columbia, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Fuder and family over last weekend. Mr. Murray is a brother to the late Ashley Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Knudson from Swiftsview, Alberta, are visiting relatives in the Irma district and are planning on heading for Arizona by the end of this week.

On Wednesday evening, three combines, two International and a Glenner and two grain trucks were parked south of the C.N. tracks and west of the Pool elevator. There was a noise "Silva Jensen's Harvesting, Co., Montana." Later the grain trucks were told that this outfit had done some harvesting in this district last year, but they were unable to find out if they had done any this year.

On Tuesday Sept. 18th at about noon, Jean and Kenny Rae discovered that the pump house was on fire. The engine was working and pumping and the tank was almost full. Ernie came on the scene and tried to douse the flames by throwing water on them. He and Kenny worked hard, while Jean stood by the fire department.

The two men were hindered by a stiff north west wind which continued to blow the flames across the water tank. However, the fire trucks arrived in short order to late however to save the pump house and contents, but kept the fire from spreading to adjacent feed stacks and other buildings.

Ernest, Jean and Kenny Rae wish to express thanks and appreciation to the Irma volunteer fire fighters for responding so quickly and as a result minimizing the fire damage.

On Friday, Sept. 18th at just ten minutes to noon the fire alarm sounded and within a few minutes one of the five trucks headed out on the highway followed right away by the second truck and some cars and trucks.

Heavy billows of smoke were blowing in a northern direction by a stiff south east breeze. The fire evidently started by men working on the C.N. tracks near Rawlins and spread north and west burning grass north and west of the trestle bridge. Irma's two units helped for a time by a waterweight fire engine fought the fire for between three and four hours before bringing it under control. It was estimated that at least 40 acres were burnt over. The smaller fire unit followed its worth in the hills.

Friday afternoon we noticed the traffic on Highway 14 moving at greatly reduced speeds and wondered why. We finally saw the Highway Patrol car stop a few vehicles and evidently had a chat with the drivers. That was the cause of the good driving habits.

On Thursday morning, an employee of Watervright Municipality from Hardisty while on his way to work on highway 14, 6 miles east of Irma ran into the last of three deer which crossed the highway. The deer was killed and the car was a write off. The man escaped with a few scratches and bruises.

On Saturday afternoon the fire units responded to a call from north of town where a stubble fire was burning on one of the Tully Larson land. The fire was quickly brought under control. The fact that it burned towards a high helped to some extent.

Minnie Jackson arrived home on Saturday evening after a ten day holiday with her daughter Isabel Berthel at Bowden. She also visited Karlene and Rae Ross and family at Bowden, Lois and Kevin Holmes at Rimby and John and Nina Berthel at Watervright.

Irma Ag Society To Hold Auction

The weather may be beautiful but we know sooner or later winter will be here. With that in mind the Irma Agricultural Society is giving you the opportunity to get rid of some of those unwanted articles that you have taking up room in your garage.

newest or backyard by having an Auction Sale of donated articles at the arena on Saturday, Oct. 24. Maybe it's time you rid your pot, good, get rid of that horrid chandelier or maybe it is a chance to get rid of that ugly skirt your mother-in-law gave you last Christmas after all it's only a couple of months to the next one. All joking aside we're asking for the Community to support this sale as a means of raising some additional funds for arena operation. The arena will be open Thursday and Friday from 9-12. Also a reminder that the next Ag. Society meeting will be Wed. Oct. 21 with the Annual Meeting coming up in November. New ideas and members are most welcome at any meeting.

New Horizons Meet

The members of the Irma New Horizons Club held their third meeting at the month meeting in the Drop-In Centre on Sept. 18th.

Four tables played whist, with the winners as follows. Ladies High went to Elma Tomlinson with a score of 194, low was Adelaide Dunsen, her score being 83. Gent's High went to Dennis Coffin (playing as a man) with a score of 111. Harold Fuder was guest low scorer at 87.

During lunch, Happy Birthday was sung for Phyllis Craig as it was her birthday anniversary. Phyllis expressed her appreciation. Later it was mentioned that Helen Swallow had a birthday in this month, so Happy Birthday was sung for her. The same song was sung for him also. The president George Fager read an invitation from Kilian Agriplex announcing three days of organized sports for Seniors on Sept. 21st - 23rd and 24th. The sports included bowling, swimming, darts, etc. and also a concert and pot luck dinner on Sept. 24. A number decided to take part on the 26th.

Dunbar Wins Tournament

Ian Dunbar, who is 18, held a score of 79 to edge out Brent Fischer, who had scored 76 to win top honors in the Irma Men's Golf Club Tournament on Sept. 6.

In the low net section, Ross Gaudin came out on top with Durrin Archibald placing second and Ian Dunbar third. On the 9th hole, Greg Fischer pounced on the longest drive of the tournament, John Gaudin picked up the closest to the cup drive in the third hole as he drove in within 14 feet of the cup. Weather conditions were ideal for the tournament which was followed by a pot luck supper. The number of participants was limited due to the fact that many of the farmers were harvesting.

Recreation Board Holds Meeting

A meeting of the Viking Recreation Board was held on Tuesday, Sept. 22nd in the Council chambers. The meeting was called to order by Mayor Nordstrom. Members present were Bryan Nordstrom, John Anderson, Patsy Cumming, and

Robert Anderson Laid To Rest

Well known constable Robert Anderson passed away on September 1, 1981, in the Viking General Hospital at the age of 90 years. He was born in Huntly, Scotland and came to Canada after World War I. He was associated with the 61st Highland Division. Kaiser William called them "the boys from hell" because they were the best. After the war, he emigrated to Canada and served 25 years with the Manitoba Provincial Police. During this time he took seven murders to justice including stranger Helen who strangled 25 women, two of them in the city of Winnipeg. After that he served with the Winnipeg City Police. In 1964 Bob became town constable in Viking.

Bob and his wife have lived in Viking for 27 years. They had two sons, Ian and Douglas. Ian and Carol and Douglas, B.C., and Douglas and Marylyn and family live in Edmonton.

Bob also started the "Bobby Burns Night" in Viking. He was interested in all kinds of sports, and was a life member of the Lager Masque Lodge, Selkirk, Manitoba, and a life member of the Canadian Legion.

John Ingles, George Reddick, George Ritchie, Eamon Cunningham, Dick Chamney and an invited guest, Dave Doward.

The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as read. Dave Doward, representing the Viking Senior Citizens discussed with us the possibility of a new Senior Citizens Complex for Viking.

Dick Chamney informed us of certain available grants concerning this matter. He also informed the Board of a Seniors Workshop to be held at the drop-in centre on Friday, October 9th from 10:00 - 2:30 p.m. Guest speakers at this workshop will be Don Mayne from New Horizons and Earl Beck from the Senior Citizens Bureau.

In business arising from the minutes, Dick Chamney informed us that we would be eligible for some outstanding monies relating to the M.H.C. grant as in relation to the present building. There were two letters presented to the Board from the Viking Senior Citizens and the other from Bob Gross regarding grant monies.

In old business, a well as has been selected for Thomas and the well presently being dug.

George Ritchie, John Anderson, Dick Chamney and an Engineering Committee from Edmonton have been asked to measure the dimensions of the Ball Diamond and they reported that construction will start in the next week.

Reports on the Town and Country cost-sharing of the Viking facilities were given. As yet there are no outstanding reports.

The meeting adjourned at 9:10 p.m. Submitted by J.E. Cunningham

VIKING ARENA

Tomatoes, Tomatoes and

It's tomato harvesting time again, as everyone rushes out to gather in their red fruit before the first frosts can damage the crop. Strangely enough, tomatoes were once grown in North America only as a plant decoration. Now a days it is valued for its delicious flavor and the important vitamins it contains.

Many homemakers have complained that the tomato season comes and goes too fast. If only they didn't all ripen at once, there would be enough to keep the family in tomatoes for half the year! Unfortunately it just doesn't work out that way, so if you have boxes and boxes of tomatoes sitting in your house, check them often as they ripen very quickly. Try to use them at their peak of flavor and color. Tomatoes can be used and preserved in a variety of ways so don't let any of their garden goodness go to waste.

"Tomatoes can be preserved by canning them. Prepare the tomatoes first by washing them thoroughly and removing any spots or blemishes. Peel them by dipping a few at a time in brisky boiling water, then dunking immediately in cold clean water. The skins will then slip off. Bring the tomatoes to a boil, pack in hot sterilized jars and process. For a change, try canning tomatoes used in other ways such as a tomato relish, homemade tomato juice, homemade ketchup. All of these can be made in quantity and canned for later use. Freezing tomatoes is becoming a popular method of preservation. Just blanch and peel and pack in freezer bags. Others prefer to wash their tomatoes, remove the top and end, freeze whole on cookie sheets. Pack them in bags after they are frozen solid.

Just remember that your canned and frozen tomatoes are excellent for making soups and stews. Use them in any recipe that calls for canned tomatoes or juice. While your tomatoes are still in abundance here are a couple of recipes you might like to try.

Tomato Rice Salad:
1 cup cooked rice (chilled), 2 medium diced red tomatoes, 1 tbsp. chopped parsley, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 2 tbsp. sliced black olives, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms.
Dressing: 2 tbsp. salad oil, 1 tbsp. vinegar, 1/8 tsp. dry mustard, 1/8 tsp. paprika, dash of cayenne, 1/2 tsp. salt.

Combine rice with tomatoes, parsley, onion, olives, celery and mushrooms. Blend dressing ingredients together, pour over salad and toss slightly.

Ripe Tomato Frost Cheesecake:
6 cups peeled, chopped tomatoes, 4 cups dried apple, 4 cups peeled, dried peaches, 1 cup chopped onion, 1 cup chopped celery, 1/2 cup chopped green pepper, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 cup dark raisins, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. ginger, 1/2 tsp. allspice, 1/2 cup vinegar.

Combine all ingredients. Bring to a boil. Stir and cook until thick but not mushy 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Makes about 4 pints.

Save On Fertilizer Bills

As prices for chemical fertilizers rise, farmers are taking a closer look at the value of manure.

From The Ground Up

Domestic Agriculture
Jerome Manchur and Rudy Warawa

Worke Control
Warlike flies hit your eggs on cattle hair during the grazing season. After the eggs hatch, larvae bore through the skin. One species then migrates to the esophagus and another to the genital canal. In late winter and early spring the larvae migrate to just beneath the skin on the animal's back. Once there, they eat an alfalfa and keep growing. This is when you see them. Later they pupate and go to the ground, pupate and emerge as flies to repeat the cycle.

The post comes into and your performance. It also damages the meat and the hide.

Cattle should be treated in the fall and any groups left should be cleaned up in the spring. Spring treatment is really a clean-up treatment. Cattle can be treated with sprays after March 1. All the cattle in the herd should be treated once milking cows, steers, heifers and calves under three months.

Your local D.A. has an excellent Fax thesis called "Warlike Control in Alberta". This sheet talks about the problem and the treatments you can use. Warlike can be controlled if proper care is taken. It's something which you do have control over.

Water pump for milking Dugan
There have been a lot of inquiries lately regarding pumping of Dugan. The pump is in our county now. Please either Rudy or myself at 336-3234 to book in a time, if interested. Please as soon as possible.

Breeding of Trees and Land
Water all trees heavily this fall if possible. Due to dry conditions these plants are under severe stress. A good watering of trees will also be beneficial. Water at intervals of every five days in order to give the soil time to soak up the water. Trees are becoming up more than usual this fall due to the dry conditions.

Ray Slavik Passes

On September 4, 1981, Ray Slavik passed away at the age of 80 years. Ray was born in Viking and his home was the Progen Parish Church until the time of his passing. He is survived by his wife Helen, son Ron, daughter Theresa, Marlene and Jean, son-in-law, John, Ron and Murray, grandchildren Greg and Kerry, his parents Mr. Frank Slavik. Funeral services were held September 7, 1981 at 10:00 a.m. in the Progen Parish Church. Interment followed at the Progen Cemetery. Remembrance Funeral Home were in charge of all arrangements. Funeral mass was conducted by Ray's dear friend Father Ted Adams, and Father John Haldin. After boys Mark Berwick and Dale Berwick. The organist was Ruth Mahor, beautiful singing hymns of joy and peace which would have been Ray's choice, as his belief always was that a funeral mass should be a happy celebration if God truly dwells in each heart, even among his money of his friends.

He was carried to his earthly resting place by pallbearers - five brother-in-laws, Brian, Frank, Charles, Joe and Bill Berwick, Stan Semak, Ray's friend and family relative. Many friends and relatives joined in the procession of love, hope and peace believing that there is a loving God who knows best.

"We have lost our loved one, but have gained his loving, guiding, free spirit."

Shady Cove W.I. Meets

The record setting heat wave of September this year had something else going for it as well, for on the 11th of that month, Shady Cove W.I. members regrouped at the home of Gladys Hall. Ten members were present. Everyone will be back soon. Come on, come all! Remember everyone is needed.

Ball Call of "summer activities" permitted everyone a hot look at their holiday joys. Further donations to Saving Machines for Bang-Old Holiday. The Project will be completed Dec. 1981. There was much conversation at 8:00 a.m. or 8:30 a.m. with the beginning of fall activities.

The A.W.I. report book is out - following the Provincial June Convention. Regarding the constitution the feeling existed that W.I. efforts had helped some in encouraging T.V. shows with less violence. Prater and Gombie had been reported as not desiring to back such violence in shows. Women's Institute has joined many other groups observing to continue voluntary blood donations for Red Cross and it appears at this time such a method will continue.

The A.C.W.V. paper reminded everyone that October is the month for World Food Day. Shady Cove will call for Oct. will be a donation for World Food Day.

The next meeting place will be at Ray Davidson, on Oct. 19th with Lyle and Myra on hand.

Aid available against grain theft

If you have had grain stolen in the past or are worried about it being stolen in the future from bins that are some distance from your farmstead, you might be wise to consider using GrainGuard, says Murray MacLachlan, supervisor of cereal crops with Alberta Agriculture.

Grain thefts are becoming more common as farms become larger and grain elevators have stolen many times from the farmstead. And large trucks and high capacity grain augers, which are thieves, have added to the problem. What is GrainGuard? It is a small blue plastic bag that is placed in the grain elevator. The number on the bag is registered in the purchaser's name. The number, which is also registered with the R.C.M.P. is the area in which the purchaser lives, is not used again unless it is re-ordered. If a farmer's supply of GrainGuard should be stolen, the number would be cancelled.

The use of GrainGuard is to protect grain and elevator against theft has been approved by Canadian grain authorities, and grain companies will be expected by any elevator company.

In addition to discouraging theft, GrainGuard helps police to identify the grain if it is stolen. Stolen grain that is found in transit or is somebody's property is virtually impossible to identify unless it contains some-thing like GrainGuard.

Viking Chamber Holds September Meeting

The September meeting of the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce was held as a luncheon meeting at the Burger Queen. This was the first meeting held since the summer recess for the months of July and August.

Mayor Kushton informed the meeting that the Town of Viking has joined the Economic Development Association and that the association has requested representation from the Chamber.

A committee consisting of Lene Carrington, Lene Ottem and Bill Kampala was selected to review all submissions with regard to the Logo Contest.

Discussion followed regarding the lack of a tourist dumping facility in the Viking area. Although most agreed in the necessity of such a facility, an appropriate location has not been established. The meeting adjourned on a motion by Bill Kampala.

Indifference Costs Life

But, put yourself in this case. Your neighbor is re-

Fire Protection Organized In 23 B.C.

Many times fire was left unattended. But many disastrous and tragic lessons have taught humanity the folly of this kind of attention. The fire department and children seem to be as vulnerable to carelessness as were their ancestors. Today society offers opportunity as incentives to both parents and children the energy from fire have increased the hazards have not been recognized until the price of ignorance has been paid through much suffering and Precautions, safety measures and regulations to reduce the hazards were generally not as clear as the use of fire and various materials were discovered.

People also found that they had to develop ways to protect themselves and their property from the effects of the riot, control or when fire started suddenly.

Someone once said, "Confidence is next to Godliness." But even in the cleanest of houses, rubbish and trash will be a nuisance at certain times. It's a natural result of living.

Rubbish and trash serve no useful purpose, but they become ready bait for a fire. Since they are usually flammable, they should never

Now what do you do? Do you warn of the dangers? Or in the case of adults, do you assume that they can take care of themselves?

If you're like most people, you assume that what other adults do is none of your business. Certainly, you're not going to infringe upon their rights... or mine.

As citizens we have some responsibility for ourselves, our families and our community. How serious must be the threat to be alert as individuals of the impending danger? How often have we looked upon the perpetrator of a crime and called him a fool? But who is the bigger fool. . . The person who may not have known any better. . . or the person who knew but not cared anything.

We have a duty to ourselves and mankind to make the environment in which we live as safe from danger as possible. Next time you see a fire hazard, whether be in your home or in your community, take the appropriate action. Correct yourself or inform the responsible individual of the hazard.

A Salute To The Firefighters

Like a number of things in Nature's world, fire can provide us with so many things of value. And yet, like these same things, it has a tremendous capacity for destruction. Fire has benefitted man, and fascinated man, since the earliest of times. And it has caused or been part of some of the greatest disasters in man's history.

Yearly in Canada, millions of dollars in property damage are done by fire, and numerous lives are lost to this destructive force. Because of this very destructive nature of fire, we find a certain exhilaration when the fire alarm sounds in our communities signalling the possibilities of a tragedy. From our earliest years many of us raced out of the house to follow the fire truck, as it is often the signal for great excitement in our communities. And many of us continue to idly tow the fire trucks as we grow older. Yet most of us, though seeking the excitement inherent in the fire sirens and the fire truck, do not wish to witness the devastating tragedies which can result from a fire.

October 4th to 10th has been designated as Fire Prevention Week across Canada by declaration of Governor-General E. Schreyer. By virtue of this declaration, the entire nation should take time to consider their situation with regards to potential fire hazards. Are our homes as safe as we can make them with respect to fire? Do we have a planned escape route from any area of the home for us and our children in the event of a fire? Are our places of work safe? Are our children safe in their school environment and are they prepared to evacuate any building in which they may find themselves in the event of a fire? All of these questions and more should be considered during this week, and during this week, we should instill in ourselves and our families a constant vigil concerning the potential for fire and the safety measures which can be taken in such an event.

Particularly during this week we should take a moment to offer thanks to the members of the volunteer fire departments in our communities. These people are called upon to take on a job which displays a great sense of community responsibility. Each of our communities requires an effective group of volunteer firefighters, and we should do every thing in our power to encourage these people in their efforts. If we take a moment to think about them, they provide us with a feeling of comfort which would be severely lacking if we were ever to find the end of the sire to do their jobs. As this is Fire Prevention Week, we dedicate this supplement to all those people in our communities who are members of their volunteer fire departments. We hope the members of your community warmly express their gratitude.

The Editor

With the efficacy of today's fire crews history should not repeat itself in Viking. On November 28, 1986 a fire almost completely levelled one block on the east side of main street in Viking. The only building left standing was the old opera house (presently Hewrey's Auto and Farm Supply). On the left side of the picture is Ramsey's Post Hall in the present burning and further north, the Hotel (not shown). On the right side is Graham's Implement Shed. Also levelled in the blaze were Hardy's Red and White Store, Lunde's Coffee Shop and the Doctor's Office.

The Beginning

About 1548, a goldsmith named Anton Plater built a fire engine on wheels in the city of Augsburg. The angle of the jet was roughly determined by threading a short rod through a pair of holes in two supporting quadrants, and a short ladder was then placed beside the filling funnel at the forward end of the spring barrel. With the ram inside the barrel wound back, the barrel was filled by buckets emptied into the funnel. The ram was then wound forward forcibly to create pressure that projected a jet of water from the nozzle.

Thanks to the Viking Fire Department for a job well done.

STOP FIRES

It's Silent, It's Unseen ... But It May Shock Or Burn

Electricity is easily taken for granted. Plug into an outlet here, flick a switch there.

However, homes today have neither the number of outlets nor circuits to service the demands of many electrical gadgets in common use.

We almost take pride in our ingenuity for solving electrical obstacles. We insert a multiple plug, add an extension cord, improve to keep a bulky fuse box in working order, and assume any red-blooded Canadian adult can repair a switch box or faulty cord.

But, initial success may only mask a greater, often hidden problem. Electricity is no subject for amateurs or make-shift solutions. Properly utilized, respected and maintained, it can give countless pleasures and conveniences.

Connecting too many appliances on one circuit is all too common a practice. This can overload the capacity of the circuit, causing wires to overheat and insulation to deteriorate. A build-up of heat may ignite the insulation or adjacent construction.

Likewise, the real message of blocking fuses and circuit breakers is frequently ignored. If a fuse blows or a breaker trips there may be too many appliances operating on that circuit or a fault in the wiring. If the occurences repeat, immediately contact a qualified electrician for a thorough check.

In any case, never resort to replacing a fuse with one of a higher rating, using a coin in place of a fuse, or propping a breaker to hold it in place.

Avoid stretching appliances or extension cords across areas subject to heavy foot traffic or the weight of furniture. Do not run cords under rugs or carpets, or expose them to water, oils or heat.

Use extension cords sparingly and only on a temporary basis. Match its size to the electrical load of the appliance.

Replace cords which are frayed, brittle or otherwise damaged. Do not simply patch with tape.

Electrical appliances and fixtures tend to wear out after varying periods of time. Disconnect their use immediately whenever an unusual odor, noise or sparking is observed and wait until repairs or replacements are completed.

Water and electricity are literally a "Shocking Combination".

Among the numerous artifacts and implements of interest at the Viking Museum is the 1911 Fire Engine shown above.

Bruce Fire Fighters...Then And Now

The Bruce Fire Department was originally started in about 1860 with 6 or 8 men and an old style 2 wheel tank which was hand operated.

A Dodge Pumper Unit with a 600 gallon compartment tank and a front mounted pump was delivered to the Hamlet in 1967 by the Municipal District of Beaver, and is still in operation.

Ken Stambough
Fire Chief

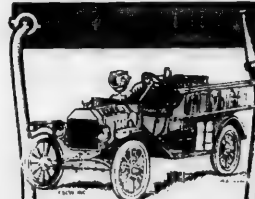

The Department now consists of 18 Volunteer Firemen. It averages about 12 or 14 men and varies each year.

Fire Prevention work gives the Department a chance to check its operation and people to become aware of the hours of time and dedication the volunteer firemen give to their communities.

When the fire alarm sounds they leave their work or whatever they are doing and then lock their place of business to rush to a fire.

This is a time of year that everyone should check their business and residence for fire hazards, and check their furnace and motors for defects.

Ken Stambough,
Bruce Fire Chief

The model T Ford became one of the most popular fire trucks of small community volunteer fire companies during the period between 1900 and 1927.

It was equipped with a ladder, spotlight, hand extinguishers and a small water tank, pump and 50 foot of booster hose. Today, many are still in small American towns as parade trucks.

In the early days in London, barrels of water were required to be kept outside or inside a dwelling. Organized fire-fighting died with the Roman Empire, and was not revived for many centuries.

Thanks to our fire department for their valued protection

Fire - A Major Farm Risk

As farms expand, they begin to resemble industrial complexes and therefore require the same careful attention to safety measures and precautions as is directed for industrial sites. The major causes of farm fires include the improper use and storage of gasoline and kerosene, outside burning, carelessness with matches and spontaneous combustion.

Heating systems should be inspected and checked.

Water and hoses should be available at barns.

Fire extinguishers should be kept in appropriate locations, but used only when everyone is safely out of danger; after the fire department has been notified; where an escape route is clearly available; and providing the operator is trained in their proper usage.

Smoking should never be allowed in barns.

Haytots should be well ventilated.

Hay and grain dryers should be inspected and properly maintained. Breeding equipment should be properly installed, and infra-red lights covered by a wire shield. Barns and outbuildings present their own peculiar fire problems. The National Fire Protection Association suggests the use of the following guidelines in observing and inspecting for farm safety. Every outbuilding should have lightning rod protection.

Fire Practice Is Essential

Insurance Plays Dual Role On Fire Scene

The basic idea of an organized society-sharing to offset a major loss suffered within the community goes back as far as ancient Babylon and Assyria.

There, officials were empowered to levy contributions for a common fund to pay damages for calamities. Marine insurance (ships and cargo) was probably the earliest form of insurance.

The advent of modern fire insurance is considered an outgrowth of the 1666 Great Fire of London, which destroyed a major portion of the city. This included more than 13,000 buildings and over 500 acres.

Prior to the Great Fire of London, fire victims had to depend upon the traditional system of collecting donations from neighbors, friends and other sympathetic community members to restore their losses. In most cases, this practice was unsuccessful.

However, for London fire victims, the collection did not begin to compensate for the losses. From this experience the first fire insurance companies were formed. The idea soon spread to the American colonies, but early attempts to set up fire insurance companies there failed.

Benjamin Franklin is credited with forming the first successful fire insurance company in America. Established in 1752, the company is still in business today, operating under the name Hand-in-Hand.

Several other insurance companies followed closely in his footsteps, gradually building in numbers and popularity to the vast network and far-reaching coverage found today.

Since those early beginnings, fire insurance companies have played an important role in the fight for fire prevention. With their vested interest, they have had a hand in the development of fire standards and regulations, improvements in structural conditions, increased safety in industrial processes, improvements in public fire protection, and the installation of built-in fire protection features and systems.

How Do Fires Start?

What Would You Do?

What would you do? What would your family do if fire should strike within the next few seconds?

How would you save yourself from painful burns and even death?

It is worth your life to know the right answers, says Viking Fire Chief, Bill Kamphuis. The Chief passes along this fire prevention week advice on saving yourself from fire.

Get you and your family out of the house the minute you discover fire or small smoke.

Hold your breath and cover your face if you have to dash through smoke or fire.

Don't jump or drop from the upper story window, except as a last resort, wait for the fireman.

Don't go back into a burning building for any reason.

Smoke and fire gases from even the smallest fire can be deadly.

Unless it is a small fire and you are certain that you can control it with the right extinguisher, don't waste time or your life by trying to fight a fire, get away from it and call the Fire Department at 360-3611.

Bill Kamphuis
Fire Chief

Don't fling doors open if you think there is a fire. Feel them first and if they are hot, get out some other way or block the doors with furniture or mattresses to keep out smoke and gases.

REMEMBER, The air is usually better near the floor in a smoke-filled building.

Chief Kamphuis reminds all parents - Never leave children alone. Keep matches and lighters away from children.

Chief Kamphuis would also like to remind people to clean your furnace and heating system before the cold weather is here.

Our aim during the year, said Chief Kamphuis, will be to tell everyone on the idea that Fire Prevention is a life and death matter. That each individual owes it to himself and to his family and to his community to think and act Fire Safety every minute of the day the year round.

Bill Kamphuis
Viking Fire Chief

Profile: Gordon Draper

In every rural community there are a number of service clubs and organizations with members taking office, passing policy, organizing and carrying out acts which provide an enjoyable and comfortable way of life for all.

Although Gordon Draper is quite content to leave most of these aspects of community life to others, he has served his home community in what might well be one of the most vital areas - as volunteer fire fighter and later as Viking Fire Chief.

Gordon Draper was born at Viking during the month of September, 1930. He was raised on the family farm south of Phillips, a district, halfway between Viking and Kinross. Gordon, along with his brother and four sisters took part of his schooling at Viking.

In 1950 his father's change of occupation found the family moving out of the prairie. They took up residence at Kinross, B.C. where Gordon completed the 11th grade before enrolling in a mathematics course at Nanaimo.

A year later Gordon returned to Viking and began a four year mechanical apprenticeship at Taylor's Garage. Gordon resided at Taylor's as a mechanic until their closing in November of 1967. Shortly thereafter, Gordon opened his own business in the same premises - "Gordon's Automotive Service and Repair". His years of experience make "good work" of general auto repairs, tune ups, brake jobs, and engine rebuilding.

Gordon and his wife Jo (Josephine) were married November 8, 1958. Their eldest child, a son Darby is now 18 and in grade 11. Completing their family is daughter Joanne who is now 16. The family enjoy a lot of time together and enjoy camping and fishing.

Working with the Viking Volunteer Fire fighters since 1958, Gordon became the local fire chief after serving as a volunteer under the guidance of Don Place, Fred Rademacher and Maurice Thompson. Along with his 50 plus years of experience, Gordon has completed a one week basic training course in Vancouver. Although not as active in recent years, it is when the need arises, Gordon will answer the call.

Apply Avesdax BW this fall

There's no surer way to control wild oats than a fall application of Avesdax BW herbicide. So don't wait too long to apply Avesdax BW this fall. Start applying October 1st - before an early soil freeze-up makes it too late. Avesdax BW will remain in the soil through the winter until it's activated by spring temperatures. And it'll keep on controlling wild oats growth after - for a full six to eight weeks into the growing season.

Canada Post

It's been stretched for almost 3 years.

We can't stretch it any further.

You don't need reminding that almost everything costs a lot more now than it did almost 3 years ago — the time of the last postal increase.

But, can you imagine how much operating costs have risen for the postal system that serves the second largest country in the world?

The cost of operating and fueling our vast transportation network, the cost of essential equipment and the cost of our work force have all risen substantially.

In spite of our best efforts, the combined effects of these increased operating costs have brought Canada Post to the point where it does not have the financial resources necessary to follow through on important steps being taken to improve service.

Some of the steps we start to take are: introduce mass automated mail service within Canada.

Implementing a new service-mailing process which will improve reliability. Expanded letter carrier delivery within many communities to provide more complete service.

Increasing the availability of established mail services such as Priority Post, Special Delivery and Electronic Mail.

Taking positive action.

By soon becoming a public corporation, Canada Post will have the freedom to operate as a more responsive and efficient business, and eventually stop being a subsidized arm of government with its resulting burden on the taxpayer.

But no business can be healthy or efficient if it fails to recognize and adjust to the economic realities in which it must function.

And the present reality is that the existing postal rates do not reflect the costs involved in running Canada's mail service the way it should be run.

It is for this reason that Canada Post plans the implementation of new postal rates early next year.

The spring work had been delayed by doing as much work as possible in the fall. For example, this is a great time to be applying granular Aves for wild oat control.

The fall worked well to warm up the soil in the springtime. For this area it appears, over the years, that the advantages of fallworking outweigh the disadvantages.

The head of Alberta Agriculture's preventive medicine branch, D. Terry Church, reports that more than 6,000 preconditioned and preimmunized calves are expected to be offered for sale this year compared with about 1,600 last year.

Under the Alberta Cattle Preconditioned Feeder (ACPF) Program, calves may be sold as either pre-conditioned or pre-immunized. According to D. Terry Church, preconditioned calves have been dehorned, vaccinated for blackleg, malignant edema and IBR (infectious bovine rhinotracheitis), but they were not weaned prior to sale.

Calves in both the above categories are clearly identified with plastic ear tags. These tags have been pre-numbered and are marked with a green tag, while those that have been preconditioned are marked with a white tag. Dr. Church points out that all calves that are sold as preconditioned or pre-immunized must be accompanied by a certificate from a veterinarian.

Following is a list of sales at which preconditioned and preimmunized calves will be sold during the remainder of this year:

Bus Driver Suspended

A change in law resulted in the Ryly area has resulted in one driver being suspended for refusing to travel her designated route. The County of Beaver Head of Education dealt with the suspension at its regular meeting on October 13.

Prior to the commencement of the 1981-82 school year, a number of revisions were made in the bus routes in the Ryly area. In reviewing the number of students being transported by the bus, the bus driver was able to obtain the necessary permits to travel in a bus driven by Mrs. Vivian Wade.

This newly planned route necessitated the closing of a controlled and an uncontrolled railway crossing both morning and night. Mrs. Vivian Wade objected to the change in her bus route and felt she did not want the added responsibility of travelling across the railway tracks with a bus full of children. On Monday, September 14th she refused to travel the designated route. The action resulted in her suspension as a County bus driver.

On September 14th the Bus Shop Committee held a special meeting to review the incident. Present for the meeting were Chairman of the Board of Education - Harold Armstrong, Superintendent of Schools - Fred Belsch, Gordon Maxwell, Victor Romanish, John Warner and George Lund.

The committee reviewed the situation and studied all possible alternatives. The committee also travelled the bus route to evaluate the safety of the railway crossings in question. The committee was unanimous in deciding that although there is always an added element of danger when crossing a railway track, the crossing is in question was totally safe with adequate visibility. Here Comes That Season!

The last week of weather is a sure indication that the season which best characterizes our nation is soon to be upon us. Many of us may be hoping for a prolonging of summer, but when the middle of October arrives, the Thanksgiving turkey has been digested, and we begin to perceive those cold winds we can be certain that it won't be too very long before Old Man Winter arrives for another year.

One of the remarkable things about the last several years is that the winters have been so mild. We have not experienced those devastatingly cold spells which saw many people curl up in their living rooms for entire months because the temperature remained at minus 40 degrees (either Fahrenheit or Celsius). And yet, in spite of those cold spells which we experienced, we seemed to manage to continue with our winter lives as best we could. In recent history, due to the warmer winters, we have found it much easier to carry on with our winter activities.

This time of year witnesses the rebirth of the activities of a number of organizations throughout our area. These include minor hockey organizations, senior hockey organizations, figure skating clubs, curling clubs, badminton clubs, and basketball teams. These sporting organizations endeavour to provide young and old alike with various levels of athletic activity during the winter months when our outdoor recreational activities are curtailed by the cold climate. The only major problem that most of them face is a lack of help.

The type of help which they are most in need of is human help. Of course today every organization of this type could use financial help. But without the people to pitch in and work for the organization, few of their goals and objectives can be realized. If you are involved with a team or organization of some sort, take time to think what you can do to make things run a bit easier for that organization or team. Sometimes they may need help selling tickets, or working in a booth, or working at a door taking in money, or cooking some food, or arranging up a curling rink, an arena or a gymnasium, or installing new boards or plex-glass in the facility. All of these endeavours require a great deal of time and effort, and the more people who work towards making each of these successful it will be.

Each of our communities needs help. Sure, it would be nice if we could afford to pay for this help, or would it? A tremendous feeling of belonging to a community can be developed by our helping with just one portion of that community. Yes, some people only do something if there is a dollar bill attached to it, either directly or indirectly. But these aren't the people who truly build our communities and keep them surviving. It is those people who will be putting forth an effort on a purely unselfish, voluntary basis during the next few winter months that will be truly contributing to the "life" of our communities.

Winter is nearly upon us. The organizations are warming up. Find out what you can do this winter to help out

Knowledge Is The Key To Fire Survival

Even though your smoke detector should provide an early fire warning, and your escape plan is routine, you must be ready for the unexpected.

In a fire situation, your survival may depend upon how well you and your family react.

Here are some survival tips:

Sleep with the bedroom doors closed. A closed door offers protection from heat and smoke.

To save that everyone recognizes the sound of the smoke detector and knows that it means to GET OUT NOW!

Never waste time getting dressed or gathering valuables.

Feel every door before you open it. If the door is hot or if smoke is coming through the bottom or sides, don't open it. Get out by an alternate exit.

If there's smoke, crawl! Get down on your hands and knees. Don't stand up. Once you are out of the house, go to your meeting place. You have to know where you will still need to go to the fire fighters can be informed when they arrive.

Call the fire department, giving you complete address.

Once you are out, stay out. Never return to a burning building.

Don't permit anyone to get back into the building.

Remember, fire and smoke are a deadly combination. With a clear understanding of the nature of fire and how it functions, you and your family should survive if fire strikes.

With an early fire warning system and escape plan, you have both means of safety and the key to survival in case of a fire.

The annual L.C.W. Thank Offering program will be held on Sunday, October 18 at 8:00 p.m. in the Golden Valley Lutheran Church. You are cordially invited to attend.

The Drum Area will be holding their Hockey Meeting on Sunday, October 18 at 11:00 a.m. at the Iron Area.

The fall organizational meeting of the Viking Curling Club will be held on Wednesday, October 11, 1981 at 7:30 p.m. in the Curling Club. All club members and interested parties are urged to attend and take part in a decision as to if and when the curling rink will open.

Take Action To Promote Health

Accidents are the leading cause of injury and death of children in Canada. In response to this alarming situation, Alberta's Registered Nurses, through their Professional Association and in conjunction with the University of Calgary have developed a new (7) top quality T.V. Public Service Announcements on the overall theme of preventing health hazards that affect children from birth to five years of age.

According to Alberta Association of Registered Nurses' President, Jeannette Pick, "Children are Alberta's greatest non-renewable resource. Informed parents are better able to prevent accidents from happening to their children."

The young child needs constant supervision and protection. Part of this protection lies in creating a "normal" environment to reduce or eliminate possible hazards. Most people who care for children need to be reminded that basic items of everyday life, such as electrical outlets and appliances, bathtubs, medicine, cleaning agents, balloons, stairs and cars, can become dangerous enemies in a child's world.

In 1978, Canadian children, ages 0-4, accounted for a total of 166,000 days in hospital as a result of accidents, poisoning, and violence. The figure does not include injuries treated in emergency rooms or doctor's offices.

Mrs. Pick states, "Health teaching is an integral part of the nursing role. Highlighting the public's awareness of safe care of children will help in reducing the unnecessary injury and death of Alberta's Children."

of three parents whose children ride the bus provided by driver by Mrs. Wide. The parents, in general, were concerned with the element of danger which is brought about by a school bus crossing a railway track.

A motion was later passed by the Bus Group Committee to review all crossing bus routes which involve the crossing of rail lines and eliminate as many crossings as possible. The parents, who were interviewed at their decision.

A small parent delegation was present at the regular Board of Education meeting to present their views. Dave Wide obtained from the Board of Education a copy of the report in discussion or decision due to a conflict of interest.

The Board of Education gave approval to the School Bus Committee minutes and concurred with their decision in this incident and agreed with their "review" policy.

Mr. Reinhold, Superintendent of Schools, advised that following Mrs. Wide's resignation and subsequent suspension, an experienced driver applied for her position and the designated route is being followed.

When contacted, the Village of Ryley confirmed a report that Mr. Dave Wide resigned from his position with the Board of Education. His resignation will be dealt with at a Village of Ryley meeting on October 14th. Although numerous attempts were made to contact Mr. and Mrs. Wide, they were not available for comment.

A New Ring To Word "Curfew"

It has only been in recent times that the word curfew meant a time when young people were to be in bed. In medieval times it meant something quite different.

The word "curfew" was derived from the French phrase "couvre-feu", meaning "cover fire". In European countries it was the practice to place special covers over fires on the hearth to minimize the chance of sparks igniting nearby combustibles and causing a forest fire.

The ringing of the curfew bell also reminded people that it was time to retire to bed.

Expansion Plans For Lakeland College Announced

tem throughout the province. "It will continue to be the most flexible, dynamic element of my department." The funding for the Lakeland College is "part of a larger effort by government to upgrade facilities at our agriculturally-based institutions."

Mr. Horvath also indicated concern about updating facilities on other Lakeland College campuses. "There is a very real need for replacement of old buildings in Jasper," he noted, although he could not state when that project may get started. The minister also stated that future expansion of programming and facilities in the Grand Centre - Bonnyville area will likely be ahead depending on "the final analysis of development in the Old Lake region."

Advanced Education Minister Jim Horvath announced plans for immediate expansion of facilities at Lakeland College's Vermilion Campus in a meeting with local residents Thursday, October 8.

Speaking before a crowd of about 300, Mr. Horvath stated that $1 million has been allocated in the current fiscal year for architectural drawings and site plans of a new mechanics building and a 300 bed student residence, to replace outdated facilities now in use. The old residence building is to be renovated, and will probably house a new library/living resource centre, as well as administrative and faculty offices, food services and perhaps additional classrooms.

Part of the funding will also be used for an engineering study to evaluate existing utilities systems. "We recognize that a new and upgraded system will have to be in place before any additional facilities can be constructed," the minister said.

Although reluctant to give an exact price, Mr. Horvath indicated the expansion, when completed, will be a "multi-million dollar" project. "No time will be lost" in getting underway, he stated, as the programs are "uninterrupted."

The minister voiced strong commitment to expansion of the College system.

Working With Peat Soils

Peatlands could be the basis for future agricultural development in Newfoundland.

Agriculture Canada scientists in that province have been looking at ways to produce and harvest large crops on peat soils.

The development of management techniques and special equipment for peat bog farming would be a major boost for agriculture in Newfoundland.

Small Business Makes Itself Heard

There are over 100,000 active business in the province and 97 percent of them are small," says J. Allen "Bosser" Adams, Minister of Tourism and Small Business.

The sector forms a vital part of the Provincial economy and touches the lives of every Albertan on a day-to-day basis. "Often small business is taken for granted while little recognition is given to the role it plays in our socio-economic fabric."

This is about to change through the activities of business groups, associations, individuals and government departments joining forces to sponsor the Alberta Small Business week, October 20 - 24, 1981.

"The leadership and drive to organize and put on a small business week is being provided by the Alberta Chamber of Commerce, Alberta Constructors Association, Calgary Chamber of Commerce, Canadian Federation of Independent Business, Canadian Manufacturers Association, Canadian Organization of small business, Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, Federal Business Development Bank, Management Advisory Institute and the Retail Merchants Catherine Permain is the Small Business Week committee chairperson."

"This joint action in itself is significant as it has meant bringing together diverse and independent groups committed to providing 'Business is Big Business' as a minister responsible for Tourism and Small Business. I support their activities."

"The innovative and entrepreneurial spirit is alive and well, plus a willingness to share ideas - it is most encouraging to be a part of the small business week activity - to join forces with the Alberta Chamber of Commerce and the other organizations."

"I call on all Albertans to acknowledge small business, and to look around for a neighbor or friend who is contributing to a better way of life in our community through small business activities."

"The activities planned for the week will provide opportunities for small business people or those interested in small business to participate in seminars, work shops, business fairs and formal gatherings with guest speakers and entertainment."

"Alberta is not alone in this welcoming spirit in the small business community." "A growing domestic and international awareness of the contribution made by small business to society has created a demand for forums which allow for information and educational exchange."

"For example, 150 delegates from about 84 countries will be in Ottawa (October 18-22) for International Symposium '81: the 8th International symposium on small business (ISSB). This event will be hosted by the department of industry, trade and commerce and chaired by the Minister of State for small business, Charles Lapointe, with the support of the province, the private sector and the academic community."

Events such as International '81 and Alberta small business week contribute to the continued growth and prosperity of the small business community. It is our hope that 1981 will be the first step in an annual recognition of small business in Alberta."

"Small business is big business."

Just because your kids have started challenging you, doesn't mean they've stopped loving you or needing you.

Throughout our lives, we're influenced by others as we grow and create our own, unique identities. Parents, friends, teachers and co-workers, show business celebrities and sports figures all play their part in shaping our characters. As a parent, your influence on the young people around you is ever-changing. The unquestioning gaze of the small child quickly becomes the hard-edged challenge to authority of the adolescent. Adapting to these changes in the way young people look upon you isn't easy.

And you may feel that your importance in the lives of your growing children is fading, when in fact, just the opposite is true. Adolescents are making important choices.

Choices that will be with them for the rest of their lives. To smoke or not to smoke. To drive carefully or to take risks. To drink or not to drink. To stay in school or to leave. As we try to develop our own unique personalities, we need the support of the people who love us.

Ironically, kids need their parents most at the same time as they are trying to break the childhood ties to them.

TransAlta Increase Approved

Application by TransAlta Utilities Corporation for an increase in electric rate was approved by the Alberta Public Utilities Board (PUB) on September 9, 1981.

The interim rate increase will take effect October 1, 1981, with respect to consumption on and after September 1, 1981. It has been approved on a refundable basis, should there be a change when the final rates are established. Before final rates are established, the PUB will hold hearings to review the 1981-82 revenue requirements for the company. These hearings will be held on October 1, 1981.

The approved increase will affect the rates of all electricity users within TransAlta's service area. The average residential electric bill, after deduction of the Alberta Income Tax rebate, will increase approximately $8.00 per month. The overall increase in electric rates for all customers will average about 15 per cent.

The company's last rate change, which took place 19 months ago in February 1980, constituted an average increase of 6.75 per cent. General inflation and the extremely high cost of materials, are the primary factors which have necessitated this most recent increase. Interest rates are currently 10 per cent higher than the rate of TransAlta's last rate increase, and costs have escalated dramatically. During 1981 for example, the company's expenditures in increase in property taxes of 34 per cent, labor 13 per cent, and coal mining cost increases of 80 per cent.

TransAlta Utilities (formerly Calgary Power Ltd.) is Canada's largest privately owned electric utility, serving Albertans since 1911.

Workshop Well Attended

On Saturday, September 12th, a workshop of Constituency Association executives of the Western Canada Concept Party was held at the Edmonton Inn and was well attended.

The Vermilion-Viking Constituency was represented by President: Vero

Walling, Manville, Vice President: Jack McLean, Treasurer: Secretary: Dorothy McLean, and Director: Gordon Walling.

The Chief Electoral Officer of Alberta, Mr. Ken Work gave a very interesting and informative address to the gathering. He spoke on preparing ourselves for an election, in particular, the election Act and election finance and contributions. The main purpose of this workshop was to formulate policy and a platform from which to lead our Party in Western Canada. The delegates formed into nine different groups: Natural Resources and Energy, Finance and Fiscal Policy, Trade and Industry, Economic Development, Agriculture, Employment and Manpower, Social Services, Judicial and Health, Education and Welfare.

Many constructive suggestions came in from the various groups, to be refined and put before the members in November. A provincial executive was democratically elected by secret ballot on a pro tem basis, until such time as our convention in November.

The provincial officers are: President - Wes Wadsworth of Calgary; Treasurer - Jean Ferguson of Calgary; Chairperson - Phyllis Gordon of Calgary; High River; Finance - Donna McElroy, Turner Valley; Membership - Cathy Blum, Beaverlodge.

Representatives of the Battle River-Turner Association (BRTA) elected delegates from the other thirteen tourist areas in Alberta on Monday, September 28, 1981 for the annual General Assembly of the Tourist Industry Association of Alberta (TIAA/ATA). Some fifty-two people from all corners of the province were in attendance from TIAA/ATA, and twelve cabinet ministers and members of the legislative assembly were on hand from the Government of Alberta.

Resolutions of particular interest to members of BRTA were those submitted by the Association and endorsed in the 1981 TIAA/ATA Policy Statement, some of which include: Upgrading and widening of Highway No. 41, Dams, upgrading of parking conditions.

Parke, Maintenance provisions to be made with the Alberta Historical Sites, having the trail of Athabasca the most used of all public roads, with interests with major highways, naming, as well as numbering Major Highways, and upgrading the appearance of parking conditions.

Sharon Gill read a letter of resignation to Secretary-Treasurer from Harry Christina due to health reasons.

Discussions were heard about the small business week which is Oct. 24 - 31, 1981 and five promotional materials was distributed at the meeting.

Much discussion was held in regard to advertising and promotion and inviting inquiries re: business and industry. Bruce Todd gave a talk as he was a delegate from Holden who attended the annual convention at Lethbridge.

"From on the spot", these young Viking students were enjoying a game of "Red Light - Green Light" during a Phys. Ed. class last week.

Glen McGinitie Tops Senior Awards

Glen McGinitie was the big winner at the Annual Villing School Awards Night which was held last Friday at the School. Glen was the recipient of six of the major awards. Glen is presently enrolled in engineering at the University of Alberta.

"Awards Night" for students of Villing School was held on Friday, October 16th in the school gymnasium. Glen McGinitie "topped" the great class accepting six individual awards for his achievement in several activities and achievement in school studies.

Principal Dennis Watson stated that the purpose of an annual awards night was to provide a degree of incentive for students at the junior and senior high levels. It is a time when the school and the community join in recognizing and honoring those students who have achieved outstanding results during the school year.

The evening began with an introduction of Patti Ash who, on a competitive basis, was selected as one of two Alberta girls to stand a Guide Jarvis in Ireland. Patti spoke of her experiences in Ireland and presented a film on the same subject.

The awards ceremony began with the presentation of the grade 7 awards. Sheryl MacKenzie was the winner of the Academic award and the Citizenship award. Winner of the Most Improved Student (M.I.S.) award was Judy Smith.

The Grade 8 awards were spread amongst 8 students with Sheryl MacKenzie being awarded the Academic award.

Industrial Development Plans Altered

Irma Councillor Elected

Bruce D. Jacobson was elected by acclamation to the Village of Irma Council. Nominations for the position recently vacated by Mrs. Barbara Pruehad were accepted until noon on Thursday, October 16th. As Mr. Jacobson was the only nominee, an election was not necessary.

Ernie Jacobson and his wife Marie and family became a part of Irma's community approximately four years ago when Ernie accepted a position as Manager for Cargill Grain Company in Irma.

Although a position on the Village Council will be an entirely new experience for Mr. Jacobson, he is currently Chairman of the Advisory Board for Cargill Grain.

In accepting his position as Irma Village Councillor Mr. Jacobson stated that he is looking forward to working on Council and he will do his best to fulfill his duties in a responsible manner and try to meet the public demands.

F.C.S.S. Sponsors Workshop

A "Senior Citizens' Workshop" sponsored by Viking Community Services (V.C.S.S.) was held at the Senior's Centre on Wednesday, October 21, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Workshop discussion touched on a variety of concerns facing the over 600 seniors residing in Viking, but focused on the need for a facility that would provide adequate recreational services to as many of Viking's senior residents as possible.

Guest speaker at the workshop was Earl Beck of the "Senior Citizens' Bureau" and Don Mayne and Larry Shandell from "New Horizons".

Mr. Beck's address pointed out that a broad range of activities, programs and services should be looked at by the Viking Seniors and the local agencies involved in facility planning to assure that facility development and the small operation involved would be to the needs of Viking seniors. He suggested that this broad range of activities and programs could encourage participation by more seniors in implementing their own programs.

New Horizons' Don Mayne presented slides showing a number of creative activities in Alberta and some of the possibilities in developing such centres. The slides also indicated the broad range of activities possible by illustrating activities which were involved with the seniors.

Mr. Mayne reinforced Mr. Beck's suggestion of "tailoring" a "Viking facility" to the needs of Viking seniors. "You certainly shouldn't attempt to 'copy' centres in other communities," he said. "You certainly shouldn't attempt to 'copy' centres in other communities," he said. "You certainly shouldn't attempt to 'copy' centres in other communities," he said.

Viking Police Want Crime Watch

The Viking R.C.M.P. is anxious to start a Rural Crime Watch Program in the Brudenell area. The program consists of three basic elements which are: 1) Property Identification; 2) Home and Building Security; 3) Range Patrol.

Along with the R.C.M.P., the co-sponsors of the program are: Alberta Agriculture, Forestry and Food, the Western Stock Growers.

Before any preliminary work is taken involving these other groups we must know how much interest there is in our area for this program. If there is enough positive response at this time we will schedule meetings in the near future to establish committees to cover the Brudenell, Kinsella and Viking areas.

If you are interested in getting involved with the Rural Crime Watch Program, please contact the Viking R.C.M.P. Detachment at 368-3434 between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and have your name and phone number.

Lakeland To Offer University Courses

As part of a long-range plan for expanding services throughout the region, Lakeland College launched its University Transfer program this fall at Lloydminster Campus.

The first-year university courses are offered, based on the University of Alberta course numbering system and curriculum. These courses are designed to provide a foundation for the second-year university courses. At least two additional first-year courses will be offered; surveys will be conducted to determine the community's preference. Final details for the 1982 academic schedule should be released early in the New Year.

The College is appreciative of the individual and group efforts to ensure success of the program. Lakeland's program is a "co-operative" effort, with the Registrar's Office at the University of Alberta implementing the program. Departmental support from the University of Alberta provides guidance on curriculum, course content, and course delivery. Members of the community, through their response to surveys and participation in the Advisory Committee, were invaluable in determining the types of courses to be offered. The Lloydminster campus is providing personal and space for circulation of materials, for facilitated another need.

Through an arrangement with the Lloydminster Public Library, restricted and supplementary texts will be housed at the library.

Jim Landry, Director, East Region, terms the program a "tremendous success" in view of the fact that details of the program were not finalized until August 20. Classes began September 14.

University programming has been a goal of Lakeland College since its inception in 1975. Ministerial approval and funding was received from the Alberta Department of Advanced Education.

We at The Weekly Review would like to thank to Mr. and Mrs. Terry Quastel, the Quastel family of Viking and the Tony Shattler family of Kinsella for failing to print their "open wedding invitation." One of our error had been noticed last Wednesday, we did as much as possible to rectify the situation and inform as many people as possible about the "open invitation".

We hope that this error did not cause any undue inconvenience or hardship on the parties involved.

The Editor

The Senseless Carnage

Recently, the Alberta Alcohol and Drug Abuse Commission has been sponsoring a number of advertisements in newspapers and on television to make people more aware of the major problem which is growing in our society — alcohol and drugs. One ad frequently displayed on television depicts a group of four young people sitting in a pick-up truck drinking beer, deciding that it is time to drive on, and not driving very far. The ultimate result of this ad is left to one's imagination, but the sequence of events leads to the conclusion that tragedy confronted these four youngsters.

The efforts being made by A.A.D.A.C. have been prompted by a steady increase in the cases of alcohol and drug abuse with which they are being confronted on a daily basis. The area which seems to have the greatest increase in these cases is in the under 25 age group. Nearly 90 per cent of all automobile deaths are linked to drinking drivers under the age of 25.

Just because someone reaches the age of 18 years, that doesn't mean that they are not taking consuming alcoholic beverages on a regular basis. Many people a lot older than 18 haven't learned, and may never learn, how to "handle" alcohol. The major drug problem in our society today comes out of a bottle full of liquid, a variety of which is readily available at our neighborhood government liquor store. The government makes millions of dollars every year from the sale of alcoholic beverages. Because of the problems created by many people's inability to handle it properly, the government should provide greater funding to awareness programs about the problems inherent in the abuse of alcohol. It is good to see them sponsoring a program such as that being put on by A.A.D.A.C.

And yet the youth depicted in the television ad could be easily found right within our local communities. It is a fact that young people, from as young as 14 years of age, use alcohol in automobiles on a regular basis. This happens regularly in our communities. And right along with this happening is the very great possibility that the next statistics on highway fatalities which appear could include some young people from our very own communities. It is a sad thing, a devastating event for a family and a community, to have one, two, three or maybe even four young people killed because they were youthful spirit with bottled spirits.

And yet what are we as parents and "responsible" adults doing to help these youngsters to avoid this very situation. Hopefully we are keeping some kind of rein on our youngsters so that we can in some way know what they are doing. It is a cop out to say that we can't keep track of our children any more. Every youngster makes mistakes, but if we, as parents, allow these mistakes to go unnoticed without attempting to pass on some wisdom or knowledge to them, then we have failed as parents. The lesson may not be well learned, or even learned at all, but we must try.

It reminds one of the situation which occurs whenever a train on the C.N. line hits an automobile on a daily basis. The area which seems to have the greatest increase in these cases is in the under 25 age group. Nearly 90 per cent of all automobile deaths are linked to drinking drivers under the age of 25.

It's time that we all took a lot more responsibility for helping our children to grow into adulthood and teaching them how to "use" alcohol if we expect them to use it at all. It is also time that the courts stopped acquitting people on the slightest of technicalities when alcohol related offences are concerned. In a court of law, the guiding rule is "what the reasonable person would do". When it is obvious to all in a courtroom that the individual is guilty of impaired driving, we should expect the judge to be reasonable and find fault. If the adults in our society are allowed to drink and drive, how do we expect our youth to do any different. It's time to set some examples and stop the carnage on our roads.

Auto Accident Claims One

A single vehicle accident on Secondary Highway 616 (the Camrose highway) late in the afternoon of Friday, October 21, claimed the life of a 30-year-old man. David J. Applegate, 30 years of age, died as a result of the vehicle roll-over about 1/2 mile east of Highway 616 on Secondary 616. Mr. Applegate was operating the vehicle when he lost control on the old road. Corporal Duncan Will of the Viking R.C.M.P. indicated the probable cause of the accident was excessive speed for the road conditions.

Two other men from the Lloydminster area were also occupants of the 1978 Ford station wagon when it rolled on Friday evening about 4:00 p.m. Neither of the other two occupants was seriously injured, with one being treated and released Friday evening and the other being released from Viking Hospital on Saturday.

The three men were on their way from Lloydminster to the Brudenell area when they were employed on a drilling rig.

Respected Women in Motion to his name. Constable Jackson arrived and as he met up his side equipment, he explained the purpose of the World Food Day and why the One World Center was set up in Vancouver to be a part of an educational program to bring an awareness to the public of third world affairs.

In his commentary he mentioned that the question raised all over the world was "Did you have enough food last year?" It was found that in Alberta, 70 per cent of the people did not, in India it was 60 per cent, in Japan 14 per cent, in the U.S. 14 per cent. He didn't have the figures for Canada but because we are tied in closely with the U.S. a good guess would be 14 per cent. Fourth or statistics showed that in 1979, 480,000 people suffered from malnutrition.

At 1:00 p.m. Mr. Monty Reid arrived and as he met up his side equipment, he explained the purpose of the World Food Day and why the One World Center was set up in Vancouver to be a part of an educational program to bring an awareness to the public of third world affairs.

In his commentary he mentioned that the question raised all over the world was "Did you have enough food last year?" It was found that in Alberta, 70 per cent of the people did not, in India it was 60 per cent, in Japan 14 per cent, in the U.S. 14 per cent. He didn't have the figures for Canada but because we are tied in closely with the U.S. a good guess would be 14 per cent. Fourth or statistics showed that in 1979, 480,000 people suffered from malnutrition.

However, the answer is as simple as production and the equal distribution of food. He said that every country in the world is capable of producing enough food for its own use. He is a very big proponent of changing people's thinking and re-evaluating their life styles. The One World Center is attempting to make a people aware and to work for a change in the global systems of production and distribution so that the perpetual poverty around the world can be alleviated.

Following Mr. Reid's presentation, everyone enjoyed an early supper on international dishes, something we look forward to every year.

A cake raffle was held to pay for the expense of the church hall. Myra Francis was the lucky winner.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Agnes Gilpin, on Nov. 10 at 8 p.m. Nominations for officers for the coming year will take place then. Bill Call "Music for Christmas". Hostesses to be Rose Gieski and Irene Hase.

Handicapped To Benefit From Bazaar

Contrary to public belief, Viking does not pump water from "Flower's" slough. This is "Bessie's" slough, and the pump was installed this week to begin pumping from the slough to the town reservoir.

On Thursday, Sept. 24, 1981, Mrs. Alma Harding passed away suddenly in the Daywood Hospital.

Alma was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown and was born in Huxfordville, Ontario on May 9, 1905.

At an early age Alma married with her family and they homesteaded in the Jarrow area. Later they moved north of Kilmora. In the spring of 1932 Alma worked for the William Armstrong family of Sedgebrook and here she met Joseph Stephen Harding who had immigrated from Ireland that year.

Alma and Joe were married on Oct. 20 of the same year. For the next four years they resided in the Sedgebrook area where Joe was employed.

In March 1937 they purchased half a section of land south of Kilmora where they farmed until their retirement in 1966 when they moved to Sedgebrook.

Alma and Joe had a family of six boys and one girl. They were both active in community affairs. Alma had many hobbies, one of which was crocheting, which she enjoyed until her passing.

She was predeceased by one son John in 1981, her daughter Frances in 1970, her husband in 1979.

She leaves to mourn her passing 6 sons, Edward of Port Anselmo, Pastor of Prince George, B.C., Allan of Coombs, George and Stephen of Sedgebrook, 24 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren. Three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Heller of Kilmora, Mrs. Barbara Whitlock of Longhead and Mrs. Kay Davis of Edmonton, two brothers Mr. Frank Brown of Edmonton and Herbert Brown of Bowden, several nieces and nephews and a host of friends. She will be greatly missed by her family and all who knew her.

Funeral services were held at the Kilmora Hall on Sept. 28 with Rev. McInnes officiating. Interment took place at God's Acre Cemetery, Kilmora. Flowers and caskets were in charge of all arrangements.

Oakes - Cowie Exchange Vows

David Oakes and Sandra Cowie exchanged wedding vows at the Robertson-Wesley United Church in Edmonton on August 23rd.

prophet book originally belonging to the groom's late grandmother Coria.

Attending the bride as Matron of Honor was her sister, Mrs. Leslie Cowie and Clifford Oakes. The bride is the youngest daughter of James and Marjorie Oakes of Edmonton. The groom is the youngest son of Thomas and Betty Oakes of Edmonton. Celebrating at the double ring ceremony was the Reverend Rev. McInnes.

Attending the church on an arm of her father, the bride was a niece of the late. Her special style wedding gown featured long sleeves and a V-neck with a fitted skirt and small red roses.

Mr. Carter Oakes of Kilmora attended his brother as Best Man, Groomsman was Mr. Bruce Zeller of Edmonton, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mr. Henry Van Renswoude of Lethbridge, friend of the groom. The groom's late grandmother's book was in charge of all arrangements.

Reverend, nephew of the groom served as Ringbearer. The groom and his sister, including the young ringbearer, wore black tuxedos with red cummerbunds.

Ushering the guests were Mr. Bob Green, Sedgebrook, Saskatchewan, and Mr. Barry Barlett of Edmonton, nephew of the bride and groom respectively. Both men wore white tuxedos in black tuxedos with white cummerbunds.

The mother of the bride wore a blue-tinted dress of aqua chiffon with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a long dress of turquoise crepe, with beige accessories. Their daughters wore white tuxedos or chills. The bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Joan Oakes of Edmonton, appeared in a two-piece ivory suit with a carriage of sweet-smart red.

Following the ceremony a reception dinner and dance were held at the Robertson-Wesley United Church of the Royal Canadian Legion in St. Albert. Miss Carol Williams of Calgary kept charge of the guest register. Friends and relatives in attendance represented various parishes in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Quebec.

The wedding's red and white color scheme was tastefully incorporated into the decor. Alone on a small table stood the three tiered wedding cake, baked by the mother of the bride and the beautifully decorated white scrollwork and they sat under the mother of the groom and topped by a graceful glass figure. The head table was draped in every white linen and towel with a garland of greenery and alternating red and white wedding. Matching crystal candleholders held tall red taper. The members of the wedding party seated the bride and groom from silver wire glass chairs, gifts from David and Sandra to their attendants.

Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Mr. Bruce Zeller who also had the pleasant duty of reading numerous telegrams expressing good wishes to the happy couple from absent friends in France, England, Germany, Switzerland and various points in western Canada.

Mr. Aurele Durocher, longtime friend of the bride and her family, proposed a touching toast to the bride to the groom who eloquently responded. Toasts were also prepared to the bride and groom and to the parents of both the bride and groom.

Following the eating and passing of the wedding cake the newlyweds began the dancing by visiting to a special Russian Love song of their choice.

For her going-away outfit the bride chose a two-piece white and burgundy double-knit suit, accented by a burgundy heavy and white shoes and gloves. Thanks to her matching made handbag was a large white orchid. The groom donned a blue and grey tuxedo jacket and over grey slacks. He sported a white cummerbund and tie.

Council Decision Upsets Mayor

Mayor Will Ruckstein of Viking, who has been the chair of the Council organizational meeting which was held last Thursday, the issue which caused his leaving the meeting was that of appointing a new Council member.

At the meeting, Council appointments were made to the committees and sub-committees for which Council is responsible. Councilor Bill Evans was appointed as Deputy Mayor for the 1981-82 year. He will also serve on the F.C.S.S. Board and head the General Government Committee of Council.

Councilor Ruckstein will be responsible for the Committee for the Protection of Persons and Property. Council decreased the number of Councilors on the F.C.S.S. Board by one because they felt it would be better to involve more non-councillors on this Board. However, Council chose to retain two councillors on the Recreation Board because it was felt that the Board would be more effective for publicans, and that due to major expenses which are involved for the year, Council input was deemed desirable in Board deliberations.

A last member Albert Committee was also reported at the Thursday meeting. On the Committee will be Lynda Hanson, Bill Macdonald, Ray (Don) Gery, McManis, Sam Christensen, John Anton, Norman Lefebvre, and W.J. Continued on Page 8

Knudsen Stays As Reeve

A special meeting of the County of Beaver Council was held last Tuesday to reorganize the Council for the upcoming year. At the meeting, the various Council positions are filled, as well as some Board positions within the County.

Selected again as Reeve of the County for 1981-82 was George Knudsen. Gordon Holman was selected to be Deputy Reeve for the same period.

Returning to her post as Chairman of the County of Beaver Council was Hilda Armistead. A change in the position of Deputy Chairman was necessitated by the resignation of Dave Wiles of Ryley. This position was filled by Gordon Holman.

Also appointed to the Board of Education from the Council were the Reeve and Deputy Reeve.

As well as sitting on the Board of Education, Councilor Armistead was appointed to the position of Councilor's representative on the Regional Recreation Board.

Council's position on the Waterfront and Area Family Community Services was also filled at last week's meeting. The swearing in of Councilor Ernie Jonsson, who was appointed to sit on the Battle River Foundation, Inc. as the County's representative on the Regional Recreation Board, was also the two members on the Planning Committee.

Don Deeney, along with Richard Larson, was chosen as the Council's representative on the Regional Recreation Board.

Coffin New Mayor Of Irma

Don Coffin was selected as the mayor of Irma for the upcoming year. At the organizational meeting of the Irma Village Council held on last Tuesday, Coffin was chosen as mayor and Don Deeney was selected as Deputy Mayor.

A number of Board positions were also filled at last week's meeting. The swearing in of Councilor Ernie Jonsson, who was appointed to sit on the Battle River Foundation, Inc. as the County's representative on the Regional Recreation Board, was also the two members on the Planning Committee.

Don Deeney, along with Richard Larson, was chosen as the Council's representative on the Regional Recreation Board.

Councilor Anna Shurebuck has been appointed to the position of Councilor's representative on the Regional Recreation Board.

Recreation Facility Study Completed

A study on the state of recreational facilities within the Town of Viking has just been completed by the local Recreation Board. The study was undertaken to determine the per capita needs of both Town and County residents made of the facilities.

The study was a joint project of the Rec Board and the Viking F.C.S.S., as the former compiled the results and the latter prepared the report.

As the Rec Board has just completed its 5 Year Master Plan recently, the Board felt that it was imperative to establish an annual recreational budget based on that research from all sources would be anticipated and thus facilitate the planning of developments within the Town. As possible revenue from the Alberta government are fairly well understood in terms of availability, the Board felt that it was advisable to establish a forecast that would determine annual revenue that could be anticipated for recreation from the Town of Viking.

The report makes reference to discussions currently underway between the Town and the County of Beaver regarding "cost sharing" issues. The completion of the study was seen by the Board as an aid in negotiations between the Town and the County in terms of cost-sharing in recreational matters.

The study included the results of the survey of recreational facilities within and immediately surrounding the Town. These included the Church, the Community Hall, baseball fields, basketball courts, curling club, and the Senior Drop-In Centre, the continued on Page 2

N.U.L. Compressor Station Opened

Northwestern Utilities' largest compressor station was officially opened on Wednesday, October 21st, at six miles north of Viking.

The compressor station is an important addition to the company's historical Viking Gas plant, which is the entire system. The $6 million project includes two large rail-mounted units, each of which weighs approximately 100 tons. Together, they have a combined capacity of 100 million cubic feet per day.

If We Could Only Communicate!

It really is amazing. The vast majority of us are adequately blessed with the ability to express ourselves on a great variety of subjects. Many people sit over coffee on a daily basis and talk with various people on all sorts of topics. We have the abilities to discuss matters, but it seems that often we just don't have the abilities or the desire to communicate some things to certain people in the proper manner.

It seems that we can all talk to a lot of people about many things. But can we really communicate with each other properly? Many people have communication problems on a daily basis, whether it be with their children, their spouses, their friends, or their bosses. It is something that only the individual can know about or work to correct and thus is a private matter. But it is the public communications which seem to cause us so many problems.

The County of Beaver Council decided at its organizational meeting on October 20th that Hospital Board Chairman Jack Roddick would not be reappointed to the Hospital Board. The Board reportedly did this so that the members of the Hospital Board from the County would all be elected members of the Council. Now, no one can argue with the right of the County Council to decide to replace Mr. Roddick on the Hospital Board. The Council has that right on a yearly basis at every organizational meeting. The Council has the right to decide who shall represent the people of the County on the Hospital Board. However, once the Council has decided not to reappoint an individual such as Mr. Roddick, considering that he was contacted and indicated that he would like to stay on the Board until the present construction projects at the Hospital were completed, then Council must make every effort to treat that individual with the greatest amount of respect and dignity that they can muster.

Jack Roddick spent many years serving the people of the County on the Hospital Board. He was the Chairman of the Board for many years, and was instrumental in getting the new Hospital for Viking. He spent many hours of dedicated service to the County, hours that deserved more than a three line letter informing him that he had not been reappointed to the Board. That's right! The County of Beaver informed Mr. Roddick by way of a three sentence letter which he picked up at the Post Office last Thursday morning. Between the County's decision on Tuesday and Mr. Roddick receiving the letter on Thursday, no one from the County of Beaver spoke with Mr. Roddick to discuss the why's and wherefore's of the Council's decision. The man deserved more than that!

The least he deserved after the many years of service was a personal visitation by a delegation of County councillors to let him know of their reasons for not reappointing him. Several different reasons could be valid for the change. We may not all agree with them, but then decisions such as this are based upon the opinions of the people who are elected. We expect that they will make just such decisions. But we hope that in carrying out these decisions that they will act with a sense of empathy towards those with whom they are dealing. The actions, or lack of actions, on the part of the County Council last week display a certain lack of respect for Mr. Roddick.

There definitely seems to be a lack of ability on the part of some municipal councils to deal with people who are working on various boards or committees on behalf of the respective council. One of the points raised at the recent Viking Town Council meeting was that hard feelings are created whenever the replacement of an appointee is made. Two issues seem to appear from this concern. One is that it often is not so much that the replacement was made, but the manner in which it is done. In such cases, the methodology is usually more important than the substance. The other issue is that of Council responsibility. When councillors are elected they are expected to deal both with issues and people. The former are much easier than the latter. It is a difficult task to deal with voluntary appointees, but one with which municipal councils must be prepared to deal.

Being able to communicate in our type of governmental system is extremely important to all those who are involved in municipal politics. It is the "closest" level of government that we have, and one that requires the services of a large number of volunteers.

Lakehurst Golf Club, and Lake Town Park.

For each of the first four types of facilities listed above, fairly detailed figures are given for various uses within each facility. For the latter three, only general conclusions were reached to determine if developments of this type are feasible with such facilities.

First and foremost, it is shown that there is nearly a 50-50 split in facility usage by Town and County residents. The total usage figures for the Carleton Place, Community Hall, ball recreation, and curling membership (indicate that 47.1% of the bookings or registrations were by County residents and 52.9% were by County residents.

The Council indicated that it was staying constant with its policy of not being involved in the consideration of the Turlock Plate area as a possible site for the Plant, but that they must keep the water supply in mind.

Viking Chamber Holds October Meeting

The October meeting of the Viking and District Chamber of Commerce was held as a dinner meeting at the Viking Burger House on Thursday, October 22.

President, Lane Carving, advised that all mem-bering Chamber accounts had been cleared and followed with the introduction of our new treasurer - Robert Hollings.

There is attendance was advised that local signs painted or Vero Radio had covered the costs of repainting the original "Viking" sign and felt that it would be a very costly project to have the sign repainted due to the amount of damage and deterioration. He advised that it would probably be less costly in the long run to have a new sign painted and erected. Discussion on this issue followed with a decision to have the matter tabled until a later date.

Les Ottison reported on the annual Ratle River Tourist Association meeting which he and his wife had attended the evening of October 21. He noted some statistics regarding the number of tourists who had made use of the Tourist Information Centre.

Approximately 700 tourists had signed the guest book this past summer which is 817 less than the previous summer and over 700 less than the summer of 1979. However, a special survey conducted by the B.R.T.A. revealed that the station may not be correct as guests were not always asked to sign the guest book. In fact the survey revealed that in Viking guests were only asked to sign the book 20 percent of the time. Mr. Ottison also informed the meeting of a film presentation on the University

Games which will be held in Edmonton in 1982 and mentioned the impact this event will have on the tourist industry throughout the province. In concluding his report Mr. Ottison suggested that the Chamber consider the possibility of having Tourist Information Centre signs erected on the approaches to the Town so people will know the Centre is here.

The president reported on his attendance at the Grand Opening of Saskatchewan Utilities Compressor Station on Wednesday, October 21.

A discussion arose concerning the possible closing of any business establishment within the Town and whether or not there was any way in which the Chamber could become involved in the promotion of the sale of such an establishment. Will Klamphuis moved the meeting on the purpose and objectives of the Economic Development Association and suggested that any action in this regard would be best handled through that organization.

The annual Viking Christmas Promotion was discussed briefly with Carol Maxwell, Dick Morris, Anne Sharik and Dean Clausen to work on this year's Christmas promotion. The meeting was informed of a Via Rail protest delegation travelling to Ottawa, Friday, October 24, by train. Following a brief discussion, Bill Klamphuis moved that the Chamber sponsor Bill Klamphuis as our representative to Ottawa; carried unanimously. Concern was voiced with regard to the manner in which one of Viking's businesses is being operated. A motion was carried that the Chamber draft a letter advising the business of our concerns.

The meeting was brought to a close on a motion by Joan Mathew.

Library Gains Attention

One of the projects of the Battle River Tourist Association that gained considerable interest during the past year is the Historical Library.

Several years ago it was decided that an attempt would be made to obtain one copy of every book published about any portion of the Battle River Tourist Zone.

The committee appointed has always been headed by Les Dutton of Killam and what a job he has done!

At the Annual Meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association (BRTA) held in Killam on Wednesday, October 21, 1981 the Historical Library Report indicated that there are now a total of one hundred and sixty-four (164) volumes in the library. They are catalogued and are available to interested people in the same manner as that in any other library. A credit is placed in each book with the donor's name and address etc.

Dutton reported that he has knowledge of several other volumes that have been printed, which he would like to obtain but is unable to locate a copy or is unable to locate a donor. If anyone would like to add to this collection, or has information about any historical book dealing with any part of the Battle River Tourist Zone they are invited.

to contact the Association office in Killam, or Mr. Les Dutton, Killam.

FARMING FUTURE

Agricultural Research Council of Alberta

Farming for the Future is a commitment of the Alberta Government, through the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund, to support agricultural research of benefit to Alberta.

Financial assistance is available for studies having the potential to lead to increased agricultural productivity and improvement of net farm income, as well as the long-term viability of agriculture in Alberta.

Eligible research includes programs which have the potential to meet these goals and which would not likely be undertaken without support. Significance to northern agriculture is of major importance. Competence to carry out a proposed program, and commitment to complete the program, must be demonstrated.

Deadline for submission of applications for grants is December 1, 1981.

Mr. Hector emphasized that he believes every child has the potential for physical education as a fun and happy time. Without regular physical activity children will not grow and develop normally. We as parents must share the responsibility in making certain our children have good nutrition, plenty of rest and participate with them in whatever activities we can on a regular basis. It can be a lot of fun.

The Physical Education teachers in Walworth School Division have formed a sports council. One day a month is set aside for sports activities between all the schools in the division. Participation by each student shall be equal. A tentative schedule of activities has been drawn up for each month until June.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 16. Keep yourself better informed on changes in education at local levels as well as provincial and federal levels. Through Home and School you can influence government and decisions made concerning our education system.

THE MANAGEMENT OF ENERGY IN CANADA. ONE OF A SERIES.

STARTING NOVEMBER 1, 1981 CGSB-LISTED CONTRACTORS ARE REQUIRED FOR 'CHIP'

LOOK FOR THE CGSB SYMBOL BEFORE YOU HIRE AN INSULATION CONTRACTOR

The vast majority of insulation firms are both capable and honest. But there have been cases of poor workmanship and even outright fraud.

To help ensure good value for your insulation dollar, the Canadian General Standards Board has established a national certification program for residential insulation contractors. The contractors listed in the CGSB certification program certify to their clients that their quality of insulation workmanship meets the CGSB standard.

Only those contractors listed in the CGSB certification program are authorized to use the CGSB symbol. USING A CONTRACTOR FOR CHIP? CGSB IS A MUST.

CHIP (the Canadian Home Insulation Program) offers taxable grants of up to $500 to make your home better insulated and more airtight—if your house was built before January 1, 1961—whether you own or rent.

After November 1, 1981, if you intend to apply for CHIP and have a contractor install the materials, you must use a contractor who is listed with the CGSB program. You won't be eligible for a grant otherwise.

If you prefer to do it yourself and use CHIP only to assist with buying materials, that's fine. But remember, you must install the materials before applying for a CHIP grant.

CHOOSE YOUR CONTRACTOR CAREFULLY

The new CGSB certification program will do much to reduce the problem of poor quality work by insulation contractors, but don't stop there. You should further protect yourself in these ways:

1. Plan your home's energy savings by filling in the free EnerGuide 'Energy Analysis' questionnaire. Call the EnerGuide Hotline toll-free for your copy.

2. Ask friends or neighbours to recommend a contractor.

3. Verify the contractor's CGSB listing number with your CHIP office. Check the company's record with the Better Business Bureau or your provincial Consumer Affairs office.

4. Watch out for high-pressure sales techniques.

5. Compare costs. Get three estimates in writing which locate and specify the size of the area to be insulated, give the type of materials to be used and list their RSI (or R) value. RSI is the new metric rating for insulation.

6. Check your contractor for details such as CGSB listing number, the estimate of your home's existing RSI (or R) value, the RSI (or R) value of insulation to be added, and the recommended RSI (or R) value for your area.

7. Monitor the job. If possible, stay home while the work is being done. Don't shy about asking the contractor questions.

8. Never sign a blank or partly filled-in contract or CHIP application form. It takes planning and comparison shopping to find good value for your insulation dollar. But it's in your best interest to do it right from the start.

Get in touch with your CHIP office in Edmonton to find out whether your home is eligible and how to apply.

Sharon Lockhart Honored

On the afternoon of October 26th Sharon Lockhart was honored at a luncheon at the home of May McElroy.

May welcomed the guests and spoke a few words of good wishes to Sharon, after which the guests were asked to create a lovely group of new pictures.

A hilarious fashion show of late made of anything from egg cartons to tin canes and accompanied by a very entertaining commentary was greatly enjoyed.

Maureen Corrie read a poem suitable to the occasion for Sharon. Then Stephen Williams and Sheila Macdonald presented Sharon with a lovely basket full of gifts which were opened and admired.

Sharon thanked everyone for the gifts and the ladies who helped May. A lovely lunch brought an enjoyable afternoon to a close.

Oilseeds Outlook

Canadian oilseed prices are not expected to improve in the coming year despite an anticipated 25-per-cent drop in Canadian rapeseed production in 1981.

Agriculture Canada's economists have this forecast on an expected 25-per-cent increase in world oilseed production.

However, stocks of Canadian rapeseed and flaxseed could be tight by next summer.
